GERMANS MOVING TOWARD GREECE

10,000 Cavalrymen Reported Near Frontier and Clash is Expected.

VARNA IS SHELLED

British Lost Heavily in Fighting With Bulgarians—Bombs Dropped on German Bridges Kill Engineers—Russian Army Holds Firm.

Amsterdam, Dec. 21.—Despatches from the front in Serbia state that 4,500 bodies were found in one position near Doiran, where the British fought against the Bulgarian advance. Five thousand severely wounded Austrians have passed through Trebinje, the terminus of the Herzegovinian Railway close to the Montenegrin border. They came from the army in the Western Montenegro. It is learned that 10,000 German cavalry are advancing against the Greek frontier.

Two bombs were exploded at Scutari near the barracks of the Monenegrin and Serbian troops. It is learned that the Bulgarians are entrenching at several places on the Graeco-Serb border. Ten airmen at Gradetz in Serbian Macedonia dropped bombs on the German pontoon bridge that spans the Vardar River at that place. Five bombs hit the structure and ten engineers were killed.

Tax On War Profits Passes.

The bill imposing a tax on war profits in Germany has passed second and third reading in the Reichstag, says a despatch from Berlin.

Varna Again Shelled.

Athens, Dec. 21.—Varna, the chief Bulgarian port on the Black Sea, has again been bombarded by Russian warships, according to information received here today. These advices report that a squadron of 16 Russian transports filled with troops accompanied the Russian warships.

Russians Repulse Attacks.

Petrograd, Dec. 21.—Russian official statement says:

"Heavy detachments of enemy attacked our troops yesterday between Teheran and Hamadan. These attacks were repulsed."

Ford's Illness Holds Up Ark.

Christiania, Dec. 21.—Henry Ford's departure with his peace expedition for Stockholm has been postponed owing to his illness.

Germans Sink Three More Ships.

London, Dec. 21.—The destruction of three more British ships, apparently by German submarines, was announced today. The victims were the steamers Belfort, Huntley and Ophelia.

Soldier Shoots at General.

Milan, Italy, Dec. 21.—An attempt to assassinate General Tedoroff, commander of the Bulgarian army in southern Serbia, was made by a socialist soldier, who fired at the commander three times, says a despatch from Florina. The soldier was immediately executed.

French Fighting Diminished.

Paris, Dec. 21.—French war statement:

"The bombardment has sensibly diminished during the night in Artois. To the northwest of hill No. 140, the Germans exploded a mine in front of our trenches which, however, caused no damage. We occupied the crest of the crater. Between the Somme and the Aisne there have been several conflicts between patrols. In the region of Lihons an enemy patrol was caught by our fire and forced to take flight, leaving in our hands several wounded. In Lorraine accurate fire from our batteries at Aboncourt and Blamont destroyed the enemy's signal stations, where movements of troops were directed."

England Calls Another Million.

London, Dec. 21.—In the Gallipoli withdrawal the casualties were two military and one naval wounded. Six guns were abandoned. Premier Asquith in the House of Commons today asked for 1,000,000 more men for the British army. This would bring the total number of Britons in the field up to 2,250,000. The demand was in the form of a motion for the passage of the government bill calling 1,000,000 more men to the colors immediately. In making the motion the premier declared that the government aims to get every man of military age who is physically qualified to serve in the field. The wastage of men is enormous, declared the premier. At the present time there are approximately 2,500,000 men in training and on the volunteer list waiting to be called into service. The withdrawal of the Allies' forces from the Suvla and Anzac front on the Gallipoli Peninsula was advised by Lord Kitchener, the war secretary, after his return from the near-East.

BIG HEARTED ELKS WILL PLAY SANTA

Plainfield Lodge Completing Plans for its Annual Entertainment of the Kiddies.

According to its annual custom, Plainfield Lodge of Elks is today completing arrangements for its Christmas beneficence, which includes entertaining the poor children of the city and borough and providing the necessities of life in homes where poverty otherwise makes them impossible. A committee composed of Councilman John H. Cose, Elias H. Bird, Dr. Chalmers L. Crist, Clarence W. Mundy and Captain William C. Smith spent this morning securing the names and addresses of needy cases. The list is not nearly so long as last year, although fully 500 persons were found to be in need and these will be cared for in time to give them a share of Yuletide joy.

It is the custom of the Elks to give clothing, shoes, food or fuel and through experience in previous years this has been found the best way to care for unfortunate cases. In order to bring a little sunshine to the children, beside giving them necessary articles, the big hearted lodge-men entertain the youngsters at some kind of a show. This will be done next Friday afternoon and Proctor's Theatre has been designated as the place of amusement. The doors of the spacious playhouse will be thrown open to all the children of the city at 2 o'clock and those who never have the opportunity otherwise of seeing a vaudeville show or moving pictures will be gladly welcomed. Manager Hart, of the theatre, is arranging a bill especially for the occasion, making certain to get features that will be appropriate. Each juvenile will receive a present of candy and an orange at the close. The presents to the various homes included in the list secured today will be distributed by automobile Friday afternoon or early Christmas morning.

FALLS DOWN STAIRS, LIGHTED LAMP IN HAND

Ninety-six Year Old Woman Suffers From Bruises, Cuts and Burns.

While carrying a lighted lamp early this morning, Mrs. Firman Harris, aged ninety-six years, made a misstep at the head of a flight of stairs at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Sharkey, of Netherwood avenue, and fell down the entire flight, sustaining painful cut, bruises and burns.

Mrs. Harris, who has resided with her daughter and son-in-law for many years, and has been remarkably active for one of her years, had occasion to go downstairs, and did not realize she was so close to the top step. That she suffered no broken bones, or was not more seriously burned or cut by broken glass is a miracle. Her injuries, for the most part, were to the face, hands and back.

Dr. Albert Pittis was summoned and Mrs. Harris is now resting comfortably. Mrs. Harris has many children and grandchildren residing in this city and Westfield.

PLANNING BANQUET TO FORMER MAYORS

Borough Republican Club Names a Committee to Arrange Details.

Further plans for the banquet of former Mayors of North Plainfield were completed at a meeting of the Borough Republican Club last night Howard Woolston, William J. Trenbath and Grover Kipsey were named as a committee to look after the details of the banquet. It is proposed to hold it during the latter part of January or first of February at a place to be selected.

There are a number of former Mayors living, and the coming gathering is expected to be an auspicious one in the history of the borough. There was an informal report received last night from the committee on bylaws, and after paying a few bills, a social hour was enjoyed. The club will meet again next Monday night.

JAMES CONNETT'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of James C. Connett, who died yesterday at the residence of his brother, William R. Connett, 23 Warren street, North Plainfield will be held Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the home and at 2 from the Shiloh Baptist church. Interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

CHECKS DRAWN FOR CITY HALL SITE

Council Authorizes Payments From the "City Hall Fund."

A check to pay for the new city hall site will be drawn today or tomorrow by the Mayor and city clerk and by the end of this week the municipality of Plainfield will be owners of the Brooks residence property in fact. At last night's meeting of the Common Council a resolution was passed upon motion of Councilman Claybrook, chairman of the finance committee, authorizing the payment of two checks to be drawn against the "City Hall fund." One will be drawn in favor of Mrs. Elizabeth Brooks and will be for $30,950, and the other will be made out to Charles Avery and will be for $50. They make up the $31,000 which the city agreed to pay for the new city hall site.

NEW NAMES ON LIST OF ANTI T. B. TRUSTEES

Nominating Committee Suggests Representatives From All Interests in City.

With the idea of interesting people representing every element in the city in the work of the Anti-Tuberculosis League, the nominating committee for next year's trustees presented a report at the December meeting of that organization last night, which includes the names of representatives of every civic body and kindred organizations in Plainfield. An important recommendation is that George M. Holstein, who has been a vice president of the league and one of its most active members, be made president, to succeed William S. Tyler, who has served for several years, and this year requested that his name be not considered.

The nominating committee reported the following for election at the January meeting:

Officers of the league—George M. Holstein, president; B. van D. Hedges, M. D., first vice-president; William S. Tyler, second vice-president; James P. Murray, treasurer; James Boyd Potter, secretary; Frederic J. Hughes, M. D., medical director; Edward S. Krans, M. D., assistant medical director.

For honorary vice-presidents—Rev. Bernard M. Bogan, Leighton Calkins, Frank L. Clark, Alexander Gilbert, James E. Martine, Charles W. McCutchen, William L. Smalley, Mrs. Dexter Tiffany, Rev. John S. Zelie.

For members of the executive committee—Leslie R. Fort, B. van D. Hedges, M. D., George M. Holstein, Frederic J. Hughes, M. D., Mrs. Sherman B. Joost, Mrs. Clara DeH. Krans, M D., Edward S. Krans, M. D., James P Murray, Mabelle C. Phillips, James Boyd Potter, Samuel Rothberg, Cornelius B. Tyler, William S. Tyler, Stephen H. Voorhes, William M. Wherry, Jr.

For members of the board of trustees—The members of the executive committee and George L. Babcock, Francis J. Blatz, Paul H. Burns, Samuel T. Carter, Jr., Mrs. Allan Cowperthwait, John H. Cose, William G. DeMeza, J. Hervey Doane, John J. Flynn, Joseph W. Gavett, Charles H. Frost, Margaret C. Holly, William C. Hubbard, R. F. R. Huntsman, Rev. William Lloyd Imes, Frank W. Iredell, Arthur B. Jones, Harry W. Marshall, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, George P. Mellick, Walter M. McGee, Mrs. Anna M. Most, William D. Murray, William Newcorn, Mrs. Horace G. Philips, Rev. Edward G. Ralston, Mrs. William M. Sandford, Mrs. Isaac Schwed, Annie Slevin, Mary R. Sullivan, Sidney R. Titsworth, M. D., William F. Townley Thomas C. Vail, A. Clinton Wilmerding.

Mr. Holstein, for the Red Cross Seal committee, reported that the sale thus far this year has been gratifying. Resolutions were passed thanking the managers of the Plainfield Theatre, Proctor's and the Astor for displaying slides advertising the seals. C. Conover & Co. were also voted thanks for paperhanging work done at the clinic for which no charge was made.

Mrs. John T. Baker has given a big Christmas dinner for the children of the Open Air School, where exercises will be held this week, and a number of subscriptions have been made by generous friends to make the holiday bright for all these children.

MEETINGS ARE POSTPONED.

The cottage prayer meetings, which are being held in the vicinity of Harrison avenue, North Plainfield, will be postponed until the first week in January, on account of the holiday season.

FRANK MASON IS HIT BY BOARDER

Ralph Runyan Assaulted Him From Back With Lead Pipe.

While seated on a sofa at his home about 7 o'clock last evening, with his back to the kitchen door, Frank Mason, Linden avenue and Somerset street, North Plainfield, was struck on the head with a piece of leaden pipe by Ralph O. Runyan, aged thirty-eight, who has been a boarder at Mason's home during the two or three months which Mason and his wife have resided there. With blood streaming down his face, Mason jumped to his feet and grappled with Runyan. After a brief struggle Runyan broke loose and bolted out of the front door of the home. Mason stumbled out of his back door yelling for help. His cries attracted the attention of Officer Pope, who was passing. When he arrived opposite Mason's home one of the neighbors, pointing down Fairview avenue yelled to Pope, "There he goes." Drawing his pistol, Pope gave chase and was joined by two young men, William Schenck and William Order.

At the corner of Watchung and Fairview avenues Runyan threw the lead pipe in a hedge. At the corner of De Lacy avenue and Fairview avenue Runyan ran into Borough Clerk Dolliver's yard. Mr. Dolliver saw him enter his yard, and he informed Pope, who shortly put in an appearance. Pope searched the hedge and saw Runyan lying flat on his stomach. He was pulled to his feet and hurried to police hearquarters. On his way Runyan told the officer that he had committed a cowardly act.

The prisoner, who is about thirty-five years old, is a widower. He has three children, two of whom are in the Children's Home and another one with Runyan's mother-in-law, Mrs. James Trimmer. Runyan is confined in the borough jail awaiting trial.

Mason, who had several stitches taken in his scalp by Dr. A. H. Dundon, was able to go to work as usual this morning at Saurer's. It is expected that he will make a charge against Runyan this evening, although it is said that his wife desires that he drop the case.

Preceding the affair, Mrs. Mason had put her children to bed and had gone to town. Mason and Runyan were in the sitting room reading the evening papers. Runyan got up and went upstairs. He came down shortly and was heard moving about the kitchen. Mason left his seat at the table and seated himself on the couch. Then Runyan tip-toed in on him and committed the assault.

He told the police that he didn't know why he had struck Mason. He said that he had the bar in the house as a protection against burglars. The bar was tightly wrapped with paper. Runyan was examined this morning by Dr. Buchanan to ascertain the state of his mentality. The doctor said he was perfectly sane.

MRS. MARY DOWD DIES AT DAUGHTER'S HOME

Mrs. Mary Dowd, widow of Martin Dowd and mother of Mrs. Edward Dacey, of 724 Wallace place, died last night at the latter's home, following an illness of six weeks. She was sixty-four years old and a native of Summit. Ten years ago she removed to this city. Beside the daughter with whom she lived, Mrs. Dowd leaves another daughter, Miss Mamie Dowd, and one son, Martin Dowd.

The funeral will be held Thursday morning from her late home, and at nine o'clock from St. Mary's church, where a solemn high mass of requiem will be said. Later the body will be removed to Madison, where burial will be in St. Vincent's cemetery, that place.

IS FINED $50 FOR ILL-TREATING HORSE

Merchant Gets Sentence Suspended on Promise to Be Good.

As a result of the activity of Mrs. S. G. VanHousen, of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Nickolas Fatouris, a local merchant, was given a fine of $50 or six months in the county jail in police court yesterday morning. The man was charged with having failed to properly care for a horse he was driving to a wagon. The charges of cruelty were proven by Mrs. VanHousen, and Judge DeMeza warned Fatouris that a repetition of the offense would invoke the extreme penalty of the law. The fine and sentence was suspended upon the promise of the merchant to take good care of his horse in the future.

COUNCIL ASKED TO KEEP WATER AWAY

Netherwood Avenue Residents Object to Inundations of Street.

Residents along Netherwood avenue, where it intersects with Watchung in the Netherwood section appeared before members of the Common Council at the adjourned meeting of last night to protest against the presence of dams in Green brook.

L. S. Dougherty, who acted as spokesman for the delegation, said that the brook was dammed in six places below Netherwood avenue, and that in rainy seasons the street on which he and his neighbors lived was a running stream. He declared that the dams were of no benefit to anyone except to beautify downtown property, and he appealed to the Council for relief. The matter was referred to the committee on streets and sewers.

A check from the Patrolman's Benefit Society for $320.75 to be applied to the pension fund was received. The fund was raised by the recent ball.

S. W. Rushmore, who owns property on Belvidere avenue and Ravine road, called the attention of Council to the absence of sewers there, and said that he was preparing to build, but would not do so until a sanitary sewer was put in. This was referred to the streets and sewers committee.

John Guinee was made a regular member of the fire department and Frank Ingraham was made an extra member.

It was moved that all unexpended balances in the police, sewer, shade tree and street lighting funds be carried over to the new year. In making this motion Chairman Babcock, of the finance committee, called the attention of Council to the treasurer's report, which showed that each of the municipal departments had lived within its budget during the year.

Councilman Blatz introduced a resolution to appoint three commissioners to take up the work of assessing benefits for permanent improvements on West Third street, between Liberty and Plainfield avenue. The matter will come up in Elizabeth in January. This street is to be paved with macadam. The resolution also authorized the issuance of bonds in the sum of $5,000 to pay for the work, which are to be sold to the City National Bank of Plainfield. They will bear interest at 5 per cent. and run for three years.

$1,200 MARK PASSED BY COMMUNITY XMAS FUND

Another $100 was added to the Community Christmas Fund since yesterday, according to the report made public by Treasurer DeWitt Hubbell this morning. The total is now over $1,200. Included in the subscriptions were those of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, Class 12 of the Trinity Reformed church, an additional subscription from Warren chapel, and one from the Men's Conference Class of the First Baptist church, and the following from individuals: Mrs. M. S. Voorhees, R. Henry Depew, Mrs. L. B. Benton, Mrs. C. L. Wilson, Mary D. Field, Katharine Ely Case, Elizabeth Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gee and H. L. Moody.

Mr. Hubbell will continue to receive contributions until Christmas day, and any surplus funds over what is needed for actual Christmas expenses will be used to relieve needy families throughout the year, as was done with the surplus from 1914.

THERE WILL BE NO BLUE SUNDAYS IN PLAINFIELD, MAYOR CALKINS TELLS CHURCHMEN WHO PETITION

RULE OF REASON AND DISCRETION SHOULD BE APPLIED TO LAW ENFORCEMENT, BECAUSE ALL MEN ARE VIOLATORS.

COUNCIL HEARS LETTER AND ITS ANSWER

Poor Italian, With His Small Shop Quietly Open, Observes Sabbath Day Better Than His Rich Neighbor Whose Recreations and Pastimes Are Accompanied by Clouds of Dust and Blowing of Horns—No Official Action is Taken.

There will be no blue Sundays in Plainfield, according to Mayor Leighton Calkins, who answered an appeal for an enforcement of Sunday closing laws addressed to him by heads of various local organizations in an official communication to the Council, last night.

The petition for enforcement of laws prohibiting the opening of business houses on Sundays was signed by E. L. Morgan, president of the Men's Club of the Congregational church; Dr. Frank L. Clawson, president of the Federation of Men's Bible Classes, and Walter H. P. Veysey, president of the Federated Men's Clubs. It told of recent investigations made by a committee from these clubs which revealed the fact that a few small shops in Plainfield were open for business on Sunday.

All men are lawbreakers, according to Mayor Calkins, and he did not exclude himself or members of the organizations which petitioned for a strict enforcement of the law. He said that if all ordinances on the books of the municipality and all statutes on the books of the State were strictly enforced most men would visit Monday morning police court regularly, and we would expect to rub elbows with the petitioners there. After calling attention to some of the many laws that are violated regularly by all classes of citizens, Mayor Calkins said:

"The peace and quiet of the day is better observed by the poor Italian, with his small shop, quietly open, than by his more well-to-do fellow townsman whose recreations and pastimes are accompanied by clouds of dust and a blowing of horns."

The petition was addressed to members of the General Council but an advance copy was sent to Mayor Calkins as the official entrusted with the enforcement of all city and State laws and his answer was read with the communication of the petitioning organizations. Both documents were referred to the police committee, but no action is expected.

The letter of Mayor Calkins was as follows.

"December 20, 1915.

"Mr. Frank A. Weeks,
"825 West Seventh street,
"Plainfield, N. J.

"Dear Sir:—

"I acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 15th inst., enclosing copy of a communication which you say

F. B. CLELAND WEDS MISS TALIAFERRO

Sister of Mrs. F. V. L. Jones a Bride at Attractive Ceremony in Elizabeth.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Octavia Taliaferro, sister of Mrs. F. V. L. Jones, of Evergreen avenue, this city, to Frank Benedict Cleland, of New York, took place yesterday afternoon at the home of her sister, Mrs. Arthur T. Pendleton, in Elizabeth. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. Lyttleton Hubard, rector of St. John's church, Elizabeth.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Edmund Pendleton Taliaferro, of Westfield, was attended by her sister, Miss Georgia Ketcham Taliaferro. Her niece, little Elizabeth Taylor Pendleton, was the flower girl. The best man was Samuel Penny Taliaferro, a brother of the bride.

Mrs. Cleland is the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Felix Taylor Taliaferro, formerly of Virginia. She has been making her home with her sister in Elizabeth for some time. After a trip to the South, Mr. and Mrs. Cleland will live in New York.

NORTH PLAINFIELD SALOON LICENSES RENEWED TODAY

Licenses of Fred Moore and W. G. Pfeister, saloonkeepers in North Plainfield, were renewed today at Somerville. Ten renewals and one rejection were made, the application of John Filak, of Raritan, being refused for the fifth time.

Justice Charles H. Parker and Judge Daniel H. Beekman presided at the opening of the December term of the grand jury. Former Congressman George A. Post was made foreman.

TEETS-BARRETT.

Miss Grace Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barrett, of North Plainfield, and William Teets, of High Bridge, were married Saturday afternoon by Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First M. E. church. The ceremony was performed at the parsonage. The couple will live at High Bridge.

G. O. P. COMMITTEE AWARDS PATRONAGE

Rev. Dr. E. G. Read and Robert Newton Crane Are Slated for Reappointment.

The political patronage for Union county was discussed and practically decided upon at a meeting of the Union County Republican Executive Committee at Elizabeth, last night. The plums given to the county comprise that of chaplain and file clerk, which comes to Plainfield; a clerkship to Elizabeth, a door-keeper for Rahway, journal clerk to Fanwood, while Summit is given the appointment of assistant secretary to the Senate.

According to present indications, Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, of this city, will be re-appointed chaplain of the Senate, while Robert Newton Crane, also of Plainfield, will be re-named file clerk, and George Johnston will succeed himself as journal clerk. Allen Trimble is slated to get the clerkship from Elizabeth, and John W. Cliff, of Summit, it is believed, will be appointed assistant secretary of the Senate. The appointment for Rahway is still undecided. This will probably be made within a few days.

Departing from its usual custom, the committee decided to hold a Christmas tree celebration at headquarters in Elizabeth tonight, while there will be "open-house" there on New Year's day in the afternoon, when all the faithful ones will gather and exchange greetings.

MONDAY AFTERNOON CLUB DISCUSS 1916 PROGRAM

The literature department of the Monday Afternoon Club had charge of the meeting in the parish house of the Congregational church yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Maxwell E. Perkins read "The Life of Man," a Russian play, written by Andreve, the noted Russian writer. Following the reading an informal discussion of the 1916-17 program was held. Mr. Henry D. Hibbard, chairman of the department presided at the meeting.

CONSTRUCTS ELECTRICAL VILLAGE FOR CHILDREN

Harry G. Morse, of 253 New Market road, has constructed an electrical village, for the pleasure of the children and the grown-ups as well. The village covers fifty square feet. It has sidewalks, lighted houses and streets; mountains and a complete farm and buildings; a fire-house and bell tower; miniature figures, a log cabin; a lake and lighthouse; a railroad with ballasted tracks, switches, automatic signals, crossing gates, tunnels and bridges. In fact, Mr. Morse has designed a most complete town in miniature.

There is nothing in this locality along this line of Xmas pleasure for the children and Mr. Morse will be glad to have any one call at his residence and see this miniature town and its operations any evening from 7 to 9, or on a Sunday from Christmas until about January 15.

P. O. OF A. AUXILIARY HOLDS XMAS CELEBRATION

At the meeting of the P. O. of A. Auxiliary held Friday night in the W. G. Holton Hall, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Mrs. Anna A. Wyckoff, past president; James Teeling, assistant past president; Mrs. James Teeling, president; William Shively, past president; Mrs. Alvin Haver, conductor, Mrs. Rene P. F. Von Minden, assistant conductor; Edgar Shively, outside sentinel; Emile Vogel, inside sentinel; Mrs. Edgar Shively, chaplain; Fred Cary, assistant recording secretary; Miss Blanche Teeling, financial secretary; Miss Helen Shively, treasurer.

Following the business of the evening a social hour was enjoyed. There was a large Xmas pie filled with bags of good things for all. The bags for the ladies, to which red strings were attached, contained fruit, candies and other sweets, while by pulling green strings the gents received bags containing cigars and other things which appeal to men generally.

Mrs. Henry Wrage, of Walnut street, is numbered among the grip victims.

Ernest Pierson has resigned his position with the Blair livery at Plainfield and taken a position with the New Market Grain Company.

George W. Churchill, of Washington avenue, has been quite ill at his home. He was taken ill a week or so ago with the grip, which left him in an extremely weakened condition and induced the return of an old complaint.

Robert Schwoerer and Walter Penrose have discontinued their services with the New Market Grain and Supply Company.

WILLARD N. APGAR TO GET POSTOFFICE PLUM?

When Willard N. Apgar, one of the candidates for the appointment of postmaster at Dunellen, visited the postoffice yesterday, a friend noticed that he received an official letter from the Postoffice Department at Washington. This gave rise to a rumor that Mr. Apgar had received the appointment. When questioned about the matter Mr. Apgar made a positive denial of the story.

However, the rumor would not down, and later it was accompanied by the voluntary explanation on the part of a friend that Mr. Apgar had received a blank form from Washington to be filled out by an applicant for the postoffice job. According to the "wise ones" this means that Mr. Apgar is the choice for the coveted position and his appointment is expected within a short time.

Clarence Marlow, of New York city, visited his mother, Mrs. Anna Marlow, of Dunellen avenue, over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hamley, of Washington avenue, spent the week-end at Bartley, visiting Mr. Hamley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hamley.

Mrs. C. B. Lake and son, Charles Ditmars, of Jersey City, are spending the holidays in the borough.

William Chester O'Neil, of Washington avenue, spent the week-end at Kingsessing Station, Pa.

Miss Hattie Harris, of Greenbrook road, has returned from an extended trip to the Pacific coast.

Miss Frances Fuchs, of Greenbrook road, has been ill for the past week with tonsilitis and the grip.

Mrs. John Fuchs returned last week from Saguerties, N. Y., where she spent six days while the estate of her mother was being settled.

H. G. Morse, of New Market road, has been suffering from a slight attack of the grip. He has managed thus far, however, to attend to his duties in the office of Hand's Express in North Plainfield.

Harry Dodwell, of Jackson avenue, was brought home Sunday from the Muhlenberg Hospital, where he submitted to two operations as a result of his accident of several weeks ago in which he fell in a sewer trench while on duty for the borough as sewer inspector.

An adjourned meeting of the Mayor and Common Council will be held in the Borough Hall, this evening.

Mrs. William A. Craig, of Second street, shopped in New York, yesterday.

UNDERGOES OPERATION.

Mabel Margentino, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Margentino, of North avenue, who was taken to the Somerset Hospital at Somerville for an operation two weeks ago Friday, and was stricken with pneumonia shortly after her arrival there, had recovered sufficiently from the attack of pneumonia to submit to the operation yesterday. The operation was performed by a New York surgeon, assisted by Dr. DeMarco. According to the latest reports she is doing well.

Mrs. Charles Johnson, of New Market road, shopped in New York, yesterday.

Fred Von Minden has been detained at home by illness.

Earl Fulton, who is employed at the plant of the Saino Fire Door and Shutter Company, of Brooklyn, is enjoying a week's vacation, which he is spending here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Fulton.

The pond is covered with ice and skating promises to be good for the Christmas holidays.

Many local young men and women have returned from school or college to spend the Christmas holidays with their parents. Miss Dorothy Beeker is home from Vassar College, and will be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Beeken, of North avenue, for several weeks. Miss Emily Garder, Miss Ruth Dunn, Miss Katherine Russell and Miss Ethelwyn Walker are enjoying a vacation from the Newark Normal School. Clifford Hall, of North avenue, is home from Stevens College, and William Beeken, also of North avenue, has returned from Vermont Academy.

The collecting of back dues and fines will be one of the matters of business taken up at the meeting of the Fanwood Fire Company tonight. A number who have been members long enough to be exempt will protest against paying bills for fines. It will be the last meeting of the year, the annual election of officers being held at the january meeting.

A meeting of the Bible school of the Baptist church will be held in the lecture room of that edifice tonight to rehearse for the Christmas pageant and tableaux to be held on December 26. Charles Lewis will be present to instruct, and as there is one more before Christmas, everyone is urged to be present.

A largely attended meeting of the Epworth League, of the Methodist church was held in the church parlors last night, at which time a large barrel of toys, articles of clothing and other things was packed. The things were all either donated by members of the league or other local people, and the barrel will be sent to Mr Fox's Warren street mission in New York city.

A short program apporpriate to the holiday season was enjoyed by the Scotch Plains Boy Scouts at their weekly meeting held in the lecture room of the Baptist church last night.

Thomas Louden, of Martine avenue, is preparing to stage another play, the product of his own pen, shortly after the holiday season. His play, "Brother Bill," an amusing comedy, was produced earlier in the season and has been a success from its opening night at Atlantic City. Mrs. Louden is taking one of the roles in "Lord Dundreary," which is now enjoying a long run in New York. She gained a reputation on the stage before her marriage, and started her career as a protege of Julia Marlowe the famous actress.

Somerville

Adrian Mets, son of Mr. and Mrs James Mets, of Doughty avenue, is home from Peddie Institute.

The Bachelor Club has elected the following officers: President, Joshua Doughty, Jr.; vice-president, Louis T. Reed; secretary, William H. Cawley Jr.; treasurer, Calvin D. McMurtry; chamberlain, Christopher A. Speer.

John A. Maxwell was elected a director of the First National Bank Thursday to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Theodore Callen.

Miss Kenmore Caughey, of Gaston avenue, is spending a month in Baltimore.

The Raritan Ministerial Association met yesterday morning at the First Reformed church. A paper was read by Rev. James J. Hoffman on "The Psychology of Faith."

Mrs. Alexander G. Crouse and daughter are spending a week in Newark.

Henry A. Quante, formerly of Berlin, Germany, is making his home with Mr. and Mrs. William H. Wyckoff, in Nevins street.

Miss Esther Amerman, of Nevins street, returned Friday, after spending three weeks with her sister, Mrs. Frank W. Brightbill, in East Orange.

Rev. Albertus A. Pfansteihl, who was formerly pastor of the Second Reformed church, and who last week returned from Holland, preached in the church Sunday at both services and spoke before the Bible Fellowship Club in the afternoon.

Watchung.

There will be a Christmas entertainment in the Watchung School tonight at 8:15 o'clock. An interesting program has been arranged by the teachers—Daniel H. Hawkins, principal, the Misses Stella M. Sheets and Margarieute Dilts.

The children are asked to attend the weekly meeting of the Christian Endeavor tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The topic will be "His Last Word."

The Pleasant Word Workers will have charge of the Senior Christian Endeavor meeting Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. This is the Endeavor's Christmas meeting. There will be special music, and the topic will be "How the Prophesy of the Angels May Come True."

The annual New Year's dance of the North Plainfield Township Improvement Society and Ladies' Auxiliary will be held New Year's Eve in Improvement Hall. Music will be furnished by Naylor's orchestra.

Plans are being made for the Christmas entertainment of the Wilson Sunday-school, and will be held during the Christmas holidays.

WILLS OFFERED FOR PROBATE.

The will of the late George H. Burgess, who died here December 5, has been offered for probate in the surrogate's court, Elizabeth, by his sister, Mrs. Joseph B. Yerkes, as executrix. His estate, the value of which is not given, is left to the immediate relatives. The will of Mrs. Louise Heaton, who died here on November 30, has also been offered for probate by her husband, John R. Heaton, executor. Two brothers and two sisters survive.

LITERARY

James Oliver Curwood has written another novel of animal life. He believes that it is a more absorbing story than "Kazan," his story of a wolf-dog, which attracted such widespread attention a year ago. The new novel is entitled "The Grizzly." It, like his other stories, is to be published first as a serial in the Red Book Magazine. The opening installment is in the January issue. Mr Curwood seems to be the one writer who can build an animal into a more interesting hero than a human being. He certainly has done this in the opening installment of "The Grizzly." The story opens with the first experience with man of an enormous bear that has ruled a range of the Rockies in British Columbia. For the first time the bear knows fear, after he has felt the burn and pain of a bullet. When Mr. Curwood writes of bears he writes as one who knows, for he has not only hunted them with great success, but he has spent months in studying them. This issue of the Red Book also contains installments of "The Thirteenth Commandment," by Rupert Hughes, and "The Proof of the Pudding," by Meredith Nicholson. Among its twelve short stories one finds "Kettles and Bells," which was the last story completed by George Fitch before his death; a new story by Opie Read, and other stories by Ethel K. Train, Maude Radford Warren, Albert Payson Terhune, Ellis Parker Butler and other well known writers.

MARTINE TO SEE TUTTLE ON CANDIDACY OF BARDON

Washington, Dec. 21.—No disposition will be made of the Madison postmastership until Senator Martine has talked with former Representative William E. Tuttle. Mr. Martine has read the statement of Mr. Tuttle that he would not recommend Fred B. Bardon at this time, but otherwise says he has no knowledge of the reasons that caused the rejection of Bardon.

The Senator has been very much inclined to the Bardon candidacy and was astonished when he read of Mr Tuttle's action. It is apparent there are certain aspects of the situation that the Senator is unacquainted with.

Daniel Dunn, one of the other candidates for the place, as unacceptable to the Senator.

FUNERAL OF MRS. COMPTON.

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Compton, widow of Jeremiah Compton, was held at 1 o'clock this afternoon at the home of her cousin, Mrs. John Dolliver, of Summit avenue. Rev. John W. VanZanten, pastor of Reformed church at Metuchen, was the officiating clergyman, assisted by Rev. John Y. Broek, of this city. A gathering of relatives and friends was in attendance, and a number of handsome floral pieces were in evidence. Burial was made in the family plot at Liberty Corner, a commitment service at the grave being conducted by Rev. Peter K. Hageman, of Liberty Corner.

DUNELLEN BOARDS ENDS OLD YEAR

New Officers Elected for Trade Body—Cockburn is President.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year by the Dunellen Board of Trade at its annual meeting last night: Arthur Cockburn, president; Arthur Bogardus, vice president; S. M. Kookogey, secretary; J. G. Walton, treasurer. H. S. Garretson, Oscar Runyon, F. H. Fuller, W. S. Frederick, E. R. Smalley, C. T. Voorhees and Walter Muller were elected members of the executive committee. This committee will elect its chairman at a meeting to be held shortly.

Secretary William P. Deering read a report on work done during the past year and told of improvements planned for the future. He called attention to the fact that the thirtieth anniversary of the borough was to be celebrated during the next year and suggested that a fitting program be arranged by the Board of Trade.

Treasurer L. T. Churchill was unable to be present with his annual report on account of the illness of his father.

The banquet committee submitted its report, which showed that the board had come out a little over $10 ahead on the event. The committee was discharged with thanks.

Members of this committee were Walter Muller, chairman; H. S. Garretson, Lewis Schneider, Frank Fuller and S. M. Kookogey.

Chairman Dusel, of the Fourth of July committee, submitted his report showing that the Board had come out about $10 behind on the Fourth of July program. The fireworks cost $150.

With the idea of co-operating with the Common Council and keeping in closer touch with that body, it was voted on recommendation of President J. G. Walton that two of the members of the Board be present at each Council meeting. J. E. Dix and G. Sumner Smith were appointed to be present at the meeting tonight and Lewis Schneider and S. M. Kookogey to be present at the next meeting.

Arthur Cockburn, of Penfield place, brought up the matter of the non-enforcement of the snow ordinance following the last storm. He said that he had lived in the borough for five years and that the walking had never been so fearful.

Mayor Latham, who was present, said that the snow had been unexpected and that the borough was not prepared. He said that the borough was empowered to clean the sidewalks and assess the cost against the properties of the delinquents. His Honor stated that the borough was caught with only five or six shovels and that there was a scarcity of labor.

Mr. Cockburn admitted that it was a difficult undertaking to send out a force of snow shovelers within a certain time under existing labor conditions. He recommended that since the borough has the option of cleaning the snow off of the walks of the delinquents or summoning them to court, that the latter measure be pursued. He said that a fine of $2 from each delinquent would appeal very direct to the borough treasurer and would tend powerfully towards having the sidewalks of the borough promptly cleared of snow, as no person with any respect for himself would want to be brought to court a second time.

Mayor Latham stated that the matter would be brought to the attention of the Council this evening.

G. Sumner Smith called the attention of the meeting to the condition of the outlet to a fire escape in the Whittier School. In the event of a fire Mr. Smith said that it would be necessary to unlock a blind, pull up a shade and unlock a window before the entrance to the fire escape would be open for exit. He called this a very serious condition. It was voted that the attention of the Board of Education be called to the matter.

OLD GLORY COUNCIL ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

At the meeting of Old Glory Council, Daughters of Liberty, Saturday night, the annual election of officers took place as follows; Councilor, Miss Eva Eveland; associate councilor, Walter Walker; vice-councilor, Mrs. Emma Brown; associate vice-councilor, Mrs. Anna Kettering; guide, Miss Mabel Lant; inside guard, Miss Emma Windham; outside guard, Leslie Dunham; recording secretary, Miss Anna Wykoff; financial secretary, Mrs. Lottie Anson; treasurer, Mrs. Eva Moore; trustees, Mrs. Ella Demarest; Fred Soper, and Mrs. Gertrude Rittenhouse. The installation ceremonies will take place on Saturday night, January 25, and in connection with them the council will hold a social and informal entertainment.

NO BLUE SUNDAYS SAYS MAYOR

has been forwarded to the Common Council. It is signed by E. L. Morgan, president of the Men's Club of the Congregational Church; Dr. Frank T. Clawson, president of the Bible classes of the same church; George H. Batchelor, president of the Federation of Men's Bible Classes, and Walter H. P. Veysey, president of the Federated Men's Clubs; states that a large number of stores are kept open and doing business on Sunday, listing certain of them; and requests a more proper observance of the Sabbath. It will probably be referred by the Common Council to the police committee and thus in due course will officially be brought to the attention of the Mayor, who primarily is charged with the due enforcement of the law.

"While I regret that the organizations which have brought this matter forward did not first inform themselves as to what has been done, and is being done, to prevent any gradual drifting away from Sabbath observance, nevertheless I recognize the good motive which prompts your action and I am in sympathy with what I hope is your position: that a growing tendency, if such exists, to depart from a reasonably substantial observance of Sunday as a day of general rest from work and of unusual public quiet, should be discouraged.

"But I think it possible that a communication of this kind, taken by itself, may give some people a wrong impression as to actual conditions, or at least as to our knowledge of them and as to our purpose with respect to law enforcement.

"Of the latter I will speak in a moment. But first let me say that I have frequently been through the city on Sunday in order to satisfy myself that we have that unusual degree of public rest and quiet which I think it is the purpose of the law to secure; and I have ordered a number of surveys of the city to get a check on business activity. It happens that one of these was made on Saturday and Sunday, December the 11th and 12th, showing out of fifty-nine stores open on Sunday only twelve which were not closed on the Saturday before. Drug stores and eating places are not included in this survey. This is a smaller number of stores open both days than is indicated in your list, and a few places may have been overlooked. On the other hand six of the places named in your list were closed on that Saturday, and three others are drug stores. We have a great many Hebrews in our merchant class; and whether or not they all habitually observe Saturday as the Sabbath within the meaning of our ordinance so as to entitle them quietly to carry on their business within their premises on Sunday, at least they are respectable citizens and in other matters, and perhaps in this as well, as law abiding as any of us. A number of these small shops are kept by Italians and Greeks who are assisted by their wives in carrying on what little business they do, mostly fruit, light confections and the like. There is no disorder; no collecting of crowds; no noise, nor any open display or crying of wares. Newsdealers have readily conformed to my direction that papers be not sold from stands on the sidewalks; and the selling of papers by newsboys on the street has this year been discontinued entirely. I therefore believe, from personal observation and a very considerable amount of time given to the matter, that you are mistaken in thinking that there is a gradual drift away from Sabbath observance as we have heretofore had it in Plainfield. We have, I think, a much more substantial cessation of business and labor on Sunday than in most cities.

"That the State blue laws are not rigidly enforced, I of course admit. Although I am prepared to do so should the occasion arise, I will not now debate at length the general question of a literal enforcement of the law, further than to suggest that a strict and technical enforcement of the so-called Sunday laws would, I fear, find most of us in the police court on Monday morning; and I should confidently expect to be there myself, touching elbows possibly with one or more worthy members of these petitioning organizations. For I am sure that most of us at one time or another have at least travelled on Sunday, which is forbidden, or engaged in some ordinary work about house and home; not to speak of fiddling or other music if accompanied by any merriment. Any kind of play, pastime or diversion is unlawful. It is true that walking on Sunday was made lawful a few years ago, also riding and driving for recreation; but it was only horses and carriages which could be hired for the purpose, so that there may be a question whether the Sabbath is properly observed by those of us who drive about in automobiles of a Sunday afternoon. In any event the peace and quiet of the day is better observed by the poor Italian with his small shop, quietly open, than by his more well-to-do fellow townsmen whose recreations and pastimes are accompanied by clouds of dust and the blowing of horns.

"If the law is to be enforced literally, why begin with a handful of small shop-keepers, whose quiet and orderly conduct of their business inside their premises disturbs no one, and who no doubt would prefer if they could to walk and ride and drive and otherwise recreate on Sundays.

"Of course, any citizen may swear out a complaint against a person whose shop is open on Sunday. And if this is done, the offender will be prosecuted; and it will be up to him to prove that he uniformly keeps the seventh day as the Sabbath, and abstains from following his business on that day and also 'from all recreation.' But I do not conceive it to be the duty of the authorities to question each shop-keeper as to his religion and to check him in his pastimes and amusements on Saturday. Unfairness and needless restraint should be avoided if the spirit of the law, as overwhelmingly supported by public opinion and by the conduct of the mass of the people, is attained by quiet, orderliness, and a very general cessation of business and labor on Sunday.

"The Sunday law is not the only law which is not literally enforced. There are many laws and ordinances which are not even expected to be so enforced when they are enacted. The motor vehicle speed law is an example. It is unlawful to drive faster than twelve miles an hour about town. But the purpose of the law is to secure the public safety; and except on a few business streets it is generally safe to drive at twenty miles an hour. Yet the lawmakers thought it best to have a strict law. It was not expected to be enforced indiscriminately, but it was thought best to have it handy. The ordinance against burning leaves in the streets except in the morning hours can be invoked by citizens who are annoyed by its disregard. But to enforce it technically would work injustice in many cases, as with the workingman who goes from his home early in the morning and cannot afford to employ a man to work about his place. His only opportunity to burn leaves is when he gets home at night.

"If it were the duty of officials rigidly to enforce all the laws all the time, I do not know how they could do it with the means at hand. The rule of reason, and discretion, should be applied to law enforcement. Laws concerning public safety and health are more important than others and call for sharper supervision. But even a law like the snow removal law, which concerns the safety and the convenience of the people, is not and cannot be enforced literally. Sometimes ice cannot be covered within four hours, or snow removed within twelve hours. We expect reasonable compliance, and it is only when the disregard of the ordinance becomes so notorious as to cause general and persistent complaint that we feel called upon to undertake a more rigid enforcement of it, or to go further than to call the attention of offenders to its provisions.

"We have notified the proprietors of stores which have been open both Saturday and Sunday as to the provisions of the law; which we can invoke if we find the disregard of it to be growing, or leading to noise, disorder or a disturbance of the quiet of our streets and public places on Sunday.

"I thank you for your courtesy in forwarding to me a copy of your communication to the Council which enables me very roughly to define my policy, and to explain that the subject is not one which has been overlooked during the year, but on the contrary is one which on account of its importance and debatable features has engaged my very careful and serious attention, in the hope that we may be able not only to perform our full duty but in so doing to show fairness and regard for those among us who most need our protection, while looking to us and to our own conduct for a consistent and charitable example.

"I have the honor to remain,
"Yours faithfully,
"(Signed) LEIGHTON CALKINS,
"Mayor."

LITERARY CLUB ELECTS.

At a meeting of the Alpha Literary Club, held in the Plainfield High School Auditorium yesterday afternoon, election of officers was held, resulting as follows: William Becker, president; Miss Elizabeth Chickering, vice-president; Gerald Linke, secretary and treasurer; LeRoy Apgar, sergeant-at-arms. A program committee was appointed, and held a meeting this afternoon. It is composed of the Misses Lockwood, Blimm, Burnett and Coddington, and Warren Mumford.

NEW APPARATUS IS BEING TESTED TODAY

Acceptance Will Follow if No. 3 Vehicle Stands 50-Mile Road Run.

The official test of the new automobile chemical engine, purchased for No. 3 house, on West Fourth street, was commenced at 1 o'clock this afternoon under the supervision of Chief T. O. Doane and members of the councilmanic fire committee. The vehicle is to be sent over the roads surrounding Plainfield for a total distance of fifty miles, and is to be closely watched for smooth running and the motor parts, hill climbing and speed. It is probable that the route will be over the Watchung Mountains to Sterling, and thence by various thoroughfares into Springfield, Elizabeth and on the county road back to Plainfield.

Walter Zimmer, expert driver for the Mack Company, which built the engine, will handle the apparatus this afternoon, and is counted upon to bring out all the good points of the vehicle. Mr. Zimmer goes to New York tomorrow to test out seven new Mack engines purchased by the fire board of that city. The Plainfield vehicle is guaranteed to develop sixty horse-power, and a maximum speed of thirty-five miles, and carries two thousand feet of hose in addition to its chemical tanks. If the test this afternoon proves satisfactory, the fire committee will accept it officially and place it in regular service.

The West End house has had previously for its equipment only one horse-drawn combination chemical and hose wagon. This vehicle was taken in exchange by the International Motor Company, which controls the Mack concern, and one of the team of horses has been sent to the Netherwood house, taking the place of an animal recently disabled. The remaining horse, who is known as "Mac," and who has been in the city service over fifteen years, is still at the West End house, pending the fire committee's decision as to what is to be done with him. The old Alert hose wagon, which was kept at No. 3 house as an exercise wagon, has been placed in temporary service at the Netherwood house, the heavy roads at the present time making it a much better vehicle than the regular combination chemical and hose apparatus.

SEEKING ASA HARTPENCE.

The Press has received a letter from Mrs. M. Loeffler, of Chicago, asking that she be aided in a search to locate her father, Asa P. Hartpence. She believes he is in this section somewhere. Mrs. Loeffler is ill and wants to hear from him.

LOCAL OPTIONISTS FORM NEW LEAGUE

Meeting Held at Grace Church in the Borough Last Night.

A Local Option League for North Plainfield was organized at a meeting held at the Grace M. E. church, last evening. The purpose of the league will be to work for the passage of local option laws in the State of New Jersey and already it has started a canvass of North Plainfield voters for the purpose of determining whether or not they are against the proposed legislation.

Julian Zelchenko, county superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, acted as chairman. Dr. H. K. Carroll was elected president. The name of the organization will be the North Plainfield Local Option League. The nominating committee will report at the next meeting nominations for vice president, secretary and treasurer.

District leaders elected were: First district, Harry B. Drake; second district, W. H. Kirch; fourth district, George M. Hoagland. District leaders for the third and fifth districts will be elected at the next meeing.

A citizens' committee was elected and consented to serve. Its members are: A. B. Cole, F. E. Vallentine, A. E. Causbrook, Henry Seader, J. R. Harden, A. Early, A. D. Krom, George E. Volk, Philip Swain, Edward Baker, Jr., Fred Armstrong, James R. Joy, George C. Nelson, Henry Dresselt, M. F. Gano, C. A. Amerman, Charles Doeringer, D. M. Van Vliet, M. Shortway, Walter Smalley, Hayes Potter, T. J. Martin.

Andrew Wilson was elected to serve on the nominating committee with George M. Hoagland and D. M. Van Vliet

At the next meeting the citizens' committee it is expected will be increased. There are twenty-two members. It is hoped eighteen more will consent to serve on this committee.

A meeting will be called later to elect the vice president and secretary and treasurer and two more district leaders.

The organization will meet the third Monday in February, when reports will be received.

MASON TO SUCCEED ANDERSON.

W. B. R. Mason, of Bound Brook, editor of The Chrinicle, of that place, it is said, is to receive the appointment of clerk to the appropriation committee of the Legislature, succeeding W. de La R. Anderson, of North Plainfield township, who held the position last year.

TRIPS TO BE RESUMED.

The Suburban Transit Company will resume its Stirling trips tomorrow at the usual hours, 8:15 a. m., and 4:15 p. m. These trips were temporarily suspended on account of the recent storm.

Important Amendment to Game Law May be Made

With the hunting season practically at a close and the session of the Legislature near at hand, sportsmen are busying themselves with drafts of laws that they will try to have introduced.

Taken as a whole, there will be few changes suggested by the organized sportsmen's clubs, but one change will be backed by them, and that is to change the present bag limit law on rabbits.

The act complained of states "it shall be unlawful to copture, kill, injure, destroy, or have in possession in any one day more than ten quail, three English or ringnecked pheasants, three Hungarian partridges, ten woodcock, three partridges, twenty ducks, ten geese, ten brant or ten rabbits."

Experience has shown, the sportsmen maintain, that while no person should be permitted to "kill" more than is set forth in the law, still the law handicaps a hunter who has made preparations to stay in the country, for no matter now many rabbits he kills, he can bring home only ten; and as a rule he will kill that many in a day or two, at least.

Thomas Dunn, a member of the Essex Fish and Game Protective Association, in talking about the bag limit law, said that he went to Monmouth county for rabbits and had engaged room and board for a week, as he had yplanned ahead for a vacation in the wilds of South Jersey, and during his stay killed thirty-nine rabbits, cleaning and placing them on ice at the end of each day's hunt, not being aware of the law that held him down to having not more than ten rabbits in his possession in any one day. As a result he had to leave most of his game behind him when he returned home.

CLASS CANE RUSH AND BASKETBALL AT P. H. S.

The date for the Junior-Senior fracas at the Plainfield High School has been changed to tomorrow night, when the affair will be staged in the school gym, starting at 9:30 o'clock. None of the members of the two lower classes will be allowed to see the fun. The men instructors will be the guards. The Seniors and Juniors were out in full force yesterday, practicing for the basketball game, which will be the first number on the program. Following that the Seniors will be given a cane, and will have the job of keeping it away from the third year men.

CHESS PLAYERS GET BUSY.

New York, Dec. 21.—The twenty-fourth intercollegiate chess tournament will get under way at the Murray Hill tomorrow, with Columbia, Harvard, Yale and Princeton as competitors. Columbia was the winner last year, Princeton was second and Harvard and Yale trailed third and fourth. Columbia has won the championship ten times, Harvard nine, Yale twice and Princeton once, and back in 1909 there was a tie between Yale and Harvard. Next week Cornell, Brown and Pennsylvania will hold their annual triangular chess tournament. Cornell and Pennsy tied last year, and there is great interest in the outcome this year.

BIG FEED FOR CADDIES.

Philadelphia, Dec. 21.—The caddies who chase over the links around Philadelphia will be banquetted royally at the leading golf clubs tonight. The Huntingdon Valley Club, the Philmont Club and the Old York Road Club will dine 375 boys, and there will be plenty of good eatables, Christmas cheer and fun, besides gifts of sweaters, dollar bills and baskets to be brought home. The caddies are youngsters of 14 to 15 years of age, and they earn a goodly sum during the golfing season. The golfers give them an annual spread, and there is always "something doing" when "the bunch" gets together.

However, Coach Haughton placed him at end position, and he has shown up remarkably well there. In fact, he has developed into one of the best of the season.

Wagner Good For Two More Years.

Fred Clarke says that Wagner will be of good service as a regular for about two more years. At forty-four he may not figure in many games, but the rare and beloved old bit of German antique ware will be seen around in uniform until the concrete in the stadium crumbles. Barney Dreyfus has said this time and again: "There will be a lot of things to keep Honus useful in a Pirate uniform until one or the other of us is gone."

O'Brien Coaching Cornell.

J. E. O'Brien, former Cornell oarsman, is directing the work of seven Cornell varsity eights, while John Hoyle is looking after the training of 100 freshmen. Coach Charles E. Courtney is expected to take charge of the candidates early next year. He is slowly recovering from the effects of his fall and an injury to his head at Poughkeepsie last June.

ATHLETIC LEAGUE AVERAGE MARKS OF LOCAL INTEREST

The Senior Athletic and Elks Leagues are generally admitted to be two of the fastest alley circuits in the metropolitan district, and fans following one loop are more or less interested in the other. This year, the Athletic pinners are below their standard, seven of the ten teams having averages of less than 900. Only three teams in the Elks' League are outside the select circle. The Athletic teams have rolled only nine games this year, too.

Roseville, which is tied with the Ilderan Outing Club, of Rahway, for first place, has the best average, a mark of 950.7. New York A. C. pinners, the only team with a thousand score to its credit, is averaging 918.1.

Charley McCormick, rolling for Ilderan, is averaging 187.1. Platt Adams is shooting 184.4.

AUTO RACE CLASSIC.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—Entry blanks are being sent out for the Chicago auto classic, to be raced on June 19, next year. Following the example of Indianapolis, which reduced the distance of the Hoosier classic from 500 miles to 300, the Chicago managers have cut the length of their feature to 300 miles. The purse for the Chicago race will total $30,000, to be split ten ways.

BASKETBALL'S CASH VALUE HERE.

The patronage—or rather, the lack of it—which made Saturday night basketball at the Y. M. C. A. a failure financially, proves conclusively that Plainfield will not support the indoor game—even between first class teams—for the merits of the exhibition itself. It's the occasion that attracts local patrons more than the calibre of the playing—who is playing, not how they play.

The largest throng that pays to see a court tussle here goes to the P. H. S.-N. P. H. S. city scholastic championship contests. The games, fought between representatives of annually increasing student and alumni bodies, have grown to be an institution, and draw hundreds, while a game between teams not having such rivalry and history won't draw a handful of fans, even though it is better played.

The shows that were staged at the Y. M. C. A. were excellent, but Plainfielders didn't know the clever out-of-town basketeers, and consequently were not interested in them. It is the size of a team's following, and the rival organization it meets, that makes fat gate receipts.

HOW PLAINFIELD FARES IN GOLF AWARDS.

Plainfield will not be so lucky next summer in having important golf championships decided near this city. The national open, which was held last June at Baltusrol, is almost certain to be held in the West, probably at Detroit. Where the metropolitan open will be decided remains to be seen, and although a New Jersey club will probably get the event, there are not many courses more accessible for local golfers than Fox Hills, where the 1915 title was contested.

On the other hand the national amateur tourney will be brought back East, and is slated for Philadelphia. This may occasion more satisfaction locally than having the national open near at hand, for the reason that 1916 promises a record number of special matches among the professionals, so that most enthusiasts of this vicinity will have an opportunity to watch the stars of the salaried contingent, even though the national open is held many miles away.

Now comes the dullest season of the year in local sport news. During [illegible] organizations—schools, clubs and churches [illegible] that there promises to be less of a shut down than in former years. Several bowling leagues and basketball teams will be almost as busy as they are during the regular season, while the out-of-doors game will [illegible] the weather man stays in good humor.

N. P. H. S. UNDERGRADS [illegible] ALUMNAE IN COURT CONTEST

The annual N. P. H. S.-Alumnae basketball game will be played in Saengerbund Hall, Monday night, December 27. In between the halves of the girls' game the Alumni boys will line up against the school team.

The young women will probably take the floor as follows:

Alumnae—Forwards, Misses Helen George and Nettie Steiner; center, Miss Lucy Douglas; guards, Misses Elsie Debele and Clara Smith.

N. P. H. S.—Forwards, Misses Marjorie Burtis and Lillian Spencer; center, Miss Theresa McCullough; guards, Misses Bertha Keller and May Doughty.

Dancing will follow the games.

DOG RETRIEVES BALLS FOR GOLFER PRACTICING DRIVING

Apropos of the suggestion that dogs of the larger breeds might be used as caddies if supplied with a suitable harness with which to carry the clubs, an enthusiast has written an article on personal experiences of this kind. In his opinion, the idea is impossible of execution, but he thinks that dogs can be used to great advantage in retrieving balls, while the golfer stands in the same place and tries repeated practice shots.

He had an Irish terrier which he trained to retrieve golf balls, and succeeded in bringing it to the point where he was able to play 120 shot an hour, all of which the dog would retrieve without a single lost ball.

'COMMUNITY CENTRE' FOR THE BOROUGH

Use of Harrison Ave. School for Meetings Granted by Education Board.

The North Plainfield Board of Education at its meeting last night granted the request of Col. Albert G. Perry and Martin A. Korff to use the new Harrison Avenue School for "community purposes," and the first meeting will be held at the school on Tuesday, December 28. For some time there has been a growing need in that section of the borough for a suitable place to hold various kinds of meetings of a community interest and after Col. Perry and Mr. Korff had explained the proposition, the Board said it was only too glad to co-operate in such a movement.

A committee comprising Dr. J. H. Cooley, the president, J. A. VanMater, chairman of the committee on grounds and buildings; Principal D. Fred Aungst and Charles Smith, architect, was named to prepare a report on fire conditions in the borough schools for presentation to the State authorities. Since the completion of extensive improvements the fire conditions are now said to be excellent.

The Board voted to pay bonds and interest amounting to $6,000, which are due January 1 next, and bills aggregating $5,100 were also paid. It was voted to close the school for the summer vacation on June 23. The rest of the business of the evening was chiefly of a routine character.

VILLA ASKS TO CROSS INTO U. S. TERRITORY

Washington, Dec. 21.—Official confirmation of the report that General Villa has given up leadership of his army came to the War Department today. A telegram from Fort Sam Houston says that Villa desires to cross to American soil; that his wife crossed yesterday, and that his officers held a conference witih the Carranza consul today regarding the terms of surrender of the State of Chihuahua.

PERSONAL.

Freeholder J. Hervey Doane, who is now at Muhlenberg Hospital following a long illness, continues to show steady improvement and will shortly be able to go home.

Miss Helen Wilbee, of Park avenue, has gone to Philadelphia to spend the holidays with relatives.

Arthur Stout, of Putnam avenue, is home from Dartmouth College to spend the Christmas holidays with his parents.

Hyman Abrams, of Grove street, who has been a student at Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pennsylvania, has returned home for the holidays and after New Year's will enter Columbia College, New York.

Many local friends have received Christmas cards from Archie Hacquer, former city editor of the Daily Press, who is now city editor of the Daily Herald, Alburquerque, New Mexico. Each card contains a cheery message written in "Colonel's" characteristic humorous vein, and also stating that he is doing well in the far southwest.

Miss Katherine Conshay, of Howard street, has arranged for a dance to be held in Debele's Hall on Wednesday, Dec. 29.

Henry Haurand, who has been indisposed with an attack of grip, is much improved.

THREE FIREMEN DIE IN BLAZE.

Boston, Dec. 21.—Three firemen trapped in the third floor of a factory building in Cambridge street, near the corner of Charles, in a fire this morning, were crushed under the wreck of the fourth floor, which collapsed carrying through the third floor, and burying the men under a mass of blazing ruins. The building was occupied by several different concerns.

KILLED IN EXPLOSION.

New York, Dec. 1.—One man was killed and several seriously injured in an explosion in the corn roasting department of the Corn Products Company's plant at Edgewater, N. J., early today. A fire which followed was extinguished by the local firemen and employes of the company after a damage estimated at $15,000 was done.

SKATING IN VAN CORTLANDT.

New York, Dec. 21.—The red ball for skating is up at Van Cortlandt Park today for the first time this season.

TO ADDRESS HIGH SCHOOL.

Principal D. Fred Aungst, of North Plainfield High School, will address the Plainfield High School at its Xmas exercises on Thursday.

OFFERS TO ACCEPT $500 IN SETTLEMENT

H. B. MacDonald, Who Holds $10,000 Mortgage on Property, to Compromise.

Newark, Dec. 21.—Walter L. Hetfield, on behalf of Harry B. MacDonald, who holds a chattel mortgage for $10,000 on the property of the Central Livery Company at Plainfield, of which Herman DeVallier was the proprietor, called at the office of David Bobker, trustee, in Newark today, and offered to accept $500 in settlement as a compromise.

Mr. Bobker immediately sent out notices to creditors to attend a meeting to be held on December 31, for the purpose of ascertaining whether the offer will be acceptable. Under the terms of the chattel mortgage a question was raised as to whether it covered subsequent purchasers, it finally being determined that it did.

DeVallier and George W. Grantzow, who last week were found guilty of conspiracy, were each put on probation and required to pay the sum of 25 cents a week for a period of three years and to make restitution of $1,700 which was involved in the act of conspiracy against the New York Telephone Company.

SURROGATE FILES HOLOGRAPHIC WILL

Rare Document in Testator's Handwriting Presented in Somerset County Court.

Somerville, Dec. 21.—For the first time in many years, Calvin McMurtry, surrogate of Somerset county, received for probate yesterday what is known in legal phraseology as a "holographic" will. It is one made out by the testator in his own handwriting and stands out as a rarity in these days of typewritten documents filed by lawyers in behalf of their clients. The will was that of Theodore Allen, a well known resident of the borough of Peapack and Gladstone, who died recently and who left an estate valued at more than $50,000. The following are named as beneficiaries:

To his daughter, Mrs. Louisa Rhinehart, $15,000 in cash; to his son-in-law, Elwood W. Rhinehart $1,000; to his grandson, Willard Allen Rhinehart, $10,000; to his sisters, Mary and Delia Allen, $500 each; to the officers of the Reformed church of Peapack and the Somerset Hospital at Somerville, $500 each; the balance of the estate is to be paid the widow, Mary A. Allen.

County Judge Beekman and Elwood W. Rhinehart are named as the executors, while Daniel H. Vanboren and Charles H. Jeroloman were the witnesses to the will, which was dated 1913. The testator was a farmer originally but in later years was interested in Somerset county financial organizations, one of them being the First National Bank, of Somerville, of which he was a director.

THRILLING RIDE.

Harry Hall, president of the New Market Grain Company, had a thrilling ride and a narrow escape from serious injury yesterday when one of his horses ran away with him on the Stelton road. After the animal had raced to a point beyond Cal. Blue's corner near the home of James Bays, Mr. Hall finally succeeded in bringing the horse to a standstill.

BORO SCHOOL EXERCISES.

The Christmas exercises of the North Plainfield High School and grammar grades will be held Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

You Touch a Magic Button When You Become a "Want Advertiser."

Our day is the day of "touching buttons."

A President presses a button in Washington, and a titanic explosion, thousands of miles away, weds the two great seas.

We are fond, nowadays, of accomplishing big effects with simple processes.

And so the "button-pressing" magic applies to the "little things" of life, as well as to the big episodes.

When you become a "want advertiser" you press a MAGIC BUTTON—and the influence is felt in the homes and business places of the city.

Your quest becomes of interest to the people who are able to help you accomplish it.

If you seek work, and "press the button" of Plainfield Daily Press want advertising publicity, your quest becomes one of personal interest to the people who need you. The same law operates in the working out of every "want ad task."

For classified advertising makes the whole city your market; makes the right people your audience; delivers your message to all people to whom it could have any interest or importance.

MRS. MYERS COMPTON DIES IN 70TH YEAR

Passes Away at Home in Borough Today Following Stroke of Paralysis.

Mrs. Sarah Waldron Compton, aged 70 years, wife of Myers Compton, died at her home, 367 Somerset street, about noon today following a stroke of paralysis eight weeks ago. Prior to that time she enjoyed excellent health. Mrs. Compton was born at Martinsville and for more than forty years had lived in or near North Plainfield township. She was a devout Christian and a faithful member of Grace M. E. church, the borough. She had a large circle of acquaintances and was highly esteemed.

There survives a husband, two sons, Ephraim Compton, of East Third street, and Lyle Compton, who lived at home; also two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Krewson and Miss Drucilla Roberts, of Plainfield avenue. The funeral will be held at the late home Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and the burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

Mrs. Frank C. Krewson, of Watchung avenue has returned after spending several days with her mother, Mrs. Anna Mair, of Brooklyn.

"SNOBSON'S STAG PARTY" SCORES ANOTHER HIT

"Snobson's Stag Party," presented for the second time by the Young Men's Bible Class of St. Joseph's church, scored another big hit last night, in the parish hall. The audience numbered about three hundred. As a result of the play a substantial sum was realized which will be added to the building fund of the church. Miss Mary O'Connor, organist of the church, coached the production and much of the credit of the performance belongs to her.

Following the play, the attendants adjourned to Debele's Auditorium, where an informal reception took place. Dancing was enjoyed until a late hour, Prof. Parcubek's orchestra of three pieces furnishing the music for the dancers. Refreshments were served during the evening. Miss Irene Duchesne and Miss Elsie Moulton were the chairmen of the reception committee at the hall and they were ably assisted by a large number of young women of the church. Daniel McCormack was the chairman of the floor committee. During the evening, Miss Katherine Conshay, one of the entrants in the contest being conducted at the church, took occasion to run off the winner of the two and a half gold piece. The latter was awarded to Miss Helen Brymiarski, with the lucky number of 72-A.

POTTER PRESS WORKS' WHISTLE BLOWS AGAIN

The Potter Printing Press Works, which were practically closed down about eighteen months ago and which have been doing only a small amount of work since last spring, has recently received a number of good orders and the plant is now working on regular schedule. The shop whistle blew last week for the first time since the "shutdown" and has since been sweet "music" to many of its old employes who have been taken back. The force has been greatly increased in the past ten days, but is still less than 100. More than three times this number was kept at work when the plant was running regularly.

Various causes brought about the "shutdown" of the Potter shop, but the officials are exerting every energy to setting affairs straightened out and it is hoped that the plant in the near future will again be one of Plainfield's busiest industrial centers.

CALVIN H. RUGG VERY ILL.

Calvin H. Rugg, for many years one of Plainfield's best known merchants, is seriously ill at his home on Mercer avenue. He has been suffering a long time from heart trouble and he has been confined to his bed for the past two weeks under the care of Dr. Thomas Blair. It was said today that his condition was critical.

What do you know about the SOLAR SYSTEM?

ARE you interested in comets, Mars, the Moon, Minor Planets, the Aurora Borealis? Interested or not, what do you actually know about them? How much of your information do you positively know is correct?

It is amazing what a lot of interesting things there are in this world and how little is known about them. Never in the world's history has there been a time when so much has been written about the world and studied by so few.

Every one of us ought to know more than we do. If not to charge our minds with the information, then to at least have some book that gives accurate information in an easy, readable form of what people are doing, how they are progressing, how they live, what they export and import, what their country is like, the size of their armies and navies, who their leaders in sports are. In brief, they ought to have a copy of

FOR 1916

Buy such books as are going to give you real information on the subject of the moment. NOT THEORY, BUT FACTS—TRUE FACTS, ALL THE FACTS. And the facts in tabloid form, easy to get at; quick to understand.

SUCH A BOOK IS THIS ALMANAC AND ENCYCLOPEDIA. Would you know something on the Pillars of Hercules, Porto Rico, North Pole, Political Parties in Congress, the Kingdom of Servia, Austria, Armies and Navies of the World or of the United States.

Perhaps you want to know how much Barley is produced in the United States. You'll find these questions all covered in this Almanac and Encyclopedia.

You'll find more; thousands upon thousands of subjects, everyone of greatest interest.

Every subject is conveniently indexed—and this index is so arranged that you can turn to it instantly.

MORE THAN 9,000 SUBJECTS HAVE BEEN INDEXED

It reviews the world's happenings, gives unusual information about countries, states, cities, people, places, politics, thousands of subjects explained so easily that even your child can clearly understand. It covers subjects that cannot be found elsewhere—the extent, clearness and accuracy of its contents is phenomenal. Positively no other work of its kind is produced. Thousands of dollars have been spent in research alone. The biggest, brightest and best brains in this line of work were employed to bring this book to its present state of perfection.

YULETIDE AT WASHINGTON MARKET, NEW YORK CITY.

Strange as it may seem this is the first Christmas for Washington Market. The old folks will say this statement cannot be true, for they remember gala Christmas weeks there fifty years ago; aye, for as far back as they can remember. But this is the New Washington Market, the same site, the same merchants as the old, but as totally different as different can be.

Washington Market to-day is a gigantic, hygienic food dispensary, where one hundred merchants supply the daily food needs of twenty-five thousand visiting patrons. The new building is an impressive, fire-proof structure, occupying a square block on Fulton, Washington, Vesey and West Streets, respectively.

For the last few weeks preparations for the big Christmas rush have been going on apace. The commodious interior is resplendent in holiday garb. Every day during Christmas week the Washington Market "butcher" band will furnish ringing music of special numbers and popular airs.

The wants of holiday patrons have been provided for most amply. For instance, in Turkeys, Geese, Ducks and Chickens alone there's enough to go around for a family of a million, with enough left after dinner to warm over next day. Just note these figures and ask yourself if the Washington Market is not "some" larder: Christmas Turkeys, 1,125,000 lbs.; Christmas Geese, 200,000 lbs.; Christmas Ducks, 150,000 lbs.; Christmas Chickens, 350,000 lbs., and 90,000 qts. of cranberries for sauce.

The Washington Market affords the opportunity for selection on the spot of anything in food from the most complete variety.

The pure food restaurant on the mezzanine floor is unique in that the food served there comes fresh from the market itself. On this same floor there is a section reserved for Mrs. Hackett, the "Grand Old Lady of the Market" who has an enviable past of fifty years in the Old Market to her credit. She serves her famous oyster stews and clam chowder to-day even as in the days gone by, but in a much more congenial atmosphere.

A visit to Washington Market is a worth-while trip for any human being with a human appetite. A Christmas Dinner from Washington Market, complete from soup to nuts, will smack of everything fresh and good and clean, with the added flavor of true holiday spirit injected in every [illegible]

Temperance
NEWS AND VIEWS
Conducted by THE W. C. T. U.

When Governor Rye, of Tennessee, was asked as to the truth of the story being circulated by the liquor interests that Tennessee is facing a huge deficit because of its prohibition law, he promptly replied, "There is absolutely no truth in the statement." The State's expenditures or appropriations for schools and confederate pensions have been largely increased in the past few years, and quite a large debt was owing before or at the time the law went into effect. The Governor says there has been no financial loss to the State on account of prohibition, and that the State is in a more prosperous condition than ever before.

Resolutions advocating prohibition for the District of Columbia, endorsing the proposed amendment for national prohibition, and urging the enactment of laws in Virginia to prohibit liquor advertising and the shipping of liquor into the State, were adopted by the General Association of Virginia Baptists in session at Clarendon, November 22.

When January 1, 1916, arrives there will be no saloons in the State of Iowa, and the manufacture and wholesale and retail liquor business will have ceased to exist. It is said that owners of buildings in which saloons are now located have been seeking, since the repeal of the mulct law by the Legislature, to find other tenants for these buildings. This has proved comparatively simple, because in the majority of cases saloons have been occupying fine business locations which were desirable for legitimate lines of business.

The Supreme Court of West Virginia has declared constitutional that section of the prohibition law which prohibits liquor dealers outside the State from advertising their wares in West Virginia by circular letters and order blanks.

The Greater Boston Allied Building Trades Council, representing more than 18,000 men, went on record as endorsing no-license at a meeting, November 23. The resolutions condemned the liquor interests and pledged every effort to defeat license. The business agents of thirty-one unions belonging to the organization immediately formed a club to more effectually carry on this work.

Mrs. Frances E. Beauchamp, president of the Kentucky W. C. T. U., states that a bill for the submission of the question of State-wide prohibition to the voters will be introduced at the next session of the Kentucky Legislature.

"Michigan Dry in 1918" will be the battle cry of every opponent of the liquor interests from now until the polls close the evening of November 6, 1916. At the present time forty-three of the eighty-three counties of the State are dry.

It is said that the party leaders in Idaho are feeling relieved that the days of the saloon in their State are numbered, and are looking forward without regret to the going into effect, January 1, 1916, of what is said to be the most rigid law ever passed by a Legislature and upheld by a Supreme Court. Since territorial days the saloon has been a disturbing factor in Idaho politics. Party leaders hope that in the future they will not have to face this embarrassing issue, although until the vote is taken on the question of amending the State Constitution, prohibiting forever the manufacture of intoxicating beverages, the question will be a live one. There will be rigid enforcement of the law, as evidenced by a letter from Governor Alexander to the Attorney-General of the State, in which the Governor asked as to his powers in regard to law enforcement.

"I would like to know," said Idaho's Chief Executive, "what power the Governor possesses in order to aid the various sheriffs and prosecuting attorneys of the State in the enforcement of this law, and if any of the county officers should be negligent in enforcing such law, let me know if the Governor possesses the authority to compel them to enforce said law."

The State-wide prohibition law of Colorado, which goes into effect January 1, 1916, according to the opinion of Governor Carlson and Attorney-General Farrar, as reported in the Chicago press, forbids the manufacture for sale of mince meat, plum pudding, brandied peaches and Italian macaroons or other dainties in which intoxicating liquors may be an ingredient.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The greatest "kid" act vaudeville has yet produced under the title of "Rutan's Songbirds," was seen at the Plainfield Theatre yesterday at the head of the new bill and made an immense hit. "The Songbirds" are five juveniles, and they have a novel and original offering that always makes good. The "kiddies" received half a dozen encores at the performances both yesterday afternoon and last night. Five other vaudeville acts, each one of them O. K. in every respect, rounded out this portion of the program. The first of the Will Fox feature photo films was another big number on yesterday's bill, and will be retained today and tomorrow. The original picture was the stirring drama, "The Unfaithful Wife," featuring Robert Mantell, who has appeared in legitimate shows in Plainfield several times, and who is a pronounced local favorite. The general comment of the spectators as they filed out yesterday was that Manager Shannon is giving a show worth twice the money charged. Oriental night will be featured at both shows this evening, and those who attend stand in the line to receive handsome Oriental presents. The country store, which has been a popular feature at the Plainfield Theatre for several months, is still retained, and draws capacity houses every Friday night. The Fox feature films are to be shown semi-weekly, the changes being made every Monday and Thursday.

PROCTOR'S THEATR.

Those who witnessed "The Martyr of the Alamo" and "Her Painted Hero" at Proctor's Theatre yesterday were treated to a picture play entertainment of superlative qualities. Hale Hamilton and Polly Moran are the stars in the comedy, "Her Painted Hero," and are ably assisted in the fun-making by Charles Murray, one of the funniest fellows on the screen. Sam DeGrasse is featured in the historical Mexican drama, "The Martyrs of the Alamo." A refined vaudeville entertainment is offered with the splendid photo-plays, and includes Flossie Allen, a dainty entertainer who offers a medley of popular song hits. The Spanish Goldinis present a novelty act of the whirlwind order and brought forth tremendous applause by their splendid work. Frazer, Dolan and Mohr gave a clever performance in which songs of high-class as well as some of the more popular melodies are used. Mlle. Depina scored a decided hit through her ability to perform daring feats. The usual bazaar will be held tomorrow night and promises to be the most interesting of any of these events yet presented. Special care has been taken to provide gifts appropriate with the holiday season. Thursday, Friday and Saturday the following Triangle Plays will be offered: William S. Hart in "The Disciple," and Chester Conklin and Mack Swain in "Saved by Wireless," the funniest Triangle-Keystone comedy yet produced. "The Disciple" is the story of the trials and hardships of a "Shootin' Parson" in the early days of the West. Friday afternoon the "toy matinee" will be in charge of the Elks, who will provide handsome and useful Christmas presents for all the children. "Bring the kiddies."

THE SLAUGHTER OF PEACE.

In an address to a meeting of mothers in a suburb of London the other day, George Barnard Shaw, the brainest Briton of his time, told of a slaughter more horrible than the carnage of war, more useless than the sacrifices made on the battlefields of France and more criminal than the massacre of Belgium's men, women and children.

He did not read a list of England's sons who had been slain; he did not recite a story of the horrors of war, but one of the horrors of peace; and his address would be just as strong if delivered before an audience of American mothers in a suburb of New York, or any other city in the United States. Mr. Shaw said:

"The drain of war is shown by the figures just published. We have lost 100,000 men, killed in the war. If we take for the purposes of comparison the first year of war we had under arms in that period 3,000,000 men. Seventy-five thousand men were killed. It is the military tradition that a country is defeated when it loses 20 per cent. of its men. We have lost only 2½ per cent. That is not very alarming. The drain of war does not seem to be so terrible as it is imagined to be.

Take the other side. If we take the number of babies of this nation who ought to be born we have 938,000. The number which succeeds in getting born is about 800,000. This is not a good beginning. It means that 138,000 have not sufficient vitality to get themselves born; it also means that the mothers were not properly fed and properly instructed. Of the 800,000 babies who do manage to enter the world 100,000 die before they are 1 year old. This means dirty milk or no milk at all—slums, bad food, and ignorance. We lost 100,000 before 1 year of age; we drop another 100,000 before they reach the age of 15, just when they are becoming industrial producers and available for military service, and of the remainder who do grow up we find that another 100,000 have to be rejected for military service because they are unfit; that is 37½ per cent. destroyed in peace for the 2½ per cent. destroyed by the whole German army firing shot and shell at them.

We have the assurance of Walter Long, president of the Local Government Board, that the infant mortality rate is rising—probably as the result of modern education and organization. Ladies and gentlemen, don't be mean. Don't say these things are inevitable, don't blame God for what is your own fault. Other people have tried to improve the situation and have succeeded. In New Zealand it occurred to the people that babies were worth taking care of, and they got the mortality rate down to 5 per cent. What the New Zealanders can do we could do. Macaulay in a way prophesied the downfall of London in the passage describing the traveler from New Zealand standing on the broken arches of London Bridge sketching the ruins of St. Paul's. In his imagination the New Zealander was a black man, but he will be a man who has simply taken the precaution of looking after the children.

There was a dinner in New York last week for war correspondents and ten or twelve of them recited thrilling stories of their experiences. The World had a three column story about the dinner Sunday and failed to say who got the dog. Metropolitan papers should not intrust such important assignments to cubs.

There are a lot of us who would be pleased to get a $60,000 mail delivery as Tax Collector William R. Townsend did last Saturday morning. This is evidence of a healthy financial condition in Plainfield, for who would stint on Christmas presents to pay taxes?

Henry Ford might have stayed at home and spent his time and money trying to etsablish peace among baseball magnates or Republican leaders.

Villa admits he has been defeated and has quit running for president in Mexico. He is coming to the United States and we hope he meets Mr. Bryan.

Now that loud ties have become fashionable our wives, sweethearts or daughters will refuse to buy them but will give us a watch fob instead.

The more we see of women's clothing in winter the nearer we come to believing that Dr. Cook might have done it after all.

Our second note to Austria is merely a reminder that we meant what we said the first time.

HERE AND THERE

Under the caption of "The Passing Throng," The World in its Sunday issue publishes the two following interesting stories of local interest:

"Dunellen, that enterprising borough to the west of Plainfield, up in the northernmost part of Middlesex county, sandwiched in between Union and Somerset counties, wants a place in the sun—a section of The Sunday World Passing Throng parade, if you please. Dunellen has 157 more people in its confines than Metuchen, 'the brainy borough,' and Dunellen borough feels that it is as big a duck in the puddle as the aforesaid Metuchen with its 2,300 odd souls. Dunellen claims distinction because it is the home of Bob Fitzsimmons, or was until the Middlesex county sheriff dispossessed him of his fifty-acre farm a few weeks back. Bob still claims Dunellen as his legal residency, however. Then Dunellen is also the home of Mrs. Lillian F. Feickert, the president of the New Jersey League for Equal Suffrage, and everybody knows the important part she played recently in the special suffrage elections. Beginning with Robert Bogardus and running right down the line, Dunellen claims to be able to produce enough celebrities to fill the Passing Throng column, but hoping that the foregoing is enough with which to gain entrance to the most popular newspaper column in New Jersey, we will save the others for another day."

"Four years ago the people of North Plainfield called from the quiet of retired life Robert M. Clark, Jr.—the people wanted Clark to be their Mayor. He accepted the Republican nomination and although the Democrats named a strong candidate to oppose him, Robert M. went through the storm of ballots with bells on, and two years later his record was so good that the Democrats simply couldn't find a man to run against him. Such Democrats as ex-Mayor William L. Saunders and John Aloysius Gaffney said Clark was too good a Mayor to beat and so now it happens that Mayor Clark is winding up the last days of his four years' service directing the removal of snowdrifts that block the highways leading over Greenbrook into the city of Plainfield. North Plainfield has always had good executives. Everybody is saying that when Mayor Clark lays down the duties of office December 31 it will be the closing of four years' service unparalleled in the history of the largest municipality in Somerset county."

KIDDIES ON OUTING.

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 21.—Three hundred Sunday-school children from Norfolk, Conn., comprising all of the younger generation of the town, came to Hartford today for a turkey dinner and theatre party as the guests of Miss Eldridge, the Norfolk philanthropist. It is a big day for the tots, a Christmas holiday long to be remembered.

The Universal Question

They do not ask: "Where does this pathway lead?
What were my goal if I should thus proceed?"
No, they're not asking vital things like those
In these swift days through which the mad world flows.
Instead they're anxious that they may not fail
To hold their job and draw their weekly kale.
And this the only question that they ask
As, looking at the clock, they slight their task:
"Can I Get by?"

They do not ask: "Could this work that I do
Be done more thoroughly, by hands more true?"
They do not query: "Might I do still more
To bless my boss 'in basket and in store'?"
They are not troubled with a haunting fear
Lest work their hands are doing prove too dear.
Not any! As they pray for close of biz.,
Their one and only earnest question is:
"Can I Get by?"

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Out Of The Frying Pan Into The Fire

WE do not believe any competent physician would ever advise a mother to "harden" a child by exposing the child to discomfort. The first law of health is "Be comfortable."

A lady writes that a mother she knows has taken up our fresh air "theory" with a vengeance, and the lady found the mother exposing the scantily dressed baby on a bed near an open window, the baby blue with cold, the mother refusing to allow the lady—we suspect the lady is a settlement worker—to cover the child with a blanket, because, the mother insisted, "Doctors nowadays teach us not to coddle children with too much clothing."

As one of the guilty doctors we protest.

The mother must be a queer sort of mother.

All the mothers we have ever known, excepting those who indulged in intoxicating beverages, had enough common sense to keep their little ones comfortably warm. We have known many a mother, in fact most all the mothers, to overdo the dressing and injure the child's health, but never have we found a sane, unintoxicated mother who deliberately injured her child by cruel exposure.

In urging every one, old and young, to wear no more clothing than physical comfort demands, we feel that we are doing good in the world. We know that over-dressing, coddling, and the fear of the open air that these bad habits inspire, are prolific factors of the various respiratory diseases.

If this abnormal mother described by the lady exposes her baby to the cold to the point of blueness, then there is a case for the Humane Society or the police.

BE COMFORTABLE. If you are not comfortable you are likely to suffer in health.

Open air life, by day or by night, must be comfortable, enjoyable, else it can do no good.

Any one who would shiver in a cold bed all night for the fancied benefit of fresh air knows nothing of the value of fresh air. Porch sleeping is a fine thing, notably for the youngsters, but special provision must be made for physical comfort—sleeping-bags, protection against wind, rain and snow, sleeping-hoods, special sleeping garments, and especially some provision for keeping the feet warm.

Feeling cold can never do any one any good.

Breathing cold air can never do any one any harm.

There is a nice distinction here. The problem is to breathe cold air and yet always feel warm—and that is just as easy as rolling off a log.

Let no reader imagine we would urge him or her to jump from the frying pan into the fire. Fresh air, if you know what we mean (cool, moving air) is the most comfortable thing imaginable.

Vest Pocket Essays

ON EARLY SHOPPING

AMONG the reforms which have made the world a better and nobler place, the Early Shopping Crusade stands pre-eminent.

This crusade was invented by people whose souls were wrung with pity, as they watched exhausted and frenzied husbands buying Christmas presents on the evening of the day before. It was indeed heart-rending to see a shrinking citizen fighting his way into a store at 11 P.M. on the night before Christmas and emerging somewhat later with one ear, half an overcoat and a fraction of a woolly dog.

For many years Christmas was viewed with dread by the husband and father who had not had a football training. He shrank with terror at the thought of deciding, while holding three total strangers on his feet, whether to buy his wife a pound of candy, a manicure set or a chicken feather boa. Each year he put the ordeal off a day longer, until a few years ago found all the men in the country trying to go through the revolving doors of the department stores at the same hour on the night before Christmas.

The Early Shopping Crusade has changed all this, however. The last week before Christmas is now a time of quiet and loneliness in the stores, while strong men are snatching presents from each other before seething counters on the night of the week before Christmas. This has made another reform necessary and a vast body of citizens are now doing their Christmas shopping before Thanksgiving.

It is probable, however, that the rush of shoppers at this time will rapidly increase until another crusade must be begun. We are a great nation to do things in droves, and there is really small advantage in being mashed in ample time before the glad holiday.

It is time, therefore, to lure the reader's attention to a brand new

Frenzied husbands buying Christmas presents on the evening of the day before

"shop early movement." Careful citizens will now do their 1916 Christmas shopping the night before Christmas in 1915. This will give them absolute solitude in which to work and will remove the pressure next year to a limited extent. It will also promote good feeling, for no one who has bought next year's Christmas presents for his friends is going to quarrel with them during 1916 and render his investments a total loss.

Views Of The Press

A Century Later

MANY ways are being resorted to in the British empire to spur the "slackers" on to enlisting in the army. The shades of Nelson and other British heroes are called upon to persuade British youth and patriotism to the point where it will be ready to make this sublime sacrifice.

Tens of thousands of dollars have been spent in advertising in the newspapers and elsewhere. They have not failed, for there is today a British army of 3,000,000 compared to 700,000 at the outbreak of war. Yet Kitchener wants "men and more men."

What has all this got to do with the story? Just this—they have reached the end of their ingenuity in trying to get "more men" to enlist by purely British means. They have turned to their history books for inspiration and find, in the words of the immortal Washington, who one hundred and thirty-nine years ago was the most magnetic figure and foe of the Mother Country, leader of the American "traitors," "revolutionists" and "disloyal colonists," the keynote which best describes England's needs and for which they have been looking. It is contained in these words, boldly displayed on great posters stuck up throughout the British Isles:

"It is not sufficient for a man to be a passive friend and well wisher to a cause. Every person should be active in some department or other, without paying too much attention to private interest. * * * Our conflict is not likely to cease so soon as every good man would wish. The measure of iniquity is not yet filled; and unless we can return a little more to first principles, and act a little more on patriotic grounds, I do not know when it will, or what may be the issue of the contest."

Under these striking words of the leader of the American revolutionists is this comment, put there by Lord Derby, the man charged with recruiting for the army:

"The answer was the United States of America."

Meaning of course that in England's case, victory and the integrity of the British empire, and British world-power, will be certain if the admonition of Washington is taken to heart by every Britisher.

Of course the world—Briton, Teuton, Frenchman, Latin, Slav and all the rest of them—long ago recognized the righteousness of the cause represented by Washington's leadership and the greatness of the man Washington, but it is decidedly interesting to hear George Washington, the great American revolutionist called "traitor," and the one man above all others who humbled a mighty power and deprived it of its richest possession on the globe, quoted as the author of words that exemplify best of all the straits of a great nation and represent the clinching argument in favor of unity and willingness to sacrifice.

Though Washington is dead these many decades his posthumous words never fail to strike a responsiveness in the hearts of Americans. Not being American it can not be expected that the British people will be moved by them as Americans would, but there is no getting away from the fact that the words of Washington fit in most appropriately to the situation in England.—Scranton, Pa., Times.

A Lawyer's Ruse

An amusing incident, leading to the exposure of a manifest fraud, occurred some time ago, in one of the many damage suits brought against the Metropolitan Street Railway arising out of a collision between two of the company's electric cars.

The plaintiff, a laboring man, had been thrown to the street pavement from the platform of the car by the force of the collision, and had dislocated his shoulder. He had testified in his own behalf that he had been permanently injured, in so far as he had not been able to follow his usual employment for the reason that he could not raise his arm above a point parallel with his shoulder. Upon cross-examination the attorney for the railroad asked the witness a few sympathetic questions about his sufferings, and upon getting on a friendly basis with him asked him "to be good enough to show the jury the extreme limit to which he could raise his arm since the accident."

The plaintiff slowly and with considerable difficulty raised his arm to the parallel of his shoulder.

"Now, using the same arm, show the jury how high you could get it up before the accident," quietly continued the attorney; whereupon the witness extended his arm to its full height above his head, amid peals of laughter from the court and jury.—The Art of Cross-examination.

Immaterial To Him

On a murder case in one of the southern states an old mountaineer was called as a witness. The defending lawyer was cross-examining him.

"You say you saw this murder committed?"

"Yas."

"How far were you from the spot when it took place?"

"'Bout a quarter mile."

"What time was it when this deed was done?"

"'Bout half past eight?"

"On the date this murder was supposed to be committed it would be almost totally dark, and you mean to say you could see distinctly what happened at that time at a quarter of a mile distant?"

The old mountaineer shuffled his feet, changed his quid, and stretched.

"Oh, well," he said, as he started to leave the witness chair, "I don't give a gol darn about this trial anyhow."—Everybody's Magazine.

Examining A Witness

This is not a Weber and Fields dialogue, it is a verbatim record of an examination in a Kansas City court. You need not laugh unless you want to.

Lawyer for the plaintiff: Now, Mr. Smith, will you please tell the jury if you ever saw this land?

Answer—Yes, sir.

Question—Yes, sir?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—How many times did you go to look at this land?

A.—Twice.

Q.—Twice?

A.—Twice.

Q.—Who went with you?

A.—Abe Martin.

Q.—Abe Martin?

A.—Abe Martin.

Q.—Hold on a minute. Was that the first time or the second time? You said you went two times, did you not?

A.—Yes, sir.

Q.—Two times?

A.—Two times.

Q.—Well, did Abe Martin go with you the first time or the second time?

A.—The first time.

Q.—The first time?

A.—The first time.

Q.—And who went with you the second time?

A.—Abe Martin.

Q.—Abe Martin?

A.—Abe Martin.

Q.—Then Abe Martin went with you both times?

A.—Both times.

Q.—Who else went with you the first time?

A.—No one.

Q.—No one?

A.—No one.

Q.—By the way, Mr. Smith, you said you went in a buggy?

A.—In a buggy.

Q.—One horse?

A.—Two horses.

Q.—Two?

A.—Two.

Q.—Both times?

A.—Both times.

Q.—But Abe Martin was with you?

A.—He was.

Q.—He was?

A.—He was—say, Mr. Lawyer, what is this—an anthem?—Kansas City Star

You Can

YOU CAN make of yourself anything the germ of which lives within you. But to realize your full possibilities—to Dominate and Achieve—you must have High Aims, Ideals and Ambitions—all linked to an Iron Will. You yourself determine the height to which you shall Climb. Have you the Summit in view? All right—

Then Start for it!

YOU CAN take command of yourself at any moment you desire to do so. You can make of yourself a towering figure in the work of the world. No one owns you. One hundred per cent. of the Stock in your personal Corporation belongs to you. The little People of Destruction that whine at your door, whine at the door of every forceful man. You can make them mere Pygmies in their Power over your Future. Are you doing this Now? Well—

Then Keep it up!

YOU CAN get Smiles and Cheer and Continued Youth—simply by sticking to your own craft and running your own pilot wheel with "Your Best" as the Place of Port. Results take care of themselves. Never mind the Sneers, the Criticisms, the Misjudgments of others. Time will fade them all away from you if your Accumulated Strength of Character has taught you how to wait. To-day is Yesterday's plans put into action. To-morrow begins To-day. Your Worth to yourself and the World is measured by what you contribute each day in usefulness. Success is the Sum of the Days. You can make Success sure by Work, Sacrifice, Unselfishness and Self-Control.

You are the Master of your own Destiny. Take personal command of yourself To-day.

YOU CAN.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Bobbie Lost His Squirrel And Found It.

Was Smuggled In Uncle Ben's Coat Pocket.

"THE squirrel, daddy—the squirrel! You promised us!" cried both children.

"You remember that at home the children kept their squirrels in a play room next to their bedroom," daddy reminded, "and that they had a grand cage which the boys made with a big wheel, where the beautiful pair could exercise. But down on the farm, where there was lots of space, pet squirrels had a whole room. The door of their cage was always left open, so they could go in and out as they pleased. Outside one window Hank Fritz practiced being a carpenter by making a sort of balcony around an old chestnut stump, where the boys stowed leaves and nuts. So that the squirrels could live outdoors and imagine they were in the woods at the same time they gave pleasure to three children."

"Daddy, you just must please buy us a farm!" cried Jack.

Daddy smiled. "The children had a queer little call that their pets knew. When a child stepped into their room and called, the squirrels would come dashing up with their plumy tails held high, expecting to get a delicious nut or a white grape. Out of their wheel, from under the cotton they slept in, in from their nest outside the window, they would scamper soon as Bibbley Wah cheeped in the doorway. But one night when the three children went upstairs to see that the squirrels were happy and put to bed only two came scampering. Bobbie's was nowhere to be seen."

"He had run back to the woods!" cried Jack.

"Carlo got him!" Evelyn shouted.

"Bibbley Wah put her hands in the cotton on the bottom of the cage, stirring around to feel a warm, fat ball. Nothing but walnut shucks tumbled through her fingers. There wasn't any closet in this room, so they knew the squirrel wasn't chewing a piece out of Bibbley Wah's coat. Jim hunted under the couch that Anne had put in for the children, but no squirrel was hiding in its springs. Then Bobbie, distressed for fear his squirrel had got away for good, crept out into the balcony and pushed his arm right down to the bottom of the stump. But no furry bunch hid there. 'How heavy this coat is!' cried Jim as he lifted what Uncle Ben had left on a chair. And there in the pocket of Uncle Ben's coat snuggled Bobbie's pet, fast asleep. And he liked the pocket so much for a nest that its owner left the coat there all winter for the squirrel to sleep in," daddy finished.

"I must have a squirrel, daddy!" Jack begged.

"Daddy must have two hugs!" said Evelyn.

Married Life on $80 a Month

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Julia and the Sutners Discuss Various Things, Including the Doctor's Divorce.

"No mortal can tell how I dread going on the witness stand to testify in the Tyler case." Julia was sitting at Molly Sutner's cosy tea table and she looked ruefully across at Molly.

"If I could play the glorious part in the affair that is marked out for you, I think I should enjoy it," laughed Molly.

"You do not mean that. No woman likes to be put on exhibition. You know the entire town of Fairport will go over to the trial. And I shall be the chief exhibit." Julia looked very much annoyed.

"I am sorry you feel that way about it. I hate to have you made uncomfortable over the matter that saved our lives from ruin, John's and mine." There was a worried little pucker between Molly's eyes.

"Oh, don't take it so seriously." Julia assumed a light tone to put the little woman at ease again. "I would do far more to save your lives from harm. It is a small price to pay for the chance of doing a friend a service. I wonder how long it will take. I hope we can come home the same day."

"I can't imagine its being a long trial. If it was anybody but Tyler I should expect him to plead guilty and throw himself on the mercy of the court," said John, passing his cup for more tea. "I must say that to be frank I shall be relieved when the trial is over," he added, looking at Julia, "but when I think that I might have been in the prisoner's docket, I feel like counting my mercies, I can tell you."

"This case will make as much excitement as Dr. Ellson's divorce trial," said Julia, breaking the silence that fell on the little group.

"His divorce trial!" exclaimed Molly with a gasp. "I did not know he was divorced."

"Didn't you? Everybody felt that his former wife was not in her right mind," continued Julia. "At least she was insanely jealous."

"What became of her?" asked John.

"That was a mystery. She disappeared one stormy night. Nothing was ever heard about her since. Everybody thought she was drowned, but the doctor had the river dragged and discovered no clue to her fate."

"To think of a fine man like Dr. Ellson having been through that fiery furnace," mused John as he folded his napkin.

"Perhaps that is the reason he is so fine, because he has been through so much." Molly's face lit up with a smile. "Mrs. Morton used to say so often while I was out there: 'Sorrow in the heart is like rain on the turf. It either softens it or beats it down hard, mortal hard.' I think perhaps sorrow has made the doctor's nature rich and mellow."

"All must have sorrow. What a pity it can't soften and sweeten all of us," added Julia after a pause.

"I've been wishing that you would go over to the doctor's with me to make my party call," continued Julia. "I can never go in the daytime. How about going tonight?"

"Of course we can go," assented Molly. "I'll get Jack to bed. Susie Clark told me just the other day that she would stay with him some time when we wanted to go out. I'll clear off the table and leave the dishes till morning."

"Oh, no. Let's wash them; there is no such place to visit as over the dish pan," insisted Julia. "I'll entertain Jack while you clear the table," and Julia led the little fellow away to a rocking chair. They were in the midst of a fairy story when Molly called him to be undressed, so Julia had to go to the bedroom to finish it, while he made ready for bed.

"You'll come again and tell me another, won't you?" coaxed the child.

"Yes," answered Molly. "She is going to come often. She is part of our new riches."

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME--

A Daily Reminder Gift

When one makes a Christmas Gift one likes to be remembered by the recipient.

Some gifts are perishable or are quickly forgotten because they are never used; others are so intensely "useful" that they are not looked upon as Christmas presents.

The most desirable kind of gifts are those articles which come between the foregoing extremes.

Handsome Reading Lamps, beautifully finished Grills, Toasters or Percolators and other household Electrical Appliances ornament a home and yet their very worth induces their use every day—daily reminders of the giver.

A Grill costs only $5.00; a Lamp of artistic design can be bought as low as $10.00. Payments can be made a little at a time or a discount of 5 per cent. will be allowed for cash.

A visit to our salesrooms will help you in the selection of a Christmas present. Open evenings this week until 8 o'clock; Friday 9 o'clock.

THE PLAINFIELD TRUST COMPANY
invites you to become a member of the 1916 Christmas Club
the club that makes everybody happy and that any one may join

This systematic plan for saving money is becoming more popular every year as people learn how easy it is to put away each week a portion of their income and as they come to realize how pleasant a thing it is to receive at Christmas time a check for a substantial amount.

The 1916 Club will open on December 27th, 1915, and members may be enrolled between that date and January 8th, 1917. There will be the following four Classes in the new Club, which will run for fifty weeks:

Class 50—Pay 50c each week and receive a check for $25 with interest at 2%.
Class 100—Pay $1 each week and receive a check for $50 with interest at 2%.
Class 200—Pay $2 each week and receive a check for $100, with interest at 2%.
Class 500—Pay $5 each week and receive a check for $250 with interest at 2%.

Those who make their payments regularly each week or in advance receive at the close of the Club a check for the entire amount paid in, with interest at 2%. If there is anything in connection with the Club that you do not understand, call at The Plainfield Trust Company for further information.

Miss Elsie Judd, of London, Eng., and Vyvyan Letcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Letcher, formerly of Belvidere avenue, this city, but now of Roselle, were married at St. Luke's Episcopal church, Roselle, Saturday, in the presence of a large assemblage of guests. Mrs. Percival Letcher, of South Orange, was the matron of honor, and Joseph VanDeventer, of this city, the best man.

A reception followed at the home of the bridegroom's parents and later the couple left for Florida. They will reside in Roselle. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Judd, of London. She received a rare collection of gifts, including one over 200 years old.

BRYAN HAS TWO MORE DAYS TO ANSWER CONTEMPT CHARGE

New York, Dec. 21.—William Jennings Bryan, former Secretary of State, has two more days in which to show the Supreme Court of New York whether or not he was in contempt when he failed to answer a summons to appear as a witness in a case on trial here earlier in the month. An order has been issued by Judge Whitaker, of the Supreme Court, requiring the famous peace advocate to appear and explain. The time will be up on December 23. The testimony of the former Democratic leader is wanted in a suit against the publishers of "Atlantis," a Greek newspaper. The sale of the battleships Idaho and Mississippi is involved in the suit, for the plaintiff is alleged to have written a letter to Mr. Bryan when he was premier reflecting upon Agamemnon Schliemann, lately Greek minister at Washington. It is claimed that the former Secretary of State could give testimony which would aid in the proper consideration of the case. The subpoena to appear in court was served on Mr. Bryan at the Biltmore a few weeks ago, when the arrangements for the Ford peace ship were being mapped out. But the Nebraskan did not appear in court, but went on to Washington and his winter home.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

"Barbara Frietchie," the great war drama produced by the Metro Company and starring charming Mary Miles Minter, who is said to be fast forging ahead of Mary Pickford in the photo-play realm, was shown for the first time at the U. S. Astor Theatre yesterday to a large and representative audience. "Barbara Frietchie" contains lots of heart interest and many thrilling episodes, all woven together with the splendid technical skill for which the Metro directors are noted. For Miss Minter the picture is in the nature of a triumph. She portrays the leading character with the art that made her famous on the Broadway stage when she played a star role in Edward Peple's "The Littlest Rebel," with the Farnum brothers. Wednesday and Thursday the attraction at the Astor will be "Helene of the North," with Miss Marguerite Clark. It is beyond question the greatest photo-play in which this dainty star ever has appeared.

IF BACKACHY OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Eat Less Meat Also Take Glass of Salts Before Eating Breakfast.

Uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish ache, and feel like lumps of lead. The urine becomes cloudy; the bladder is irritated, and you may be obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night. When the kidneys clog you must help them flush off the body's urinous waste or you'll be a real sick person shortly. At first you feel a dull misery in the kidney region, you suffer from back ache, sick headache, dizziness, stomach gets sour, tongue coated and you feel rheumatic twinges when the weather is bad.

Eat less meat, drink lots of water; also get from any pharmacist four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active. Druggists here say they sell lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Adv.

COMB SAGE TEA INTO GRAY HAIR

Darkens Beautifully and Restores Its Thickness and Lustre at Once.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea, with sulphur and alcohol added, will turn gray, streaked and faded hair beautifully dark and luxuriant; remove every bit of dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. An easier way is to get the ready-to-use tonic, costing about 50 cents a large bottle, at drug stores, known as "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," thus avoiding a lot of muss.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not sinful, we all desire to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning all gray hairs have disappeared. After another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant and you appear years younger.—Adv.

RUNYAN CANNOT RECALL ASSAULT

Assailant of Frank Mason Attributes Act to Over-dose of Headache Medicine.

REGRETS THE INCIDENT

Following Hearing Justice Thomas Snape Commits Prisoner to Somerset County Jail to Await Grand Jury's Action.

Ralph Runyan who was arrested on a charge of assaulting Frank Mason, of Linden avenue and Somerset street, Monday night, and was caught after a long chase, plead guilty to the charge when arraigned before Justice Thomas Snape in the borough court last night. He was held for the grand jury in default of bail, which he did not think he could furnish, and was taken to Somerville this morning by Marshal Lemuel Pope. The grand jury is now in session.

Although Mr. Runyan stated in court that he could give no reason for attacking Mr. Mason, with whom he boarded, the police are inclined to think that he must have had some excuse for assaulting him. However, when it was seen that the willingly admitted his guilt and was ready to take the consequences, there was nothing left for the court to do but hold him for the grand jury.

City Judge W. G. DeMeza, who was retained by Mr. Runyan this morning, visited the latter in the jail at Somervill, after which he stated that he felt sure that Mr. Runyan was not responsible for his actions on Monday night. Mr. Runyan told his counsel that he had been suffering a great deal from headaches recently, and that Monday night he took some tablets as a cure, and believes he got an over-dose. He said today that he cannot recall having hit Mr. Mason, and appears to deeply regret the whole affair.

Mr. Mason and his wife were in court, the former telling his story as to what happened at his home Monday night. This was substantiated in all essential particulars by Mr. Runyan.

Mr. Mason still suffers considerable from the heavy blow he received on the head Monday night, when his boarder struck him with the iron pipe. There is a wound in the scalp fully four inches long which required a number of stitches.

It was at first the belief of the authorities that Mr. Runyan had temporarily lost his mind, but Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan who made an examination, expressed the opinion that he was percetly sane. There is apparently no disposition on the part of Mr. Mason to prosecute his assailant and his actions would indicate that he and Mr. Runyan are on good terms. Last night's hearing attracted a large crowd of interested spectators to the court many of them being neighbors of Mr. Mason and his boarder.

LOST HIS POCKETBOOK WHILE TAKING GIRL HOME

While taking his girl home from a dance last night Lewis Moore, colored, lost his pocketbook. He did not accuse the girl of taking it, but he asked the police to search her to make sure. Her name was Martha Doman, and she lived at 627 West Fourth street. There the pocketbook was found. It contained nothing of value except a chauffeur's license, and no arrest was made.

SENDS WARNING TO ALL TRUCK DRIVERS IN NEWARK

Truck drivers of Newark who have been in Plainfield were sent a warning from Judge DeMeza this morning. Alfred J. Weidam will carry it. He was arrested last night for driving on Front street without lights, and was given a fine of $50 in court this morning. Judge DeMeza suspended the fine, but told Weidam that the next truck driver arrested on the same charge would go to jail, and he instructed the Newark man to go back and tell his friends.

FINED FOR VIOLATING LOCAL HEALTH LAWS

Frank Moffovitz, who conducts a small meat market in Plainfield, was fined $5 in two cases this morning for violations of the health laws. Health Inspector Chandler prosecuted the man on two complaints, each charging that he cleaned chickens in his place and left bloody, dirty feathers lying about on the floor. He had been warned before and Judge De Meza assessed a fine of $5 in each case, which was paid.

W. J. STEPHENSON SUFFERS IN BIG FIRE

Former Well Known Plainfielder Heavy Loser in Blaze at Monroe, N. Y.

William J. Stephenson, a former well known Plainfielder, was among the dozen or more business men of Monroe, N. Y., who suffered heavy loss by a fire which swept the center of the town early Monday morning. The blaze broke out in a one-story building used as a barber shop and before it could be suppressed, had swept through four blocks. Mr. Stephenson conducted a bakery and restaurant in a three-story frame building and with his family occupied apartments above the store. The structure was completely destroyed and the former Plainfielders were compelled to flee with only the few articles of clothing they could hastily catch up.

Messages to Mr. Stephenson's sister, Miss M. E. Stephenson, of West Front street, and his daughters, the Misses Elizabeth and Mable Stephenson, of Fairview avenue, conveyed the information that everybody was safe and for the present comfortably housed in the Monroe House, a local hotel. In one message Mr. Stephenson said that he and his family would come to Plainfield within the next few days. The total loss suffered by the Monroe merchants aggregated many thousands of dollars while the personal loss of the former Plainfielder was very heavy. He carried insurance on both his bakery and restaurant fixtures and household goods, but it will not meet the cost of replacing them by one half.

Mr. Stephenson conducted a confectionery and catering business at 146 North avenue for many years, his business at one time being the largest in the city. He left Plainfield in 1905 and has since been in Monroe, where his bakery and restaurant had been very successful.

TELAUTOGRAPH IS CLEVER INVENTION

Plainfield Trust Company Installs Remarkable Device in Banking House.

Is there anyone in Plainfield who has never seen a telautograph, and who would be interested in watching the operation of that marvelous little instrument, by means of which one is enabled to write over wires just as with the telephone one talks over wires? If so, the officers of the Plainfield Trust Company will doubtless be glad to satisfy that one's curiosity, as this progressive institution has recently installed a telautograph in its banking house.

About a month ago the remarkable growth of the company necessitated increased working space, to provide for which the bookkeepers' department was moved to the mezzanine gallery, and it is to establish communication between this department and the teller's cages on the ground floor that this clever device has been its writing. The telautograph is in electrical instrument which transmits a written message in black and white so that it becomes a permanent record.

The pencil on the transmitter is so connected with two current-carrying rheostats that by its movements while writing various currents are sent over the line wires which operate the receiving pencil, and thus duplicating its writing. The telautograhp is in use in a great many hotels and office buildings throughout the country, but so far as is known the Plainfield Trust Company has the only one in this vicinity.

CAROL SERVICE AT GRACE CHURCH CHRISTMAS EVE

The attention of the public is called to a Christmas carol service to be given by the full vested choir at Grace Episcopal church on Christmas eve from 5 to 5:30 p. m. The success of the service of last year has prompted its repetition this year, and the public generally is cordially invited to attend.

VISITING THEIR DAUGHTER.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Ball, of Detroit, Michigan, are visiting their daughter, Miss Katherine F. Ball, of 407 East Sixth street. They will remain in this city until after the holidays. Mr and Mrs. Ball were for many years residents of Plainfield, the former being vice president and general manager of the American Engine Company, of Bound Brook, for many years. At present Mr. Ball is engaged in carburetor business in Detroit.

WILL ENFORCE SNOW REMOVAL ORDINANCE

Nine Property Owners Ordered to Court—Seven Are Fined.

Fines of $5 were assessed against seven property owners and tenants who failed to remove snow from their sidewalks in accordance with a city ordinance when they were tried in police court this morning. Two more men were ordered to court and failed to appear. They will be there as soon as officers can locate them.

Those ordered because of the snow were: Charles Anderson, who failed to appear; Thomas Canter, 321 West Second street; Bernard Mann, West Fourth street; Harry W. Marshall, who did not appear; John Newman 117 West Second street; Fred Pentz 141 West Second street; Albert Statz Central Livery Company; A. Steigman, 131 East Fifth street, and Morgan Turton, 228 East Front street. All of the fines were suspended by Judge DeMeza after giving each of the property owners a lecture and warning them that the snow removing ordinance was going to be enforced in Plainfield this year.

READY TO DISTRIBUTE CHRISTMAS CHEER

Chairman Veysey Wants Auto Owners to Advise Him in Case They Cannot Help.

Santa Claus will send his agents throughout Plainfield on Friday to bring Christmas cheer to nearly nine hundred children who would have little reminder of the merry little man if it were not for the Community Christmas movement. The distribution will be made by a committee, of which Walter H. P. Veysey is the chairman, and his assistants will be about sixty local automobile owners, who have, as in previous years, volunteered the use of their machines to help the work. The distribution headquarters will be the Young Men's Christian Association building, and the work will go on from 10 o'clock on Friday morning until 3 in the afternoon, unless it is necessary to continue it later than that.

Mr. Veysey has especially requested that should circumstances arise to prevent any automobilist who has signified his or her intention of assisting in this work, that he be immediately notified by telephone (725-M) so that other arrangements can be made.

Another $100 has been added to the fund since yesterday's list was published, the total now exceeding $1,300, and being within a little over $100 of last year's mark. Included among the contributors was Rev Bernard M. Bogan, who gave the movement one of the best endorsements it has had when he said "Permit me to edge in with the crowd about you to drop a few pennies in the hat for the Community Christmas. The joy will be so genuine—for the poor are so respected—that it is a pleasure to be lost in the crowd of happy providers. Cordial congratulations and best wishes." Others were Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Jones, C. H. Franklin, Ellen D. Burke, Mrs. P. S. Suffern, Alexander Millar, William E. Hoyt, A. W. TenEyck, Susan P. Barnhardt, Miss M. Edmonds, Willard L. Case, Jr., G. M. Fenno, Mrs. C. L. Strathdee, Edward H. Ladd, Jr., George M. Ritteuhouse, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, Andrew N. Neilson and a Friend. The latter contribution was sent to the Daily Press office.

That Christmas Dinner

will not be complete without one of Smalley Brothers' turkeys, the finest the market affords. We will be busy all day Friday dressing and preparing the unusually fine lot of birds that we have procured for our customers, and advise the placing of orders not later than tomorrow (Thursday), although we will try to satisfactorily serve all who order on Friday. For those who prefer chickens and Long Island ducks we will have a splendid assortment of these fowl. As usual we are making a large amount of our famous sausage, and making shipments to all parts of the country. All this sausage is made from Jersey pork which we kill ourselves. We are also supplying our own rendering of lard at reasonable prices. There is none better. Smalley Brothers, North avenue.—Adv. ***

PAGEANT TO PICTURE MONTHS OF THE YEAR

Elaborate Program for Tonight's Affair at Plainfield High School

The "Pageant of the Months," which is to be presented at the Plainfield High School Auditorium tonight, promises to be one of the most elaborate affairs of the kind yet undertaken by the Recreation Committee of the city. The production will start promptly at 8 o'clock. Representations in story, interpretive dances and coloring, the spirit of every month in the year is admirably depicted by the large number of children participating in the demonstration. Flowers will appear in their season; the March wintry winds will be seen and heard, and the July thunderstorms will be most realistically portrayed.

Pupils from nearly every school in the city will take part in the pageant. The dramatic parts have been assigned to High School students, and many of them are interpreting Christine Rosetti's poems with great power and grace. Miss Lillian Lamson, supervisor of the recreation work in this city, has been drilling the participants for a number of weeks, as well as assisting in the choice of costumes.

A feature of the pageant, and one which promises to be of unusually high merit, will be the solo dance executed by Miss Mildred Brownlee, of this city. Miss Brownlee will appear in an interpretive dance of "Autumn." Those who have seen this charming young woman in former presentations know tonight's appearance will be up to her high standard of artistic execution.

DR. DUNDON COMPLETING MEDICAL EXAMINATIONS

Dr. A. H. Dundon has about completed his medical examination of pupils in the borough public schools. This morning he examined forty children in the High School, five of that number having defects, chiefly of eyesight and tonsils.

The doctor, who is secretary of the Board of Health, reports health conditions in the borough as being good. There are no cases of scarlet fever, although this is the time of year when the malady is usually prevalent. There is only one case of diphtheria under quarantine.

PLANS PROGRESSING FOR P. H. S. ALUMNI DANCE

Plans are progressing favorably for the annual reception and dance to be given by the Plainfield High School Alumni Association at the High School Auditorium on Tuesday evening, December 28. The idea of holding the dance in the holiday week will undoubtedly prove a popular one in view of the large number of graduates who have heretofore been unable to attend the affairs of the association because of their duties at college.

The committee in charge of the affair reports a satisfactory arrangement in regard to music and entertainment, Brooks and Denton, the banjoists, who have furnished music for a number of Country Club affairs, having been secured, together with two entertainers, who will render songs during the course of the evening. An a la cart supper will be served.

Christmas Club Notice.

Attention is called to an error in the advertisement of The Plainfield Trust Company on the last page. The amount of the check received if $5 weekly payments are made should be $250 and not $500, as stated.—Adv. ***

XMAS PROGRAM AT OPEN AIR SCHOOL

Mrs. E. W. Bulkley and Committee Planning Fine Time for the Children.

Through the generosity of friends, children of the Open Air School will enjoy a Christmas dinner and entertainment tomorrow afternoon at the school on Muhlnberg place. The dinner will be served at noon and immediately following a program of exercises will be held. A Santa Claus will distribute gifts to the twenty boys and girls and otherwise gladden the hearts of the little inmates, who would probably otherwise know little of the holiday cheer. Mrs. E. W. Bulkley is arranging the tree and she will be assisted by a number of young women of the city.

Subscriptions from generous friends have been pouring in and through their benefaction many pretty presents of dolls, toys, fruit, etc., were made possible. At present the attendance at the school includes ten boys and ten girls who will remain at the house until the end of the school year.

"THE SHEPHERD BOY" FEATURES PROGRAM

Christmas Exercises at Irving School Pleases Both Old and Young.

An appreciative audience of parents and friends taxed the capacity of the auditorium of the Irving School last night, at which time the children gave their annual Christmas program. The young people received rounds of applause at the conclusion of each of their numbers, the dances, drills, songs and recitations being rendered with a marked degree of skill.

A feature of the program was the execution of a solo dance, "The Shepherd Boy," by Miss Mildred Brownlee, of this city. Miss Brownlee coached the children in the drills and dances, and much credit was given the young woman for her ability in that capacity. The program follows:

Part 1—Christmas carol, pupils of fifth, sixth and seventh grades; star drill, pupils of sixth and seventh grades; Swedish folk dance (in costume), pupils of fourth grade; holly wreath drill, girls of sixth and seventh grades; Hungarian dance (in costume), pupils of fifth grade; jumping jack drill, boys of sixth and seventh grades; song, "Merry Christmas Bells," school; solo dance, "The Shepherd Boy," Miss Mildred Brownlee.

Part 2.—Play, "Christmas Secrets." Characters, Christmas cousins and their friends: Dorothy, Helen Wyckoff; Ruth, Gladys Adelman; Rose, Sarah McClinton; Mollie, Elizabeth Cruikshank; Sally Mullin, Dorothy Deakin; Ralph, Floyd Mowen; Frank, Andrew Fitzpatrick; Harold, Arthur McVoy; Joe, Ray Spratt; Santa Claus, Pierce Fountain; good night children, pupils of first and second grades; brownies, boys of the first, second and third grades; Christmas fairy, Sylvia Watton; fairies, ten pupils of the third grade; closing song and tableau, "Angels Their Watch Will Keep."

LUNCHEON FOR MISS IRONS.

Miss Ginna, of Watchung avenue, gave a luncheon yesterday for Miss Helen H. Irons. The guests included Miss Irons, Miss Elizabeth Browne, Miss Janet Lane, Miss Dorcas Bomann, Miss Mildred Miller, Miss Louise Patterson, Miss Priscillar Fraker and Miss Helen Terry.

R. H. TRUMPE TO SING.

Randall H. Trumpe will sing the tenor role of the Xmas cantata to be given at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, Xmas morning. He is also busy with church and concert engagements in and about New York.

F. J. BLATZ NAMED AS PRESIDENT OF COUNCIL

Test Vote at Caucus Was Six to Five in Favor of Fourth Ward Candidate.

As was predicted in the Daily Press of last Friday, Francis J. Blatz was the choice of the caucus of the members of the 1916 City Council for the presidency of that body when they met last night. The session was held in the city building, and with the exception of A. D. Edgar, of the First ward, all the members were present. Mr. Edgar, however, made his position known in writing, with the result that on the test vote Mr. Blatz received six votes and Councilman Juan A. Babcock received five. Mr. Blatz was then named unanimously, and will be chosen without dissension when the Council organizes for next year on January 1.

Those favoring Mr. Blatz on the test vote were Mr. Babcock, John H. Cose, Elias H. Bird, Charles S. Sminck, Charles C. Graves and Mr. Edgar, while the Babcock vote was made up by Mr. Blatz, Levis M. Booth, Robert M. Cox, Christie Hamilton and Thomas F. Hylan casting their ballots for him. The members were only in session about ten minutes, and at the conclusion Mr. Blatz received the congratulations of all present. Mr. Babcock especially seemed to be relieved that he had not received the place, as he at no time was other than a receptive candidate, having entered the race at the urgent behest of others who thought that he should be chosen. At no time did he personally solicit support for the place.

Mr. Blatz has been in the Council for three years, and has done a great deal of work for the city. He was first elected from the Fourth ward in 1912, and was re-elected in 1914. His term expires this year. He is a lawyer, with a large practice in this city and county and has a host of friends. In addition to being a member of the City Council, he is assistant county attorney. He is a member of the law firm of Codington & Blatz.

WIFE QUITS AFTER TWENTY-FOUR YEARS

Decides She Cannot Make Good Husband Out of Man She Married.

After twenty-four years of effort Mrs. William Mauser has decided that she cannot make a good husband out of the man she picked, and she has quit. Mrs. Mauser told Judge DeMeza in police court this morning that she was through with him—that she had found out he was not a fit companion for her, and that she wanted him sent home to his father.

Mauser is the man who was arrested by Patrolman Martin Walsh after he had threatened to throw a child out of the window if the officer entered the home. He also threatened to shoot the officer, but was finally captured without violence. He denied that he would have harmed the child or the officer, and said that he was afraid the patrolman intended to kill him. It is believed that the man is deranged. In court this morning his wife told of months that he contributed nothing to the support of the family, and of his brutality toward her. She said that he had a father in Brooklyn who was able to care for him, and asked that he be sent there. Judge DeMeza will have a physician examine Mauser this afternoon, and he may be sent to an institution for treatment. He will not be permitted to go back to his wife and children here.

SENTENCED TO BUY PRESENTS FOR KIDS

William Johnson, colored, was arraigned in police court this morning for failure to contribute to the support of his family for the fifth time, and yet he wanted another chance. The man insisted that he had been giving a part of what he earned to his wife and children, but because of illness he has not worked regularly. Judge De Meza accepted his promise to give enough for a Christmas dinner and a few present for the kids this week, and paroled him again.

NEW NOTE DRAWN IN POLITE TERMS

U. S. Appeals to Fairness of Austria, Yet Remains Firm in Demands.

SAYS FACTS ARE PLAIN

Imperial Government Had Admitted Ancona Was Fired on After Engines Were Stopped, Which Was Unlawful and Vicious Act.

Washington, Dec. 22.—The text of the second Ancona note was given out as follows this noon:

"The government of the United States has received the note of Your Excellency relative to the sinking of the Ancona, which was delivered at Vienna on December 15, 1915, and transmitted to Washington and has given the note immediate and careful consideration. On November 15, 1915, Baron Zwiedenek, the charged d'affaires of the Imperial and Royal Government at Washington, transmitted to the Department of State a report of the Austro-Hungarian admiralty with regard to the sinking of the steamship Ancona, in which it was admitted that the vessel was torpedoed after her engines had been stopped and when passengers were still on board. This admission alone is, in the view of the Government of the United States, sufficient to fix upon the commander of the submarine which fired the torpedo the responsibility for having wilfully violated the recognized law of nations and entirely disregarded those humane principles which every belligerent should observe in the conduct of war at sea. In view of these admitted circumstances the Government of the United States feels justified in holding that the details of the sinking of the Ancona, the weight and character of the additional testimony corroborating the admiralty's report and the number of Americans killed or injured are in no way essential matters of discussion. The culpability of the commander is in any case established and the undisputed fact is that the citizens of the United States were killed, injured or put in jeopardy by his lawless act. The rules of international law and the principles of humanity which were thus wilfully violated by the commander of the submarine have been so long and so universally recognized and are so manifest from the standpoint of right and justice that the Government of the United States does not understand that the Imperial and Royal Government question or disputes them. The Government of the United States, therefore finds no other course open to it but to hold the Imperial and Royal Government responsible for the act of its naval commander and to renew the definite but respectful demands made in its communication of the sixth of December, 1915. It sincerely hopes that the foregoing statement of its position will enable the Imperial and Royal Governments to perceive the justice of those demands and to comply with them in the same spirit of frankness and with the same concern for the good relations now existing between the United States and Austria-Hungary, which prompted the Government of the United States to make them."

Cannonade in Flanders.

Amsterdam, Dec. 22.—A heavy cannonade is in progress in West Flanders. The booming of the big guns can be heard on the Dutch frontier. OPEN EVENINGS UNTIL CHRISTMAS

J. A. Tass
THE PARIS STORE

'Plains & Fanwood.

The local schools will hold appropriate exercises before closing for the Christmas holidays and will remain closed until Monday, January 3. In Schools Nos. 1 and 3 the students will gather for the usual program of recitations and singing, while in School No. 1 the exercises will be held in each class-room.

The Junior League, of the Episcopal church, following its annual custom, is packing a barrel of various articles to be sent to Miss Curry's New York mission to be distributed among the needy of the city for Christmas cheer. The majority of the local societies have sent more barrels of clothing, toys and other articles to various missions this year than before.

Stoddard Nichols, of North avenue, is enjoying his Christmas vacation from his studies at Leal's School at Plainfield.

The members of the Adult Bible Class, of the Willow Grove chapel, met in the chapel last night and decorated the interior in preparation for the Christmas entertainment on Christmas eve.

Miss Virginia Glover, who was a resident of the borough with her mother until about a year ago, has obtained a character in the cast playing "Alone At Last," in one of the New York theatres.

George H. Johnston, of Westfield road, has again been appointed journal clerk of the State Senate. He occupied the position last year also. He is politically prominent in the affairs of the township, being assessor as well as a member of the Republican County Committee from the township. He was elected to both the latter offices at the last election this fall.

The Methodist church has been prettily decorated by members of the church in observance of the holiday season and the members of the Sunday-school will hold their annual Christmas exercises in the church Friday night and later Santa Claus will make a visit.

The last meeting of the year for the local Jr. O. U. A. M., Twilight Council, will be held in the Excelsior Hall lodge rooms tomorrow night.

The regular semi-monthly dance of the Entre Nous Club will be held on Friday night, Christmas eve, in the hall on Park avenue, for which the members are making great preparations.

Walter Slocum, of Martine avenue, has been entertaining his aunt, Mrs. Harriett Esmonds, of Mount Horeb.

At a meeting of the Fanwood Fire Company held last night, it was decided that all who have been members of the company for seven years will be exempt from paying fines for non-attendance at meetings. The questions arising from bills that have been sent out to members for fines for various reasons have occasioned considerable discussion that is still going on. Three members were dropped from the rolls for being in arrears in their dues over the amount of $5. Luke A. Pandick and Paul S. Beck, two newcomers to the borough, were elected members of the company.

South Plainfield.

The mid-week prayer service will be held at the Baptist church tonight at 8 o'clock. The subject will be "Prayer" and Rev. J. J. Allen, the pastor, will be in charge.

The Christmas entertainment at the Baptist church will be held tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The program will comprise recitations and songs, with a real Santa Claus. There will also be a Christmas tree.

Westfield.

Work was commenced Monday on overhauling the abutments of the Westfield avenue bridge by railroad workmen. The bridge is to be strengthened and, if necessary, new girders will be put in place.

Twenty-five dog license cases remain to be heard by the recorder. Complaints were lodged against 126 dog owners for not having licenses.

Holiday exercises were held in Washington School, Monday. Exercises were held at McKinley School yesterday morning and will be held at Grant School tomorrow morning.

Flemington

Morton Cooley, of Wyoming Seminary, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Sherman Cooley.

The Presbyterian Sunday-school will Saturday night present its Christmas entertainment entitled, "The Birth of Jesus in Pictures."

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis L. Strouse, of Phillipsburg, are visiting Mrs. Strouse's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Alvater.

A district installation will be held in the hall of Washington Camp, P. O. S. of A., January 3. Several of the lodges in the third district will have candidates upon whom degrees will be conferred. The work will be done by the degree team of Ringoes.

The Sunday-school of the Baptist church will hold its Christmas entertainment in the church Saturday night.

Milton Apgar, of Peddie Institute, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. H. Apgar.

The monthly report of the Flemington school just issued shows satisfactory results in all grades. There were ninety-three pupils placed on the honor roll in the High School and 178 in the grades.

Norwood S. Apgar and George Webster have been elected delegates to represent the Flemington Presbyterian Brotherhood at the annual State convention at Montclair, Washington's Birthday.

Christmas gifts for the needy of Flemington will be received at the Baptist church tomorrow and later distributed in the borough.

Mrs. Joseph Weimann and children spent Saturday and Sunday with relatives in Brookiyn.

The Presbyterian Brotherhood will hold a fraternal meeting December 31, when the men of other churches will be entertained.

George Bloomer, of Peddie Institute, is at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bloomer, for the vacation.

The pupils of Flemington schools will bring donations to the Deats building tomorrow afternoon, which will be distributed among the poor of Flemington.

SERIOUS CHARGE AGAINST OFFICIAL

Dunellen Taxpayer Says Funds Are Used for Private Purposes.

SMALLEY IS BLAMED

Affidavits Must Be Filed Before Charges Will Be Taken up, Council Decides—Other Business at Regular Monthly Session.

A letter in which Abram VanArsdale, of Front street, preferred serious charges against Street Commissioner I. V. Smalley, of Dunellen, was read at last evening's adjourned session of the Mayor and Common Council. The letter follows:

"Dunellen, N. J., Dec. 21, 1915.
"The Honorable Mayor and Council:
"Gentlemen—I want to make a complaint about the way some of our street money is being spent, as we are not getting what we are paying for. I am sure our taxes are high enough, and the money should be used to good advantage for the taxpayers.
"On November 23, 1915, George Johnson worked one hour on Prospect avenue and the balance of the day on I. V. Smalley's truck moving Mrs. E. Benerd, and the borough paid him for a half a day.
"On October 15, 1915, Henry Hill worked one day for I. V. Smalley on the furniture van and did not do anything for the borough, but I. V. Smalley put his day's work into the borough, and Mr. Hill got his check without swearing to it.
"I understand that this has been done right along, and I think it time to call a halt. Kindly look into this matter, as I can get affidavit to it if necessary.

TAXPAYER.
(Signed) ABRAM VANARSDALE.

Mr. VanArsdale was present, and the Mayor told him that this was the kind of information that the Borough Council was desirous of obtaining. Mr. Van Arsdale was told that the charges would be investigated upon his filing affidavits sustaining his allegations with the borough clerk.

Chairman Neighbour, of the sidewalk committee, in making a verbal report for his committee, said that there has been considerable talk about town since the last snow over the condition of the sidewalks. Mr. Neighbour said that there was an eight-year-old snow and ice ordinance on the books of the borough, and he thought the time had arrived to enforce it.

The Mayor asked Borough Clerk Deering to read the ordinance. This ordinance stipulated that the sidewalks must be cleared of all snow within eight hours of daylight after the day on which it storms. If this is not done the borough can remove it and assess the cost against the property of the offender, who is also subject to a fine of not more than $5.

The Council decided to enforce the ordinance, and Street Commissioner Smalley was instructed to proceed with the work of clearing all uncleaned walks.

Borough Engineer Churchill called attention to the condition of the crosswalks, saying that they were in worse condition that the sidewalks. These will also be attended to by the street commissioner.

Chairman Ryan, of the law and ordinance committee, said that 72 of the delinquent dog tax license obtainers had responded to notices which had been sent out.

Chairman Williams, of the collecting sewerage committee, reported that the sewer work was proceeding as well as could be expected under present conditions. He said that Harry Dodwell, the injured inspector, had been brought home from the Muhlenberg Hospital, and is confined to his bed.

Chairman Craig, of the fire and water committee, reported that the hydrants at the dead ends of water mains had been blown out by the water company under his direction. He said that the water had been very clear with one or two exceptions.

The following bills were ordered paid, if found correct: Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, $20; G. S. Smith, $27.75; Louis Vossler, $25.38; Philip Pfeister, $16; Lewis Johnson, $3; George Johnson, $2; C. W. Blaine, $7.50; Owen Mohan, $1.66; A. Rajotte, $7.50; S. R. Titsworth, $15.50; Italian No. 1, $8; Ephraim Pyatt, $6; Henry Bragg, $2.50; Jacob Fisher, $11.50; B. H. Brandon, $10.87; the Bristol Company, $3.50.

By resolution the Council voted to float an improvement certificate for $100 to meet collecting sewerage bills.

B. H. Brandon submitted an application for the position of sewer inspector. Mr. Brandon lives in Plainfield, just across the borough line, and he was appointed with the understanding that he would only be employed when there was a shortage of local inspectors.

NORTH PLAINFIELDERS NOW ENJOYING BALMY FLORIDA

John A. Stocker, formerly a partner with Henry Nischwitz in the grain business at present conducted by Nischwitz & Son at 53-55 Race street, North Plainfield, moved with his family a month ago from East Orange to Wauchula, Fla.

In a letter written recently to his sister, Mrs. Henry Nischwitz, Mr. Stocker says that his family is just getting settled on a seventeen-acre tract. This tract was purchased by Mr. Stocker several years ago. Ten acres of the ground was set out in orange trees at the time of purchase. These trees are at present in a flourishing condition. Since moving to Florida, Mr. Stocker has been busily engaged in clearing up the remaining acres of his tract and planting it in fruit and vegetables.

Wauchula is located in the heart of the great orange growing district. The fruit is being shipped from the place at present at the rate of two hundred cars a day.

Mr. Stocker and his family are pleased with Florida. The thermometer at present ranges around 85 during the day and there is always a cool breeze. At night the thermometer drops to 45. There have been three frosts to date. They were light and did not damage the fruit.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF

Which Is Better, Try An Experiment or Profit By a Plainfield Citizen's Experience.

Something new is an experiment.

Must be proved to be as represented.

The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit.

But the endorsement of friends is.

Now supposing you had a bad back,

A lame, weak, or aching one,

Would you experiment on it?

You will read of many so-called cures.

Endorsed by strangers from far-away places.

It's different when the endorsement comes from home.

Easy to prove local testimony.

PASSING AWAY OF PROMINENT CITIZEN

C. H. Dickerman, Father of Mrs. Howard H. Williams, Had Notable Career.

Charles H. Dickerman, father of Mrs. Howard H. Williams, of Kensington avenue, who passed away at his home in Milton, Pa., on Friday night last, after a long illness, was one of the most prominent residents in that section of Pennsylvania. The Milton Evening Standard says of Mr. Dickerman: "He was a son of Dr. Clark Dickerman and Sarah Adelia Chandler, and was born February 3, 1843, in Harford, Pa., where he received his early education in the public schools. This was supplemented with a course at Harford University, where he was graduated in 1860.

"Afterward Mr. Dickerman was engaged in teaching school and in 1862 he was registered as a law student in the office of Daniel S. Dickinson at Binghamton, N. Y. In 1868 he removed to Bethlehem and engaged in the coal business on a commission basis, later becoming identified with several quarries. In 1870 he was made general manager for one of the large companies. In 1880 he became associated with S. W. Murray in the manufacture of freight cars and removed to Milton, where he remained until his death.

"Mr. Dickerman was interested in numerous financial institutions, being president of the First National Bank of Milton for several years. He had always been an unswerving, uncompromising Democrat and a fearless, outspoken advocate of Democratic principles. He served for three years as chairman of the county committee of Northumberland county. In 1891 he was elected a delegate to the constitutional convention to form a new constitution for the State and he was a delegate to the National convention in 1892. In November, 1902, he was elected a member of Congress, serving in the Fifty-eighth Congress, and declined a re-nomination and re-election. In 1905 he was appointed by President Roosevelt delegate to the Peace Congress which met at Brussels, Belgium, of that year.

"Mr. Dickerman was married March 10, 1869, at Beaver Meadow, Pa., to Joy Ivy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Carter, natives of Cornwall, Eng., where Mrs. Dickerman was born. She died in 1904. Three daughters and one son survive, among them Mrs. Howard H. Williams, of Plainfield. The funeral was held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Presbyterian church, Milton, being in charge of Rev. B. J. Brinkema, the pastor. The burial was in the family plot at Milton."

MISS DE ALMA TO SING THREE CHRISTMAS SONGS

Christmas will be observed at the First Baptist church, Sunday, December 26, with appropriate selections by the choir at the morning service and a musical service in the evening at 7:45. At the latter service the choir will render several carols, ancient and modern, and anthems by Vincent, Adams and Tours. A feature of the service will be the singing by Miss de Alma of three Christmas songs by Cornelius, with violin obligato. The other soloists will be Mrs. Edith Hallett-Frank, soprano; George H. Smith, tenor; William Holmes, bass; Mrs. Hollis Cubberly, violinist; Howard M. Case, organist and director.

PUBLIC SERVICE SHOWS INCREASED BUSINESS

And Make One Point Advance in Annual Dividend on Stock—November Gain.

The board of directors of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey yesterday voted to put the stock of the corporation on a seven per cent. basis instead of six as it has been for several years. A dividend of 1¾ per cent. for the quarter ending December 31, was declared, this action having been taken after it was shown that the amounts set aside for amortization, were very liberal and the surplus account was in a very satisfactory condition.

The financial statement issued by the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, which controls the local gas, electric light and trolley companies, for the month of November, shows a gross increase in total business of $307,664, or 10.10 per cent. The statement for the month of November follows:

Gross increase in total business, $307,664.27; percentage of increase, 10.10; balance available, after payment of operating expenses, fixed charges, sinking fund requirement, etc., for amortization, dividends and surplus, $477,204.77; increase in surplus available for dividends over corresponding month, 1914, $56,739.49.

For the eleven months ending November 30, it is as follows: Gross increase in total business, $1,435,506.15; percentage of increase, 4.42; balance available after payment of operating expenses, fixed charges, sinking fund requirement, etc., for amortization, dividends and surplus, $3,472,337.88; increase in surplus available for dividends over corresponding period, 1914, $218,244.49.

THE FORUM

Business Men's Association,
Plainfield, N. J.

Gentlemen: One breezy morn, early in December, two lady friends casually met on Front street, when the following conversation took place:

"Why, Mrs. L., what brings you out so early in the morning?"

Mrs. L. replied, "I am going to New York to do my Christmas shopping."

"Why go to New York when our Plainfield merchants have finer goods at more attractive prices and need your patronage here in your home town? Let me prove what I say. Come into this store and I will show you the most bewitching waists at prices that will astonish you."

As they entered the store and sauntered down the aisle the beautiful silks attracted their attention, with their brilliancy of color, fine quality and remarkably low price, and almost before they knew it they had each selected a dress, with linings and trimmings to match, and at the waist counter they each bought several waists as presents for their friends. During their conversation, Mrs. L. was asked: "Have you visited the Plainfield stores on dollar day, when the merchants have wonderful bargains to offer for only one dollar? Why, I bought a $45 French model black silk embroidered coat for only one dollar, the coat you so much admired at Mrs. Brown's afternoon tea. At another store I bought for my boys, blue serge sailor suits which I am sure were worth $6 for only $1; while at still another I bought my daughter two beautiful suits, both marked $7, for only $1 each. When dollar day comes again you must come with me to see the bargains.

"I have shopped in Plainfield ever since we moved here—40 years ago—and have found the merchants willing to please, and their clerks courteous and obliging. I have seen Plainfield grow from a mere village until today it is the finest suburban town within a radius of fifty miles of New York city."

Nearly the noontime hour I invited Mrs. L. to a dainty luncheon at a local restaurant, after which we visited nearly every store in the shopping district, making many more purchases than we intended, and when we parted Mrs. L. declared she was less fatigued, had saved her carfare to and from New York and had more to show for the money spent, by doing her Christmas shopping in Plainfield, and declared she would never shop anywhere else.

OUT OF TOWN DELIVERIES

We deliver in Dunellen, New Market, Lincoln and Bound Brook, "Tuesday and Friday," and in Scotch Plains, Fanwood, Westfield and vicinity on "Wednesday and Saturday." On Friday, the 24th, we will make deliveries in both directions.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Everybody likes turkey, and the birds seem doubly good when they are gotten for nothing, consequently Manager Michael Shannon, of the Plainfield Theatre, has dsignated tonight as "Turkey Night" at the West Second street playhouse. A number of fine speciments of Jersey gobblers will be given away to patrons absolutely. Everybody has a chance to win. Why not you?

A fine new vaudeville bill will be opened at the theatre tomorrow, headed by the greatest comedy surprise on the stage. It is presented by Fellows and Carroll, and is entitled "The Elopement." The latter is a big scenic production employing a regular [illegible] in its act. Another big produ[illegible] that will be sure to please is "[illegible]lectrical Venus." Four other high [illegible] acts will round out the vaudeville program. The Will Fox photoplay feature will be the "Little Madamoiselle," featuring Miss Vivian Martin, the dainty little motion picture actress, who holds a warm place in the hearts of the motion picture-loving public.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

A Yuletide festival will be given at the U. S. Astor Theatre beginning today. For variety and entertaining qualities it will be by far the best program offered in a long time at the Astor. Today and tomorrow the principal attraction will be "Helene of the North," starring dainty Marguerite Clark, who is fast making Mary Pickford look to her honors as queen of the photo-play realm. "Helene of the North" is a gripping tale of Alaska in which there is lots of adventure and romance. Miss Clark is charming in just the kind of part which best suits her. Another excellent characterization in this film will be given by Elliott Dexter as the young outlaw. It may be of interest to picture fans to know that it was Mr. Dexter who recently became the husband of pretty and talented Marie Dorer, always a big favorite among Plainfield theatre-goers. "Poor Schmaltz," with Sam Bernard, will be the feature picture Friday and Saturday.

HYMAN ABRAHAMS AT HOME.

Hyman Abrahams is at home for the Christmas holidays. He has been attending Dickinson Law School at Carlyle, Pa., but will go to Columbia University in New York with the beginning of the new year.

TO CARE FOR SCHOOL FUNDS.

James K. Arnold, as tax collector of North Plainfield, will also become the custodian of school funds after January 1. He will receive a salary of $50 a year for looking after the school money.

ONCE AGAIN.

Once again we wish to drive home the obvious truth that promises don't amount to a hill of beans unless they are made by those who are both competent and disposed to fulfill them.

The real merit about a promise given by us is the fact that we are competent to keep a promise without quibble or question, and this is of the utmost importance to the insuring public.

If values and prices ruled about alike in all stores at all times, there would not be any such thing as store competition. And, as finding desirable values would require no especial knowledge or insight, store advertising would be superfluous.

Did you decide, not long ago, that you could not buy some particular thing because the price was a little too high? See if the store advertisements bring to you today any interesting "news" on this question.

What do you know about the SOLAR SYSTEM?

ARE you interested in comets, Mars, the Moon, Minor Planets, the Aurora Borealis? Interested or not, what do you actually know about them? How much of your information do you positively know is correct?

It is amazing what a lot of interesting things there are in this world and how little is known about them. Never in the world's history has there been a time when so much has been written about the world and studied by so few.

Every one of us ought to know more than we do. If not to charge our minds with the information, then to at least have some book that gives accurate information in an easy, readable form of what people are doing, how they are progressing, how they live, what they export and import, what their country is like, the size of their armies and navies, who their leaders in sports are. In brief, they ought to have a copy of

FOR 1916

Buy such books as are going to give you real information on the subject of the moment. NOT THEORY, BUT FACTS—TRUE FACTS, ALL THE FACTS. And the facts in tabloid form, easy to get at; quick to understand.

SUCH A BOOK IS THIS ALMANAC AND ENCYCLOPEDIA. Would you know something on the Pillars of Hercules, Porto Rico, North Pole, Political Parties in Congress, the Kingdom of Servia, Austria, Armies and Navies of the World or of the United States.

Perhaps you want to know how much Barley is produced in the United States. You'll find these questions all covered in this Almanac and Encyclopedia.

You'll find more; thousands upon thousands of subjects, everyone of greatest interest.

Every subject is conveniently indexed—and this index is so arranged that you can turn to it instantly.

MORE THAN 9,000 SUBJECTS HAVE BEEN INDEXED

It reviews the world's happenings, gives unusual information about countries, states, cities, people, places, politics, thousands of subjects explained so easily that even your child can clearly understand. It covers subjects that cannot be found elsewhere—the extent, clearness and accuracy of its contents is phenomenal. Positively no other work of its kind is produced. Thousands of dollars have been spent in research alone. The biggest, brightest and best brains in this line of work were employed to bring this book to its present state of perfection.

WAR NEWS

lin wireless).—Turkish war statement:

"The British were routed at Anafarta and Ari Burnu, where the Turkish troops reached the sea. The booty was immeasurable. A heavy fog enabled the enemy to escape without losing many prisoners. Enumeration of the material and military equipment left behind by the enemy is not yet completed. Among the known booty are two heavy guns, one Schneider field gun, a great quantity of ammunition, mostly for rifle and machine guns, many mules and munition carts, tents filled with provisions, telephone and pioneer material. Yesterday enemy warships unsuccessfully shelled the evacuated camps in an effort to destroy booty left behind."

TRAIN VICTIM'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Nicholas Zoppi, the Italian youth killed on the New Jersey Central at Clinton avenue, Saturday afternoon, was held in Higgins' mortuary chapel on West Fourth street, yesterday morning and later in St. Mary's church, where a requiem mass was offered by Father MacDonald. Many of the young man's associates in the Saurer plant, where he was employed, were among the mourners. A handsome floral piece was given by the members of the assemblying department, of which he was a member. The pallbearers were C. Henderson, N. J. Hibbitt, Fred Stanszenbach, William Hartfelder, M. O'Connor and A. McDonough, all of whom work under Foreman Edward Strapp, the latter having been Zoppi's boss and who was among those attending the funeral. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

XMAS ENTERTAINMENT.

FRANCIS J. BLATZ RETIRES AS BAR ASSOCIATION HEAD

Francis J. Blatz, of this city, retired as president of the Somerset County Bar Association, at the annual meeting held in Somerville, yesterday, Judge Daniel H. Beekman being elected to the chair.

The other officers chosen were: Vice president, Judge W. F. Vosseller; secretary, Miss Mary M. Steele, treasurer, Voornees Kline. Former Judge Clarence E. Case and H. C. Suydam were chosen directors.

The meeting followed a turkey dinner at the Somerset Hotel. Supreme Court Justice Charles H. Parker was the guest of honor.

It was decided to ask the county Board of Freeholders to appropriate a sum sufficient to buy a modern filing system in the county clerk's office. Delegates will visit Warren county and other county seats to investigate the methods used in courthouses in other parts of the State.

INJURED GETTING OFF CAR.

Mrs. Richard Norwood, colored, of 544 West Third street, is detained at home with injuries said to have been received Saturday night, while alighting from a trolley car at East Fourth and Sycamore streets. She says that the conductor started the car before she could step to the ground and she was thrown, sustaining injuries. She is under a physician's care.

SELECT SITE FOR BIG TABERNACLE

Buildings for Evangelistic Services to Be Erected on West Front Street.

The nominating committee appointed by the general committee of the proposed "Biederwolf Evangelistic Campaign" met at Young Men's Christian Association last night, and is now ready to report the names and officers and chairmen of the various committees who are to manage the campaign in April next. The meeting of the joint committee is to be called for Sunday afternoon next to hear the report of the committee and to elect officers and chairmen.

The committee reports that a site has ben secured on West Front street, nearly opposite Plainfield avenue, the entrance to the lot on which the tabernacle is to be built being on Geraud avenue. The nominating commmittee consists of George E. Hall, chairman; Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie Rev. Dr. Philip S. Strong, J. H. Manning and W. D. Murray.

LOCAL MAN'S YACHT DESTROYED BY FIRE

Sidney Schuyler's Forty Foot Cruiser Burned to Water's Edge in Chesapeake Bay.

Sidney S. Schuyler, of Belvidere avenue, received word by wire yesterday that his cruising yacht, which had been undergoing repairs in a marine yard at Baltimore, had been completely destroyed by fire. The vessel was taken out Monday for a trial run and was burned while in the middle of Chesapeake Bay before help could reach it. The crew in charge managed to escape.

The yacht was forty feet in length and was valued at about $4,000 exclusive of the furnishing. It was a sea going craft and had been used by Mr. Schuyler and his family for cruises along the coast. The cause of the fire or other details have not been given as yet.

RECOUNT ASSURES VICTORY FOR G. O. P.

Democrats Are Now Preparing to Take Fight Into Court.

Elizabeth, Dec. 22.—It is now certain that the fight for control on the Board of Excise will not end with the completion of the recount by the County Board of Elections today or tomorrow.

The Third ward is still to be recanvassed, and all hopes for Democratic gains are nil. William J. Dunn and Michael J. Cummings, the Democratic incumbents, lost heavily in the Fourth ward recount yesterday, leaving Robert Hutchinson and G. Bartram Woodruff still in the lead.

With all chances of overcoming the lead of the Republican candidates conceded gone, Democratic attorneys are preparing to carry the fight into the courts.

ITALIAN IS FINED $25 FOR DISORDERLY CONDUCT

Pasquale Riccardi, charged with disorderly conduct and fighting, attempted to evade questions of Judge De Meza when arraigned in police court this morning, and as a result was fined $25. The Italian was arrested for a fight on Front street last Saturday night, in which he cut another man on the knee. He sought to shirk responsibility for the occurrence in the face of direct evidence. After the fine had been assessed he admitted his guilt to the judge.

A SLIGHT FIRE.

A still alarm was received at fire headquarters at 11 o'clock this morning for a slight blaze in the kitchen at the home of Michael Centrallo 334 East Fourth street. A box of papers and rubbish back of the stove was the cause. The flames were put out with extinguishers before any serious damage had occurred.

Class No. 2 of the Trinity Reformed Bible school will hold a cake and pie sale in the J. A. Smith grocery store, tomorrow, commencing at 9 o'clock.

—Readers of the classified columns learn the "wheres" and the "whens" of real estate. And such knowledge has a very high "cash value."

—Money that you may fear is "tied up" in real estate may be un-tied through a campaign of classified advertising—and you may un-tie more of it than you tied up!

—It's a safe guess that the first real estate transaction made in town today was influenced and brought about through "the classified."

W. A. CONNERS' WILL OFFERED FOR PROBATE

Estate Valued at $1,000,000 is Left Entire to the Widow.

Acting in behalf of the Perth Amboy Trust Company, which has been named as executor, Sidney Riddlestorser, vice president and secretary of that concern, made application before Surrogate Parrot this morning for the probate of the will of William Andrew Conner, who died suddenly two weeks ago. While the value of the estate was not made known in the document it was stated in the office that it aggregated close to $1,000,000. Practically the entire estate is left to the widow, Mrs. Florence Conner, of Hillside avenue. Only a few small bequests are made to relatives and none to any public institution. The relatives include a sister, Mrs. James G. Roak of Pittsburgh, and a brother, Edward G. Conner of Orange, also several nephews and nieces.

Mr. Conner, who had been a resident of this city for about ten years, died suddenly in the office of the Standard Underground Cable Company of Perth Amboy, of which concern he was vice president and general manager. He was connected with the Standard Oil Company for many years and was prominent in the industrial world in this section.

NEAR AND FAR LANDS SUBJECT OF ADDRESS

Mrs. Robert Lowry Gives Interesting Talk to First Baptist Church Women.

An interesting feature of the meting of the Home Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room was a delightful paper presented by Mrs. Robert Lowry. Emphasis and clearness were given to her statements by the exhibition of pictures representing the scenes described. She also read extracts from the letters of her niece, Miss Katharine Lee, who is spending the year with relatives on the island. Miss Lee's ancestors on her father's side are among the old families of Porto Rico, with an interesting history to their credit.

Mrs. Lowry was followed by Miss Converse, of Japan, who has been for many years at the head of the Mary L. Colby Home, Yokohama, Japan. Miss Converse is a forceful and winning speaker. She spoke of the work done in this country as the drudgery of missions, so much of it pertained to the efforts to gather money to carry on the enterprise. She said if the people in Christian lands could see, as she did, the transforming power of the Gospel in individual lives, in the character of homes and in the ideals of the nation they would give gladly and not grudgingly. The wonderful advance of Christianity in Japan in a period of less than sixty years was shown, she said, by the planning for the International Sunday-School Conference in Tokio next year. Unfortunately the European war will prevent the carrying out of these plans, as there are not vessels enough at liberty to transport the large number of delegates.

The meting was in charge of Mrs Reuben Knox, the devotional service being led by Mrs. Andrews.

A DARING CAPTURE.

George Neal, a driver for J. A. Smith & Bro., made a daring capture of a runaway horse on East Front street near Leland avenue this morning. The animal belonged to an Italian baker and ran away at Scotch Plains, dragging a heavy sleigh loaded with bread. Several wagons barely escaped being hit before Neal leaped from his own vehicle and grabbed the runaway bridle. He was carried off his feet and dragged nearly half a block before bringing the frightened animal to a stop. There was no serious damage.

FUNERAL OF GILBERT YAWGER

The funeral of Gilbert Yawger who died Sunday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. A. Porter of Codington avenue, was held at the latter's residence this afternoon. The service was conducted by Rev. E. G. Read, assisted by Rev. John Y. Broek and was attended by a gathering of relatives and friends. Many handsome floral tributes were contributed. The body was afterward taken to Somerville, where interment was made in the new cemetery.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Robert Ewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Ewart, of 88 Fairview avenue, was given a party in honor of his eighth birthday Monday afternoon. The home was attractively decorated with evergreens. Ten little boys and girls were present. A pleasant time was had playing games. A repast was served prior to the party breaking up. Favors were little stockings filled with presents. The young host received many gifts.

Miss Converse, a missionary from Yokohoma, Japan, has been the guest of Miss Anna Boice, of Park avenue, for several days.

P. H. S. GIRLS DO WELL, BUT LOSE

Show Great Improvement in Game Lost at Bloomfield High.

NO GOALS FOR LOCALS

All of Plainfield's 8 Points Made From the 15-foot Line—Team Leads in Second Half Until Home Star Gets in Scoring Vein

Stacked up against one of the best high school teams in the northern part of the State, the Plainfield High School girls' basketball team played a game against the Bloomfield High School girls at that place yesterday afternoon that was a revelation, after their previous work this season. The P. H. S. maids held their opponents to a 13 to 8 score, coming out on the smaller end. Shortly after the beginning of the second half, which started 6 to 5 with the locals behind, the Red and Blue five took the lead on several free shots by Miss Irma Good, and kept the advantage until a few minutes before the call of time, when Miss Noble, the star Bloomfield forward, developed a shooting streak and copped the game for the home team.

During the entire game only three baskets were shot from the floor, and all of these were made by Bloomfield. All of the locals' points were scored on free shots, Irma Good making five. Miss E. Noble was by far the best player of the game, for out of her team's thirteen points, she scored eleven of them on two baskets and eleven free throws. On tosses from the foul line she was a sure shot, and but for close guarding on the part of the local guards she might have tallied as many more points.

A shake-up in the local school's line-up by the coach, Miss Ruth Wean, put added vim into the locals' play that nearly won the game. After playing part of a game at side center, Miss Natalie Goetter did excellent work at center during the last period. Miss Marion Lansdale got into the game for the first time this season, and during the first half played well at center, while Miss Margaret Simmons, playing for the first time this season, went in at side center for the last period and showed up well.

Miss Wean seems to have struck the right combination now, and with a number of good substitutes, something that has been lacking in former years, she ought to turn out one of the best teams that has sported the Red and Blue in a number of years.

MOST IMPORTANT CHANGES IN THE BASKETBALL RULES

Following is a condensation of the most important changes in the basketball rules in force this season:

First—Roughing a player who is in the act of shooting gives an opponent two free throws and a goal counts if made while being fouled.

Second—It is a foul for a player to come in bodily contact with either of two players who are in a scrimmage but he may snatch the ball away.

Third (running with ball)—A player who receives the ball while standing may, in shooting for a goal, take one step and then jump without committing a foul. A player who changes his position without materially advancing the ball is not considered to be running with the ball. A player pushed by an opponent is not considered as advancing the ball. When running he may "stop as soon as possible" and then play the ball as though he had been standing still.

PLAINFIELD GRAMMAR SCHOOL FIVE AT WESTFIELD TOMORROW

The Plainfield Grammar School basketball team will visit the Episcopal Parish House at Westfield tomorrow afternoon, for a return game with the X. Y. Z. five. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock.

The city grammar boys still have a few open dates on their schedule. Managers wanting games should write or call the principal of the Plainfield Grammar School.

SPEAKER PERFORMED FOR $65

Boston Red Star Received This Amount Monthly For Playing.

They say Tris Speaker receives $16,500 for playing for the Boston Red Sox. He may be worth that and probably is to Boston, but he was once willing to play for car fare money in comparison to what he is now receiving.

Something like ten years ago, when Speaker was playing amateur ball on the Texas lots, the manager of the Cleburne team in the North Texas league saw him in action, sought him out and after the game said:

"I'd like to sign you to play with my club. I'll pay you $65 a month and board. Think it over and let me know tomorrow."

That night Speaker went home and told his folks about some fellow kidding him.

"Said he'd give me $65 a month and board, too," said Speaker. "That shows he was fooling."

But the Cleburne person wasn't. The next day he hunted up Speaker.

"Well, what about my offer?" he asked.

"Oh, it sounds good, but you can't kid me."

"Kidding? Say, my boy," responded the Cleburne leader, "just to show you that I mean business I'll pay you $25 in cash the minute you sign the contract."

As he spoke the manager extracted a roll of bills from his jeans. Speaker took one look at the bundle and then gasped:

"Give me the contract and the pen quick!"

MILLIONS SPENT ON BALL PLAYERS

Clubs Laid Out Large Sums For Players In 1915.

WHAT GAME HAS COST.

Transportation and Other Operating Expenses Bring Total Cost of Maintaining of the National Pastime to More Than $20,000,000 For the Year.

When it is realized that the major and minor leagues paid out for players alone a little more than $6,000,000 in the season just ended the financial difficulties of a summer beset with poor attendance can be understood. And, mind you, this does not include the Federal league. It is estimated that the purchase and salaries of players for those eight clubs are in the neighborhood of $800,000. This would put the grand total of dollars taken away by ball players in the neighborhood of $7,000,000.

Verily, the ball player is getting the cream of the game!

These figures were secured from the official report of Secretary John H. Farrell of the National Association of Minor League Clubs, combined with the unofficial estimates of men professionally connected with the major leagues.

Notwithstanding the falling off of attendance, said to be due to a feeling of hard times attendant upon the war in Europe, bad weather and the wrangling of certain magnates the salaries of the players have been increased. Even the purchase prices have grown. It is very evident, therefore, that when the attendance falls off the owners only suffer. The players get their money regardless of conditions.

Mr. Farrell points out the rather interesting fact that but forty minor leagues were eligible to start the 1915 season as against forty-four in 1914. Ten of these leagues did not begin the season and five of the thirty which started did not finish. Of the twenty-five that managed to stand the gaff and continue in business this year not one made money. This latter statement is not made on the authority of Mr. Farrell. He did not mention that, but it is the opinion of the owners who assembled in San Francisco.

As a proof that the bad weather was largely responsible for the financial troubles Mr. Farrell shows that in one minor league 165 games were postponed on account of rain in a four months' playing season.

Say, for instance, that in a little league the gate taken in at a game would average $70. That means $12,500 sacrificed to the rain god in a small league that is quite a bunch of bills. It would pay the whole season's salary list for three of the clubs.

In the minor leagues 5,472 players were under contract. Estimating the salaries of these men at $1,000 for the season, which is conservative, the bush leagues paid out $5,472,000 to athletes. This does not include the money paid for the purchase of these players. It would be impossible to estimate that with any degree of accuracy. Some players were bought for $100, while others brought as high as $750. Some of those turned back by the big leagues cost the minor league owners $1,500. At any rate, it would run over $500,000.

In the two major leagues there were employed regularly 400 players. These received on an average $3,000 a year. The National and American leagues therefore, paid out $1,200,000 in salaries. Add to this $800,000 for the purchase of players, and it has cost the major leagues, in round figures, $2,000,000.

None of these figures apply to the cost of transportation, hotel bills, upkeep of grounds, cost of building, salaries of managers, secretaries and other officials. Just to give an idea what that means, the cost of operating the New York Polo grounds during the summer is upward of $1,000 a day.

If the expenses, outside of players, could be put into the grand total, it would be found that the magnates had spent during 1915 more than $20,000,000 for operating expenses alone.

Mr. Farrell in his report to the National association shows that $129,800 passed through his office for drafted players, optional agreement players and others released by purchase. The National association has to do with minor leagues only. The report of the national commission, showing what was paid out for players in the big leagues, is not ready. It should be a very interesting document.

Though it may be inaccurate, we will assume that the average price of a franchise and grounds in the big league is $750,000. That is not large. The New York Giants, for instance, could not be bought for double that amount.

The sixteen clubs therefore represent an investment of $13,600,000—that is, a property investment.

Add to this the $20,000,000 for operating expenses, and it will be observed that baseball has an overhead expense of $33,600,000.

They must take in that much from the fans to break even.

AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB CHANGES "POINT" RULE

Hereafter in winning the fifteen points needed to be a champion a dog must win six points at three point shows. This was the most important happening at the quarterly meeting of the American Kennel Club yesterday, with August Belmont in the chair.

The trend of the action is to limit the giving of small "ribbon" shows and by framing the classes to suit certain owners make winners' classes of only a couple of dogs easy steps toward a championship. A resolution presented by Daniel P. Ritchie providing that no dog might gain a three-point rating in a winners' class unless opposed by at least five of its own sex excited a vigorous debate, but it was voted down. As a substitute it was voted that there must be at least three contestants in each of such classes when divided by sex.

The new rule practically debars from a championship any dog not good enough to win at one of the big shows.

FIFTY-FOUR HARVARD MEN PUT ON TICKET BLACKLIST

The Harvard Athletic Council last night announced that fifty-four names of graduates and undergraduates had been blacklisted because tickets allotted to them for the Harvard-Yale football game this fall had been found in the hands of speculators. In the future no application for tickets by these men will be honored, it was stated. The number of tickets reaching the speculators was remarkably small this year, the council reported. Undergraduate and dental school students were the chief offenders, although one officer of the university was found guilty.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

On account of tomorrow being the last day of school before the Christmas holidays, there will be a considerable change in the daily schedule of the High School. Following the third period the student body will go to the auditorium at 11:45 for the annual Christmas exercises. A short program will be rendered by the student body, after which the seniors will have charge of the rest of the program. The class has made great preparations for doling out the junior stings, and plenty of fun is assured. Paul Collier, donator of the loving cup for the 1915 baseball championship of Plainfield, will present the cup to the High School, and the football men and others entitled to their letter will be presented with their insignia.

"What Happened to Jones" is the title of the comedy playlet that the junior class at the High School will present as its annual theatrical effort this year. Professor Harold Biddle will coach the cast this year again, which will consist of thirteen characters. Copies of the play can be obtained from the librarian, and on January 5 the first tryouts for places in the cast will be held. It will be presented in the High School Auditorium early in the spring.

At the last meeting of the Alpha Literary Society of the High School held Monday afternoon an election of officers was held that resulted as follows: William Blackford, president; Miss Elizabeth Chickering, vice-president; LeRoy Apgar, sergeant-at-arms. A program committee was also appointed, including the Misses Burnett, Lockwood, Blimm and Warren Mumford.

Don't buy Bicycles or Tires whose name means nothing to you. Why should you take such chances, especially when well known standard bicycles and tires cost you no more and often less?
Don't buy Bicycles, Tires or Sundries that any dealer offers you, when you have to ask him the name of the maker. This in itself should be your first warning that he must be trying to put something over on you in order to make an extra profit for himself, and at your expense.
We carry nothing but Standard makes of Bicycles and Tires.

German Valley. and Chester

Mrs. Silas Hance, of Paterson, is making an indefinite stay with her sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Vescelius.

The roads are now being opened on the main thoroughfare to Hackettstown, having been closed to travel by the heavy snowdrifts. Travel has been by the way of Newburgh, which is several miles longer.

Mrs. William S. Delp, wife of the Lutheran pastor, is ill at her home with indigestion.

Mrs. Alice Vanatta, of Flanders, is visiting for a few weeks Mr. and Mrs. William T. Swackhamer.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Apgar, of Califon, were week-end guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris S. Trimmer.

The Presbyterian Sunday-school has made changes in its Christmas entertainment arrangements, and instead of having a public social Thursday night as previously announced, it will give the school a treat of candies and oranges in the church Thursday afternoon.

Rev. Morris H. Looloian and Assessor George H. Sliker, of Pleasant Grove, were over-Sunday visitors to the latter's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Edson J. Neighbour.

Mrs. Edward C. Welsh and Mrs. William James spent Monday with friends in Newark.

A small addition to the barn belonging to the mill property and a heavy projection on the old Weist house occupied by Dr. William James blew down Saturday. Both were weighted with snow.

After spending a week with Mrs. William Cleveland, who is critically ill, Mrs. Orvil Bird and children returned Sunday to their home at Califon.

Miss Lillian W. Downs, of Trenton, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald P. Downs.

Amos C. Van Gaasbeek, of Summit, spent the week-end on his farm near the village.

Isaac R. Rowe had a large force of men at work Sunday opening the road between this village and Mt. Rose. Considerable shoveling was necessary to drain the water from the roadway.

The recent heavy rain caused a bad wash-out on the county road between the Ralston bridges. Repairs to the road had been completed only about a month.

The Chester pupils who are taking courses in the Roxbury High School at Succasunna, resumed their studies yesterday after a week's vacation on account of the storm.

Mrs. Charles H. Black is spending the week in Althea.

Whitehouse

Vesper Lodge, No. 239, I. O. O. F., of Lebanon, has elected the following officers: Noble-grand, Charles F. Masser; vice-grand, Edward Barties; recording secretary, Eugene Bird; financial secretary, Austin W. Shurts; treasurer, Augustus Henkel.

The Christmas entertainment of the Sunday-school of the Reformed church, at Whitehouse Station, will be held tomorrow night instead of Saturday. A cantata, "Santa's Mix-up," will be presented. At the services Sunday morning the Christmas music will be rendered by a children's choir, under the direction of Miss Bertha W. Large. The midweek prayer service was held last night at the residence of Mrs. David L. Lare.

Frank B. Alpaugh, of Gladstone, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Runkle Alpaugh, at Whitehouse Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob H. Dilts and Mrs. Elmira Kline, of Whitehouse Station, will spend Christmas with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Jones, in Flemington.

The road between New Germantown and Lamington, via Messler's Crossing, is still impassable. Many of the dirt roads in this section are also in bad condition.

Mrs. Adaline Krymer, of Lebanon, is visiting her son, Miller Krymer, in Elizabeth.

Mr. and Mrs. George Apgar, of Lebanon, returned Monday after a visit to their son, John N. Apgar, in East Whitehouse.

Jacob C. Henry, of Somerville, was an over-Sunday guest of his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Henry, of Lebanon.

Rev. C. J. Finger, pastor of the Reformed church, at Lebanon, is making an effort to have a branch of the county Y. M. C. A. organized there in connection with the work of the church. Alton C. Roberts, of Flemington, the county secretary, was to [illegible] an address to the young men of the community in the chapel this evening, but the meeting has been postponed because of the High School entertainment at High Bridge.

Miss Edith Cooley returned to Potterstown Monday after a visit to her aunt, Miss Laura Cooley, in East Whitehouse.

Miss Carrie Staats, of Trenton, is spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. John Porter, of Pottersville.

A Christmas sociable was held last evening at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Gideon H. Williamson, near Pleasant Run, by the Christian Endeavor Society of the Stanton Reformed church.

Mrs. John Bunn, of Centerville, is home from a visit of a week in Bloomsbury.

Plainfield, N. J., December 22, 1915.

A WISE ANSWER.

While we may be wrong, it is the sincere belief of the Daily Press that Mayor Calkins reflected the sentiment of a majority of the citizens of Plainfield in his letter in which he carefully pointed out his belief that there is little or no disregard of the Sunday law in Plainfield. There are very few people who are not thoroughly opposed to the enforcement of the blue laws, and any effort to do so would merely make for confusion, and a great deal of unpleasantness. When we look at other cities throughout the State, and find saloons doing business, the movie houses and vaudeville theatres giving performances, amusement parks running all day, and other flagrant violations of the law on Sunday, we believe that Plainfield comes as near to being perfect as any city with so cosmopolitan a population and of like size in the United States. We have here a very large group of people who are members of the Seventh Day Baptist church, who rigidly observe Saturday as the Sabbath, and many of whose members are leaders of thought in the community. Certainly no one would want to close their stores on Sundays. Drug stores are open everywhere, and it would be ridiculous to try to make them shut their doors, just because there is an old law on the statute books which says otherwise and should be repealed.

There is no danger of Plainfield ever becoming a wide-open community on Sunday or any other day. Public sentiment would not permit it. Mayor Calkins let it be distinctly understood, however, in the letter in question that the officials expect "reasonable compliance with the law, and it is only when disregard of the ordinance becomes so notorious as to cause general and persistent complaint that we feel called upon to undertake a more rigid enforcement of it, or to go further than to call the attention of offenders to its provisions." Any citizen can go into court and make a complaint which will have respectful attention from the authorities.

The Mayor shows clearly in his letter that with the aid of the police he has made a careful study of the situation; that he knows exactly which stores are keeping open, and knows just how many of these same stores close on Saturdays, when their proprietors observe the Sabbath as they believe it should be observed. He shows that although fifty-nine stores were open on December 12, only twelve of these were also open on the Saturday before, or in other words only an even dozen store owners were violating the ordinance.

Plainfielders do not want to see a wide open Sunday, and never will have one so long as the present high calibre officials are selected for office.

CANDLES ON CHRISTMAS EVE.

Plainfield will have no community Christmas tree this year, such as was provided in the city park on Christmas eve a year ago by the local organization of Sunday school superintendents. A friend of the Daily Press has suggested that our citizens in a measure compensate for this lack of municipal observance by adopting the old English custom of generally lighting candles in the windows of the houses—a custom which has been made but little use of in this country. Baltimore is one of the few cities that now follows the custom, and it is said that scarcely a city block in any section of that city was without at least one illumination last year, and it was not rare to see every house in a row brightened by this evidence of "peace on Earth, good will to men." It warmed the very cockles of one's heart to walk through street after street with these silent Christmas greetings everywhere, and no one who has gone through such experience could ever want to know another Christmas Eve without them.

It is almost too late to start a movement this year for adopting the custom generally in Plainfield, as things of this kind have to be backed by some organization such as the Federation of Men's Clubs, which is giving us the Community Christmas. Those whose attention is attracted to this article might do as suggested this year, and another season a general observance of the plan could be arranged.

The Community Christmas fund has reached the $1,300 mark, and less than $150 has to be raised to better last year's record. Plainfield and North Plainfield altogether have a population of about 30,000 people. In Trenton after a very active campaign on the part of the Trenton Times, a newspaper with nearly 25,000 circulation, continuing over a period of three weeks, the total sum subscribed for a similar movement yesterday was only $802 and the city has a population of 100,000 people. Just another evidence of this city's prosperity, and that "Plainfield knows how."

Indirectly the State Republican News is blaming the war on the Democratic party. The low tariff enacted by that party did not even have a chance to be tried out before it was necessary to put a war tax on the people to furnish the revenue that was cut off by the lack of imports from Europe. Blame the Democratic party for almost anything but the necessity for creating the war tax.

More good news! The Potter Printing Press works, after having experienced a dull period of several months is resuming with a good sized force of men, and prospects of employing more in the near future. As this is one of the industries which has been closely identified with the growth of Plainfield, everyone will be glad to hear of their resumption of a thriving business.

Somehow or other the idea that the Republican party may have to fall back on Theodore Roosevelt as their candidate for President next year is gaining strength with a lot of those who voted against him four years ago, and not a few are getting on the band wagon already.

Yesterday was officially the first day of winter, but the weather this year did not wait to be officially ushered in.

TO SING XMAS CAROLS.

The choir of the Crescent Avenue church, under the direction of E. Metler Davis, organist, will on Sunday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock give a special Christmas program. The numbers will include traditional or folk carols from the old English, French, Slavic and German.

The Reasons

One time I met a chap who said I'd fail.
Since then I've camped along ambition's trail
With clenching fists and grating teeth, to show
That chump there were some things he did not know.

A lot of times, too, I met kindly folk
Who said—and made me think they did not joke—
That I was destined for a better place
Than then I held in life's uncertain race.

For their dear sakes who thus believed in me
I am compelled by gratitude to be
All that I might have been upon this earth
Had fortune smiled her sweetest at my birth.

Now those two reasons, and some more that I Can't now recall, explain succinctly why
I do the best I can to make success
Of my small part in this great mundane mess.

Finnigin Filosofy

Ad-adjectives

Did you ever stop and consult the dictionary while reading advertising matter written by experts?

Sometimes we nearly giggle our fool head off over some of the adjectives employed.

The other day we were asked point blank, in type big enough for a farm sale bill, if we had ever seen such "startling values" as were shown in somebody's kind of underwear!

"Startling"—get it? Good old "sterling" is worn threadbare and nobody would notice it, so it had to be "startling."

To begin with, can you imagine yourself, unless drunk or delirious, being "startled" by any underwear's value?

You might be "pleased," if it was your own underwear.

You wouldn't care two whoops about it if it was the underwear of some one else, would you?

You wouldn't even so much as know about it, if you are the modest and polite person we hope you are.

We can imagine one's being "startled" by underwear, but not in that way.

The sudden display of anyone's intimate garments in public is not the least "startling" thing we know of.

When we find we have been walking for four or five blocks on a well-lighted street, with a young lady behind us that we had a never-absent masculine hope of impressing favorably—even when we have found that one of our (speaking plainly) garters was dragging the pavement, we have been "startled," and so would anybody else have been if we had said loudly what our impulse dictated.

We have even been worse than "startled" when we involuntarily glanced toward the observing young lady and noted that she looked elsewhere but smiled pleasedly.

But was the young lady "startled" by the quality of our garter?

No. When she first saw it trickling along like a purple elastic nemesis, she may have been "startled."

But not at the value of the thing.

The young man who attempted to pull a thread from the young lady's shoulder and ultimately, as discovered by her mother, entirely removed the young lady's union suit by raveling—that young man may have been "startled" and suspicious at the length of the thread he pulled out.

But "startled" at the value of some one's underwear?

A brace of nays.

Good value is never "startling" to us except when we get it in dealing with a man we had thought was crooked.

Some advertisers should change their stock of ad-adjectives.

The Young Lady Across The Way

The young lady across the way says she doesn't see much sense in denying yourself and trying to save money for your old age when all you would have to do when that time comes would be to purchase an annuity and live quite comfortably on it.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Education And A Little Lump

"READING your articles in the paper," writes a correspondent, "has impressed me greatly and helped me and other members of my family in various practical ways. About ten days ago my wife discovered a small lump in the right breast. Following your suggestion of some little time ago, we immediately called our family physician, who made a thorough examination"—the doctor started right—"and advised us that he could find no proof of cancer, giving us a prescription and asking us to call again in two weeks. The doctor said that if it did not go away soon the proper thing was to cut it out. He explained that a piece of the lump could be examined microscopically to determine whether it was a cancer.

"Now some of our friends tell us this might have the effect of scattering the germs if it is of cancerous nature. Others say it should be determined while the patient is on the operating table whether the condition is cancer or not. So we are very anxious to find out the safe course. My wife is forty-nine years old, apparently well, a little over-weight."

We quote the writer not verbatim, but by condensing his letter. It teaches a lesson.

The family doctor very evidently knows his business. Didn't he make a thorough examination? Furthermore, he gave an honest opinion—neither jumping to the conclusion that every lump is a cancer, nor letting the patient go away without the injunction to return in two weeks. The doctor found no sign of cancer, yet he could not be sure without at least a second examination. He is the kind of doctor we should like to have care for our loved ones.

But the gentleman's letter teaches more. The friends offered gratuitous advice. Didn't the friends know? Hadn't they had a second cousin who had a cancer?

The idea—hesitating between the gratuitous advice of busybodies and the opinion of an expert! And our correspondent's letter shows that he is an educated man. It is without a single flaw.

When the family doctor spoke of excising a portion of the lump for diagnosis, of course he meant that it is done with the patient under anesthesia, and the diagnosis made in five minutes, so that the operation may be directed accordingly. As for "scattering the germs"—that is mere old wives' gossip. No one has found the germs or other cause of cancer as yet. And there has never been reason to imagine the disease could be aggravated by such procedure.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Baby's Colic

What makes our baby, seven weeks old, keep the household in an uproar every night with colic? Isn't there any way to prevent it? writes a father.

Answer—Surely. First be sure it is colic—very frequently it isn't. Then stop feeding such high protein food, avoid castor oil, give the baby and mother a daily airing in the open, and rely upon warm enemas given through soft catheter to relieve the distress.

STANDPATTERS

A STANDPATTER is a stationary statesman who is satisfied with majorities as they are. Standpatters are confined entirely to successful candidates. They have existed ever since Noah's time, when a large number of this great mariner's friends pronounced the forty days' rain to be only a slight local disturbance of no national bearing. Lot's wife was another eminent standpatter. She remained for centuries entirely motionless and looking steadfastly backward.

The standpatter believes there is a future, but does not believe in trying to haul it into the present by the neck. Political standpatters are satisfied with last year's laws and social standpatters are satisfied with last year's shirts. There has also arisen a new brand of standpatters who are regarded with great contempt in some quarters because they are satisfied with last year's wife.

Opinion varies as to the virtues of standpatters. We have the word of eminent statesmen to the effect that to stand pat is to rely upon the wisdom of the past, tempered with a firm tolerance of the present and a cautious survey of the future. We have the word of other statesmen to the effect that standpatism is a self-satisfied complacency merged with an intellectual timidity and surrounded by an impenetrable jungle of precedent, predestination, paternalism, pantheism, plutocracy and poobah. The insurgent says that standpatism is a fungus, jealous of a jackrabbit, because the latter can move; a second-hand kedge anchor buried in the mud and waiting for the ship of state to come back and tie up to it; a mournful and neglected hen setting on a china egg; a crawfish hole calling on the sun to revolve around it because it refuses to budge.

A standpatter is a stationary statesman

However, this is nothing to what the standpatter calls the insurgent. One standpatter recently alluded to insurgency as a merry-go-round racing with the horizon to the music of a steam calliope.

A standpatter doesn't allude to the wheels of progress, but to the obelisk of accomplishment. His favorite hymn is "As it was in the beginning, is now and ever shall be," and his model is the wooden Indian, which has done business for fifty years in America and which has never taken a step forward or made a single mistake.

Views Of The Press

Good News From Santa Claus

SANTA CLAUS has not been hurt by the war, nor his workshops demolished. There will be many, many children in the warring countries whom he will have to skip this year for one reason or another, but he's coming to America for sure.

He did, however, transfer a large number of his factories to the United States. He doesn't make all the toys in one small shop near the north pole the way he used to. He has arranged things along modern lines now, and makes dolls in one place, boats in another, trains in another. And it surely does keep those reindeer busy trotting him all over the globe to supervise things.

Last winter it began to look as if he couldn't do very well for this country this year, what with the British blockade, and so many things made in Germany and one thing and another, but he has conquered all difficulties. Fully half the toys have been made in America this year, and forty-five per cent. more have been coming from Germany. The other five per cent. come from England, France and far-off Japan.

The little brown Japanese people wanted to make lots of toys for American children this year, but somehow not many of them suited Santa Claus. They were pretty, and funny, but they were too fragile for our eager youngsters, Santa thought. Santa doesn't like to see his presents broken up right away. He likes children to take good care of their things, and put them away neatly when they are through playing, so mother won't have to do any extra work because they have had a good time.

He's setting his workers to make stronger toys each year. And while there are many that go by themselves, he is turning out more and more that require the owner to exercise his wits about them. That's the best kind, too, and the kind that last best and give most pleasure. Youngsters can build different things with them every day, and learn many useful things while they are doing it.—Asheville, N. C., Gazette.

People's Legal Friend

BY E. R. BRANSON

Putting It Over The Lawyers

The imprisoned Spanish Don with the fabulous hidden fortune and a beautiful daughter, who wants some kindly person (with means) to rescue his gold and daughter, has been outdone.

One of the latest among the "gentlemen in distress" has a "legacy" too, but not in hidden treasure. It is a damage claim against a city traction company for injuries which the company has already offered to settle for $4,000, but which is worth more. A dozen Chicago lawyers already have been victims, contributing modest sums of from $1 to $10.

Do the attorneys complain to the police? Not they. They talk about it in whispers, and charge the swindle to "experience."

The swindler has been operating for some time. He is a fairly well-dressed individual, and has a big, fresh scar across his forehead, the result of the "street car accident." He has just been discharged from the hospital, he tells his victim.

The claim agent, so his story goes, offered him $4,000 as a cash settlement when he was in the hospital, but he thinks his injuries are worth more. He tells a well-defined story of the circumstances surrounding the accident, gives names of witnesses and all other accessories to a bona fide case, and the lawyer victim immediately scents a "50—50 split" on a damage suit which looks like ready money.

Then comes the sad part of the story. The hospital bills ate up the "injured man's" savings. He is expecting a check in a few days from a relative to push the damage suit, and the retainer will then be forthcoming. In the meantime, could the lawyer please let his client have a loan of a few dollars?

No less than a dozen legal lights have blushingly confessed that they "fell" for the story. Not because of the big retaining fee promised, of course, but just because it was such a good story.

The case, a short while ago, of John Coleman, an old Mississippi negro, is no less startling.

Coleman worked his game on the lawyers, because of his ability to state a personal injury damage suit perfect in all its details.

He said that December 3, 1914, his son, while driving a buggy for a physician, was run over by a street car and had his leg cut off, which accident caused his death. He added that the general manager of the car company had offered him $1,500 in settlement, and he wanted legal advice as to whether or not he should accept. He omitted no detail to make a perfect case in all its legal phases.

The attorneys for the car company commenced to receive telephone messages from all over the state from widely known law firms, notifying them not to settle the Coleman case until they were consulted, as they represented Coleman. An investigation was made and it was found that no such accident had occurred.

The old negro would walk into a law office and state his case with utmost precision and detail. He always took off his hat when he addressed a white man, and usually came with a note from a bank referring him to that particular law firm. The thing that caught the attorneys was the statement that he had been offered $1,500 in settlement.

The negro always closed his interview with the statement that he was out of money and would like to get an advance of $75 or $100, the money to be taken out of the settlement. The money was usually forthcoming and the old negro would shuffle out, hat in hand, never to return.

He was finally caught at Perry, Oklahoma, and is now serving time in the penitentiary.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Pepper Talks

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Tongues

One of the most difficult things in this world to get control of is the human tongue. Kipling never said anything truer than when he wrote that "Man may hold most any post if he'll only hold his Tongue."

Before you set your Tongue to action get it under perfect Control.

A single Tongue can do more harm in the world than a Battalion of Soldiers. For Soldiers can kill but Bodies while the Tongue can kill Reputations and Characters. It is too bad that we have no laws to curb Tongues. Shakespeare powerfully pictured in the character of Iago the terrible consequences following in the path of an evil Tongue. Iago not only destroyed the Reputation and pure Character of Desdemona, but he finally, through Othello, killed her body.

Compel your Tongue to speak Helpful Messages or else keep it still.

Make it a rule of your life to use your Tongue for high purposes or not at all. Resolve to speak in no way of any man or woman unless you can speak of the good qualities of that man or woman. No one ever gained Happiness out of injuring the Feelings or Character of someone else. No one ever failed to get Happiness by speaking well of other people.

The Golden Rule applied to the Tongue comprises one of the real Golden Rules of Conduct.

Current Poetry

The Call To Optimism

Winter and summer and autumn and spring,
Some little creature is certain to sing.
Bluebirds and robins will brighten the May,
Bobolinks chirr in the hot summer day.

Quail in October will whistle their glee,
Gulls will be heard by the rim of the sea.
Up in the pines when the year has grown old
Rosebreasted grosbeaks will chirp in the cold.

Someone is singing, all over the earth.
Death may be here, but there's ever a birth.
Cr[illegible] rage may be reckless and blind,
Someone is tender, and someone is kind.

Avarice glooms. There is Charity, too.
Love may be faithless, but love will be true.
Children may suffer, yet children will play.
Sunshine and cloud—it is ever the way.
Shall we be dull and disdainful of light,
Brood on the black and regard not the white?
Then but another poor soul is in pain,
Breathing the sorry, black humors of Cain.

Household Hints

CRANBERRY DISHES

Cranberry Pudding—Two and one-half cups sweetened and stewed cranberries, one-third cup butter, two-thirds cup milk, two cups flour, pinch of salt, one cup sugar, one egg, two teaspoons baking powder. Make a cake batter to cover cranberries, which should fill only one-third of cake pan. Bake forty minutes and serve with cranberry pudding sauce. Cranberry pudding sauce: One-half cup cranberries, one tablespoon butter, about 1¼ cups powdered sugar. Cook cranberries in a little water and press through a sieve. Cream butter and add alternately the cranberry pulp and the sugar, of which there should be enough to stiffen the sauce. Beat thoroughly and chill.

Candied Cranberries—One quart cranberries, 1½ cups sugar. Pick out from a quart of cranberries only the largest, hardest berries; wash and place them in a large flat dish. Put sugar in a saucepan containing 1½ cups water. Boil five minutes, pour it over cranberries, and let them stand over night. In the morning place berries and syrup on stove and let them cook very gently until clear—about one-half hour—breaking them as little as possible. Drain and remove them to a large platter thickly sprinkled with granulated sugar. Sprinkle more sugar over them and dry in a warming oven. These are simliar to candied cherries and make a most attractive garnish for ices or desserts.

RECIPES

Savory Scalloped Oysters—One quart oysters, one-half cup minced celery, one-half cup minced sweet pepper, three-fourths cup buttered dry bread crumbs, one cup white sauce, one cup condensed tomato soup or tomato sauce, salt and pepper to taste. Butter a baking dish, dust with the crumbs, put in a layer of oysters, sprinkle with a dash of pepper and celery, add a few crumbs and pour in a little of the two sauces mixed together. Repeat in this way till the dish is filled, making the last layer crumbs, and bake thirty minutes in a moderate oven.

Lemon Butter—Beat six eggs, one-fourth pound butter, one pound sugar, the rind and juice of three lemons; mix together and set in a pan of hot water to cook. Very good to eat with any kind of bread or nice for tarts.

Quick Graham Muffins—One pint sweet milk, two eggs, one-half cup sugar, two heaping teaspoons baking powder, one tablespoon melted butter, graham flour enough to make a stiff batter; drop in hot gem pans.

Orange Pudding—Line the bottom of a pudding dish with stale sponge cake, slice upon the cake three oranges; make a custard of one quart of milk and five eggs, leaving the whites of four out; beat the whites to a stiff froth, adding sugar; put on top of pudding and put in oven until brown.

Old Dominion Baked Ham—Twelve pounds ham, one cup sherry, brown sugar, whole cloves, whole cinnamon, one bay leaf, one pint milk. Clean and scrape ham. Let stand one night in cold water, changing several times. In the morning drain and cover with fresh cold water, to which one pint of milk has been added. After ham has been soaked for several hours wipe carefully and cover with paste made of flour and water. Roll this paste as for pie crust. If paste cracks when crisped by heat cover with a fresh supply, as the delicacy and juicyness of the ham depends on being airtight. After ham is thoroughly heated turn down gas and bake slowly for five hours. Remove crust of paste, to which the outer skin of ham will adhere. Sprinkle ham with light brown sugar, stick cloves and pieces of whole cinnamon into it. Cover with sherry, to which bay leaf has been added. Place in brisk oven to brown. Serve with champagne sauce.

Marshmallow Delight—One pint cream, one-half pound marshmallows, one cup English walnuts, one-half cup sugar, vanilla. Whip cream, sweetened and flavor. Add marshmallows, cut in quarters and nuts chopped. Beat together. Let stand several hours. Serve with shredded pineapples.

Fruit Cheese Salad—Six dates, seeded, three figs, half cup blanched almonds; chop one scant cup cream cheese, one tablespoon lemon juice, pinch salt. Mix ingredients to a smooth paste and form into balls. Serve four to each person on nest of lettuce leaves with mayonnaise dressing to which an equal quantity of whipped cream has been added.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Polish and French Dolls Will Spend Christmas In America.

Every Little Girl Will Want One.

"JACK, do you think Santa Claus will bring Evelyn a doll for Christmas?" asked daddy when the children cuddled beside him.

Evelyn clapped her hands and wiggled with joy. Jack grinned.

"Because today I saw so many delightful dolls—some from Poland and others from France—that we had better get our letter to Santa off now.

"First of all you must understand what famous dolls these foreigners who have come to spend the holidays with us are: All over Poland and all over France are thousands of little boys and girls whose papas have come home from the war so crippled for the rest of all their days that they will never be able to work and earn money for their families again as long as they live. This is a great pity, for most of them are as clever as they are brave. Just remember this great army of crippled brave men while I tell you more about the ancestors of these famous dolls. Also in Poland and in France before the war was a small army of clever artists, who made the world more interesting and beautiful with the lovely pictures they imagined and painted. These artists also war put out of work, so that many of them are so hungry they have to take bread other nations give them. Then one day in Paris some kind people decided that if these wonderful artists thought how to make attractive dolls the crippled soldiers could paint, dress and sell them to American children. So the kind people just rushed a lot of lovely silks and laces and velvets to the artists and sick soldiers in Paris, so that now we have tons of these marvelous dolls right here waiting to be adopted. The money Santa pays for them goes to buy bread for children in Poland and mittens for French soldiers.'

"Oh, tell us about the dolls, daddy!" cried the children.

"That would take me all night," daddy said. "But with my own eyes I saw a Polish bride and groom dancing to their own wedding music, and a boy gardener, Jan, with his arm around his little sister, Halka, protecting her, and some homeless little sad faced peasants that need a good mother, like Evelyn's. And I saw a marvelous Algerian wedding made by French soldiers and artists. There was a beggar sitting on the steps, and the bride was all a wreath and brocade. There are French ladies holding markets and others bringing up whole families of wonderful babies, besides hundreds of sailors, hussars, buglers, kilties, Dinahs, Normandy girls, trained nurses, ships, horses, camels, bears, monkeys, kings, queens, dancers and real children playing on the sand at the beach. Oh, I could almost smell the salt breeze! So, Jack, we had better get that letter to Santa off tomorrow."

Married Life on $80 a Month

BY MRS. D. A. LEONARD

Molly Sutner Embraces a New Plan to Help Make Ends Meet.

"I have a scheme, my dear." Olive Ellson followed Molly to the kitchen and picked up the dish towel prepared to wipe dishes as soon as they were washed.

"Please, dear, don't think you have to work every minute you are in my house," protested Molly. "Do sit down and rest a minute."

"Rest! I am not tired. This is early morning. Come, you are wasting my time and yours, too," she laughed. "Get some dishes washed and then we can get to the scheme."

"You see, I had a bright thought and I could not rest till I told you," continued Olive as she polished a glass. "Yesterday while I was over at Jo Parsons', my next door neighbor, you know, a young lady called to ask her to take her as a boarder. She is a teacher here and can not find a place to board where she can be comfortable. She has tried Mrs. Brown's, but it is noisy there and she wants to be quiet evenings, as she is trying to do some studying. Mrs. Parsons could not take her. This morning I happened to think that you might like to try that way of earning a little something."

"She would not want to come here. I have no good furniture and ——" Molly's voice trailed off uncertainly.

"Your little front bedroom is cosy and could be made very attractive with a little expenditure," urged Olive.

"I have heard that there is no money in one boarder," objected Molly after a pause.

"There isn't if you are obliged to enlarge your way of living, but you would not need to do that. The girl would be only too glad to come and be one of the family."

"I might see her and talk it over. I would be delighted to do anything to help John out of his tight place." Molly smiled into Olive's face.

"That is a good plan. I will call her up when I go home and have her come and see you. I believe you will find that you can get ahead financially in this way. Charge the regular price, just what Mrs. Brown charges, and have everything on a business basis." Olive threw a shawl over her head and hurried off.

Late that afternoon a slight girlish form knocked at the door and it proved to be Miss Travers. She seemed very anxious to come and agreed to all Molly's conditions, and Molly promised to have the room ready on the following Saturday.

"And John knows nothing about it!" Molly almost gasped as the door closed on her future boarder.

"What do you suppose I have gone and done?" laughed Molly as John sat opposite her at supper.

"You don't look particularly wicked." John smiled into her face unconcernedly.

"Well, I have taken the school teacher to board," exclaimed Molly, throwing the bomb right into camp.

John laid down his knife and fork and stared at his wife.

"Well, Olive Ellson advised it," said Molly, with an air that the last word had been said on a subject. "She seems to think that it will be a financial help to us and if that is so I do not want to turn the plan down."

"I am afraid it will be too hard and confining for you," objected John.

"Oh, no, it won't; besides I can give it up at any time, you know. It will cost nothing to try," said Molly cheerfully.

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

Quincy, Ore.—Whether or not public school teachers will be barred up in her teaching of sex hygiene is one of the issues involved in the charges brought by prominent people here against Miss Flora I. Foreman, a prominent teacher in this section of Oregon. Some of her neighbors are shocked, and have asked for her removal. She has the backing of other prominent people, and the question is just now occupying the attention of the entire State.

New York.—One of the most unique positions held by a woman is that of "hostess of the ship." Mrs. L. Landon Reed of New York, originated the idea, and it is expected that all the big steamship lines will seek out women to duplicate her work. Mrs. Reed has made five trips around the world, on each occasion with a different company. She is not an officer of the ship, nor a chaperone. She plans the entertainments that are held on board, undertakes to see that the travelers are introduced to one another, and in other ways makes the journeys real social events. Her problem is to arrange companionable and informal relationship between some six hundred people who have never seen one another before and who must associate for a long time. Mrs. Reed thinks that many cultured women will take up the work which she has begun and make sea travel interesting and entertaining, instead of a bore.

Clinton, N. Y.—An entire town awaits the arrival of Mrs. Mary Hollander, a widow from Bellingham, Wash., who is on her way to marry a Clinton man whom she has never seen. Unlike the presidential wedding of last week, the Clinton wedding is a public affair, and everybody will be on hand. The nuptials will take place on Christmas Day, under a large elm on the estate of the groom. The Clinton man who thus weds is Joseph Kennear, a wealthy widower, who first heard of his bride through a matrimonial agency. He has ten children. His bride is coming alone over a three thousand mile route to become the heroine of the town.

Boston, Mass.—Miss Margaret Slattery, of Malden, a school teacher for twenty years, has just been appointed a member of the State Board of Education. Miss Slattery has written several books, and has done extensive lecture work for the National Congregationalist Sunday-school Society.

San Francisco, Calif.—Dr. Lillian J. Martin, professor of psychology at Stanford University, has been selected to succeed Dr. Frank Angell as head of the department of psychology. Dr. Martin is the first woman ever placed in charge of a department at Stanford. Dr. Angell has left to take charge of the work of distribution of relief in Belgium. Dr. Martin is a Vassar graduate, and she studied in Germany.

Passaic.—Miss Mary Senrack, who opened her home to the firemen who were fighting flames near her home, gave them coffee and sandwiches and bound up their cuts, had her reward Monday, when she married Chief of Police Joseph Hartfield. Hartfield was one of the firemen she attended, and his rise to a higher position has brought about the wedding.

EDUCATOR'S NOTEBOOK

Chicago.—Hon. Walter L. Fisher former Secretary of the Interior in the Taft cabinet, was the orator yesterday at the 97th convocation at the University of Chicago. For the appropriate celebration of the quarter-centennial of the university, the trustees have voted to set apart five days in 1916—June 9 to 13 inclusive. There will be a series of departmental gatherings, at which distinguished guests will speak. It is hoped that the founder of the university, John D. Rockefeller, will be able to be there.

San Francisco.—Dr. Frank Angell, of the department of psychology of Stanford University, sailed yesterday from New York to take charge of the distribution of food and clothing to the Belgians. He will report to H. C. Hoover, head of the American committee for the relief of this stricken people. Dr. Angell is a graduate of the University of Vermont and of the University of Leipzig. He taught at Washington, later at Cornell University, and came here in 1892. In Belgium he replaces Dr. Vernon L. Kellogg, the Stanford zoologist and author, who has rendered long and efficient relief service.

Chicago.—The superintendency of the Chicago schools, which was vacated this month by Ella Flagg Young, is being filled by Dr. John D. Shoop, who has had long experience in the schools of Ohio and Illinois. He has been Mrs. Young's assistant for a number of years, and is familiar with her policies and results. His appointment is expected to ease the tension of political activity concerning Chicago's schools.

London.—The New Statesman, a London weekly, has been presenting in special supplements an exhaustive review of the work of English educators and their organizations. It is the most complete summary of the English school situation ever brought to the attention of the public. The review shows that while the material considerations are among the teachers individually and collectively, special attention is being paid now to such measures as small classes and more thorough work. It is aimed to form a real national organic system of education in England rather than a mechanical aggregate of units.

Amherst, Mass.—Another departure in agricultural education is the exchange of professors among the agricultural colleges. Prof. Frank A. Waugh, of the department of landscape gardening at M. A. C., and Prof. Ralph R. Root, of a similar department at the University of Illinois, exchanged classes during the past two weeks, and the idea met with instant success, it is understood, at both institutions.

Providence, R. I.—Brown University has adopted a new plan for the admission at mid-year of new students. The plan will go into effect in February, at the beginning of the next semester. Brown is the first of the New England colleges to meet the increasing demand for the mid-winter graduates of high schools and academies that they be allowed to enter college without six months' delay. Special entrance examinations have been prepared and a special course has been arranged which will allow the new students to fall in with the general program the following fall. They will also be eligible to complete their course for degrees in either three and one-half or four years.

Newark.—The elimination of chance in the matter of vocational education through the application of a theory of electrical mental tests is a conclusion which Dr. M. Pritchard von David believes he has reached after some years of experiment, and he is now demonstrating results in his laboratory at Orange. This system of mental tests is to be presented to the Board of Education of Newark for its consideration with a view to its possible adoption, having already been investigated and favorably judged by the assistant superintendent and a member of the Board. The Orange physician has invented apparatus whereby he claims that the element of chance in choosing a career for the child may be entirely eliminated. The system aims to find the tendencies of boys and girls by "reading their thoughts" with an electrical apparatus, as words are flashed before them. The electrical waves are claimed to register the calling which appeals most forcibly to the boy or girl.

SPEAKS IN NEW YORK.

New York, Dec. 22.—Sir Robert Borden, Premier of Canada, will be the guest of honor and principal speaker before the New England Society, of New York, which holds its annual banquet tonight in honor of the 295th anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth. Sir Robert has also accepted an invitation to speak before the Pilgrim Society tomorrow evening.

THE PLAINFIELD TRUST COMPANY
invites you to become a member of the 1916 Christmas Club
the club that makes everybody happy and that any one may join

This systematic plan for saving money is becoming more popular every year as people learn how easy it is to put away each week a portion of their income and as they come to realize how pleasant a thing it is to receive at Christmas time a check for a substantial amount.

The 1916 Club will open on December 27th, 1915, and members may be enrolled between that date and January 8th, 1917. There will be the following four Classes in the new Club, which will run for fifty weeks:

Class 50—Pay 50c each week and receive a check for $25 with interest at 2%.
Class 100—Pay $1 each week and receive a check for $50 with interest at 2%.
Class 200—Pay $2 each week and receive a check for $100, with interest at 2%.
Class 500—Pay $5 each week and receive a check for $250 with interest at 2%.

Those who make their payments regularly each week or in advance receive at the close of the Club a check for the entire amount paid in, with interest at 2%. If there is anything in connection with the Club that you do not understand, call at The Plainfield Trust Company for further information.

KITTY CHEATHAM TO GIVE MATINEE FOR CHILDREN

More than usual interest is being aroused in the announcement that Kitty Cheatham, the child entertainer, is to appear at the Plainfield High School Tuesday afternoon, December 28, in a children's matinee. Arrangements have been made whereby the children from the Children's Home will be privileged to attend the affair, occupying reserved seats. The New York Tribune, speaking of Miss Cheatham, says:

"Never has she seemed more refreshing, more delightful, or indeed more inspiring than at the present time, when the world is in turmoil and in sorrow. There was real refreshment, true forgetfulness and a couple of hours of real rest at her recital. In the days to come there will be others who will try to come into the realm of entertainers for children, but no one will in the remotest degree approach what Kitty Cheatham represents to childhood, to mature thinkers or to old age. Into her usual offering she brought some new features. * * * For instance there was a wonderful set of 'Historical nursery rhymes,' by Ella Wheeler Wilcox, with music by Louis Gottschalk, in which it would be difficult to say whether the tear or the smile predimonated. But it was the tear for Abraham Lincoln and Robert E. Lee, at least in the way Miss Cheatham delivered them."

HAVE ROSY CHEEKS AND FEEL FRESH AS A DAISY—TRY THIS!

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons

To see the tinge of healthy bloom in your face, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, to wake up without a headache, backache, coated tongue or a nasty breath, in fact to feel your best, day in and day out, just try inside bathing every morning for one week.

Before breakfast each day, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it as a harmless means of washing from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all of the sour fermentations, gases and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will cost very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonsrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the blood and internal organs. Those who are subject to constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, rheumatic twinges, also those whose skin is sallow and complexion pallid, are assured that one week of inside-bathing will have them both looking and feeling beter in every way.

OPEN NOSTRILS! END A COLD OR CATARRH

How To Get Relief When Head and Nose are Stuffed Up.

Count fifty! Your cold in head or catarrh disappears. Your clogged nostrils will open, the air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more snuffing, hawking, mucous discharge, dryness or headache; no struggling for breath at night.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist and apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothing and healing the sowllen or inflamed mucous membrane, giving you instant relief. Head colds and catarrh yield like magic. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. Relief is sure.—Adv.

Here Is Good News Indeed!

There is to be another CHRISTMAS CLUB and it will open at The Plainfield Trust Company on

Monday, December 27th

Members may be enrolled between December 27th and January 8th.

Everyone knows about the Christmas Club—that systematic savings plan which has been tested and proved and is now being successfully operated by hundreds of the leading financial institutions in the country.

The Club provides for weekly payments for fifty weeks, less than twelve months, at the end of which time the depositor receives the total amount paid in, with interest if payments have been made regularly. Anyone may join and those who cannot come in person to be enrolled can delegate someone else to attend to the matter.

THERE WILL BE FOUR CLASSES IN THE 1916 CLUB, AS FOLLOWS:

OUCH! LUMBAGO! RUB PAINS FROM SORE, LAME BACK

Rub Backache away with small trial bottle of old, penetrating St. Jacob's Oil.

Back hurt you? Can't straighten up without feeling sudden, sharp aches and twinges? Now listen! That's lumbago, sciatica or maybe from a strain, and you'll get relief the moment you rub your back with soothing, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil." Nothing else takes out soreness, lameness and stiffness so quickly. You simply rub it on your back and out comes the pain. It is harmless and doesn't burn the skin.

Limber up! Don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" from any drug store, and after using it just once, you'll forget that you ever had a backache, lumbago or sciatica, because your back will never hurt or cause any more misery. It never disappoints and has been recommended for 60 years.

TWO HOLDUPS IN A SINGLE NIGHT

Highwaymen Get $75 From Driver of Wagon for Daly Bros.

POLICE ARREST ONE

Courage of Harold Leach Saved Him When Stranger Demanded Money in Dark Spot Near Muhlenberg Hospital—Recognizes the Robber.

Two attempts at holdup, one of which netted the highwaymen $75 were reported to the police station last night, and this morning Thomas Murphy was given a sixty-day sentence in the reformatory for one of the crimes.

Joseph Kennedy, driver for Daly Bros., grocerymen, at 120 East Front street, was held up about 8:30 last night, on the Westfield road, in Fanwood township, by two negroes. They robbed him of $75 in money and escaped. No clue to their identity has been found, although the Plainfield, Fanwood and Westfield police are working on the case.

Harold Leach, driver for Smith Bros., grocerymen, at Front and Madison avenue, this city, drove off a would-be highwayman by a kick in the stomach early last night. Leach was coming out of Muhlenberg Hospital with his wagon. At the corner of Hillside avenue and Randolph road he heard a voice and stopped his wagon, thinking it was someone who wanted to ride. A form approached out of the darkness and climbed on the wheel. The stranger, who was a white man, suddenly held out his hand and cried, "Give Me Some Money!" Leach saw that he was not armed, and instead of complying with the demand, he kicked out with his right foot, striking the man in the stomach and knocking him to the road. His horse jumped and started to run and he escaped. The attempted holdup was reported to the police.

Late last night Patrolman Witch arrested a white man named Thomas Murphy for panhandling. Murphy said his home was in Pennsylvania. When brought into police court this morning Leach recognized him as the man who attempted the holdup last night. The identification was not complete, but the man admitted that he might have done it, as he was drinking heavily last night, and Judge DeMeza gave him sixty days in the reformatory for panhandling.

The robbery of Kennedy in Fanwood was done in true Western style. He was stopped in a dark spot by two men, one of whom threw a pistol in his face and ordered him to leave the wagon. As he stood in the road one man kept him covered with the gun, while the other went through his clothing and took out $75. He describes the two negroes as being young, one tall and the other short. The short one wore a cap and the tall one a slouch hat.

PLACING CANDLES IN WINDOWS.

As a result of an editorial suggestion in the Daily Press last night that the placing of lighted candles in the windows on Christmas eve might to a certain extent take the place of the tree observance held here last year, a Plainfielder called up the Press office this morning to say that the custom is not entirely unknown in this city. It was pointed out that at the home of Wadsworth A. Parker, at 955 West Seventh street, this custom has been observed for many years, and has called forth favorable comment from a large number of people living in that vicinity. In the editorial in question it was suggested that Plainfield people might follow the custom mentioned, which is an old English one, and is generally adopted in Baltimore.

GOING TO BRAZIL.

Lester Remsen Mellick, of Mt. Pleasant, who is widely known in the city and borough, will leave New York tomorrow on the steamship "Byron" for Brazil, where he will spend six weeks on a business trip. After landing at Rio Janiero, Mr. Mellick will proceed up the Amazon River to Manaos, a distance of more than one thousand miles. Owing to the war regulations, Mr. Mellick was compelled to secure passports from the authorities at Trenton and proceed through considerable "red tape" before completing arrangements for the trip.

BARN DESTROYED BY MYSTERIOUS BLAZE

Loss to M. Watson Payne, of Clinton, Will Approximate $3,000.

A large barn and several outbuildings adjoining it on the premises of M. Watson Payne, on lower Clinton avenue, over the city line, were completely destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning, entailing a loss of about $3,000. The larger structure was filled with hay and grain and practically all of Mr. Payne's tools and implements, together with a horse and cow. Owing to the fact that the fire started in the upper part of the barn the animals were gotten out safely.

The blaze was first discovered at 12:40 by Richard Krelwit, who lives across the street from the Payne residence and who got up for the purpose of giving medicine to a sick baby. After rushing across the road and arousing the Payne family, the members of which were sleeping soundly, he ran to the residence of H. W. Gennerich, further south on Clinton avenue, from which place the Plainfield fire department was telephoned for. Chief Doane sent out No. 2 engine, but owing to a lack of water very little could be done. Connection was made for a time with a small cistern and several hen coops, wagon sheds and other structures were saved. The barn itself was totally destroyed.

What caused the fire is a mystery as no one had been about the building from early in the evening. When first seen by Mr. Krelwit the entire upper portion was ablaze and it is probable it originated in the hay loft. The damage is only partially covered by insurance. Mr. Payne is a mason contractor and the barn, which was a very large one, was only recently erected.

JAMES BEATTIE WEDS MISS EMMA KRAEMER

Rev. E. S. Ralston Performs Ceremony at Home of the Bride's Parents.

A pretty Yuletide wedding took place at 8 o'clock last night at the home of Mrs. Louise Kraemer, of Terrill road, when her daughter, Miss Emma S. Kraemer, became the bride of James Beattie, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Beattie, of Lincoln place, the borough. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edward S. Ralston, pastor of the Netherwood Reformed church, and was witnessed by a gathering of about one hundred guests from this city, New York, Fanwood, and Dunellen. The marriage took place in the parlor beneath an attractive bower of palms and cut flowers. The color scheme throughout the house was yellow and white.

The bride, who was given away by her brother, Charles Kraemer, wore a charming gown of white crepe de chine with pearl trimmings and a veil caught up with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses. Miss Nan Beattie, a sister of the groom, acted as maid of honor, and wore a becoming frock of yellow taffeta trimmed with lace. She carried an arm bouquet of yellow roses. Emil Kraemer, brother of the bride, was the best man.

As the wedding party entered the room Miss Betty Mara played the wedding march from Lohengrin, while Miss Mary Donnelly, of this city, sang the selection in beautiful voice.

Immediately following the ceremony a supper was enjoyed and a reception followed. Mr. and Mrs. Beattie left later in the evening for a brief wedding trip, the destination of which was unknown, and upon their return will reside in Westfield, where a furnished home awaits them. The bride, who is popular in a large circle of friends in this city and Fanwood, received a large number of handsome and useful gifts. Mr. Beattie holds a position with the Central Railroad and is stationed at Newark.

DISPUTE LEADS TO ARREST.

A dispute over a bag of coal had its ending before Recorder Hand in the borough court this morning when Charles Scheerlein, 24 years old, of 268 Grove street, was arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct preferred against him by Samuel Harlin, of 300 Duer street, who claims that Scheerlein struck him in the face with his fist. After receiving a severe reprimand from Recorder Hand Scheerlein was released under a suspended sentence.

SANTA TO CHEER HEARTS OF MANY Worthy Plainfielders Will Be Generously Remembered Christmas Day.

PREPARING ARTICLES

Community Christmas Committee is Busy as Bees Assorting Packages to Be Distributed on Saturday.

No department store in Plainfield shows more activity today than does the big hall in the Young Men's Christian Association. A dozen or more women identified with the Community Christmas Fund have been busy since early morning packing and properly addressing the scores of packages that will go out tomorrow to bring cheer and happiness to hundreds of Plainfield children and their parents. The room at 10 o'clock this morning, when work was started, resembled an old-fashioned country store because of the variety of articles being displayed.

On tables within easy reach, surrounding four sides of a big square were laid out, so that not a person would have to bend their back to reach them, an assortment of all sorts of things that will gladden worthy Plainfielders, whose Christmas might not be so gay were it not for the Community Santa Claus. Rubbers, fleece-lined gauntlet gloves, heavy stockings, warm sweaters, bags of flour, boxes of candy, big round oranges, handkerchiefs, hats for the girls, splendid bound books and a great big array of almost every kind of toys imaginable, the latter completely filling the front of the stage.

$650,000 IS SPENT BY LOCAL PEOPLE

All This in December Above Ordinary Expenses for Month.

That Plainfield people are prosperous at the close of the year 1915 is indicated by reports from Tax Collector Townsend and from local merchants. In the face of the payment of an unprecedented amount as municipal taxes, the people of this community are buying more Christmas presents than ever before.

These two sums are being expended, in addition to the ordinary expenses. Collector Townsend has received $455,000 in his office to date as taxes for the new fiscal year, and conservative merchants estimate that the Christmas shopping will run over $200,000. This means that Plainfield people are spending approximately $650,000 during the month of December over and above their regular monthly expenses.

The Christmas Savings Fund dumped a quarter of a million into the city for Christmas shopping. Much of it went for taxes, but a greater part will be spent by Plainfield citizens in playing Santa Claus, and it is believed that much more than half of this will stay in Plainfield.

Downtown streets are crowded already with shoppers, in whose eyes can be seen the eager, happy spirit that precedes the annual day of good cheer and giving. Just how much they will turn loose can never be known, but local merchants are all satisfied with the business done, and the biggest days are still before them.

The payment of city taxes, which ordinarily breaks into Christmas shopping in this city, affected it not at all, practically everybody having enough to meet the annual assessment of the city and do the season's shopping too. Colector Townsend has received $455,000 out of a total of $596,000 assessed, which is far above the total of last year. His biggest day was Monday of this week, the last on which taxes could be paid before the delinquent fee was charged, when he took in $132,000.

Hundreds of Children Appear in a Fantasy Portraying Months of the Year.

AUTUMN SOLO DANCE

Miss Mildred Brownlee Features the Program With Many Graceful Steps—Affair Under Auspices of Public Recreation Committee.

Delightfully fantastic was the "Pageant of the Months" portrayed at the Plainfield High School Auditorium, last night, by the school children of the city, under the auspices of the Public Recreation Committee. An appreciative gathering of spectators witnessed the efforts of the participants who revealed a marked degree of proficiency in the art of dancing and interpretation of Christine Rossetti's poems.

Beginning with January, the spirit of every month in the year was depicted with coloring and story. Miss Muriel Courser admirably portrayed January, while a number of boys from the local schools gave a robin red breast drill during the scene, which won much applause. One of the attractive presentations was the exercise by the violets. The little girls participating in this pantomime were daintily frocked in two shades of purple material, giving a splendid picture of the April flower. The pipe dance, impersonated by the Misses Stelle Butler, Jane Van Zandt and Margaret Beck, was a treat in itself. The little black fireflies, flashing their little lights in the twilight, were heartily encored throughout their number.

AMERICAN WENT ABROAD AS A SPY FOR GERMANY

New York, Dec. 23.—The allegation that Paul Koenig, alleged chief of the German Secret Service in this country, sent an agent to Italy, France and England to secure military information, was made today when William McCulley was detained at police headquarters at the instance of the Department of Justice. McCulley, who is said to have been an associate of Koenig's, is the man who is reported to have gone abroad McCulley is said to have successfully evaded the detectives watching the French and British ports.

FAILED TO CLEAN OFF WALKS, HALED TO COURT

In the borough court this morning the following were arraigned before Recorder Hand for neglecting to clean the snow and ice off of their sidewalks: Benjamin Shreve, of 118 Grove street; Worth Coddington, 28 Watchung avenue; Joseph Moon, of 44 Grandview avenue; Fred Squires, of 36 Grandview avenue; Solomon Joseph, 196 Somerset street; Cyrus Boice, 192 Somerset street, and Samuel Vail, of 123 Duer street.

The recorder gave the defendants a good talking to and then released them with the warning that a heavy fine would be imposed if they were brought before him again on a similar charge.

PAY TRIBUTE TO RETIRING MAYOR

Robert Clarke, Jr., Steps Down From Head of Borough Council.

1915 BOOK IS CLOSED

Councilman Stahl, Mayor-elect Smalley and Others Bear Witness to His Loyal and Honest Service—Last Board Meeting.

Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., last night presided at the last meeting of the Council of the borough of North Plainfield which he will attend as chief executive of the municipality, and his colleagues of the old administration that dies with the present year, and those to take over the affairs of the borough when 1916 comes, paid earnest tribute to his record.

Last night's session wound up affairs of the borough for the year of 1915, and the end of the year will find a balance of $2,000 in the treasury, attesting the efficiency and economy with which its affairs have been handled during the year. Bills amounting to $2,737.75 were ordered paid last night, so that all employes of the city and others to whom the city owes money will be able to use the funds for Christmas. The only other business transacted was the appropriating, by resolution, of $400 still due the Health Board on the year.

One of the ambitions of Mayor Clark and those who have served in the Council with him was realized when it was reported that the collecting sewer system for the borough of North Plainfield had been completed. There is still about thirty feet of pipe

DEATH SUMMONS MRS. HAROLD SERRELL

Well Known Plainfield Woman Passes Away at Her Home in Brooklyn.

Mrs. Anna E. Serrell, widow of Harold Serrell, who resided on Myrtle avenue, North Plainfield, for many years and was well known here, died this morning at her home, 517 Lincoln place, Brooklyn, following a short illness with pneumonia. From the time she was first taken ill within the past two weeks her condition was critical and little hope for recovery was entertained. The news of her death comes as a severe shock to a wide circle of friends and acquaintances.

Mrs. Serrell was born in Plainfield, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Levi Hetfield, who were among the best known residents in this city during the early days. The homestead was at Madison avenue and West Fourth street. Mrs. Serrell was a devout Christian and throughout her busy life her greatest activity was found in the work of the First Baptist church with which she united in 1871. She was greatly beloved for her many excellent Christian qualities.

Mrs. Serrell left Plainfield about a year ago to make her home with her son, Walter Serrell, in Brooklyn. Her daughter, Mrs. J. P. Reynolds, occupied an adjoining apartment. Since leaving here she frequently visited relatives and friends here. Her husband, who was also active in the First Baptist church, died February 26, 1913.

There survives two brothers, Judge Walter L. Hetfield, and John M. Hetfield, and one sister, Mrs. Andrew Manning, of this city; also three sons, Arthur, Edgar and Walter Serrell, of Brooklyn, and two daughters, Mrs. J. P. Reynolds, of Brooklyn, and Mrs. Charles P. Lyman, of North Plainfield. The notice of funeral will be given later.

FUNERAL OF MRS. DOWD.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Dowd, widow of Martin Dowd, was held this morning from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Edward Dacey, of Wallace place, and afterward in St. Mary's church, where a requiem mass was said by Rev. Father Vincent Sciolla. There were many handsome floral tributes, among them being a pillow marked "Mother" from the family, and a wreath with the inscription "Grandma" from Mrs. Dowd's grandchildren. Burial was made in St. Vincent's cemetery, Madison, the following acting as pallbearers: Den J. Galbraith, W. W. Wilson, Francis McDonough and John McNally.

ELKS PROCEED WITH "BIG BROTHER" IDEA

Plainfield Lodge Decides to Carry on the Work on a Broad Plane.

At the regular meeting of Plainfield Lodge of Elks, last night, steps were taken to begin in earnest the carrying on of the "Big Brother" movement projected by the Grand Lodge several years ago. The plan is to make it the duty of Elks to lend a helping hand to a boy enmeshed in the law and threatened with a jail sentence and also providing help and work for those released after serving a term. The movement originated with "Garry" Hermann, the baseball magnate, when he was grand exalted ruler and now enjoys nation-wide popularity.

About a year ago Plainfield lodge appointed Joseph Noonan as a committee of one to take up the matter and he reported last night that the plan should be pushed vigorously in this city. City Judge William G. De Meza and Elias H. Bird were named as associate committeemen with Mr. Noonan and they will proceed to make the lodge a really and truly "Big Brother." Judge De Meza will report all cases coming before him where a helping hand at the right time may save society a good citizen later on. In addition, all Plainfield boys released from any reformatory or institution will be looked after from the time he is discharged, being provided with clothing and money for his immediate wants and later given a job. Where the court demands a guardian and none is to be had otherwise, the committee will secure as many as are needed or act in that capacity itself.

WOOD IS OUT OF ADVISORY BOARD

Says Original Program is Not Being Carried Out as Planned.

Henry A. Wise Wood, who spoke in this city recently at Grace church parish and the Columbus Club, chairman of the Conference Committee on National Preparedness, advised the Secretary of the Navy yesterday of his resignation as a member of the Naval Consulting Board. The reason for his action was the publication yesterday of a statement as the regular report of the General Board of the Navy, which, Mr. Wood asserts, does not contain the original program of the General Board submitted last July. He attributes the suppression of the July report to political expediency and characterizes the substituted program as being so inadequate as to leave the country at the mercy of the navies and armies of any of the first-class powers.

J. P. HOMAN TO BUILD ADDITION TO PROPERTY

Contracts for a one story addition to be built to the rear of the J. P. Homan building, at 29 Somerset street, have been awarded to W. C. Smith, mason, and Charles Force carpenter. The dimensions of the addition, which will be of brick, will be 60x28. Mr. Homan has conducted a carriage repairing business on the ground floor of this building since he built it in 1866. Upon the completion of this addition he will move his business there. The space which he vacates will be remodeled into a modern store.

Mr. Homan has been in the carraige repairing business since 1875. Since the advent of the automobile age he has branched out into automobile repairing. He employs three men, Randolph Gaskill, who has been in his employ thirty years, and Judson Kepler and Andrew Smith, who have worked for him sixteen and fourteen years, respectively.

CHIEF DOANE'S NEW DRIVER.

Wesley Dunn, a fireman attached to headquarters on East Second street, has been made driver for Chief T. O. Doane, succeeding Daniel Kiederling resigned. The change went into effect today. Frank Ingraham, appointed probation fireman by the Common Council Monday night, began doing duty in the Netherwood house yesterday. Ingraham was a member of the department several years ago, but resigned to accept a position with the New Jersey Central Railroad.

AUSTRIA BOWS TO DEMANDS OF U. S.

No Longer Any Chance of Diplomatic Break Between Two Countries.

GERMANY GAVE ADVICE

Emperor Francis Joseph Has Decided to Apologize for Sinking of Ancona and Punish Submarine Commander, Washington Hears.

Washington, Dec. 23.—The growing belief in official circles that Austria will accede to the demands of the United States as expressed in the first and second notes on the sinking of the Ancona is borne out in a message received from the Hague this morning, which states that the Imperial Government has seen fit to offer immediate apology for the sinking of the ship and indemnity fo the loss of American lives. It will also punish the commander of the submarine which sank the Ancona, according to the private despatch.

The cablegram, which was from a neutral diplomat who has been afforded exceptional opportunities for communication with both Austrian and German capitals, stated that Emperor Francis Joseph, of Austria, after conferring with German diplomatists, had taken the necessary steps to prevent a break between his country and the United States, and that this would be made known in a note now being drawn which will probably be received in Washington on Christmas eve.

It is believed that the conciliatory tone of the second Austrian note had much to do with the change of position on the part of Austria.

Germans Take Hill Slope.

Berlin, Dec. 23 (wireless).—German war statement:

"Balkan theatre—The general situation is unchanged.

"Eastern theatre—No events of importance reported.

"Western theatre—The eighty-second Landwehr Regiment recaptured the summit of Hartmannsweilerqopf, yesterday. Twenty-three officers and 1,530 men were taken prisoners. We are now clearing the portions of a trench on the northern slope still held by the French."

French Artillery Active.

Paris, Dec. 23.—French war statement:

"The night was relatively calm over the whole front. South of Arras in the vicinity of Beaurains our artillery kept up its destructive fire against the positions of the enemy."

Alan Bruce Conlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Conlin, of Kensington avenue, occupies the position of managing editor of the Columbia Spectator, a daily publication of Columbia University. Mr. Conlin was graduated from the Plainfield High School with the class of 1912 and at that time was prominent in school dramatics.

ENDEAVOR MEETING.

An interesting program has been arranged for the members of the Trinity Y. P. S. C. E. for next Sunday evening. A New Year's meeting is to be held. The topic will be "How to Get On the Upgrade." Harold C. Schenck will be the leader. Special music in charge of the music committee is being arranged.

DUNELLEN

All the Happenings of the Day in Plainfield's Hustling Suburb.

EQUATOR REALTY TRACT IS BEING DEVELOPED

The flourishing condition of the Equator tract located in the western part of the borough is attracting much attention. When the Equator Building and Development Company was incorporated on November 8, 1912, to take over this so-called Equator tract from the Equator Realty and Improvement Company, which had purchased the land from Mayor William Sanford in December, 1909, there were only three houses located thereon. Now there are forty-two completed and four more in the process of construction. In addition, it is said that ground will be broken for two more within a month.

Samuel R. Schwartz, the president of the company, and the man responsible for the development of its holdings in this borough, when asked by a reporter to tell how he accomplished his achievement, he would take little of the glory of it unto himself. He would merely say that he had been fortunate in selecting such a flourishing and ideally located town as Dunellen as a place in which to attempt such a development.

Mr. Schwartz is enthusiastic over the outlook for the continued growth of this borough. Now that the sanitary sewer is about completed, he thinks that the town is going to grow faster than ever. He is of the opinion that people who have their funds tied up in the so-called war bride stocks would do well to sell them and put the money in Dunellen real estate, which, he states, is shortly bound to advance appreciably.

SYNDICATE PLANS TO ERECT TWENTY HOUSES

Vincenzo Tozze, of Dunellen, is organizing a syndicate of twenty men to erect houses in this village, which appears to be the first sign of a realty boom in several months.

During the past year the Bayrta Chemical Company and the Harris, Silver and Baker Company have erected factories in this vicinity and have commenced operations. In addition, rumors have been current that another concern is planning to erect a factory here.

There is not a vacant house in the village, and houses to rent are in big damand. Many of the employes of the two factories who are at present boarding here would move here with their families if they could find houses.

William Yoemans, of North avenue, has recovered from an attack of quinsy sore throat.

Contractor and Mrs. Otis M. Weber leave tomorrow for Greenwich Conn., where they will visit Mrs. Webber's mother, Mrs. Kathryn Slauson, over Christmas.

Invitations are out for a dansant to be held at the Knight home at Tilliston road and Forest road on Tuesday evening, December 27. After several years' residence in New York city, Mr. Knight and family are to return to the borough to reside.

The members of the Entre Nous Club have completed elaborate plans for a Christmas eve dance to be held in the hall on Park avenue, tomorrow night. The place is being prettily decorated for the occasion and good music will be furnished.

The annual Christmas exercises of the Sunday-school of the Methodist church will be held in the church tomorrow night, to which the friends and the parents of the members of the school are cordially invited. A program of musical and vocal selections will be rendered and later Santa Claus will make a visit.

Jeffrey Knight, who resided in the borough several years ago, and whose family has just returned to the borough, is a student at present at Cascadila School in New England. He was halfback on the football team during the past year and was rated as one of the best backfield men in the New England States. He is also taking a prominent part in the other affairs of the school.

The local pupils of the Plainfield and Westfield High Schools began their annual Christmas holiday vacations today. The local public schools also closed.

The Rev. J. Madison Hare was in charge of the prayer meeting in the Baptist church, last night, and taught the members of the Teacher Bible Training Class.

The men that roll on "Billy" Lee's alleys, the only ones in town since the Parish House closed, are pretty good at hitting the pins. They have rolled two matches with Plainfield and Cranford men and won both times handily.

Elliott Tullock, of Park avenue, is looking after the managerial part of the Scotch Plains Five, composed of former Parish House players, and although he picked teams for the first two games that had an edge on the locals he is still ready to arrange games on opponents' courts.

SANTA CHEERS MANY HEARTS

Under the direction of W. F. Taliaferro, chairman of the purchasing committee, the following are packing these splendid articles in big paper bags: Miss Mabelle C. Phillips, Mrs. William B. Tyler, Mrs. David H. Rowland, Miss Ethel Millar, Miss Ethel Skilman, Miss Florence Huntington, Miss Lapsley, Miss Agie Taylor, Miss Annie Murphy, Mrs. John Constable Moore, Mrs. Duncan Taylor, Miss Juliet Weber, Miss Catherine Yates and Mrs. Rufus Delafield.

In every bag was packed an orange, box of candy and two handkerchiefs for each child, two games or toys for each child over three years, a sweater or shirt for every boy, a cap for every girl over fifteen, a pair of gloves for each boy over eight, a book for each child over ten and a book for each child from two to three.

The committee, in addition to receiving more money since yesterday, had sent to them by Mrs. Horace G. Philips and Mrs. Levis M. Booth sixty boxes of candy packed ready for distribution. As has been told, seventy sacks of flour were furnished by Thomas R. VanBoskerck. The new contributors of money since yesterday were: C. E. Aaron, William H. Sterling, L. D. Albin, James H. Brewster, A. W. Duxbury, J. H. Howell, William Wallace Coriell, Marion S. Ackerman, Mrs. W. A. Conner, Mrs. Daniel F. Ginna, H. B. Coombe, Howard Fleming and several cash items. Treasurer DeWitt Hubbell, at the Plainfield Trust Company, will be glad to receive more contributions.

Those who have volunteered the use of their automobiles for distribution tomorrow, and have since found that they cannot send them, will greatly facilitate the work of the committee by advising W. H. P. Vesey, telephone 725-M. Distribution will commence at 10 o'clock, and will be concluded as soon after 3 o'clock as possible.

PAGEANT PLEASES AUDIENCE

A feature of the pageant was the dance given by Miss Mildred Brownlee in the role of "Autumn." The well-known young woman was attired in a suitable costume whose coloring revealed the dying of the year, and she carried two branches of autumnal foliage. Her dance scored a big hit. Miss Lillian Lamson, supervisor of Recreation work in the city, coached the production:

The entire cast was as follows:

January, Muriel Courser; robin red breasts, Thatcher Cottrell, William Sperry, Robert Shepherd, Harold Searles, William Cartwright, Jacob Rabinovitz, William Doyle and David Doyle.

February, Margaret Endress, snowdrops impersonated by little tots from the Franklin School.

December, Mildred Clark; little tots from Washington School who took part in Xmas drill.

TRIBUTE TO RETIRING MAYOR

to be put down on Rockview avenue, but the two big contracts are practically finished and the work has been done under the retiring officials.

Councilman Stahl said that the sewer system would stand as a monument to the public record of Mayor Clark for all time to come, although the Mayor modestly disclaimed credit for having brought about this improvement, and said that every member of the Council had an important share in the work.

Mr. Stahl called the attention of members of the Council to the fact that the meeting was the last over which Mayor Clark would preside as official head of the city. He said that he wanted to express his appreciation of the executive ability of the Mayor, and of what he had been able to accomplish in the four years he had guarded the affairs of the people.

"I have been a member of the Common Council of the borough of North Plainfield for the past seven years," said Councilman Stahl, "and I want to say, Mr. Mayor, that you have assisted me in every duty. You retire leaving behind a monument to your public record that will endure for all time; a work of inestimable value to the community, the collecting sewer system." He said that Mayor Clark had established the borough on a business basis, and that he retired with the well wishes of every man, woman and child in the borough.

Mayor-elect William L. Smalley, who sat in the chair with Mayor Clark, asked that he, too, be allowed to express his appreciation of the public service of Mayor Clark. He said that he had watched the administration closely, and that while he and Mayor Clark had not always agreed, there had never been any great difference between them, and that he had always found the retiring official a capable and conscientious worker for the public good.

Mayor Clark arose to express his appreciation of the tributes paid to his record, but added that he did not want to take credit for all that had been done under his administration. He said that each member of the Council had played an important part in the work, and that no good could have been accomplished without the aid of all. He thanked them for their co-operation, and bespoke for his successor the same hearty support.

Mayor Clark said that during his four years in office he had missed but one meeting of the Council, and had been absent from his office but a few mornings, when he was ill at home. He said that he would find it hard to suddenly break away from the routine of city business, but that he would restrain any impulse to continue visits to the Mayor's except when he could be of service to his successor.

"If I have accumulated any information in my four years as Mayor of the borough that will be of use to Mayor Smalley in any way, I will be willing and glad to be of service to him at any time," he said, in closing the last session of the 1915 Council.

Councilmen-elect Clifford McGhee and John A. Wilson, who will succeed Councilmen Allen Cowperthwait and Edward Boyer, were present at last night's meeting.

BUSINESS MEN'S ASSOCIATION OF PLAINFIELD — RELIABILITY, QUALITY, SERVICE, VALUE — MEMBER

Look for this sign in the window. You are dealing with a reliable merchant where you see this sign.

It is inexplicable why some people think they must go out of town to shop during the holiday season. There are myriads of reasons why you should do your Christmas shopping at home. Here are some powerful ones:

You know with whom you are dealing.

If you are not suited you can make a ready exchange.

You will save time, car fare and shoe leather.

And you can buy just as cheaply, if not cheaper.

If you did your Christmas shopping out of town in former years don't make another mistake this year.

Read The Daily Press.

WRESTLING WITH ENGLISH.

Joyous Course In Conversation In a Brazilian Handbook.

Occasionally are heard expressions of discouragement that the South Americans do not respond warmly enough to our efforts to win their confidence. Let the doubting peruse the pages of a booklet published in the city of Para, a copy of which has been received by a merchant dealing with Brazilian firms.

"Inglish For the Mass" is the title of it, translated by the author. Apparently the "mass" in Brazil, whoever it may be, need not be very fastidious in the matter of spelling, for the first ten or twelve pages, devoted entirely to columns of words, would not earn a very high percentage in a primary school examination.

"Conversacions for the Daily" is the heading of the first round of this battle with English syntax. Then follows a sample of a "conversacion" that should take place between two Americans meeting each other out walking.

"Good morning, sir, is it not the day fine?"

"Very pleasantly, thank you, and how are you?"

"Very goodly, with your permission, sir. Are you walking?"

"Yes, sir, for the health. Will you break some fast with me?"

"Gracious, yes. Shall we go to the coffee?"

"With pleasantness, sir. Let us eat meat and bread."

And so each lesson progresses until the mass is supposed to be so advanced as to be able to enjoy a more scholarly essay on "The American Sellsman."

"The American Sellsman," writes the author, "is typically of an energy which is to admire in the warmth of tropics. Of a youthfulness generally, he breathes lively and walks springly, searching the customer loyally for the firm his.

"To all he greets smiles, and one is to admire his frank. He is fresh of the cold northerly. Yet under the breast of the American sellsman beats the heart warmness, therefor let us give greeting smiles with two hands open to him crying 'welcome to Brazil, Mister.'"

Need the United States business man be discouraged with such a greeting awaiting his commercial representatives when they sail south to capture the South American trade?—New York Sun.

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

Washington—The long search for Mrs. Santa Claus, who persisted in being as elusive as her great and generous partner, has brought the discovery that she has been living quietly in the capital of the country. Mrs Santa hides herself here under the name of Miss Alice Purinton. In the United States Patent Office she is busy each day deciding on the new toys that will fill the Christmas pack of Santa and bring joy to American children. She has the entire confidence not only of Santa, but of Uncle Sam, and with them she works very hard for the benefit of the children. This year Miss Purinton has been especially busy, for American inventive genius took a brand new spurt, and she has had her hands full selecting the really new ideas from the old and worn out. Miss Purinton is a graduate of the University of Nebraska, her home State, and she unites with technical mechanical education a wonderful human understanding of her work that makes her an invaluable assistant to Santa Claus and to the Patent Office.

Milwaukee—One of the most sensational charges ever brought against society women was that made by a Milwaukee department store manager recently, in which he alleged that 25 per cent. of the costly gowns worn at the horse show were "taken on approval" from the stores and returned the next day with thanks. Other store keepers lodged complaints with the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association, claiming a loss as the result of "borrowing" this choice attore. The store men have come to an agreement to stop the practice of selling gowns on approval. The health commissioner declares that diseases are sometimes spread because clothing taken on approval becomes infected while being worn. The society women deny the allegations against them, and say that if the practice is carried on it must by "society fakers."

Minneapolis—Only two women in the United States hold licenses to judge poultry. One is Mrs. John Kruse, of this city, a prominent club woman, and the other is Mrs. Florence Forbes, of Decatur, Ala. The Minneapolis woman received her license last month from the American Poultry Association. She has acted as judge in exhibition throughout this section, and has raised and shown some choice birds.

Washington—Friends of Mrs. Burton Harrison, the novelist and writer, are pleased to learn that she is able to be out again. The noted writer lives in an old-fashioned house set back in a tangled garden on I street. Her two sons are prominent. Francis Burton Harrison is governor of the Philippines, and his elder brother, Fairfax Harrison, is president of the Southern Railway. Mrs. Harrison was Constance Gary, a Richmond, Va., belle, and her husband was secretary to Jefferson Davis. Her books and plays have been prominent for many years.

San Francisco—As a fitting Christmas present to his wife, Gordon Mackenzie, singer and clubman, has renounced his British citizenship and become an American citizen. Mrs. Mackenzie has been fighting for American citizenship for years, and only recently the U. S. Supreme Court decided against her. She headed a long but unsuccessful fight for the wives of foreigners in the United States, and an effort is now on foot asking Congress to pass a law repealing the expatriation statute, which provides that any American woman who marries a foreigner shall take the nationality of her husband.

SOCIETY INCORPORATES.

Elizabeth, Dec. 23.—With offices at 547 East Second street, Plainfield, The National Historical Society filed papers of incorporation in the county clerk's office yesterday afternoon. The capital is $20,000 and the incorporators Frank Allaben, Mabel Washburn and Lewis Williams, the two first named of New York, and the latter of Plainfield.

MRS. HARRIS DIES AS RESULT OF FALL

Succumbed to Injuries Received Early Tuesday Morning.

Mrs. Katherine Harris died last night as a result of injuries she sustained Tuesday morning, when she fell down a flight of stairs at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Sharkey, of Netherwood avenue.

Mrs. Harris was carrying a lighted lamp when she fell. She was 93 years old, and is survived by eight children and many grand-children, most of whom live in this city and Westfield. Mrs. Harris leaves five daughters, Mrs. John Sharkey and Mrs. Henrietta B. Hetfield, of this city; Mrs. S. W. Lambert, of Westfield; Mrs. J. B. Lambert, of Willow Grove, and Miss Emma White, of Dunellen, and three sons, Charles, of Plainfield; Louis C., of Montana and Cornelius C., of Milwaukee.

Mrs. Harris was the widow of William Firman Harris, who died 37 years ago. She has resided in this city most of the time during the last 30 years.

The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon from her late home. Interment will be in the Methodist cemetery in this city.

DEATH COMES TO ABRAHAM ANGLEMAN

Prominent Citizen Succumbs to Pneumonia at Home of His Son in This City.

Following a brief illness from pneumonia, which developed a week ago Monday, Abraham Angleman, one of the city's oldest and best known residents, died at 6 o'clock last night at the home of his son, Winfield S. Angleman, of Prospect avenue. Although he was in the best of health previous to the attack and enjoyed his customary long walk a week ago Sunday, his condition became critical almost from the start and his death had been expected for the past few days.

Mr. Angleman was born at South Plainfield on December 6, 1835. His father was John Angleman, the latter being a member of one of the pioneer Piscataway township families, many of his near relatives having fought in the Revolution. When a young man, Abraham Angleman moved to Plainfield and learned the carpenter's trade, afterward embarking as a contractor. Many of the older houses in this vicinity were erected by him, one of them being what is now known as the Industrial Home at West Front street and Rock avenue, originally known as the Perkins' House. It was one of the finest in this section at the time it was put up. Mr. Angleman was a thorough and conscientious worker and it was said frequently in recent years that a house built by "Abe" Angleman "was good for a century any time." He retired from active business about fifteen years ago, since then making his home with his children.

In politics, Mr. Angleman was an old-line Republican had for nearly half a century was active in political circles in Plainfield. His home during most of his life was in the West End, residing for more than a quarter of a century on West Front street, just west of what is now Sycamore avenue, in consequence he was a factor in the Fourth ward. He served on the Republican election board in that district until a short time ago. Mr. Angleman was of a quiet disposition and although he had hundreds of friends throughout Plainfield, he was not a man who sought publicity in any way. He belonged to no social or fraternal organizations.

Beside his son, Counsellor Winfield S. Angleman, he is survived by one other son, Charles Angleman, of Avon; and one daughter, Miss Ida Angleman, of Cincinnati, Ohio. Miss Angleman is a member of the editorial board of the Methodist Book Concern, which recently removed its main offices from New York to Cincinnati, and she went West at that time. Mr. Angleman's wife, who was Miss Sarah A. Tingley, died about twelve years ago. Last winter, Mr. Angleman went to Cincinnati and visited his daughter for several months, returning to Plainfield in the spring.

The funeral will be held at W. S. Angleman's home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and will be in charge of Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, of the First Methodist church. Burial will be in the family plot in Evergreen cemetery.

WASHING THE EYES.

Also How to Shut Them to Keep Out Soapy Water.

It is a common thing to screw one's eyes up as tightly as possible when washing, in order that the soap shall not get into one's eyes. Many of us remember, especially when children are concerned, how much a strong soap smarts when the suds steal under the eyelids.

We should never get soap in our eyes if we closed them naturally, as in sleep. The eyelid is an absolute protection. Certainly no soapsuds can penetrate the membrane, and equally certainly the way in which the eyelashes cover the actual joint make it impervious. The eye, when closed in sleep, is light proof, a much greater test of being shut than the ability to shed soapy water.

On the other hand, when we screw up our eyes tightly, which is done by contracting the muscles of the eyebrow and the upper cheek, a number of creases are formed down which the soapsuds trickle, and the eye, which seems so tightly shut, is really more open to annoyance. The more tightly the eye is held, however, the more does the lower lid force up the protecting eyelashes of the upper lid and thus prevent the watershed that the naturally closed eye makes.

In modern city life, where there is so much dust, the eye should be washed every day. The trick of opening one's eyes under water, which every good swimmer knows, can be easily done in an eyeglass, or, for that matter, in an ordinary basin. To put the face down in clear cold water and open and shut the eyes once or twice not only will give a feeling of freshness, but for those who use their eyes a great deal it will be found a great preventer of eye strain.

In washing out the eye, however, it is necessary to be careful. Soapy water should never be used, as in most soaps there are chemicals of a drying and alkaline character, which are excessively injurious to the eye.—Washington Post.

JUDGING A PLAY.

Frohman Didn't Agree With Tree That Barrie Had Gone Mad.

Frohman weighed a play by the idea in it, and he never produced a play, however arbitrary in story or characters—as, for example, "Peter Pan"—without being able to name specifically the elements of success he thought it possessed.

"Barrie has gone out of his mind, Frohman. I am sorry to say it, but you ought to know it, we are both so fond of him," said Sir Herbert Tree to Frohman one night. "He's just read me a play. He is going to read it to you, so I am warning you. I know I've not gone woozy in my mind, because I have tested myself since hearing the play, but Barrie must be mad. He has written four acts all about fairies, children and Indians, running through the most incoherent story you ever listened to, and what do you suppose—the last act is to be set on top of trees!"

But the following day Frohman heard "Peter Pan" and accepted it at once. Long afterward he gave these as his reasons: "First, it was written by Barrie; next, it was unmistakably a fine novelty. The most emphatic play in any theatrical season, the one that is most likely to focus general public attention, is the most novel. You can estimate its novelty by the amount of fineness a play contains, for the common in life, like the poor, is always with us and can never seem novel. Only the fine registers with the emphasis of novelty. People go to the theater not to see life as it is, but as they wish it were. The theater's business is to present not life, but the illusion of life. Youth is the illusion of life, old age the delusion, and 'Peter Pan' is packed with youth; so I was for it."—John D. Williams in Century.

Home of the Chinchilla.

The chinchilla, a little animal the size of a squirrel, is met with only in the Andes of Bolivia, Ecuador, Peru and northern Chile and is never found under a height of 9,000 or 10,000 feet. The Indians are eager trappers and hunters of it for its fine fur. The skins are well seasoned with salt and made up into small packages for dispatch to the towns, whence they are shipped abroad.

Young Girls and the Stage.

Mrs. De Navarro, formerly Mary Anderson, our beloved actress, receives deluges of mail from all parts of the world asking her advice to young girls who would go on the stage. She puts it this way: "Don't go on the stage unless the feeling that you can rise to the top within a very few years is so strong within you that it amounts to a moral certainty."—Boston Herald.

Office and the Man.

"What do you think of this theory that the office should seek the man?"

"Properly applied it is all right."

"Yes?"

"But it should not be made an excuse for sitting around waiting for a job to come to you."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Playing Safe.

"In years to come somebody undoubtedly will want to publish your life and letters."

"They may go as far as they like with my life," said the eminent and astute politician, "but I shan't leave any letters."—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Christmas IN MANY LANDS

Christmas in Paris - Santa Claus has an Xmas Party

Christmas in West Africa

Xmas in Greenland.

How the Feast of the Nativity Is Celebrated from Greenland to Australia.

Copyright, 1915, by International Syndicate.

IT is interesting as well as instructive to know the manner in which the various Christian nations do homage to Him whose birth and mission laid the foundation of our religion. These celebrations reflect in a measure the conception of the countries of this glorious event as well as indicate the traditions of the people on the subject. So curious and quaint are many of these festivities that they may almost be classed among the folk lore of the people.

Germany.

Germany has been called the Christmas country, due to the fact that the celebration of the Nativity is carried out with more feasting and merriment than in any other land, for the Germans while a brave and vigorous nation are sentimental and childlike in their pleasures. They have produced a Christmas that is a very Paradise for children and at which arises the old delight to play at being young again around the big Christmas tree set up in the German home. Early in life the child is taught to love the festival, and the impression remains so permanent that no matter where the German may be later in life when December the twenty-fifth rolls around you will find him celebrating just as he did in his childhood days.

The German housewife begins her Christmas preparations early in November and makes many of the gifts with her own hands. Always thrifty, she never wastes time in idleness, and all sorts of knitted garments are found among the presents to her friends. There is much secrecy about certain cupboards to which Mother always carries the key. The festivities begin on Christmas Eve at midnight when the door of a room which has been kept closed earlier in the evening so that Santa Claus may not be disturbed at his work is thrown open and the children run in and dance about the Christmas tree—the common property of the family. Each person's gifts are placed in a pile on the table and the parents give them out amid wild shrieks of delight from the children. After awhile the youngsters are hustled off to bed as their elders must be in church at five in the morning to hear a sermon on the Birth of the Saviour of Mankind and to assist in the singing of the carols. New prayer books are the fashion for the morning service as these are popular as gifts. After church there is one round of visiting and feasting. The poor are always remembered and every cottage has Christmas cheer. Much of this is provided by the Royal Family, the municipal authorities and charitable societies. The Empress and Crown Princess are always interested in this work and it is safe to say that even today with the country at war the poorest child will not be forgotten.

Austria, Italy and Spain.

In Austria the celebration is much the same except at the palace, where the aged Emperor gathers his family about him for a reunion. The dinner, however, lacks the jollity of the royal feast in Germany. Franz Joseph always remembers the unfortunates of Vienna, and in each city district there is a huge tree and presents distributed to the poor at his expense.

The Italian spends a merry Christmas with bonfires and fireworks on the night of the twenty-fourth. He goes to midnight mass after a gay time on the streets, and when the dawn breaks on Christmas he sleeps for a while and then pays visits to his friends. Cake, candy, wines and fruits are kept on the buffets of every household and the callers are expected to enjoy themselves. Their visit to the Bambino—the doll made to represent the Christ Child, is one of the features of an Italian Christmas celebration.

In Spain there is a two-day holiday—Christmas Eve and Christmas Day, both of which are celebrated by a mixture of religious services and feasting. There are three masses on Christmas Day and one at midnight of December twenty-fourth. The latter is well attended, almost every family being represented, servants included. In the old days the servants usually preceded the family to the church, each playing on a different musical instrument. The service is picturesque—the organ peals and the choir chants as the priests bring from under the altar the figure representing the new born Babe wrapped in swaddling clothes of gold and white, while the congregation to a man fall down and cross themselves in mute adoration. The service is called the "Cock-crow Mass." At 1:30 A. M. the crowds go home. On Christmas Day the poor come to pay their rent to their landlord and he gives them a gift, usually a piece of salt fish for luck. During the afternoon the poorer classes parade the streets dressed in gaudy clothes. At Seville the fashionable driveway is crowded with people who go there only on Christmas. Sometimes there is a bull fight in the afternoon.

Norway.

The Norwegian's most delicate compliment to a lady on Christmas is to send her a brooch or a pair of ear rings. These presents are packed in hay and she must hunt them as one does "a needle in a haystack." No reason can be found for this, the people merely saying that it is an old custom. One of the prettiest established usages of Scandinavia is the dinner to the birds. On Christmas morning every gable, gateway or barn door is decorated with a sheaf of corn fixed on top of a tall pole. This is for the Birds' Christmas dinner. Mummers (Kris Kringles) are particularly active during the Christmas season in the north countries.

Miracle Plays in France.

In Northern France the Birth of the Saviour is celebrated by eating, drinking and merrymaking and in family reunions. The Christmas tree is set up and children are given gifts by Santa Claus. In Paris the boulevards throng with merrymakers, and turkey, plum pudding and foods popular in England are on the menu cards.

In Southern France the miracle plays of mediaeval times are given in the churches. They begin with the singing of the Shepherds outside the church asking if they may enter. This being granted they come in followed by the Shepherdesses, who walk three by three, carrying a tree festooned with apples. They pass to the baptismal fonts which represent the palace of Herod. The King is seated on a raised throne between his two ministers. Lawyers stand about with books. Suddenly the Eastern star glides on a string to the pulpit, three knocks are heard and the Magi dressed in Oriental costume appear. They make known the object of their visit and Herod sends them to Bethlehem and they pass out as the shepherds and shepherdesses bow low. After they have prostrated themselves an angel comes to warn them that they should return to their country without visiting Herod again. Then the star appears as a guide; the wicked King rises and gives orders for the slaying of the innocents and the play is finished.

Russia and England.

The Russians love to sing on Christmas and they have a number of poems which speak of the master of the house as the bright moon, the wife is the red sun, and the stars are the little children. Men go from door to door singing this song on Christmas morning and wishing the inmates a Merry Christmas. Mumming is also popular in Russia, the favorite disguise being that of Lazarus, the blind beggar. Sometimes the Mummers go from town to town in sledges singing songs and amusing the populace in general. In the churches miniature representation of the Nativity is set up with a wax figure of the Child in the center. All sorts of crude figures were used, some made of paper and others of wood and china. All day long the people prostrate themselves before this shrine.

England has her Yule Log, her baron of beef, her plum pudding, her mistletoe, her carols and her Christmas charades with the mummers. Many of these customs are rapidly dying out although royalty still has the baron of beef brought into the dining room on Christmas Day with some ceremony, the Yule Log still burns and carols are sung. Christmas is celebrated in all the British colonies, especially among the soldiers, who never fail to have their plum puddings and beef. In Australia, where the weather is warm on Christmas, the people go out camping and have game and fish dinners in the forests. In India, the land of summer, tiger hunting parties are organized for the day, but the men always contrive to have some little reminder of the English Christmas for their dinner.

Africa and Greenland.

Away down in German East Africa the Germans have taught the negro the Christmas story, and in many homes the natives have their Christmas trees. At the missions there is a feast all day long with a tree full of gifts for the boys and girls who come to the mission school.

Also in the West Indies the Christmas festival follows the customs of the countries of which they are colonies. For instance, Jamaica has an English Christmas as far as possible; Cuba, although free and independent, still clings to old Spanish customs, and likewise Porto Rico; Haiti follows French customs, while the Danish West Indies cling to the Scandinavian practices.

In Greenland where the people for the most part are Catholic the natives shut themselves in from the snow and set up a little Christmas tree. The walls of their houses are covered with religious pictures and a candle is placed before each one on Christmas Eve to light the way of the Virgin and the Child. In many South American lands where the Spanish idea prevails the people hold carnivals, and in one place the curious old Spanish custom of several men going outside of town and mounting ladders to look for the Wise Men is still in vogue.

The Servians burn a Yule log on Christmas and believe that the ashes kept in the house during the coming year will bring health and prosperity to the family. As they are of the faith of the Greek Church the religious service is the same as that of Russia.

All over the world, rich and poor in every land welcome the coming Christ with joy in their hearts.

"At home, at sea, in many distant lands
This Kingly Feast without a rival stands."

Exquisite Dolls and Wonderful Toys Fashioned By Frenchmen Recovering from Their Wounds Form Marvellous Exhibit - Artistes of Old World Among the Contributors.

By A. R. Parkhurst, Jr.

WHEN Santa Claus starts out on his rounds on Christmas Eve his sleigh will be filled with a bewildering assortment of dolls and toys such as this jolly old gentleman never dreamed of possessing before. In fact, Old Kris Kringle has been sorely perplexed ever since it was evident that the terrible struggle now being waged in all Europe would extend over the Christmas tide, for fear that the sources from which he annually recruited his stock of gifts for his army of friends on this side of the water might be cut off. With Germany and Switzerland sending little or nothing, things looked gloomy, but France came to the rescue and from this country has come such an assortment that makes even us grown-ups sigh with envy as we watch the rapturous youngsters clutching these exquisite dollies to their little bosoms.

Just prior to Thanksgiving Day when that time-honored Christmas slogan is dinned into our ears and thrust into vision at every turn, which is none other than "DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING EARLY," those wealthy, hardworking and extremely patriotic New York women who have collected thousands upon thousands of dollars for the La Fayette Fund and the Relief Fund For France, conceived the idea of importing the total output of the soldiers' handiwork. An exhibition, known as Soldiers' in Toyland, was arranged under the auspices of the La Fayette Fund in the Old Knickerbocker Club building in Fifth avenue and at once it sprung into tremendous popularity among the women of wealth and fashion. Prices far out of the ordinary were obtained and when one pauses to consider that every dollar thus spent is being appropriated to alleviate the sufferings of the victims of the war, it recalls to most of them what utter mockery that exquisite Yuletide greeting, Peace on Earth, Good Will Towards Men, is receiving in war-rent Europe this year.

Mlle. Thomson's Idea.

The idea of this doll and toy exhibition was conceived by Mlle. Valentine Thomson, well known in Paris as the editor of La Vie Feminine, the celebrated newspaper for women. A commission was formed by her to promote the scheme, those associated with her including the Baronne de Laumont, Mme. Sauterrie, Mlle. de Marmier, daughter of the Duc de Marmier de Choiseul; Comtesse Philippe de Las Casses, and Mme. La Verrier. It is as delegate of the Commission that brings Mme. La Verrier to New York, where she is taking an active part in the exhibition at the Knickerbocker Club. Her husband is president of the Chaptal College in Paris, and in the course of a visit he paid to this country four years ago he lectured for the Alliance Francaise.

It was as the guest of Mme. Le Verrier that I visited the doll and toy bazaar and as we approached each group she had some charming story to tell in connection with this or that doll or toy, adding a personal touch to the whole tour of the huge room which could not have been obtained under less delightful auspices.

There is nothing more interesting in the collection than the group of historical dolls made after some of the most famous persons in the world. Each is costumed correctly as to the period it represents, and also depicts accurately, in features, the persons for whom they stand. These dolls gowned as Madame Siddons, Princesse Matilde Bonaparte, Empress Eugenie and Vigee Le Brun and others equally celebrated, were made under the direction of the managing director of the House of Margaine La Croix, himself a war cripple. The construction of other beautiful dolls was supervised by upwards of 1,000 workers from the House af Callot Soeurs who were thrown out of work by the war. The Doucet House is represented by an exhibit of a group of dolls each two and a half feet tall and each representing some historical character. They show the actual damasks, laces, silks, satins and furs worn in earlier generations. There are still other groups dressed after paintings by Velasquez, Gainsborough, Van Dyke, Chardin and others. The faience factories of Sevres and Limoges have supplied individually modelled heads for these dolls.

The group of Fairy Tale dolls are no less interesting than those of fashion and history. No set is more appealing than the military group in which every type of soldier now in the service of the Allies is shown. Each is correct as to uniform and every arm and branch of service each combatant is attached to is shown.

An Algerian Idea.

The wife of the Governor of Algiers has contributed a set of dolls dressed as Arabians. This represents an Arabian wedding in an Arabian house, and the house is quite as interesting and delightful in craftsmanship as the little manikins that are participating in the ceremony at Hymen's altar.

For every distinct group of dolls there is a set of furniture faithfully adhering to the period represented. Theré are delightful little chateaus, charmingly furnished, as well as quaint little farm houses with all accesseries in and out of doors.

The human side of the exhibition is seen in the story of a well-known Parisian wig maker which Mme. Le Verrier delights to relate. Like all true Frenchmen, this wig maker is an artist. He enlisted in the French army, went to the front, was in the thick of the fight until an enemy's bullet lodged in his spine. Another struck him in the eye and when he was taken back to a field hospital it was found that he was paralyzed from the waist down and the injured optic sightless. His sufferings were intense, but he bore them like the hero he was. As his convalescent period arrived he was presented with a bald-headed doll, given some hair, a curler, and a pot of paste. His joy was a delight to behold.

Monsieur set to work and ere long his deft fingers were accomplishing miracles that never had been wrought upon a doll before. These dolls were coiffeured as no doll had ever been coiffeured before. For weeks he lay upon his back, helpless, except to dress the hair of the myriad of dolls that were laid upon his bed each day. Now he is up and able to hobble about, the master of a new and useful art which will return to him and his dependent family a handsome living as long as he survives.

Artists Are Stricken.

Scores of other incidents each as interesting as that of the wig maker are related by Mme. Le Verrier. Vast improvements have been made in the arts of doll and toy making through this war. Sculptors who responded to France's call to arms have been returned to the hospitals far from the battle fronts scarred and maimed for life. Some have lost their legs and in consequence are doomed to spend their remaining days in a wheel chair. Many famous painters sallied forth to return so terribly injured as to preclude all chance of their ever touching brush or canvas again. Many soldiers whose circumstances prior to the war did not afford them the opportunity to give vent to their artistic talents are now deprived of the trades that heretofore put bread into the mouths of the little ones dependent upon them. These sculptors, artists and artisans now are all concentrating their highly developed, or latent talents upon the crafts of doll and toy making.

As I said before, all this has been brought about through a band of noble and self-sacrificing women. When train load after train load of wounded soldiers were brought into Paris the one great problem that confronted the authorities was that of providing some entertainment, and later, some occupation for those maimed heroes when they sufficiently recovered to leave their beds.

Women Learned Trades.

Mlle. Thomson and those of her commission set to work and diligently applied themselves to the art of doll and toy making. They mastered every detail of the craft and then returning to the bedsides of their stricken charges they imparted to them the knowledge they had thus acquired. Naturally the soldiers at first were overjoyed to find some task they could accomplish without fatiguing themselves and in this way while away the tedium of long hours in bed. Quick to seize the idea, the soldiers applied themselves diligently, for before long they were told that the time was not far distant when they could become so proficient at their new trade as to earn a good livelihood therefrom. This gave an added zest to the work and before many weeks some of the most exquisite examples of the doll and toy crafts that Paris had ever seen were being sent from the military hospitals of Paris.

Many of the soldiers who learned these trades in their hospitals have so far recovered as to be out again, and scores upon scores of them have been sent broadcast through the villages and rural districts of France to impart their knowledge to the afflicted of those districts and in this way France is acquiring a new industry that before long will rival even the reputation of Germany so long enjoyed as the toy mart of the Old World.

Tonight—Olive Branch at Bayonne, Star of Bethlehem at Plainfield

Paterson Council bowlers, runners up in the Knights of Columbus League, dropped two out of three games to the Ascension Council pinners in a match on the Columbian Club alleys, Jersey City, last night. Close competition was the rule throughout the match. The first game resulted in a victory for the Ascension quintet by a margin of a single pin, the score being 899 and 898. In the second affair the home team turned in a tally of 929 and led by sixteen pins, while in the third and deciding battle the Patersonians chalked up 939 against the Ascension five's 907.

LEAGUE LEADERS ROLL AT COLUMBUS CLUB TONIGHT

Watchung Council will put forth its strongest line-up tonight, when the Star of Bethlehem team, which is leading the Knights of Columbus League, will come here for a match. Frank Blatz, Chief Kiely, George Howe, "Side Wheeler" Duffy and George Taylor will roll for Watchung. The Plainfielders can pull the Newarkers out of first place tonight, and all their rooters will be out strong to shout for three wins.

RED MEN FORFEIT THREE GAMES TO ROYAL TEAM

Only one member of the Red Men's bowling team appeared for the scheduled Westfield Bowling League series at the Westfield Theatre alleys last night, and as a result, the Royal Arcanums were given three victories by the default. The Red Men are now in last place, while the Royals advanced to second position.

The Royals rolled for their averages. The standing of the teams is now as follows:

NEW KENNEL CLUB RULE A GOOD ONE.

If sentiment in this city is any criterion, exhibitors all over the country will applaud the action of the American Kennel Club in stipulating that a dog must win at least 6 of the 15 points necessary to be a champion, in three-point shows. Both A. G. Hooley and A. C. Wilmerding, who attended the meeting from this city, were heartily in favor of the important amendment; in fact, Mr. Hooley, as chairman of the rules committee, was largely responsible for its introduction.

Making the qualification laws more stringent will make championship honors, when won under the new conditions, all the more creditable, and will minimize the chances of an undeserving entry gaining such distinction.

PLAINFIELD NOT SO SHORT OF A. A. U. REFEREES NOW.

While the A. A. U.'s list of registered basketball officials, which, it was promised, would be made public this month, has not yet made its appearance, Plainfield will not be as short of Union referees as it was feared when this city lost the services of Charles R. Bostwick and James J. McNamee, who have been the only active registered referees officiating here in former seasons. At least two Plainfielders (Benny Berse and Frank Rimmer) have sent in their applications, and their names will probably be on the list when it is announced. Rimmer has worked at Hope Chapel for some time, and his appointment will be well merited. He is as fair and as strict as any arbiter hereabouts, and is thoroughly competent.

ELKS LIKELY TO GO IN LEAGUE.

Authoritative reports from the Elks' Club say that bowlers at the Watchung avenue rendezvous are looking with favor upon the proposition of the lodge being represented in the City Bowling League. In fact, while talk of the league has suddenly subsided, it is the opinion of one Elk that a quintet of Antlers will enter the tourney, whether or not they represent the club. One reason the lodge has not taken definite action in the matter is because no invitation to join the other teams has yet been received. The organizers of the circuit proposed some time ago to send an invitation to the Elks, but the message has either been delayed or miscarried. It was planned to hold the organization meeting of the league this week, so as to be ready for the first matches early in January, but no announcement of the initial get-together has been made.

WHY DON'T PUCK CHASERS GET BUSY?

Never before have local hockey teams been more dilatory in getting busy with the first spell of skating. Several local organizations that have supported septets in previous winters have not even decided to organize a seven this season, and as a result, Plainfield is likely to experience its first year of ice without hockey before the holidays.

Not the Hooley of the Borough

The George Hooley who will attempt to lower the 100-mile road run record between Philadelphia and Newark on December 31, is not George B. Hooley, a former resident of Plainfield, and a son of A. G. Hooley. The metropolitan press, in stories of the Philadelphia-to-Newark run, have given the address of the runner as Bloomfield, and since George B. Hooley also lives there, many of his Plainfield friends have thought it is he who will race as the Plainfielder was formerly a runner of note. The running Hooley in this strange coincidence will follow a route that will take him through Camden, Trenton, New Brunswick and Elizabeth.

O. B. and Feds End Their War

Peace in baseball was restored after a disastrous two-years' war at a meeting in Cincinnati last night.

The agreement was signed by both organized baseball and the Federals.

Charles Weeghman, president of the Chicago Federals, will control the Chicago Cubs. The owners of the St. Louis Feds will buy the St. Louis Americans.

All players who jumped contracts were reinstated. The Federal League will play no more games and its magnates will sell their players to the highest bidder. Several former Fed players will be seen on the New York teams.

Arrangement for a partial reimbursement of the Wards, who dropped a considerable amount in Brooklyn, was made. A committee was appointed to settle the International League affairs, the chief bone of contention.

The suit charging organized baseball with violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, will be dropped.

INVINCIBLES PLAY AT COLUMBUS HALL COURT

A basketball game will be played at Columbus Hall tonight, between the Knights of Columbus five and the Invincibles of the borough. The Invincibles will be composed of school players.

A girls' game will also be played tonight, between the Plainfield Five and the T. A. M. aggregation, a quintet of North Plainfield players.

Next Thursday night the St. Joseph's Academy team of deaf mutes from Brooklyn will play the Knights. Efforts are being made to secure the State Six, from Newark Normal School, for a game with the Plainfield girls. The Newark girls recently played the Fegs on the Plainfield High School court.

Dancing will be enjoyed after tonight's game.

ONLY SEVEN P. H. S. FOOTBALL PLAYERS GET THEIR INSIGNIA

A number of presentations to athletes were made at the Christmas exercises in the Plainfield High School this morning. The large silver loving cup that Paul Collier offered to the local school that was 1915 baseball champions, was presented to the Plainfield High School, and in the absence of the donor, Principal Linder Best gave the cup to the school, it being received by Roy Apgar, captain of the 1916 team. Seven boys were awarded their letters by the Boys' Athletic Association for their work in football the past season. Those who obtained their letters were Chester Alpaugh, Lawrence Snyder, Morris Kline, Samuel Davidson, Paul Geary, William Hooper and Raymond Somlock. Thirty-four students received leaders' pins, emblematic of being connected with either the school paper, the various associations or for being active in some other line of scholastic endeavor.

PERSONAL.

Miss Reba Kline, of Somerset street, is detained at her home with illness.

Miss Miriam Humphrey, of Cranford, was the guest of Miss Emma Ryno, of Codington avenue, for several days.

Lester Chandler, of Park avenue, is home for the holidays from the Boston School of Technology.

The Misses Ann Hull and Lucille Ewart, of Grandview and Fairview avenues respectively, are home for the Christmas vacation from Genasco Normal School. Both were graduated of the North Plainfield High School with the class of 1915.

Miss Jubilee Rowley is visiting her parents on Grove street for the holidays. She is a student in the Syracuse University, where she is taking a musical course.

Mrs. Frank G. Wyckoff, of West Fourth street, is seriously ill at her home with an attack of pneumonia.

AMBOY LIBERTY A. C. AT HOPE CHRISTMAS

Star Guard on Visitors—Rimmer Now Registered Basketball Referee.

Coach Jack Martin's Hope Chapel basketeers will be put to a stiff test Saturday afternoon, when they play a Christmas matinee against the Liberty A. C., of Perth Amboy.

The Hopes originally had the O. B. C., of Amboy, billed for this date. The O. B. C. aggregation lost only three games out of twenty-eight starts last winter, Hope Chapel being one of the trio of teams to down the quintet from the Pace-making City. The O. B. C. manager found it necessary to cancel the game this week, and so George E. Leighs, game booker of the Green outfit, secured the Liberty combination, which is said to be just as good, if not faster, than the O. B. C. troupe.

The Liberty manager writes that he has one of the best guards around Perth Amboy in Sullivan. The visitors will also have the Boos brothers. They will line up with Glochan and W. Boos, forwards; P. Boos, center; C. Ankosko and Sullivan, guards. Their subs will be Joseph and John French and E. Jedatebek.

How the home side will take the floor has not been definitely decided, but Porter and Marsh are expected to hold down the forward jobs, with Overland playing the pivot position, and Anderson and De Hart in the guards.

Frank Rimmer, another of this season's additions to Plainfield's list of registered A. A. U. officials, will referee. The game will start at 3 o'clock.

CARVED JADE.

Its Great Charm Lies In Its Exquisite Color Effects.

There is a great charm about the stone called jade, which, from prehistoric times, has been carved into ornaments and implements. It is a close grained, hard, massive substance, showing a peculiar luster on the cut surfaces and possessing a distinctive color, usually some shade or blending of green or blue. It is sufficiently rare to prevent objects made of it from becoming commonplace, being found only in moderate quantities in certain parts of the world.

China has always been famous for its jade, and it is found also in Siberia, Turkestan, New Zealand, Egypt and northwestern America. Another name for it is nephrite, from the Greek word for kidney, an old belief being that it had curative powers over kidney diseases.

Much of the charm of jade objects arises from the exceedingly rich and variegated colors of the materials. These colors are not glaring or conspicuous, but subdued and beautifully harmonious, and the artists in the finest specimens have taken advantage of the distribution of the various tones and tints to heighten the effect of their designs while bringing out the contrasts of color.

Often the most exquisite effects are produced by the varying shades of color running through the carved figures. Among the colors characteristic of jade and jadeite are emerald green, "mutton fat," tea green, violet, "camphor" and yellow. Nearly all these shades are sometimes found distributed through a single specimen. The rarest combinations are said to be of violent and emerald green.—Garrett P. Serviss in Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Amianthine Cloth.

The finest variety of asbestos is known as amianthus, and the most beautiful specimens of this come from Tarantaise, in Savoy. Hence the fabric woven from asbestos is sometimes known as amianthine cloth. Charlemagne is said to have had an amianthine tablecloth, which he once ordered to be thrown into the fire for the entertainment of his guests.—London Standard.

Mother Carey's Chickens.

"Mother Carey's chickens" is a nautical name for stormy petrels, those tiny webfooted birds which sailors regard with such awe. When a storm is imminent they collect under the stern of a ship, and superstitious seamen believe they follow vessels with the intention of picking up the souls of wrecked sailors and carrying them to heaven.

Taking a Chance.

"I want to help you," said the fussy man, "but if I give you a nickel I'm afraid you won't put it to good use."

"Well," replied the philosophic tramp, "a nickel ain't enough fer do much harm wid, or much good, either, so take a chance, gov'nor."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

His Business.

"That baker is the most valuable man we have in the place, always ready to back up any movement with a cash contribution."

"But, then, you know it is a baker's business to be always ready with the dough."—Baltimore American.

SENIORS SCORE OVER JUNIORS

P. H. S. Classes Meet in Tug-of-War, Wrestling, Cane Rush and Basketball.

The annual "rough-house" of the junior and senior classes of the Plainfield High School was held in the school gymnasium last night, and resulted in a comparatively easy victory for the fourth-year men. Only in one event of the program did the juniors carry off first honors, that being the tug-of-war. The basketball game turned out to be the best court set-to that has been seen at the school this year, the seniors winnings it after a pretty scrap, 8 to 7.

In the tug-of-war, the first event of the evening, the juniors had the edge on the seniors, and pulled them all over the floor. Daniels, Noonan, Geary, Somlock and Swackhamer pulled the third-year men through to victory, while Eder, Apgar, Peacock, Mumford, Mutnick and Berrien held the rope for the seniors.

The three wrestling bouts furnished considerable excitement. Albert Dealaman obtained two straight falls over Lavid Golburg in five minutes. With one under their belt, the seniors sent Leonard Lewis out to hook up with Wright McAnneny, and the bout resulted in the best work of the three matches. McAnneny showed an assortment of hold that had his opponent guessing, and pinned Lewis shoulders [illegible] out of three, [illegible] Apgar stuck a snag when he ran up against Calvin Tildon, a short and stocky built junior, [illegible] falls out of three.

The [illegible] by a margin of [illegible] and of the three minute allowed [illegible] the juniors were strong [illegible] of the fourth-year men [illegible] outnumbered, with the seniors at [illegible] lost after a tough [illegible] Of the juniors Lloyd [illegible] Mutnick [illegible] the same while Borden, Coudray, Eder, Utterbach, Seals and Dunham each had one grip on it at the finish. Smith, Geary, Alpaugh, Noonan and Somlock each got to the cane and had two hands on it, but the seniors were too strong for the rest.

In the basketball game Linke won the game for the seniors with but a few minutes left to play. The first half ended with the score 6 to 5, and in the second period the seniors and juniors each made one basket. Linke made half of the eight points chalked up by his team, with Dunham coming along with the other four.

BUY ADVERTISED PRODUCTS

Widely advertised products are not only made by live concerns, but always by responsible concerns.

Don't buy Bicycles or Tires whose name means nothing to you. Why should you take such chances, especially when well known standard bicycles and tires cost you no more and often less?

Don't buy Bicycles, Tires or Sundries that any dealer offers you, when you have to ask him the name of the maker. This in itself should be your first warning that he must be trying to put something over on you in order to make an extra profit for himself, and at your expense.

We carry nothing but Standard makes of Bicycles and Tires.

What do you know about the SOLAR SYSTEM?

ARE you interested in comets, Mars, the Moon, Minor Planets, the Aurora Borealis? Interested or not, what do you actually know about them? How much of your information do you positively know is correct?

It is amazing what a lot of interesting things there are in this world and how little is known about them. Never in the world's history has there been a time when so much has been written about the world and studied by so few.

Every one of us ought to know more than we do. If not to charge our minds with the information, then to at least have some book that gives accurate information in an easy, readable form of what people are doing, how they are progressing, how they live, what they export and import, what their country is like, the size of their armies and navies, who their leaders in sports are. In brief, they ought to have a copy of

FOR 1916

Buy such books as are going to give you real information on the subject of the moment. NOT THEORY, BUT FACTS—TRUE FACTS, ALL THE FACTS. And the facts in tabloid form, easy to get at; quick to understand.

SUCH A BOOK IS THIS ALMANAC AND ENCYCLOPEDIA. Would you know something on the Pillars of Hercules, Porto Rico, North Pole, Political Parties in Congress, the Kingdom of Servia, Austria, Armies and Navies of the World or of the United States.

Perhaps you want to know how much Barley is produced in the United States. You'll find these questions all covered in this Almanac and Encyclopedia.

You'll find more; thousands upon thousands of subjects, everyone of greatest interest.

Every subject is conveniently indexed—and this index is so arranged that you can turn to it instantly.

MORE THAN 9,000 SUBJECTS HAVE BEEN INDEXED

It reviews the world's happenings, gives unusual information about countries, states, cities, people, places, politics, thousands of subjects explained so easily that even your child can clearly understand. It covers subjects that cannot be found elsewhere—the extent, clearness and accuracy of its contents is phenomenal. Positively no other work of its kind is produced. Thousands of dollars have been spent in research alone. The biggest, brightest and best brains in this line of work were employed to bring this book to its present state of perfection.

The printed edition of this work is limited; we have not many copies. When these are gone WE CANNOT OBTAIN MORE. Quick action is required by you if you are to obtain a copy.

If for no other reason than that as an aid to your child's school studies you should have this work. (Or are you like the man asked to buy a dictionary for his daughter who said: "No, she has a book.")

No matter how well filled your library may be you cannot add any book that will be a greater source of interest than this Almanac and Encyclopedia.

You cannot add any book that will give you more knowledge in concise form than this book.

ELABORATE YULETIDE PROGRAMS IN CITY AND BOROUGH SCHOOLS

The Birth of Christ is Told in Song and Story at Christmas Exercises—Addresses by Rev. J. O. McKelvey and D. Fred Aungst a Feature.

Before closing for the customary holiday vacation, all the schools of the city and borough held exercises appropriate to Christmas this morning. The programs were given either in the respective auditoriums of classrooms, many of the grades conducting individual affairs. Parents and friends were invited, many of them accepting the opportunity to witness the exercise. The decorations in all the schools were even more elaborate than in previous years, especially at the Plainfield High School and North Plainfield High School, where the older pupils worked industriously for several days. Beside the Christmas programs, the doings at the two high schools included the customary "roasts" on the luckless juniors perpetrated by the senior classes. Those of the borough were held in Saengerbund Hall last night, while the city students had theirs today immediately after the regular exercises. The programs in detail are given below:

HIGH SCHOOL.

Songs: "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear;" Scripture reading; song, "Holy Night;" presentations, insignia, leaders' pins, base ball cup (the gift of Paul R. Collier); presentation of the gift by the school to the school, Herbert Peacock; acceptance for the school, Miss Irma Good; song, "There Were Shepherds," Dudley Buck; incidental solo by Miss Irene Good; address, D. Buyers Are Found by Advertising—Because They Are Opportunity-Hunters!

If you have something to sell—real estate, personal property of any sort—there's a buyer for it. You don't know who he is, or where he is. You'd be helpless in trying to locate him—but for the fact that he is trying to locate you!

For buyers are opportunity-seekers. And they have learned that the Plainfield Daily Press classified columns are "the Happy Hunting Grounds" for opportunities. Thus, when your "ad" starts upon its quest it meets the man for whom it was written—also upon his quest. And that's how "results" follow classified advertising.

LITERARY

Guess Where Busiest Corner of United States Is Located.

In the January American Magazine Fred C. Kelly says:

"It is not generally known that one of the busies corners in the United States is at the intersection of Broad and Market streets in Newark, New Jersey. But that point serves as an exception to the rule that the value of retail property depends on the number of persons passing the property. The Newark corner, while said to be the busiest in the country, is not the most valuable. It is a transfer point for various car lines, and the traffic there is out of proportion to the size of the city.

"Another tremendously busy place is the northeast corner of Broadway and Forty-second street in New York. It is a subway corner and in the heart of the theatre district. The traffic there is practically ceaseless throughout all the twenty-four hours. Three years ago a count covering five different days showed that an average of more than two hundred and eighty-five thousand persons passed that corner daily. By now it is greatly in excess of that figure."

U. S. MERCHANTS ARE WARNED AGAINST FOREIGN TRADE TRIPS

Washington, Dec. 23.—Secretary Lansing has issued a warning to American business concerns that it will be unwise in the future for them to send anyone representative to more than one of the belligerent countries.

TURKS LEAVE DARDANELLES.

Amsterdam, Dec. 23.—Advices from Berlin state that 45,000 Turks have left Bulair at the neck of the Gallipoli Peninsula for Constantinople going thence to an unknown destination. This supports previous despatches that a movement of troops released from the defense of the Dardanelles by the British withdrawal is in progress.

It Pays to Secure a Tenant Who Pays

The uncertain sort of tenant is easy to find. He is always answering the call of the window sign of "To Let." He is easy to please. Even a rather high rental does not frighten him away.

But the Stay-and-Pay tenant is not so easy to secure. He is surer of what he wants. He does not take the first house, or apartment, or store that he finds. He watches and answers "To Let" Ads.

And to secure him for your tenant is a good day's work—a good week's work.

Property that is advertised adequately in the Plainfield Daily Press is rarely rented injudiciously.

MAKING A RECORD

Methods by Which a Phonograph Disk Is Produced.

CATCHING THE SOUND WAVES.

They Are First Imprisoned In Wax and Then Transferred to a Negative In Copper, and From This Master Mold the Records Are Obtained.

The Edison phonograph, the graphophone type perfected by Bell and Tainter and the gramophone type by Berliner are all based on substantially the same principle. Sound waves set up in the air by any sound are allowed to strike a delicately held diaphragm, which vibrates under the impact of the sound waves. The vibrations are made to leave a record on a suitable medium, and this sound record is used to perform the inverse operation when it is required to reproduce recorded sounds—that is, the record is made to vibrate a sensitive diaphragm and set up in the air particular waves, which convey to the ear the impression of sound.

The differences in the systems are in the way in which the vibrations are recorded. The disk record, which made the machine popular, was first manufactured in the United States in 1897. Improvements in the machine and in the needles followed.

To make a gramophone record a person sings before the mouth of a horn, the object of which is to concentrate the energy of the sound waves upon the recording diaphragm. At the narrow end of the horn are the recording sound box and the machine with its attendant expert. There is a screen between singer and operator to guard the secrets of the sound box. On the farther side of the screen is a horizontal table carrying a wax tablet, rotated beneath the recording sound box at a uniform speed, usually about seventy-six revolutions per minute. As the table rotates it travels laterally at a uniform speed, and the wax tablet is thus caused to travel slowly under the stationary recording box. The sapphire cutting point is lowered so as to enter the wax three and one-half to four one-thousandths of an inch, and as the machine runs it cuts a fine spiral groove, running from the edge to the center. The construction of the sound box is secret, as is the composition of the wax tablet.

The next step in the process is the reproduction of the record as a negative in copper. The wax is dusted with graphite and worked into the grooves with a badger brush to make it electro-conductive, then it is lowered into an electrolytic bath of copper salt solution. The wax is left in continuous motion in the bath until the copper shell is nine-tenths of a millimeter in thickness.

This negative is a master, and from this a few commercial samples can be pressed to test the quality of the record. The manufacturers, however, wish to make thousands of copies without hurting their master, therefore they make duplicates of their master by taking impressions in wax composition, from which working matrices are made. Then copper shells are obtained from these in the same way. The copper shell is then backed by a brass plate one-half inch in thickness by soldering under pressure.

Then the matrix is nickel plated on the recorded side in order to wear better and after polishing is ready for the pressing machine. The commercial record is pressed into some substance hard at normal temperature and plastic under heat and very hard and smooth. Various compounds are employed by different makers, but shellac is the principal ingredient. Shellac, wood, charcoal, heavy spar and earthy coloring matter in certain proportions are used.

This compound after careful mixing is rolled into thin sheets and divided into sections, one for each record. The section is then pressed by a hydraulic press. The matrix is heated and placed face up in a mold, the label is placed face down on the matrix, and on this is placed in a warm, plastic state enough material for one record. Both halves of the press are furnished with cooling plates, through which streams of water can be passed, and the surfaces are cooled quickly. The record is then removed, the edges trimmed with emery wheels, and it is then ready for sale.—New York Times.

Choosing.

A dozen pretty girls were cavorting about the stage at an amateur theatrical rehearsal when two young men took seats in the last row.

"So your girl's in this show, eh?" said one youth.

"Yep," replied the other. "She's on the stage right now."

"Which one is she?"

"The pretty one," came the reply in all seriousness.—Detroit News.

The Sewing Machine.

Elias Howe, whose sewing machine was the first to come into popular favor, was not, it seems, the originator of the idea, as an Englishman had made drawings of such a machine in 1790, and another was in operation in Paris as early as 1830.—Argonaut.

Entirely Too Common.

The Doctor—Madam, you must take more exercise. I should advise walking every day. Mrs. Newlyriche—Walking! My dear doctor, you must be accustomed to attending poor people.—Philadelphia Record.

The silent organ loudest chants the master's requiem.—Emerson.

FUNERAL SERVICE OF MRS. HOOPLE HELD

Was Mother of Mrs. A. I. Nichols, of Fanwood, and Prominent in Brooklyn.

The funeral of Mrs. Agnes Blackburn Hopple, aged 37 years, widow of William G. Hoople, was held yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. I. Nichols in Fanwood, where she had lived for the past five years. Rev. J. Madison Hare, of the Baptist church, Scotch Plains, officiated, and the burial was in the family plot in Sleepy Hollow cemetery, Tarrytown, N. Y.

Mrs. Hoople was born in Wales, Ontario, Canada. She was married young and removed to Brooklyn, where she spent the greater part of her life. She was one of the founders of the Brooklyn Home for Aged Colored People and her charities and activity in the Central Congregational church of Brooklyn were widely known. Her husband died seven years ago and two years later she made her home with her daughter at Fanwood.

Beside Mrs. Nichols there survives another daughter, Mrs. David M. Staebler, and one son, Rev. W. H. Hoople, of Brooklyn, who is connected with the Pentecostal church in the latter city.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

Marguerite Clark will be seen for the last two times today in her screen triumph of the season, "Helene of the North," at the U. S. Astor Theatre. Miss Clark, who is a prime favorite with Plainfield film fans, is running Mary Pickford a close race for the distinction of being one of the best liked screen stars in America. "Helene of the North" is by far the best vehicle with which Miss Clark has been provided on the screen. It is a splendid tale of love and adventure in the far north. Chief of her supporting cast are Conway Tearle, now appearing at the New York Playhouse with Miss Grace George, and Elliott Dexter, a capable young actor who recently became the husband of Marie Doro, the Frohman and Famous Players star. Tomorrow and Saturday the chief attraction will be the best five-reel comedy of the year, "Poor Schmaltz," a Paramount production, starring the irresistible Sam Bernard, the musical comedy comedian.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

An announcement of unusual importance is made by the local management of Proctor's vaudeville and photo-play theatre to the effect that there will be no increase in prices on Christmas Day at this popular playhouse. The program will contain the usual good vaudeville and special Triangle Plays, among which are "The Disciple," featuring William S. Hart, and "Saved By Wireless," a typical Keystone comedy, starring Chester Conklin and Mack Swain. "The Disciples" is without doubt one of the strongest photo-plays released on the Triangle program. Chester Conklin and Mack Swain, two of the greatest comedians in the "movies," furnish abundant laughs by their funny antics in "Saved By Wireless." This farce contains a well defined plot and is a burlesque on the modern war melodrama. The vaudeville entertainment was selected with the holiday season in mind with the result that four high class acts are presented. Baby Esmond, a talented juvenile entertainer, will offer a number of catchy song numbers which are bound to take the audience by storm. Kaiser's terriers was booked to furnish amusement for the children and is one of the best trained dog acts ever seen in this vicinity. Ward and McHugh are two talented comedians who will keep the spectators in a continual uproar while they are before the footlights, while Eddie Murray will offer a monologue all new and up-to-the-minute. The usual Saturday toy matinee will take place tomorrow afternoon and will be held under the auspices of the local order of Elks. All the children will receive Christmas presents. Wednesday evening will be bazaar night.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The first performance of the big holiday vaudeville bill at the Plainfield Theatre takes place this afternoon, the program bringing six specially selected acts together with the Will Fox feature photo-play, "The Little Madamoiselle." Nothing like it has ever been seen in this city for the money and it is needless to say that the crowds who witness it will say "the biggest show in town." The Broadway headliner, "The Elopement," leads off the vaudeville numbers, this act coming direct from the Palace and other big theatres. It is positively a scream from start to finish. Beside this there is another feature, "The Electrical Venus," a startling novelty that is absolutely original and has never been preceded here by anything anywhere near like it. There will also be Miss Zylah Shannon and her clever company presenting the comedy playlet, "The Speculatress;" Lloyd and Bingham, nifty comedians, and two other eighteen karat acts.

Miss Vivian Martin is featured in the "Little Madamoiselle" and those who have seen her in the past know that it will give her an exceptional opportunity to display her talent. The Fox feature films are a recent addition to the Plainfield Theatre program and are giving immense satisfaction. They are shown twice a week, the change being made Mondays and Thursdays. The popular "Country Store" will be given tomorrow night as usual and despite the length and cost of the program no extra charge for admission will be made at the performances Christmas Day. The usual matinee will commence at 2 o'clock and the night performances will take place at the customary time.

NEW JERSEY'S SHARE.

In discussing the preparedness policy of the government the Trenton Times says it is proposed to organize a national army of one million men, who are to be equipped and trained, ready to respond to call when needed. This is to be in addition to the regular army. Assuming that the population of the United States is 100,000,000 in round numbers, that New Jersey's population is 2,900,000 and that each State will be required to contribute according to its population, New Jersey will be called on to furnish 29,000 men. Our National Guard now consists of about 4,500 officers and men.

Most young men like to drill and parade, and it therefore will not be difficult to organize a supplemental army of 1,000,000 men, provided the government goes about it in the right way. It will be necessary to have an understanding that the reserve is not to be called on to do strike duty, which ought to be performed by sheriffs' posses and the local police. This will eliminate the opposition of organized labor, which has interfered with recruiting for the National Guard in most of the States.

One who consults the newspapers that were published before the Civil War cannot fail to be impressed by the great number of military companies that were in existence, though in those days the militiamen bought their own uniforms, paid rent for buildings used as headquarters or armories, hired bands when they went out for public parade or target practice, and bore other expenses incidental to the service.

In recent years there has been too much politics in our National Guard, too little regard given to merit, and too little consideration paid to the rights of the men in the ranks. If an investigation was made of the methods and expenditures of the National Guard of New Jersey during the past quarter of a century, the public would be astounded at the revelations. A radical change would have to be inaugurated in order to raise a force of 29,000 soldiers in this State, but the National Guard would furnish a substantial basis for organization.

It is assumed that, as a matter of course, the national government will organize the reserve army, which is to be for the defense of the country, and not of individual States.

Largely because of the publicity given by the Trenton Times that city has won its fight for a continuance of the six-tickets-for-a-quarter rate by the trolley company. This was the second time in the last five or six years that the company failed to do away with the strip tickets, and on both occasions the publicity given to the matter by the Times prevented them from carrying out their plan. If the Trenton trolley company can be successfully conducted on the plan of selling tickets in this form, we fail to see why the Public Service Corporation cannot do the same thing.

Henry Ford, who is ill, received the Norwegian journalists at his bedside and asked them as to the possibilities of American Agricultural machinery in Norway.—News Item.

All of which goes to prove that of course there are no advertising features connected with the Ford peace trip. Let's see, when is that tractor due to be put on the market?

Francis J. Blatz will undoubtedly make an excellent presiding officer for the incoming Common Council. The complete harmony among all the members at the caucus at which he was chosen gives assurance that no unpleasantness will arise to cause friction in the body.

Only one more day left in which to make your contributions to the Community Christmas fund. Do your giving as early in the morning as possible, so that the final amount available can be made public in tomorrow's papers.

NEWARK AMUSEMENTS

That foremost portrayer on our stage of the young American type, William Hodge, is to introduce local playgoers at the Shubert Theatre, Newark, beginning Christmas matinee, and continuing throughout the following week, to his latest and greatest success of this kind in his new character of Jim Whitman in "The Road to Happiness." This play, described as "a comedy of cheerfulness and optimism," ran for almost the entire year in Chicago two seasons ago, last season in Boston, and the present season played record engagements in Philadelphia and New York. This unique delineator of the American character is said to have every bit as quaint and humorous a part as young Jim Whitman as he had as Daniel Voorhees Pike in "The Man from Home." His Yankee grit and pluck also assert themselves in his coming to the rescue of an unjustly accused young woman, and thereby almost losing his own sweetheart. All four acts of the piece are laid in a small village, and the atmosphere is said to be most picturesque and charming. The dramatic incidents of the play and its two love romances turn upon the mystery of a little baby foundling. Whitman's championship of the persecuted Viola leads to a village feud and a tar and feather party, which he outwits in the most surprising and amusing fashion. Many character types are introduced and are interpreted by some of the best-known character players on our stage. Scott Cooper as Squire Hardcastle, Azack Evans as kindly old Farmer Phil, with his comical, broken-down nag; Louis Mountjoy as the tobacco-chewing "Jedge;" Mary Haynes as the housekeeper, Marth, and a number of other equally amusing types add to the enjoyment of the variou scenes. Girlish beauty and charm is given to the roles of Eva and Viola, the sweethearts, by Miriam Collins and Marguerite Batterson, while Ida Vernon is tenderly sympathetic as Jim's mother.

Westfield.

A week of prayer will be observed in Westfield the first week in January. The first services will be held January 4, in the Congregational church; January 5, in the Presbyterian church, January 6, in the Baptist church, January 7, in the Methodist church.

The Little White Restaurant

We have visited places of wondrous repute for feeding you viands delicious and rare;
We've been bowed to by flunkies, have had them remove our topcoat and hat as we entered their lair;
We've been furnished with finger-bowls, stylish delay, with silver superfluous, solid and good,
But mostly we sneak to a different place—the little white room where you pay for mere food!

For mostly at mealtime when we would inhale some yearnedafter sustenance, wholesomely cooked,
The feeding itself is the thing we require—we often forget how the eating-place looked.
And how to secure what the stomach requires without being robbed (to be afterwards rued)
Is always our problem; and so we seek out the little white place where they charge for mere food.

As clean as the soul of a newly-born babe we always have found the accouterments there;
The "overhead charges"—there wasn't a sign of that bugaboo that one meets everywhere!
You pay half the price of the stylish "caffays" for food just as fine, and no flunkeys intrude—
There's peace for the soul in the plain little room—the little white place where they charge for mere food.

St. Louis

We have seldom been to St. Louis—have you?

For a free-and-easy western city it is a great stickler for conventions.

Especially for big political conventions.

While it is about as far from the places where fur-bearing animals grow, as a city could care to be, it is the center for fur-garment manufacture in the United States.

Many a person who never saw a weasel alive settles in St. Louis and starts a skin game of some sort.

Near St. Louis is a large building called the Union Station.

St. Louis is the nearest large city to this station.

People about the Union Station can point out St. Louis in the distance, on a clear day, and some of them speak very highly of the town.

This goes to show how friendly those neighboring Missouri settlements are.

If you go to St. Louis on a rainy day and ask where some place is, they tell you "two blocks north and one west."

They do this with their hands in their pockets, when it is cloudy, so the stranger thanks the informant and goes on still wondering where the place is.

St. Louis is safe from German invasion.

To start with, it is full of Germans already.

And in the second place, the Kaiser never could afford to pay the bridge tolls to get his army into the city.

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

St. Vitus' Dance And School Life

CHOREA or "St. Vitus' Dance" is an acute, probably infectious (not contagious, but of bacterial origin) disease which runs a course of several weeks or months and terminates in complete recovery—if the patient is not injured by ill-advised treatment. It is characteristically a disease of children of school age, and of children in neuropathic families—that is, families with a tendency to nervous troubles. As for "cures," the particular mode of treatment, or charm, or prayer, or neglect, which happens to be in use toward the latter end of the attack gets the credit—whereas nature produces the cure. The important part of medical treatment for chorea is to protect the child from injurious things.

As for the cause, the nervous tendency or vulnerability has already been mentioned. If the parents or others of the household are "nervous" the child will be, by association and by reason of bad habits—such as being up late nights, poor control of temper, too ready gratification of every trifling craving, and faulty discipline in general.

But there is one very common abuse which we think should be stopped. So many little ones in the lower grades of school are drilled to take part in "performances"—and about the time the great performance is to take place, the poor little overdriven child develops chorea, directly as a result of the nervous strain incident to the preparation, and in spite of the fact that the little one is apparently anxious and pleased to take part.

Anything that makes a child self-conscious, gives ideas of superiority over the general average of young folk, or exhibits childish accomplishments—no, not childish, but precocious accomplishments—to the public is bad for that child's nervous system. Perhaps little private schoolroom speaking or entertainments, without outsiders present, are beneficial, if sensibly managed by a teacher who knows the danger of stimulating vanity. But performances in which the innocent school child is made a "show actor," or allowed to play a part entirely unsuited to a child's natural capabilities, are downright cruel, we care not who conducts them.

We beg of all our readers who have children of school age that they take a firm stand in this matter, in the interests of the children's future health. When you "push" a child, you are bound to hurt him. Keep your children childlike. Don't try to make vain little old men and women of them—and don't let the teacher do so either.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Itching After Bathing

Can you suggest what will prevent or relieve the itching which comes on after a bath? I have suffered a great deal from it.

Answer—Causes of such itching are too much irritating soap—soap is not necessary every day for the bath; too hot or too cold water, and too prolonged bath; digestive disturbances from over-eating; excessive friction in drying the skin. Don't scratch. Apply cornstarch powder freely.

PIANO PLAYERS

THANKS to the advance of science there are now two varieties of piano music—hand-made and feet-made.

Fifteen years ago the only way to make music on a piano was to hammer it out by hand. The product was often very crude and to obtain even a fair to medium grade required years of practice and a very durable neighborhood. Then the mechanical player was invented and the only requisite for the making of sublime music became a pair of stout, long-winded ankles. Thanks to this contrivance, it is now possible to buy divine melody by the roll and carry it home at night along with the steak for supper.

The mechanical player gives the musician a chance to attack the piano with hands, feet and knees in a most effective manner. The machine does all the key pounding, while the musician merely starts and stops the music, throttles down in the soft parts, accelerates on the crescendos and puts on the emergency brake when needed. A mere child can feed one of these machines sonatas, overtures and operas; and thanks to its work, the earnest young lady who crouches over a helpless piano and beats out Beethoven with a batting average of one fair hit in ten is not receiving much encouragement in her nefarious business nowadays.

The mechanical piano player is bringing joy to great numbers of people who formerly had to depend on others for their music. The piano no longer stands silent and dusty in the home of the new-laid millionaire. The owner now climbs aboard the driver's seat of the mechanical player each evening after supper, and tramps off twenty-seven yards of Liszt, forty-three yards of Mendelssohn, nineteen yards of Brahms and 2,745 yards of Luders, thus enabling him to soak his soul in music and at the same time brace up his liver for another hard day on the stock exchange. The tired merchant no longer invests $2,500 in a musical daughter and then has her purloined by a dry-goods clerk before she has worn out a single piano. He blows $400 in on a quiet and polite machine which doesn't need a new dress every week, and which always feels like playing right after supper when requested to.

The piano player is rivaling golf as an exercise and the Marathon as a sport. There are men nowadays who can do the Tannhauser overture in three minutes flat, while the man who cannot knock off two hours of comic opera without stopping might as well sit back and let some real athlete tackle the job.

Views Of The Press

"An Inferior Novelist"

HARRY Leon Wilson, who writes first-rate humorist stories, is quoted in the New York Times as saying that Dickens is a great humorist, but an inferior novelist. He declares that Dickens's method of drawing characters is a mere trick of giving them exaggerated mannerisms. He asserts that the famous novelist "has been a blight to writers susceptible to his vices." Mr. Wilson says:

Dickens created "vaudeville" characters—unsurpassed for twenty-minute sketches, deadly beyond that to the mentally mature. His stock in trade was the grotesque make-up. In stage talk, he couldn't create a "straight" part. Strip his people of their make-ups, verbal, hirsute, sartorial, surgical, pathological, what not—and dummies remain.

It would be difficult to imagine a criticism farther from the truth. The eccentricities of Captain Cuttle and Sol Gills are soon forgotten, but their simple goodness of heart makes an indelible impression on the thoughtful reader. David Copperfield's nurse Peggotty, and Mr. Peggotty—their uncouth ways fade from the memory, but not their loyalty and unselfishness. Is not Mr. Jarndyce an acceptable "straight part," and is there a lack of reality in the cheerfulness with which he gives up Esther?

It is difficult to avoid the conclusion that Dickens in his writings was a great moralist and sentimentalist. It seems as if he clothed many of his characters with grotesqueness to prevent them from becoming maudlin—their feelings are so often deep and none too easily controlled. Was it not a love for the moral sentiment which moved Dickens to interpolate in "Bleak House" that incident of the country girl who, at her wedding, signed the church register with an X because she did not wish to embarrass her young husband, whom she was going to teach to write? As for Dickens's Murdstones, Skimpoles, Pecksniffs and other hateful characters, they all magnify some common foible—a "fault" which mars the works of Molière, Shakespeare and other humble purveyors of humor.—Rochester Democrat.

BY E. R. BRANSON

The Hidden Will

A bizarre case, which has its dramatic and amusing sides, was tried a short while ago in the Paris courts. It had to do with the succession to an estate which has been in the possession of the natural heir for ten years.

The feature which is curious and unusual is that the legal legatees were given an opportunity of knowing of the fortune left to them while the donor was still alive, but, through what they now will be inclined to think culpable neglect, they let the chance go.

It seems that in 1902 there died a M. Lefevre de Revel, a retired state functionary, at the advanced age of ninety-six years. He had spent his leisure for years before his death in writing out in minute detail all the events of his life, down to the most trivial. He would record what he paid for a pound of coffee, and the quality of it; the price of theatre tickets; the itinerary and tariff of tramways, and he even copied out in full the invitations he received, and gave a list of all his correspondents. Political reflections took up a considerable part of the seventeen bulky volumes which gradually accumulated, each of which, when finished, was sumptuously bound. In fact he was, in a dull way, a sort of French Pepys, and it may be that the statistics, prices, dates, which to us seem so banal and worthless, will one day have a value, and justify all his toil.

M. Lefevre was very proud of his labors and considered that the records he accumulated had indeed a great literary and statistical value. As each volume was completed he sent it to his relations and friends in turn. But gradually he began to suspect that his work was rather laughed at than read, and by cunningly adroit questioning he came to the conclusion that he was right, and that the recipients only turned a few pages perfunctorily and returned the precious book unread.

In his eleventh volume he prepared a subtle revenge, which, in Gilbertian phrase and manner, made "the punishment fit the crime." Counting on the fact that if any of the pages were read it was only those at the beginning, he inserted a copy of his will at page 540, in which he left his estate to be divided among those to whom the book was ordinarily sent.

When M. Lefevre died, in 1902, there was a search for his will, for it was naturally thought that one so scrupulous in noting down everything would have left a voluminous testament. But no such document could be found and the natural heirs took possession. Ten years after, in 1912, someone, idly browsing in volume eleven, came across the unsuspected will—and the property amounted to something like $90,000!—Los Angeles Times.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Grounds For Divorce

Q. May a woman in this state (Arkansas) get a divorce when her husband talks to her and to her children in a brutal way?

A. Abusive language alone will not be a sufficient ground for divorce. The case will be different if there are acts amounting to "cruel and barbarous treatment," and if such acts endanger the life.

Some Drinks!

Q. I have owed a saloonkeeper forty-three dollars for over two years. Has the time limit for the collection of the debt expired, under the laws of Arkansas?

A. It has not.

Pepper Talks

Environment

Environment is Self Atmosphere. Also, it's the invisible Power of Circumstances that always stays around within call. Which is to say, that Environment is the Servant of every man.

You can BE Somebody right where you are.

Environment is a personal affair. So, if your present environment hinders you, walk away from it. Hunt out a new Environment. Men and Women who form the habit of getting things done, make their own Environment, hour by hour—day by day.

You can DO Something right where you are.

Environment is very cheap. It is easy to make. Bunyan, in Jail, writing the immortal "Pilgrim's Progress"; Milton, blind and domestically all out of kink, penning "Paradise Lost"; John Brown, walking up to the Gallows, smiling, a Prophet of Freedom; Helen Keller, blind, deaf, dumb, yet the embodiment of Sunshine and Light; these are they—Masters of Environment!

You can BE Somebody right where you are.

People worth while to this world make their own Environment. And they make it so attractive that it draws human beings their way. You, who Employ, surround yourself with Cheerful Workers. You, who are Employed, keep your mind saturated with Cheerful Thoughts. Your Environment is what you choose it to be. Add to your Worth Stature.

You can DO Something right where you are.

Belinda's Bit

There has been put on the wartime market a new ladies' corset having the correct "military curve."

Miranda's Red-Cross nursing
Hard by the battle scene;
Virginia through the witching hours
Presides at a canteen.
Still steadfast Sister Susie sews
The seams that never swerve—
And Belinda wears a corset
With a military curve.

Irene lives on butter
And a dish of Quaker Oats;
Elaine is buying War Loan
With the price of many coats.
The Lady Maud at dinner-time
Dispenses with hors d'œuvres;
But Belinda's bought a corset
With a military curve.

Miss Betty makes munitions,
And takes her eight-hours shift;
While Phyllis drives a motor-van
And Daisy works a lift.
Hermione is cutting cheese
And learning how to serve;
And Belinda's wearing corsets
With a military curve.

I would not strafe Belinda
Though her effort is misplaced;
She simply follows orders for
Suppressing war-time waist.
If Berlin gets to hear it,
It may break the Prussians' nerve
To know we're making corsets
With a military curve.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

The Little Boy Who Wanted to Visit The Moon Child.

Ned Almost Reached the Top of the Ladder.

"EVERYBODY knows there is a man in the moon," daddy told Jack and Evelyn, "and most people are acquainted with the lady in the moon. But do you both know that there is a moon child?"

"Really, truly, daddy?" they cried.

"Yes, indeed! And on very beautiful still winter nights every good earth child can see her."

"Oh, is it a girl, daddy?" asked Jack, evidently disappointed.

"A lovely little fair haired girl, who lives on the top of a volcano that is all burned out and plays with starshine all night long, for she never needs any sleep, and with sunbeams all day. Sometimes, you see, she gets quite lonesome, for there are no other moon children besides her, and, looking, looking down to earth, as she always is, she often wishes for some earth children to play with."

"Couldn't she slide down to earth on a sunbeam?" asked Evelyn.

"Well, there was once a little earth boy, only four years old, who was always trying to climb anything he saw. He often fell and got dreadful bumps, but he soon forgot them and tried to climb something else. One day his papa had to fix some leaky shingles on the top of the house and left a tall ladder leaning against the roof. When night came the little boy was missing, and his parents ran outdoors to find him, calling: 'Neddie! Neddie!' 'Here I am, papa,' said a small voice, and there almost on the top of the high ladder balanced little Ned. The moon had just risen and seemed to be resting on the top of the house, oh, so near! 'See the pretty moon, papa! I'm going to get it!'"

"Did he fall?" cried Evelyn.

"His papa was awfully afraid he would fall if he took his eyes off the moon and looked down—get dizzy, you know. So he said: 'Look straight at the moon, Neddie. I'm coming up to see it with you.' And he ran up the ladder and caught the little boy just as he was saying: 'Oh, look, papa! The moon is falling down!' His head had become dizzy, and as he fell into his papa's arms he murmured, 'I want to play with the little child in the moon, papa—the little child in the moon.' So his papa carried him safely down the ladder and put him to bed to dream of the moon child," daddy finished, with a big kiss.

"He shouldn't climb when he's sleepy," said Jack.

"That was a lovely story, daddy!" cried Evelyn, giving him two kisses and hop-skipping off to bed herself.

Married Life on $80 a Month

BY NEIS DA LEONARD

The New Boarder Dreams of Riches On a Western Ranch.

"This is my sister's picture," said Miss Travers as Molly Sutner was helping to install her in her new quarters. "She lives 'way out in Montana on a ranch. I am going out there as soon as school closes. You see she and her husband are living on a claim. They have three hundred and twenty acres that they are breaking and it will be a great wheat ranch when it is under cultivation."

"Wheat means money these days," observed Molly, much impressed.

"Yes, indeed," assented the communicative little body. "There is a piece of land next to her that is for sale and I want to buy the relinquishment next summer if I can save the money."

"What is a relinquishment?" asked Molly.

"Why, someone took up the government claim and started to live on it for the five years and got tired of it and would like to sell out. They usually get something for their time," explained the new boarder.

"If a person has land it is bound to be worth something in time." Molly turned to lead little Jack out of the room.

"That room belongs to Miss Travers and you must not go in there," she said impressively.

That night at supper the conversation turned to ranches and ranching.

"Why would it not be a good way to get ahead for us to take up land out in Montana?" queried Molly after John had asked a number of interested questions.

"Because I am a bookkeeper and not a farmer." John smiled at Molly's suggestion. "If there is anything that doesn't pay, it is to own land and not be able to work it. This taking up land is a splendid thing for young people who are going to live on it, provided they know how to farm, but when it comes to owning land as an investment, or hiring someone to develop it for you there is nothing in it."

"I am not sure about that," replied Miss Travers. "I know of two teachers who have taken up claims. They lived on the land in the summer and taught in the winter, and they sold the land for two thousand dollars, both of them, and they had only one hundred and sixty acres apiece."

"They were lucky. If they can sell they are all right. It is the holding of land and hiring it worked or letting it pile up taxes that is a poor investment," answered John.

"If I could take up a claim and we could sell it we could get a good start," murmured Molly.

"How could you go out to the wilderness and live alone with Jack six months of the year for five years? It is preposterous. And if I went I would have to give up my job and that would mean we would have nothing to live on while we got the land to producing even if we had the necessary knowledge. It takes money and lots of it to get a ranch to bearing."

"I see your husband is from Missouri, and will have to be shown," laughed Miss Travers. "I plan to get a ranch if I can possibly manage it next summer when I visit my sister. When Mr. Sutner sees me rolling in wealth he will be convinced."

"That will convince me that it was a good thing for you, but not necessarily for me," replied John.

"Have some more fish?" urged John. "Prospective ranchwomen must have more than you seem to have or they will not be able to undergo the necessary hardships."

"Thank you, I will," laughed Miss Travers.

When Gasoline Runs Low.

In Farm and Fireside is an ingenious suggestion for autoists whose gasoline has run so low that they have trouble in all climbing:

"One sometimes is caught out with a low supply of gasoline through having to make long detours to avoid bad roads or from other causes. The supply can be made to stretch over this emergency by adding denatured alcohol or kerosene. Occasionally there is sufficient gasoline for the ordinary level road, but not enough for an unexpected hill.

"In this case the principle of pressure feed can be applied. Screw the cap down tight on the gasoline tank and then sharpen a match to fit the ventilating hole in the cap. Blow into this hole as hard as possible and immediately plug with a sharpened match. Usually this will enable the driver to make the hill without further trouble. But if not, he can turn the car around and back uphill."

Why the Hyphen Persists.

"It is not only the case that America has been guilty of many sins of omission in connection with the immigrant, but there are also crimes of commission. The attitude of the average native-born American is one of superiority, contempt, and even hostility, making it difficult indeed for the immigrant to free himself from isolation or to gain direct contact with American life. In the textile towns of New England, the factory districts of the Atlantic seaboard, and the various mining communities, the immigrants are forced into colonies, and barred from participation in native affairs by a very definite wall of dislike and contempt. Even the churches make small effort to break down this barrier behind which the alien crouches, gazing sullenly at the land that has failed him in its promise of freedom and fraternity.

"In view of these indisputable facts, is it possible to insist that the failure of the American melting-pot is the fault of the alien entirely? If the hyphen persists as a menacing feature of American life, does the blame lie at the door of those expectant thousands who come to the United States in hope and faith or in the cruel neglects and exploitations that flow from the greeds and indifferences of the native-born?"—George Creel, in the January Century.

AUCTION THOROUGHBREDS.

New York, Dec. 23.—Thirteen yearling thoroughbreds from the Clarence H. Mackay establishment in France will be auctioned here today, and many of the leading horsemen of the East have gathered for the event. Mackay has brought some likely youngsters with long pedigrees, and there is always a demand for a new strain in breeding stock.

SUN DIAL WILL BE CORRECT TOMORROW

There are only four days in the year on which there is perfect accord between clock-time and sundial time. These days are April 15, June 15, August 21 and December 24. You can be sure that your sundial tomorrow is absolutely correct as it records the approach of the festival of Christmas.

THE PLAINFIELD TRUST COMPANY
invites you to become a member of the 1916 Christmas Club
the club that makes everybody happy and that any one may join

This systematic plan for saving money is becoming more popular every year as people learn how easy it is to put away each week a portion of their income and as they come to realize how pleasant a thing it is to receive at Christmas time a check for a substantial amount.

The 1916 Club will open on December 27th, 1915, and members may be enrolled between that date and January 8th, 1917. There will be the following four Classes in the new Club, which will run for fifty weeks:

Class 50—Pay 50c each week and receive a check for $25 with interest at 2%.
Class 100—Pay $1 each week and receive a check for $50 with interest at 2%.
Class 200—Pay $2 each week and receive a check for $100, with interest at 2%.
Class 500—Pay $5 each week and receive a check for $250 with interest at 2%.

Those who make their payments regularly each week or in advance receive at the close of the Club a check for the entire amount paid in, with interest at 2%. If there is anything in connection with the Club that you do not understand, call at The Plainfield Trust Company for further information.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association, Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

A CAROL OF THE HEART.

When gleam the holly and the mistletoe
Like the pearl and coral in the market place;
When laughter slips unguarded from the heart,
And joy shines forth from every beaming face;

I know the Christmas spirit broods above;
I know the Christmas love has waked once more.
I know that Christmas thoughts recall far hearts—
That Christmas gifts and greetings crowd my door.

But when along the Christmas laden air
Break forth the voices of the Christmas chime,
When on my thrilling senses wakes the song—
The glorious olden song of Christmas time;

Ah, then I know a little child was laid
Within a manger many years ago;
I know a star arose and angels sang,
And all my soul is glad because I know.

—Phila Butler Bowman.

Christmas Toys.

"But are we to have no Christmas toys?" some one may ask. Of course we must, but toys bought with thought and care for the needs of the child. Don't rush out when the holidays are close upon us and buy toy shop gim-cranks, just so as to get something for Jane and Charlie and Harriett and all the other children who seem to have a claim on your attention at Christmas time. Ask yourself can the child get any inspiration out of this toy? Can he use it or construct anything from it? I have heard more than one mother say that the most valuable gift to girl or boy is a box of blocks which any carpenter can fashion for you made in the shape of bricks, the only requirement being that there may be plenty of them. In the ordinary toy shop blocks the number is too limited for any broad play of the imagination. Grown people sometimes give toys which appeal to themselves, such dolls fully dressed in most fashionable clothes. Did you ever notice how soon such a doll is stripped of every beautifully made garment, and seems to give her little mother more joy wrapped in a towel or with no clothes at all? The popularity of the teddy bear has been a mystery. His first attraction is doubtless that he is soft and huggable, his second that he has no clothes to spoil the joy of cuddling him, except such as the little girl, expressing her own sense of humor, may fashion for him herself.

The psychology of the child and his toys deserves some attention from those devoted to child study.—Child-Welfare Magazine.

A Novel Departure.

A monthly bulletin of eight pages is the novel way adopted by the South Orange Board of Education of informing the public concerning its schools. The first number appears for October and contains a school directory, statistical data and extracts from the monthly report of the supervising principal to the Board of Education.

There is no doubt but that this installment plan of reporting school conditions will reach a wider circle of readers and tend to create a more active interest in the schools of that district than was the case with simply an annual report. The educational news will at least be timely, a condition which is not true of most reports which reach the public months after they are prepared. It is likely that the example set by South Orange will have many followers.

Commissioner of Education to Congress of Mothers.

He said it is an honor to be the father or mother of a child, but it is a much greater honor to give that child careful, patient, intelligent training. Putting conscience into the training of one's own children, being ready to sacrifice social pleasures and outside activities for the purpose of training one's own children—these are the marks that distinguish the parent who realizes that the greatest service he or she can render to society is to train up his or her own child in the way that child should go, who realizes that this training should not be left entirely to the schools; that it should not be turned over to young women of eighteen or twenty who in such large numbers are teaching in our schools.

The schools are doing much and they can do more. But more important than anything the schools can give, either in the city or the country, is the resolution and devotion of parents to give children good training in the home; and many children are not getting this good home training.

New Jersey is a great State, but it may become the greatest of all the States in this Union if fathers and mothers and teachers and principals give, both in the home and in the school—and chiefly in the home—the kind of training to which the children of the State are entitled. If this training is given, the men and women who live in New Jersey in 1940 will rise up and call not only the teachers but the parents of 1915 blessed.

Here Is Good News Indeed!

There is to be another CHRISTMAS CLUB and it will open at The Plainfield Trust Company on

Monday, December 27th

Members may be enrolled between December 27th and January 8th.

Everyone knows about the Christmas Club—that systematic savings plan which has been tested and proved and is now being successfully operated by hundreds of the leading financial institutions in the country.

The Club provides for weekly payments for fifty weeks, less than twelve months, at the end of which time the depositor receives the total amount paid in, with interest if payments have been made regularly. Anyone may join and those who cannot come in person to be enrolled can delegate someone else to attend to the matter.

THERE WILL BE FOUR CLASSES IN THE 1916 CLUB, AS FOLLOWS:

Class 50 Pay 50c each week and receive a check for $25 with interest.
Class 100 Pay $1 each week and receive a check for $50 with interest.
Class 200 Pay $2 each week and receive a check for $100 with interest.
Class 500 Pay $5 each week and receive a check for $250 with interest.

This is your opportunity to join the Club and save for

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

You Can Bring Back Color and Lustre With Sage Tea and Sulphur.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture though, at home is mussy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

Gray, faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur and look years younger.—Adv.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a Tablespoonful of Salts if Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-know authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork they get sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink, and no body can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.—Adv.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Adv.

PROGRAMS FOR OBSERVANCE OF CHRISTMAS IN LOCAL CHURCHES

Voices of Children and Adults Will Unite in Singing Praises of Saviour Born in a Manger—Services for Saturday and Sunday Observances.

In all of the churches of Plainfield there will be services appropriate to the birth of the Savior.

Singing of Christmas hymns, carols and anthems in thanks for the day and services for children will feature the observance. Christmas will be ushered in by midnight services tonight at St. Joseph's and Holy Cross and from then until Sunday evening the voices of children and adults will ring out in thanks for the humble man of Galiea, who was born in a manger that He might become the Savior of the world.

The complete programs follow:

CRESCENT AVENUE CHURCH.

The principal service in celebration of Christmas will take place Sunday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock, at which time the quartet choir will sing carols from the old English, French, Slavic and German. These traditional or folk carols were in all of the Old World countries peculiarly local, and were regarded by the villagers as their private possessions, of much value and to be carefully guarded and held for their own use. They were frequently compositions of simple musicians, peasants, who disliked ornament and sentimentality, and whose sincerity and freedom from affection and conventional restrictions made them particularly well fitted to translate into music and poetry the dramatic incidents of the Christ-story.

The afternoon program follows: Organ recital—Two Western England Themes; Varol Variation, a la Mozart; Scotch Noel, Guilmant. Carol service—Two old Slavic carols; three carols from the old German, Barnby; the Virgin Mary Carol, Gounod; two traditional French carols from the Galvaert collection; old English Noel; postlude, "Hallelujah Chorus" ("Messiah"), Handel. At the morning service, at 10:30 o'clock, the choir will sing: Anthems, "Sing, O Heavens," Tours; "There were Shepherds" ("Manger Throne"), Manney; offertory trio, "Arise, Shine," (Christmas Oratorio), Saint-Saens.

TEMPLE BAPTIST CHURCH.

An elaborate Christmas program will be presented at the Temple Baptist church, Sunday morning, at 10:30 o'clock as follows: Carol, salute the flag, carol, "White Gifts for the King;" "A Gift," cradleroll; song, "Jesus Loves Me," beginners; recitation, primary department; exercise, "Gifts for the King," juniors and intermediate departments; carol, gifts presented by Ever-Ready Class, Non Quits Circle, Baraca Juniors; song, "The Christ's Lullaby," choir, Philathea, Baraca Seniors and home department; carol, "Christmas Story," Rev. E. C. Conover.

GERMAN REFORMED CHURCH.

Children and adults of the German Reformed church will have their Christmas exercises tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. Presents taken from a large Christmas tree will be given to the children. A musical program, which will include solos by Miss Mabel Woodey and ensemble numbers by the singing section of Saengerbund Hall, will be given.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST.

An attractive Christmas service has been arranged at this church for 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, which will be in charge of Miss Jessie Tiger, musical director. The feature will be a cantata, "The Story of Christmas," by Matthews, which will take about forty minutes for rendition. Assisting will be an instrumental trio comprising Miss Utter, organ; Mrs. Noel G. Evans, violin and Miss Mabel Maxson, piano. The program:

Prelude, Adagio Cantabile, Bryson, trio; anthem, "Break Forth Into Joy," choir of fourteen voices; hymn, "Silent Night, Holy Night;" offertory, Adagio, Richard Strauss, trio; hymn, "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing," choir; cantata, "The Story of Christmas," Matthews; postlude, "Marche Heroique," Golterman.

In the afternoon the Sabbath-school will hold a giving service, with special program at 4:30 o'clock The music will be in charrge of Mrs. Theodore G. Davis, with Miss Utter at the organ and Mrs. Roland M. Davis at the piano. A large white cross, outlined with electric lights, will be the center of the gift-giving service, and the contributions are to be provisions for the Children's Home, the same to be as far as possible, to be wrapped in white. "King Forever," Lorenz, will be the name of the song service. This program will be presented:

Prelude, "Marche Cortege," Gounod, Miss Utter, Mrs. Theo. G. Davis, Mrs. Roland M. Davis; chorus, "Crown Him King," school; chorus, "Christmas Time Has Come Again," school; recitation, "Welcome," Bronner, Anna Frances Wells; song, "Ring, Christmas Bells," Wilson, Boy Scouts; recitation, "Why We Celebrate Christmas," Bronner, John Reed Spicer; chorus "The Glorious Star," school; recitation, "Loving Giving, Wardner, Ruth Hunting; song, "Little Bells of Joy," Wilson, primary department; recitation, "The Christmas Coins," Constance Shaw; chorus, "Our Heavenly King," school; recitation, "Christmas Gifts," Kenneth Dunn; chorus "Be Like Him," school; exercise, "The Christmas Gifts," primary department; duet, "Star, Brightly Beaming," Wilson, Misses Beatrice and Jean Cottrell; recitation, "Our King," Harry Brown; chorus, "The Guest of Honor," school; exercise song, "Lullaby," trio and chorus, primary department; offering for the Christmas fund; chorus, "Hail, the Birth of Heaven's King," school; giving service, "White Gifts for the King," school; solo, selected, Roy E. Titsworth; Postlude.

The committee on program comprises Mr. and Mrs. Theodore G. Davis and Mrs. Sarah Aardner's class, while Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard and primary teachers will be in charge of refreshments, and Alexander W. Vars is chairman of the decoration committee.

GRACE M. E. CHURCH.

There will be special Christmas music at Grace M. E. church Sunday morning. In the afternoon the Sunday-school will hold its Christmas exercises, and at night the choir will sing a Christmas cantata in connection with the regular service.

On Tuesday afternoon the primary department of the Sunday-school will have its Christmas tree, with ice cream and cake for seventy children. In the evening there will be six or eight cottage prayer meetings in connection with special services to be held every night during January. The Christmas entertainment of the Sunday-school will be held Wednesday night. On New Year's Eve there will be a watch night service. Robert Boyd, of Elizabeth, who will have charge of the music during the special meetings in January, will be introduced at this service. The watch night service will start at 9 o'clock with a social hour, in charge of the Epworth League. At 10 o'clock refreshments will be served by the Ladies' Aid Society. At 10:45 there will be a song service led by Mr. Boyd. Following this service there will be consecration, led by Rev. Frederic J. Hubach, the district superintendent, who will also deliver a sermon.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.

There will be C hristmas selections by the choir of this church both morning and evening on Sunday. In the evening at 7:45 o'clock there will be a musical service with the following program: Carols, ancient and modern; anthems by Vincent, Adams and Tours; Christmas songs by Cornelius for alto solo, and several selections for violin and organ. The soloists will be: Mrs. Edith Hallett, Frank, soprano; Miss Leontine de Ahna, contralto; George H. Smith, tenor; William Holmes, baritone; Mrs. Hollis Cubberly, violinist; Howard M. Case, organist.

GRACE P. E. CHURCH.

The musical portion of the Christmas programs at Grace P. E. church will be in charge of the organist and choirmaster, Frederick E. Smith, and will be on the elaborate scale of previous years. In addition to the regular service Christmas morning, and the service on the following Sunday morning, there will be a Christmas Eve carol service at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Old English carols will be sung by a full vested choir as one of the features. The programs for the Christmas morning service and Sunday services are as follows:

Processional, "O, Come All Ye Faithful;" "The Deum," Parker in B; Communion in E Flat; "Hallelujah Chorus;" recessional, "O, Little Town of Bethlehem." Sunday service, 10:30 a. m.—Processional, "Hail Festal Day;" morning prayer, with old Christmas carols; evensong at 4:30 p. m., with Christmas music.

CHURCH OF THE HOLY CROSS.

Rev Thomas Worrall, chaplain of Bellevue Hospital, New York, will officiate at all the services of the Church of the Holy Cross during Christmas. Appropriate programs have been prepared by Charles Davis, organist and choirmaster. Following the custom of last year a midnight Christmas Eve service is to be held, beginning at 12 o'clock tonight, when holy communion will be celebrated. William Holmes will be the assisting soloist on Christmas Day.

TROOP D HAS A MERRY FROLIC

Local Cavalrymen Gather at Their Headquarters for Christmas Celebration.

LIFE IN THE TRENCHES

An English Tommy and Scotch Highlander Afford Much Amusement—Appropriate Gifts for all—Marksmen's Prizes Are Awarded.

The members of Troop D, who gathered last night at the troop headquarters on the corner of Putnam and Kensington avenues, had a glimpse at an accurate reproduction of life in the trenches. At least that was the announcement made of what they would have before the folding-doors were thrown open on "The Scene of the Christmas Entertainment," and sure enough, there was an English tommy (Sargeant Rolston) and a Scotch highlander (Trooper Waiter Righter) concealed by the rear wall of the trench to the waist, and there was a sign which said, "This is a trench," and there also was a periscope labeled, "See the enemy, 2 cts. a look."

The tommy, expertly dropping his aitches, and the Scotchman rolling his r's like a genuine laddie, began to discourse on Christmas. Soon a diminutive Christmas tree appeared, and then a Christmas box. From the box, Sargeant Rolston took various objects which the comments of Trooper Righter showed to be appropriate gifts for various members of the organization. Each one was a palpable hit at some characteristic of the man it was designed for. Each evoked roars of laughter as it was handed out; but most of these "roasts" were too personal to be reported. As a hit at the inexpertness of the whole troop, however, when it first went into camp at Mt. Gretna, last July, Major Bryant was presented with a little cushioned chair bearing the legend, "Next time you come to see Troop D pitch tents go way back and sit down."

Before the entertainment two prizes were awarded for shooting; one, a silver medal to the trooper who had made the highest score in the annual range shooting at Sea Girt in August, and the other to the corporal of the squad which made the highest score. Trooper Clinton Ivins won the medal with a score of 201, and Sargeant Sherman Joost, formerly corporal, the other prize, a silver-handled riding crop. These awards were received with enthusiastic applause. They were followed by Captain Borden's announcement that it was his duty to appoint two lance corporals, and to the satisfaction of everyone he named Robert H. Cox and Marsom Buttfield.

The entire entertainment delighted the forty odd persons present, including the guests, among whom were Mayor Leighton Calkins, former Mayor Percy Stewart, Major Bryant, commander of the first squadron cavalry N. G. N. J.; Captain Rockwell, of the regular army, appointed to instruct Troop D; C. Ames Brooks and Allen Cowperthwait. As soon as the trench scene ended in bursts of laughter, Lewis Williams, troop bugler, took his place at the piano and the troop quartet, Sargeants Joost, McGee and Andrews, and Trooper Tyler, gathered round him to sing the songs so familiar to the troop in their camp at Mt. Gretna last July. At the same time coffee, oysters and sandwiches were served by way of refreshment, and then cigars, and by this time everyone present had joined in the singing.

APOLOGIZES TO MAN HE HIT AND IS RELEASED

Frank Sando was arraigned in court this morning on a charge of having assaulted James Barano, but after he had shown sorrow for his act and apologized to the man he struck he was released by Judge De Meza. The two men engaged in a fight on the street as a result of a trivial argument.

ARREST SUPT. OF NEW POSTOFFICE

Charged With Interfering With Lieut. Higgins in Police Duty.

Because he interfered when Lieut. Higgins, of the local police department, who went to arrest a plumber working on the new postoffice building, S. H. Neily, superintendent of construction, is to be arraigned in police court Monday. He will be charged with interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duty.

Through complaint of a violation of the local health laws, Lieut. Higgins this morning went to the site of the new building on Watchung avenue. He started to arrest Fred Grengrown, a plumber, on a charge of working without a plumber's license. Superintendent Neily interfered with the officer, he says, and attempted to prevent his serving the complaint. Higgins says that the superintendent declared his authority as a federal officer took precedent over city laws or board of health regulations. The police lieutenant got his man and when the plumber had been arrested he made out a complaint against Neily. It will be served this afternoon and both men will be tried in police court Monday morning.

HOSPITAL DANCE WILL BE EVENT OF THE SEASON

You must hurry right along if you want to get into the High School auditorium on Friday night, December 31, to wecome the New Year at the hospital dance.

Everyone is going! And incidentally tickets are going too, so don't waste any more time deciding what to wear. At 1 a. m. last year's evening dress with the skirt shortened will look as well as a Worth gown, and anyway you will always be more in demand for your smiles than for your spangles. As for the men—see "what men are wearing" in all theatre programs.

The dance is held under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary Board and is given for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital.

Dancing begins at 9:30 and continues until 3 a. m. with a few breathing spaces for supper, for which there is no charge, and for a dancing contest for which prizes have been donated.

At the stroke of twelve—but we have to leave something to the imagination. Anyway the "surprise" is from New York and all by itself is worth the price of admission.

Tickets are on sale at Armstrong's, Randolph's drug stores and the Riker-Hegeman Co., and also may be obtained from members of the committee.

THROWN FROM WAGON WHEN HORSES RUNAWAY

Edward Keen, a driver for Henry Nischwitz, of North Plainfield, was badly hurt last night, when the horses he was driving became frightened at a passing automobile, and ran away. He was thrown from the wagon and a deep gash was cut over one eye. It required seven stitches to close the wound. Keen was attended by Dr. A. K. Brennan. He was taken to his home on West Front street, near Washington avenue. The autoist who was responsible for the accident did not step and he is not known.

TRAINING FOR BOYS IS URGED

Assemblyman Pierson Will Present Bills as Step Toward Preparedness.

EXPERT INSTRUCTION

Course of Training in Nursing for Girls is Also Favored and Will Be Incorporated in Legislative Measures.

Bills providing for compulsory military training for High School boys and a course of training in nursing for High School girls will be introduced in the lower House of the Legislature this winter by Assemblyman Arthur N. Pierson. Last year Mr. Pierson, at the request of a prominent citizen, presented four bills along these lines, but this year's measures will be revised to meet conditions as they are better understood. Mr. Pierson, in speaking of proposed bills, says:

"The purpose of this legislation will be twofold: First, to have our future men acquainted somewhat with the military training and service, and furnish the nucleus of a force for defense.

One of the greatest tragedies of the present war in Europe has been the sacrifice of life, because of the utter unfitness of many of the men who have been pressed into the service.

"The physical and mental breakdown of so many of the allied troops is a chapter of the war that has not been seriously considered up to the present time, but is, nevertheless, one of the most pathetic chapters of the history of the present war.

"I believe there is no question but that the thinking people of our land believe that we must take some definite steps toward preparedness, and I know of no better or comprehensive scheme than to give our High School boys military training, and the girls the training in nursing and first aid.

"Second, to furnish the proper means of physical and mental development, under expert instructors.

"Even though there may never be a call to defend our land from invaders, the training our boys and girls would get under such a system would not be lost, as it is my conviction that the thing most lacking in the youth of today is a appreciation of a definite authority, and the necessity for toeing a mark, such as a compulsory military training would furnish.

"Much stress is laid upon the basketball and football play, which is so universal in our high and preparatory schools, but the best value of this play is lost, from the fact that it is not under the supervision of an experienced master. Many of those who are best qualified to judge, question whether the total results of the present practice, which is really a lack of system, are not detrimental rather than beneficial.

"It is my belief that two or three hours each week can be profitably taken from the class room work and put into a course of military training for the purpose of discipline and adequate development, even though there may be no thought of its value as a means to preparedness."

NO POLICE COURT ON CHRISTMAS DAY

Offenders Arrested Tonight Will Be Tried Monday Morning.

There will be no police court tomorrow. Judge William De Meza will enjoy the holiday at home, and he will not fine nor sentence any person on Christmas day. Cases already on the docket will be allowed to go over until Monday and all the prisoners incarcerated in the local police station were disposed of yesterday, so that none will be forced to spend Christmas in a prison cell. If any are arrested tonight on a serious charge or in a helplessly drunk condition they may awake with iron bars in front of them instead of a Christmas tree, but Judge De Meza and Chief Kiely are doing everything possible to keep the station empty through Christmas.

G. O. P. CANDIDATES WIN IN RE-COUNT

Much Praise for Their Success is Given to Attorney W. L. Hetfield, Jr.

Justice James J. Bergen at Somerville last night signed the certificate attesting the election of Bertram Woodruff and William Hutchinson, Republicans, as members of the Elizabeth Excise Board on the recount of the ballots which was concluded late on Wednesday. These two members, with Major W. B. Martin, who was elected to the Board in November, gives the Republicans a majority of one in that body for the first time in many years.

Much praise for the successful outcome of the recount is given to Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., of the firm of Reed & Hetfield, this city, who represented the Republican candidates. The Elizabeth Journal, speaking editorially last night, said: "Attorney Hetfield, too, acting for the Republican candidates, is to be congratulated upon the tactful, dignified and efficient manner in which he represented them and the higher interests of this community." Mr. Hetfield was opposed by four attorneys of Elizabeth.

CELEBRATED THEIR CRYSTAL WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McVoy Entertains Friends in Honor of 15th Anniversary.

In celebration of the fifteenth anniversary of their wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McVoy, of West Fourth street, entertained twenty friends at their home last night. The hours were occupied with a varied program of music, dancing and "500." Prizes were awarded for the latter, the lucky ones being Mrs. William Yeager, Mrs. Leon Harriman and Mrs. Elizabeth Woodard, Arthur Utzinger, Arthur Wilson and Carroll Runyon. Supper was served at midnight. The house was very prettily decorated for the occasion and the celebrants received appropriate presents.

Mr. and Mrs. McVoy were married in the Eighteenth street Methodist church, New York, on December 23, 1900, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. W. K. McDarwood. Mrs. McVoy was formerly Miss Margaret Porter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Porter, of this city. They have always made their home in Plainfield and have hosts of friends locally. Mr. McVoy is a travelling representative for the Gorham Silver Company, of New York, with Michigan as his territory.

CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENTS AT CRESCENT AVE. CHURCH

Primary and junior and senior departments of the Crescent Avenue church held Christmas exercises in the parlors of the church yesterday afternoon and last night. Children in the primary grades assembled at the church in the afternoon. They were entertained by Miss Roadman, of New York, who sang, performed sleight of hand and other feats. William D. Murray was in charge of the program assisted by the following committee: Miss Mabel Pierson, Mrs. Joseph W. Sanford and Mrs. S. M. Voorhees. Senior and junior departments held their exercises last night. Educational and historical moving pictures were a feature of the entertainment. Howard H. Williams, superintendent of the two departments, was in charge of the program assisted by the following committee, Allan Randolph, W. T. Carothers, Miss Mabel C. Halloway, Miss Mary Runkle and Miss Campbell.

MISS M'GAULEY DIES ONE WEEK AFTER FATHER

Exactly one week after the demise of her father, the late Bernard McGauley, Miss Mary Agnes McGauley, died last night at her home on Pond place. She had been ailing with heart trouble for several weeks. Miss McGauley was eighteen years old and was popular with a wide circle of friends. She was graduated from St. Mary's commercial school and was a member of the Children of Mary of St. Mary's parish. She leaves to mourn her loss, her mother, two brothers, John and James, and three sisters, Alice, Helen and Catherine McGauley. The funeral will be held Monday morning in St. Mary's church and burial will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

GREECE TO FIND WAR IN STOCKING

Believed That the Attack on Salonki Has Been Started.

AIR RAIDS REPORTED

Bulgarian Troops Are Party to Attack and Defenders Prepare for Christmas Drive—Ypres Fighting Fiercely Resumed.

Paris, Dec. 24.—Greece will awake Christmas morning to find war in her stocking, if despatches received here from Saloniki today are true.

It is reported that attacks by Germans and Bulgarians on the Anglo-French forces in Greece were begun yesterday. So far there has been no real invasion of Greek territory, because the attacks have been made by aeroplane, but the fact that Bulgarian aviators joined in the raid is accepted as proof that the German allies have decided to follow up the retreating armies. Bulgarian troops have fully respected Greek neutrality in the past because of the enmity between the two countries and the only officer who dared follow retreating Serbians into Greece was immediately punished by the Bulgarian government.

The Anglo-French forces are strongly fortified at Saloniki and are expecting an offensive movement from the north at any time, probably on Christmas Day.

15 French Generals Relieved.

Fifteen more French generals have been relieved of active command by General Joffre in the reorganization of the military establishment. Five were retired and the others placed on the reserve list.

Italy Issues Big Loan.

Rome, Dec. 24.—The King has signed a decree for the issue of an unlimited loan at 5 per cent. interest, redeemable in twenty-six years, at the price of 97.50.

Turk Cruiser Is Sunk.

Greek Oil Steamer Captured.

A despatch from Brindisi announces the capture by two Italian torpedo boats of a Greek steamer carrying oil for Austrian and German submarines in the Mediterranean.

Russ Not Seeking Peace.

Petrograd, Dec. 24.—Reports that Russia is ready to make peace were characterized as senseless by Foreign Minister Saznoff today.

Fighting Resumed at Ypres.

London, Dec. 24.—Hard fighting has been resumed on the front held by the British troops south of Ypres. Improved weather conditions have permitted the renewal of activities, according to a report issued today.

British Losses 528,227.

Premier Asquith announced today that the British casualties on all the front up to December 9 amounted to 528,227

British Steamer Missing.

Dundee, Dec. 24.—The British steamer Moor is missing and is believed to have been sunk by a German submarine. The fate of her crew is unknown.

French Are Driven Back.

Berlin, Dec. 24 (wireless).—German war statement:

"Balkan theatre—No special incidents are reported from this theatre.

"Eastern front—Nothing to report.

"Western—We have completely regained the positions lost to the French at Hartmannsweilerkoph. The French have been driven out of the trenches on the northern slope of the mountain."

TEAMSTER CHARGED WITH BEING CRUEL TO ANIMALS

H. Rentschler.

Miss Harriet Gregory, one of the New Market school teachers who stops with Mrs. D. Miles, of Center street, has gone to her home at Prompton, Pa., to spend the holidays.

Mrs. Samuel M. Titus is ill at her home on Front street.

HEAVY XMAS MAIL.

The Christmas mail arriving at the local postoffice last evening, according to Postmaster Garretson, was the heaviest on record. This attests to the general prosperity of the country and also to the fact that the borough is growing rapidly.

Mrs. Clarence T. Voorhees has been assisting in handling the heavy mail in the local postoffice this week.

Mrs. G. Elston Lowrie, of North avenue, departed yesterday for New London, Conn., to spend Xmas with Mr. and Mrs. G. Elston Lowrie, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Dusel, of Walnut street, spent Thursday in Brooklyn visiting Mr. Dusel's mother, Mrs. M. E. Dusel.

Mrs. Frank Bowlby, of Washington avenue, has been quite ill with the grip for the past several weeks.

Mrs. Silas W. Neilor, of Front street, is reported as being quite ill at her home.

LeRoy Smith, of Front street, who sustained a broken ankle three weeks ago and also suffered an attack of ptomaine poisoning, was out of doors on crutches for the first time yesterday.

CHRISTMAS SERVICES.

The Holy Communion will be celebrated at Holy Innocents' church at 8:30 a. m. Christmas music will be rendered by the vested choir on Sunday at the 3:30 service. The Sunday-school exercises will be held on Tuesday, Holy Innocent's Day, at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. All persons are invited to attend these services.

Former Mayor and Mrs. C. E. Richards will entertain John Haynes and family and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Fowler at a family reunion tomorrow.

ST. JOHN'S SERVICES.

St. John's church will celebrate two masses tomorrow morning. One will be held at 8 o'clock and the other at 10. The choir will render special Xmas music at both masses.

WILL ELECT OFFICERS.

The local order of Foresters will hold a meeting for the nomination of officers in W. G. Holton Hall, Monday evening. Following the business of the evening there will be a smoker and speeches by prominent speakers.

The Christmas entertainment of the Presbyterian Sunday-school will be held in the chapel of the church, Tuesday evening.

Louis Watts, who has been ill for several days, has given up his position as clerk in the grocery store of George T. Schenck.

'Plains & Fanwood.

Special services appropriate to the Christmas season will be held in the Willow Grove chapel on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and will be in charge of the Rev. W. I. Steans, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, of Westfield. The Sunday-school Christmas exercises and cantata will be held in the chapel on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock.

Exercises, consisting of recitations and songs of a Christmas nature, were held in the local schools yesterday afternoon to mark the closing for the annual holiday vacation.

The last rehearsal of the Bible school of the Bapist church before the pageant and cantata to be given on Sunday night will be held in the lecture room of the church tonight at 8 o'clock, with Charles Lewis in charge.

The members of the Sunday-school of the Episcopal church will hold a rehearsal in the Fanwood firehouse on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in preparation for the cantata on Tuesday night. It is entitled "The Christ Child," and will be followed by the appearance of Santa Claus, who will distribute his customary good cheer. After that there will be a dance in the firehouse for the older folks.

The annual Christmas exercises of the Sunday-school of the Methodist church will be held in that edifice tonight at 8 o'clock.

All of the local stores will remain open longer than usual tonight, and will be closed all day tomorrow. The postoffices in the 'Plains and borough will be open from 7 until 10 o'clock in the morning.

An interesting Christmas program has been arranged for the Baptist church for Sunday. The principal service will be in the evening at 7:30, when the pageant and tableaux of the Bible school will be held. The church will be decorated with green and white. On a platform at the front of the church there will be a manger, flanked on either side by Christmas trees. A large star will be shining directly above. The coming of Christ will be portrayed in song and story by the Bible school. The various members of the classes and the representatives of the various departments will go forward and lay gifts in the manger. A silver offering will be taken. At the 10:45 morning service, the Rev. J. Madison Hare will preach on "White Gifts of Self for the King." The Bible school will meet as usual at 9:30. Charles Lewis will be in charge of the singing on Sunday. A stage will run between the Fanwood postoffice and the church for all services.

The Memorial Parish House on Grand street will again be opened after being closed to the public for the past two years. Starting with Monday, it will be open for one week, and possibly longer, although no informatio concerning plans has yet been given out. Monday afternoon the Cradle Roll of the Baptist church will hold its Christmas entertainment in the parish house under the direction of Miss Hannah Hayers, the teacher. On Tuesday night the main school will meet for a good time, including a session with Santa Claus. Friday night there will be a watch service at 9:30.

The Rev. Oscar S. Michael will occupy the pulpit of the Episcopal church at the 11 o'clock morning service Sunday, and will preach a sermon especially appropriate to the holiday season. At the meeting of the Sunday-school at 10 o'clock the hymns and carols to be sung at the cantata on Tuesday night will be sung.

The services at the Methodist church on Sunday will be at the usual hours, with the Rev. Raymond E. Marshall in charge of the morning and evening services. All of the services will be in observance of Christmas.

After a lapse of nearly two years there is about to be a basketball game on the parish house court. The Scotch Plains five has scheduled a game for New Year's Eve.

Watchung.

The Pleasant Word Workers officiated at the Christian Endeavor meeting last evening in the Wilson Memorial church. The Christmas meeting and the topic was, "How he Prophesy of the Angel's Song May Come True." The young women who helped assist the president, Miss Theresa E. Schmidt, and the counsellor, George W. Winans, were the Misses Helen Y. Hughes, Elsie F. Schmidt, Frances Newman, Nora Kuntz and Helen Schmidt.

Charles A. Eaton, of Woodstock, Ontario, is spending the holidays with his parents.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the North Plainfield Township Improvement Society will give its annual masquerade dance on New Year's Eve in the Improvement Hall.

Miss Aubrey Eaton, who recently underwent an operation for appendicitis in the Boston Hospital, has returned to her home.

The Watchung school closed today for the Christmas vacation. Principal Daniel H. Hawkins has returned to his home at East Setaucket, Fl.; Miss Stella M. Sheets has returned to her home at Clinton, and Miss Marguerite Dilts has returned to her home at Stewartsville.

Rev. Mebane Ramsay, pastor, will have charge of a special missionary service at the Wilson Memorial church, Sunday, when it is hoped to raise $50 for the board of foreign missions.

Miss Helen Y. Hughes, a student at Mt. Holyoke College, is home for the holiday season.

Adel and Richard Moldenke are home from Columbia College for the Christmas holidays.

XMAS IN LOCAL CHURCHES

accompanied by the full vested choir. These programs will be given:

Christmas Day, 11 a. m.—Processional, "O, Come All Ye Faithful;" Communion Service, Woodward, in D; hymn before sermon, "Christians, Awake;" offertory anthem, "Nazareth;" recessional, "Hark! the Herald." Sunday after Christmas, 11 a. m.—Processional, "O Come All Ye Faithful;" Venite, Jones; Te Deum, Steane, in F; Jubilate, Garrett; hymn before sermon, "Thou Didst Leave Thy Throne;" offertory anthem, "Sing, O Heavens;" recessional, "Angels from the Realms of Glory." 9:30 Sunday-school; 7:45, evensong and sermon.

CHURCH OF HEAVENLY REST.

The Church of the Heavenly Rest has been elaborately decorated for the Christmas service, and special programs have been arranged under the direction of the rector, Rev. Cortlandt H. Mallery. Holy communion will be celebrated at 7 and 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, and at 10 o'clock there will be a choral eucharist and sermon, with the following musical program:

Processional, "Adeste Fideles," by Reading; Communion Service in E Flat, from Simper; hymn before the sermon, "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," from Willis; offertory anthem, "Sing, O Heavens," by Clare, recessional hymn, "Angels from the Realms of Glory," by Smart.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH.

Under the direction of the organist, Miss Mary Smith, the following program will be given at the two high masses in St. Mary's church tomorrow: Prelude, Lemare; processional, "Holy Night," Adam, chancel choir and choir; Kyrie, Mentzel; Gloria in Excelsis, Mentzel; Veni Creator, Millard; Credo, Mentzel; offertory, "Adeste Fidelis," Novello; Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnus Dei, Mentzel; recessional, "Come, All Ye Faithful," choir and chancel choir; Postlude, Grey. The assisting choir is composed of Miss Mary Donnelley, soprano; Nora McCarthy, contralto; Albert Mathews, tenor, and Thomas Roddy, bass. Masses will be at 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30 and 10:30. The first and last masses are solemn high masses. Children's mass will be at 8:30.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

Special Christmas-tide music will be a feature of both services at this church tomorrow. At the morning service the anthems to be used will include: "O, Babe Divine," Dressler; "The Light of Earth," Coombs; "O, Little Town of Bethlehem," Nevin. At the evening service, which will be entirely musical, the regular quartet choir, assisted by additional voices, will give Buck's cantata, "The Coming of the King." Miss Ethel Kinnaman, contralto of the regular quartet will be the soloist at the evening service. Roswell Weitzel, violinist, of New York, will be the soloist at both services. The regular quartet—Miss Laura Gustafson, soprano; Miss Ethel Kinnaman, contralto; Alexander MacGowan, tenor; Edgar Cole baritone—will be assisted at the evening service by Miss Irma Good, soprano; Miss Ruth Voorhees, contralto; Elmer Cutting tenor; William Smith, bass. Clifford A. Braider, organist and director.

In addition there will be special exercises in the Sunday-school at 9:45 o'clock by children in the beginners' and primary departments. Dr. James R. Joy, superintendent, will be in charge of the program. The beginners' department, of which Mrs. Arthur Crone is the superintendent, will sing Christmas carols, and these children will recite: Vaughn Mackey, Ursula Johanson, Ruth Strayer, George Knight, Marguerite Beekman, Florence Bolsterle, Wilbur Bolsterle, Jean Wadley, Bert Wadley, Barbara Dunavan, Kenneth Dennick, Frances VanCleef, Douglas Crone. The primary department, of which Miss Edna French is superintendent, will also sing carols, and these children will recite: Claude Hann, William Hovey, Alice Sutphen, Edith Mantz and Kathryn Clark.

ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH.

Christmas will be ushered in at St. Joseph's church tonight with a solemn high mass at midnight, at which time a mixed choir of voices will render a special musical program. The choir will be under the direction of J. E. Bailey, while Mrs. H. G. DeMeza will be at the organ. During the mass the following musical program will be rendered: Processional, "On Where the Glory is Guiding," by Geibel; "Kyrie Eleison," by Brown; "Gloria," by Brown; "Credo," by Brown; "Adeste Fideles," by Novello; "Sanctus," by Brown; "Agnus Dei," by Brown; recessional, "March of the Priests," from "Athalie," by Mendelssohn. The special soloists for the mass will be: Soprano, Miss Elsie Moulton; contralto, Mrs. George Aller; tenor, P. J. Bailey; bass, J. E. Bailey. They will be accompanied by an augmented choir.

During the solemn high mass the pastor, Rev. Father P. J. Hart, will be the celebrant; Rev. Father John Baldwin, of Mt. St. Mary College, the deacon, and one of the Passionist Fathers from St. Michael's Monastery, Hoboken, sub-deacon. Rev. Father Hart will preach the Christmas sermon. Masses on Christmas morning will be at 7:30 and 9:30.

MT. ZION A. M. E. CHURCH.

A. Preston White, organist and choirmaster of Mt. Zion church, has arranged the following musical program for the Sunday night service: Processional, "Holy, Holy, Lord;" anthem, "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing;" [illegible] solos, "Cantinque de Noel," by Adams; anthem, "Glory to God on High;" tenor solo, "Star of Bethlehem;" anthem, "Gloria," from Mozart's Twelfth Mass; recessional.

ALL SOULS' CHURCH.

At All Souls' church the pastor, Rev. John Baltsly, will preach a sermon appropriate for the end of the year at the service Sunday morning at 10:30. During this service the annual collection for Muhlenberg Hospital will take place.

PARK AVENUE BAPTIST.

At the Park Avenue Baptist church there will be a union of the church and Sunday-school in an elaborate service at 10:30 Sunday morning. Carols will be sung by the Sunday-school and the church choir, and recitations and exercises by the children will be a feature. There will be no regular Sunday-school service at 9 o'clock because of this fact. In the evening Christmas anthems will be sung and the pastor, Rev. J. Birney

DON'T EXPERIMENT.

You Will Make No Mistake If You Follow This Plainfield Citizen's Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys.

If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are frequently symptoms of kidney trouble, and a remedy which is recommended for the kidneys should be taken in time.

Doan's Kidney Pills is a good remedy to use. No need to experiment. It has acted effectively in many cases in Plainfield. Follow the advice of a Plainfield citizen.

A. K. Mattis, 127 West Fourth street, Plainfield, says: "I confirm all that one of my family said in my favor in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Randolph's drug store, some years ago. The cure they gave me has lasted."

Price 50 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Mattis had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

KNIGHTS' FIVE WINS THIRD GAME IN ROW

Overwhelms Inexperienced Borough Team by Score of 47 to 6.

Taking the lead at the very start, the Knights of Columbus basketball men held things practically their own way throughout their game with the Canadian Five last night on the Columbus Hall court, when they defeated the boroughites by the score of 47 to 6. This makes the third consecutive victory for the Knights, since they opened their season last week. The Canadian Five that played last night is not the team of the same name that is composed of former Y. M. C. A. players.

Although the game was a one-sided affair, the borough boys frequently made pretty passes down the floor, but invariably the strong defensive guards of the Knight team broke up the teamwork and sent the sphere rolling in the vicinity of the home net.

Every member of the West Front street five had an opportunity to cage at least one goal. At the conclusion of the first period the score stood 19 to 1 in favor of the Knights, the Canadians caging one solitary foul goal. During the second period, Moulton caged a pretty field goal and three tallies from the fifteen foot line. He was the lone scorer on the visiting quintet.

Linke, Coyle and Bryniarski were high score men for the Knights, Linke and Coyle making nine and six field goals respectively, and two goals and seven fifteen foot tallies being credited to Bryniarski.

The score:

HARRINGTON CONCERN FILES CERTIFICATE OF DISSOLUTION

Trenton, Dec. 24.—Frederic Harrington, Inc., a corporation at 1840 North Front street, Plainfield, has filed a certificate of dissolution with the Secretary of State. It was chartered June 24, 1914, with an authorized capital stock of $165,000 to take over the leather manufacturing business of Frederick Harrington at Dunellen.

Harrington was the largest stockholder, the others being Edward M. Meek, of Elizabeth, and Harold Remington, of New York city. Joseph M. Delaney, of New York city, was president and treasurer.

KITTY CHEATHAM HAS A WAY ALL HER OWN

Kitty Cheatham, whose reputation as a child-entertainer is nation-wide, will give a children's matinee at the Plainfield High School, Tuesday afternoon, December 28, at 2:30 o'clock. The program of songs and stories will be appropriate to the holidays. The Philadelphia Public Ledger in speaking of Miss Cheatham says:

"It is good for us all to be brought face to face occasionally with the ways and scenes of childhood and with the creations of a vivid and healthy imagination. If we can yield to the spell and influence wrought by Kitty Cheatham and enter heart and soul into the spirit of such occasions we shall stay, for a while at least, the hand that paints remorselessly in tones of gray, and chisels, unrelentingly, lines of care and years premature into our faces."

SANTA USING AUTOMOBILES FOR HIS WORK IN PLAINFIELD

Instead of devoting one sleigh drawn by reindeers to the work of bringing good cheer, Santa Claus is having his work done in Plainfield today by some forty big automobiles, whose owners are bringing Christmas cheer to nearly nine hundred local kiddies at the request of the Community Christmas committee. From 10 o'clock this morning, until late this afternoon, big cars have been driven up to the Y. M. C. A. building, loaded down with the good things that all the youngsters like to find at the Christmas time, to say nothing of flour and other necessities for the grown-ups, and have started on their joy-giving rounds.

The Community Christmas this year has been more successful than at any time in the past. Subscriptions have been liberal, and the sum of money to be devoted to the purpose, when all returns are in tonight, will probably break all records. Those whose contributions were received by DeWitt Hubbell, the treasurer, at the Plainfield Trust Company since yesterday are: Cupbearers Circle, King's Daughters; F. J. Pierson, Mildred Dewey, Mrs. C. C. Burke, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ora S. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Williams and Rev. W. H. Neilson. The total amount on hand to this morning was $1,374.

50TH ANNIVERSARY OF THEIR WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Grannatt Celebrate Tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Grannatt, of West Fourth street, will hold a family gathering at their home tonight in celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. It was intended to have an elaborate observance of the occasion, but this has been given up owing to the fact that Mrs. Grannatt has only recently recovered from a very severe illness and is not yet entirely well.

Mr. and Mrs. Grannatt were married in St. Mark's church, Brooklyn, on December 24, 1865. The ceremony was performed by the rector, Rev. Dr. Haskins. They moved to Plainfield in 1875, and have resided here since, living practically all that time at their present West Fourth street address. The couple have three sons and three daughters living. They are Mrs. Bradley Hall and Mrs. George Harris, of this city; Mrs. Wilbur LaMott, of Elizabeth; Harry Grannatt, of this city. Another son, Edward Grannatt, died in Savannah, Ga., two years ago.

ITALIANS AIR TROUBLE BEFORE POLICE JUDGE

Michael Mello, an Italian, was arraigned in police court yesterday morning on a charge of disorderly conduct. The complaint against him was made by Joseph Limone, who was represented by Attorney Mitchele A. Paticchio, who acted as prosecutor. The case grew out of a difficulty between the two Italians and Judge De Moya suspended sentence against the defendant.

STOLE FIRE CHIEF'S AUTO FOR MIDNIGHT JOY RIDE

That all men possessed of an abnormal nerve are not in Germany just now was proven last night when a joy-rider stole the car of the chief of the Perth Amboy fire department. The machine was taken from the chief's garage about 1 a. m. It was painted red with the lettering, "Chief of Fire Department, Perth Amboy, N. J." on both sides in gold letters. Plainfield police were notified of the theft, but a few hours later the joy-rider was caught by a patrolman in Perth Amboy, who recognized the car and was locked up.

MR. AND MRS. VOEHL TO GIVE CHRISTMAS PARTY

Following a custom in vogue for the past thirty-five years, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Voehl, of 39 Grove street, will give a Christmas party at their home this evening to relatives and friends.

The home will be decorated with a Christmas tree and holly and mistletoe. The celebration will start with the serving of a sumptuous supper. Then will come the distribution of presents, followed by the playing of games, dancing and music. Refreshments will be served during the latter festivities.

The guests will be: Mr. and Mrs. George Voehl and family, of Dunellen; John Voehl and John F. Kuij and daughter, Miss Frances, of Bayonne; Mrs. Eliza Carney, of Newark, Lester Conklin, of Brooklyn, and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gnatz, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Miller, Miss Tina Voehl, Miss Edna Sebring, Miss Delia Voehl, Elliott Taylor and Frank Merritt, all of this city.

TREES FOR THE BIRDS.

New York, Dec. 24.—A Christmas tree for the birds, suggested by the National Association of Audubon Societies, is being adopted by many housewives in the northern States where the feathered creatures of the air have their hardest battle for life at this time of the year. Any kind of a branch which can be attached outside a window and to which food can be attached serves to attract the birds. Small pieces of suet are wound on the limbs or twigs, so that no one piece is within a foot of any other. This method of fastening the food has prevented quarreling among the hungry birds, and several birds are often seen feeding at once at the same window.

KIDDIES GUESTS OF ELKS.

More than one thousand children gathered at Proctor's Theatre at 2 o'clock this afternoon as guests of Plainfield Lodge of Elks at the annual Christmas entertainment. A special program of pictures and vaudeville is being provided by Manager Hart. At the conclusion of the performance late this afternoon the youngsters will be given candy and oranges.

ALL STARS VS. TABS.

On the T. A. B. S. basketball floor tomorrow evening, the Tabs will try to redeem themselves against the All Stars, of North Plainfield. The boroughites have earned two victories on the Abstainers' court this season, and the Tabs are anxious to avenge these beatings.

ONLY 201 HAVE NEW AUTOMOBILE TAGS

900 More Cars Must Be Licensed for the Coming Year.

But 201 automobile licenses have been issued for the new year in the Plainfield district, and there are 900 more machines that must have these tags before January 1, 1916, if the cars are to be used by their owners, according to J. J. McCann, inspector for this district. Mr. McCann will issue no licenses tomorrow nor Sunday, but application blanks may be secured at his home on Sunday. He lives at 611 Division street. During next week he will be at his office in the State Trust Company.

HENRY FORD QUITS; IS ON WAY TO U. S.

He Left the Ark and Peace Party at Christiana, Today.

Christiana, Dec. 24.—Henry Ford has quit. He sailed today for the United States, leaving all members of his peace party but one on the Oscar II., or in parts of neutral countries where they are holding peace meetings.

Convinced of the futility of getting the boys out of the trenches by Christmas, the American jitney manufacturer became discouraged, and after suffering a three-day attack of illness, he deserted the Ark. He was a passenger on board the Norwegian liner Bergensfjord when it sailed for New York this morning.

EDWARD K. SCHOMP TO WED MISS BUSH

Ceremony Will Be Performed at Bride's Home in Readington, Tomorrow Noon.

Edward Karl Schomp, son of Mrs. Rose Schomp, of 166 Grove street, the borough, will be married at noon tomorrow to Miss Ethel Magdalen Bush, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvah F. Bush, of Readington. The ceremony will take place at the home of the bride's parents in Readington, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. B. V. D. Wyckoff, pastor of the Readington Reformed church.

The home will be elaborately decorated for the occasion. The color scheme of the decorations will be yellow and white. The music will be in charge of Mr. Rockafellow, of Lebanon. The bride will wear a gown of white crepe de chine and veil. She will carry a shower bouquet of white bridal roses.

Miss May Madison, of Summit avenue, will be bridesmaid. She will wear a gown of yellow crepe de chene and carry a shower bouquet of yellow roses.

Miss Florence Laing, of Pleasant Run, will be the maid of honor. She will wear a grown of white crepe de chene over yellow, and will carry a shower bouquet of white bridal roses. The best man will be Irving Sowers, of Pottersville.

The ushers will be George Latourette, of the borough; Jason Apgar of Lebanon, and John M. Bush, a brother of the bride.

The groom's present to the bride will be a gold bracelet. To the best man and ushers he will give stickpins. The bride will present her attendants with gold brooches.

Following the ceremony there will be a wedding dinner and a reception. The couple will take a trip through Delaware.

A reception will be tendered to the couple on January 3 by the groom's mother, with whom they will make their home until February 1, when they will commence housekeeping at 109 Elmwood place.

The groom, who has been employed by Conover & Company, painters and decorators, has resigned his position with that firm to start in the express and delivery business for himself after the first of the year. He is a members of the Trinity Reformed church and the Knights of the Golden Eagles.

FUNERAL SERVICE OF MRS. A. A. HUMMER HELD

The funeral of Mrs. Ann A. Hummer, aged eighty-six years, mother of Louis A. and Charles M. Hummer, of this city, was held yesterday at the home of her son, Mansfield Hummer, at Annandale. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, she being well known in that locality. She was highly respected by all who knew her for her kindly deeds and faithful service. The burial was in the family plot at the Bethlehem Presbyterian church, near Clinton, of which Mrs. Hummer was a member for sixty years.

Mrs. Hummer's husband was an elder in the above named church. He died thirty years ago. There survives four sons, Mansfield, and William Hummer, of Annandale, and Louis A. and Charles M. Hummer, of this city. The sons were pallbearers at the funeral.

NATHANIEL HENDRY DIES IN HIS FIFTY-FIFTH YEAR

Nathaniel Hendry, a resident of this city for the past twenty-seven years, died at three o'clock this morning at his home, 1179 South Second street. He had not been in good health for the past six months but was able to work until about two weeks ago when he was taken with a severe cold. Complications ensued and he sank rapidly.

Mr. Hendry, who was a native of Scotland, was fifty-five years old. He came to Plainfield from Philadelphia and for a long time was employed at the Pond Tool Works. His last position was with the Scott Press Works. Beside his wife, he is survived by three daughters and one son, Mrs. David B. Martin, Mrs. Louis Berger, Miss Marjorie Hendry and James Hendry. There are also surviving a sister, Mrs. William Doig, and a brother, Thomas Hendry, all residing in this city.

The funeral will be held at the late residence Sunday afternoon at two o'clock and will be in charge of Rev. Frederic L. Greene, pastor of Hope chapel, of which Mr. Hendry was a member. Burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

The Christmas attraction at the U. S. Astor Theatre will be "Poor Schmalz," in which the funniest of all stage comedians, Sam Bernard, will make his motion picture debut. The production is in five uproarious reels and was made by the Famous Players Film Company. Indeed, it justly may be considered the best five-reel comedy ever made.

Mr. Bernard, who has always been a great favorite with Plainfield theatre-goers, has ample opportunity in this subject to put into effect all his Bernardisms, for which he has long been famous. He portrays the part of a count and, of course, gets into much trouble. The story is not only very funny but has lots of interest. It will amuse the children, especially. No better photo-play attraction for Christmas could have been selected than "Poor Schmalz."

CHRISTMAS.

Tomorrow is Christmas. Again a Christian people stop in their pursuit of wordly happiness to find the real life, that of service to others. If Jesus Christ had given nothing else to the world he would have made it better and brighter for this observance of his birthday; a period when every man or woman, no matter what his or her code of morality, gives something to brighten the lives of loved ones or a less fortunate brother or sister. Christmas is universally observed as a day of giving, but by giving is not meant the conferring of handsome presents or the ostentatious distribution of food and toys among a poor people that are in need of human understanding and help, but the giving of self, the lending of something to the life of another that will make his or her burdens easier to bear and will imbue the unfortunate one with a brighter spirit for the new year ahead.

Christmas is also a day of cheer. To be Christ-like is to be cheerful, and to scatter Christianity is to scatter sunshine and laughter. The greatest Christmas present any individual can give, no matter what his amount of worldly riches, is a kindly word, a smile and a thought that will cheer the recipient and leave him stronger and better armed for the battle against odds. Most times a happy "Merry Christmas," with a smile, is a better gift than a whole drawerful of costly jewelry, because it is in keeping with the Christmas spirit of "Good will toward men."

America mourns at this Christmas time that her neighbors across the sea are scattering death and sorrow instead of Christmas cheer, but Americans should cling the more closely to peace because of this, and should observe the birthday of the Saviour with more feeling, for without him and his teachings of love and service, there would be no peace even here.

The greatest news that has come out of England recently for those here who are praying for the defeat of the Germans is contained in British admissions of blunders. Such frankness after months of boasting and false reports of victories indicate that England is just now realizing the seriousness of the war and is facing it fairly. The English bulldog is awake.

Our idea of the optimist about this time of year is the guy who can wake up Christmas morning in a dismal boarding house "trench," break a twig off a hedge for a Christmas tree, sit down to a dinner of pea soup, breast of lamb and mince pie, and then smile all day long when he is wished a "Merry Christmas."

England has called another million men to the colors, and Germany has drawn in its youth to fill holes in the firing line. There cannot be much of the Christmas spirit of peace on earth and good will toward men among European mothers this year.

It is said that less than half of Sir Rudyard Kipling's checks are ever cashed, but are kept by admiring creditors. Our ambition had died to a faint spark, but now it is fanned to roaring flame. And some people refer to fame as "hollow!"

This is the season of the year when little ones spend their time trying to solve the mystery of Santa Claus and grownups spend theirs longing for the yesterdays when they, too, believed.

Only those who make some little child happy are entitled to feel that they have really lived through Christmas.

Following the usual custom there will be no edition of the Daily Press tomorrow, Christmas Day.

Well, do it late then! Better that than never.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The richest treasures in architecture and symmetry will be revealed at the Plainfield Theatre, Monday and Tuesday nights, and Tuesday matinee, December 27-28, during a trip with Lyman H. Howe to the California Expositions via the Panama Canal. The "fifty million dollar show" at San Francisco with its heroic proportions, triumphal arches, giant columns, splendid courts, and magnificent buildings as filmed by Howe's photographers seems well worth the cost. It is a dream city of palaces with colonnaded avenues and as portrayed by Howe marks an epoch in the history of the great International Expositions just as the completion of the great waterway at the Isthmus is epochal in world history. The San Francisco Exposition as presented by Howe strikes a new note in exposition architecture. Taken as a whole it may be more fittingly termed a "symphony in architecture" that suggests and combines the mysticism of the Orient, the classic of the Greek period, the beauty of the old Spanish or "mission" style, the luxuriousness of the Roman and Italian and the massive solidity of the Gothic

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Special announcement is made that there will be no advance in prices at Proctor's on Christmas Day, a fact that is new in local theatricals and may be regarded as Mr. Proctor's Christmas present to the Plainfield public. This fact, coupled with the excellent program, will tend to attract an enormous crowd tomorrow. The photo-plays presented for the latter half of the week include two of the best Triangle Plays released, "The Disciple" and "Saved By Wireless." William S. Hart assumes the leading role in "The Disciple." Mr. Hart was selected out of a hundred stars to enact the role of the "Shootin' Parson." "Saved By Wireless" is an extremely funny farce dealing in a burlesque way with the modern war melo-drama. Chester Conklin and Mack Swain, of Ambrose and Walrus fame, are the chief funmakers, and Swain as the chief spy is a fearsome figure. The vaudeville entertainment consists of a child prodigy billed as Baby Esmond, who endears herself in the hearts of the audience by her clever rendition of catchy songs. Kaiser's terriers furnish abundant amusement for the little folks, while Eddie Murray, the tramp comedian, offers a line of funny sayings and nonsensical patter that goes big with the spectators. Ward and McHugh keep the audience in a continual uproar with their comic capers, and also offer popular song numbers. Today as a special attraction, the local order of Elks will present all the children with Christmas presents. This event will take place this afternoon in place of the usual toy matinee. The Triangle Plays booked for the first part of the week are Thomas Jefferson and Tully Marshall in "The Sable Lorcha" (A Chinese Mystery), and Raymond Hitchcock in "Stolen Magic" (Keystone).

Christmas

This is His birthday! Let us make it sweet
For Him who went about with willing feet
On loving errands, while He dwelt below,
And taught us all of kindness we may know.

This is His birthday! What the gifts we bring
To Him who is the world's perpetual King?
Though now the nations at His rule rebel,
In His good time all things shall yet be well.

This is His birthday! From His throne above
Let Him this day hear only sounds of love
From human lips. Let hatred cease for aye—
This is the gift He craves from us to-day.

Christmas Day

Christmas is a time for being perfectly happy.

And you can't be perfectly happy unless you are contributing to, or at least not interfering with, the happiness of somebody else.

If you cater to your own selfish instincts brutishly, somebody else will be mortified about it—probably someone who loves you, at that—and that can't help reflecting on you and your joy.

If you can be happy only when you have plenty to eat, go to it, pig, and fill up—just tamp yourself.

To-morrow you will be miserable.

And we don't want you to be miserable to-morrow.

We want you to have the kind of happiness with no hang-over or next morning to it.

In other words, we want to-morrow also to be happy, which will raise the average of your happiness just that much.

We have to think about averages a lot of the time in this world.

We've harped a lot in this column about your going home to see your parents.

Did you?

You didn't! You ought to be ashamed of yourself—what!

O we beg your pardon, lad! We hadn't heard about that.

But you just go on spreading that "go home to see the folks" gospel the rest of your life, won't you? You're more convinced of the wisdom and kindness of it right now than you ever were, aren't you?

And you're not going to gloom selfishly around over Christmas, either.

This is no day for selfishness of any sort, even of grief.

Think Of This

Say, bo, just getting down to facts,
Our job as jester scorning,
Has anyone, by your kind acts,
Been gladder since this morning?

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

A Popular Fault Of Education

WHATEVER may be the policies of school boards and superintendents, it is gratifying to know that many good teachers take it upon themselves to instruct their pupils in posture, breathing and practical hygiene. When your little John or Mary comes home with such newfangled ideas you may congratulate yourself upon the competence of the teacher.

There is one great fault in modern education, at least in the education of the majority of school children. We who grew up handy by the old swimming hole were not denied instruction in the noble art of self-support—in water. Nowadays swimming holes are comparatively few and far between, and what there are of them may very likely be considered contaminated and dangerous, if parents are not chicken-hearted about letting the youngsters avail themselves of the rightful privilege of a daily dip.

The public school ought to teach swimming. Recent trends of education seem to follow a more practical direction than has been the custom in the past. Manual training is receiving a fair share of consideration in the public schools. The young graduate is a lot better equipped than we were in our day.

If asked to choose for our children between a course of instruction in swimming and a course in algebra or bookkeeping or astronomy, we would unhesitantly declare for swimming. There are conceivable occasions when algebra, bookkeeping and astronomy would be of little avail, and an elementary knowledge of self-support in the water might prove exceedingly valuable, not only for the individual but for others.

The swimming tank in the public school is the next logical step in practical education. Manual training and the open air school-room have eliminated a lot of senseless cramming and fogyism from the preliminary school course. Let us install the swimming tank and turn out self-confident men and women instead of timid mollycoddles.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Nitroglycerin A Powerful Drug

Is nitroglycerin, one-hundredth grain tablets, a good remedy for palpitation?

Answer—It is a very powerful drug, capable of working serious injury. Take it only under the personal supervision of your physician.

Closed And Open Tuberculosis

Please inform me what doctors call a "closed" and an "open" case of tuberculosis, and how these differences affect one's admissibility to a hospital.

Answer—Closed if no bacilli are given off in the sputum; open if bacilli are present in the sputum. Some hospitals will not admit an open case, because of fear of infection of other patients.

The Cause Of Bunions

Will you kindly inform me what causes bunions and how to prevent them?—asks a school principal.

Answer—The outward turning last, the sole that seeks to travel off at a tangent instead of hewing to the straight and narrow path. The unspoiled great toe is as straight as a string.

CHRISTMAS

CHRISTMAS is a season of great joy and phenomenal expense, which begins about the middle of December, passes the crisis on the 25th and gradually tapers off to the first of the year, though some of the scars do not disappear until much later.

Christmas is one of the few good things not of American invention, though even Christmas has been vastly enlarged and improved in this country. It was "made in Germany," where most of the Christmas toys are produced, and is celebrated wherever pine trees and mixed candy can be found. Originally, Christmas gifts were deposited in the stockings of the recipients but the feet of the people have not grown as fast as their expectations, so trucks and piano boxes are now used instead.

Christmas means good will to men and we therefore celebrate it by sending dolls to our nieces, drums to our nephews, good books to our aunts, roses to our sweethearts and cigars to our neighbors. It is such a happy season that we can buy all of these things in crowded stores, pay for them, wrap them up and stand in line long hours at express offices with them without biting anyone; moreover, owing to the good feeling which prevails in this season, a bald-headed man can get up at 6 A. M., go down to the front door in his bare feet, pay 79 cents express charges and unwrap a beautiful celluloid box full of explosive hair brushes without suing the friend who sent it.

Christmas is full of delight for children and is also regarded with great pleasure by cabmen, elevator boys, delivery boys, telegraph messengers, waiters, pin boys and shoe shiners, all of whom become beggars for one week only with great success. But Christmas is very hard on fathers and clerks and expressmen and letter-carriers—especially the latter—who look like movable mountains as they stagger along the street delivering dolls, shoes, Turkish slippers, candy, flowers, Noah's arks, and books. There used to be a current belief that Santa Claus, a rosy old gent with a vast wilderness of white whiskers, had charge of the delivery of Christmas presents. But the letter-carrier is the modern Santa Claus, and not being allowed reindeers by the post-office department, he usually makes good from two days to two weeks late.

The letter-carrier is the modern Santa Claus

The Christmas tree comes into bloom on Christmas morning and yields vast crops of woolly dogs, tin horns and candy. Everybody is very glad when Christmas comes, especially fathers, who are so glad that they usually go down-town and make up with their worst enemies. There are no quarrels, divorces, lawsuits or gentlemen's agreements on the peaceful Christmas Day, which makes it cheap at the price.

The Jews Of Kaifeng

THE ancient city of Kaifeng, once the capital of China and a city of great importance, is now best known as the location of the remnant of a colony of Jews, which has existed for many centuries without communication with others of their religion or their race. How this colony of Jews came to be established in the heart of China is a problem which has puzzled many historians, but they have come to the conclusion that it must have been established in the first century of the Christian era. Some think it was formed by Jews who fled from Babylon about A.D. 24, when there was a terrible massacre of Jews, no less than 50,000 being killed. Others believe that the settlement was made 351 years later, following the fall of Jerusalem, while some hold that it had an even earlier origin, and think that ancestors of these Jews were referred to in Isaiah xlix. 12, "And these from the land of Sinim."

From inscriptions found in the ruins of their synagogue, as well as the accounts of early missionaries and travelers in China, it is known that at one time the Jewish congregation was large and important, and able to support a fine synagogue. As late as the first part of the eighteenth century the colony was still vigorous, and the members could be distinguished from their neighbors by their Hebraic features. But the colony was declining, for a flood in 1642 destroyed the fine synagogue, and swept away a large part of the treasured manuscripts. A number of the Jews were drowned, including all of the teachers, and no one survived who could read Hebrew, a knowledge they had preserved during nearly two thousand years of isolation. However, the synagogue was rebuilt in 1653, and pitiful efforts made to repair and revise the sacred manuscripts which remained.

A half century ago when communication with the outside world was possible, Jews in America and Europe began to take an interest in this little colony. At that time only seven of the original seventy Jewish clans remained, and the synagogue was in ruins. Through intermarriage a large number of the Jews had lost their racial identity. However, the colony still remains distinct from the local Chinese population. Its members refrain from eating pork, and proudly declare themselves to be Jews.

Pepper Talks

BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

U. S.

In the private office of the President of one of the greatest of American concerns are these two letters in big, black type on a framed card—U. S. These letters might stand for a good many things. But this is what they actually abbreviate—Universal Spirit. They also mean to—

Co-operate.

The Universal Spirit makes one man Trust another, makes a man want to be Loyal to himself, to his friends, to his ideals and to his business connections. And after all the Universal Spirit is but the great desire to help make things run along smoothly—to get things done without sand scraping in the Gears.

Co-operate.

Fear, Friction, Discouragement, Distrust, Disloyalty—each is but the back-firing of a lack of the Universal Spirit. You won't have any strikes in your shop if its motto is the Universal Spirit. To get it start with the Golden Rule.

Co-operate.

Believe that you and your employees have a composite part in what goes to make up the finest part of happiness and you wont need to use the dictionary to define the meaning of the Universal Spirit. It is just to—

Co-operate.

Peace On Earth

"Peace on earth, good will to men!"
Send the message once again
To that world across the sea
Mad with blood lust's butchery.

Christmas greetings? Will they stay
Hands that slaughter for a day?
Will they touch the hearts of them
Who've forgotten Bethlehem?

"Peace on earth!" There's music where Rise these words upon the air;
But what boots their magic spell
'Midst the crash of shot and shell?

Christmas greetings let us send
With the prayer that war may end,
But it seems so long ago
Peace went with the mistletoe!

Married Life on $80 a Month

BY MRS. DIA LEONARD

Mr. Cane's Interest in Julia Osgood Is Not On the Decline.

"I saw Mr. Cane on the street last night on my way home," said John Sutner as Julia Osgood came into the office. "I hope no more books need inspection."

"I guess he was not sent for by Mr. Jaynes." Julia's face was very pink. John wondered if it could be the cold weather that caused it.

"Oh, so you know about it, do you?" he chaffed. "Well, I am glad to be assured that he comes here in peace."

Julia seemed very much absorbed in her work and did not reply. As the other occupants of the room began to drop in nothing more was said.

As Julia passed his desk on the way out at noon she said:

"Ask Molly if she will be at home this afternoon after I am through here. I want to see her."

"I'll ask her, but I am sure she will be. You know we have a boarder now?"

"No; how long since?" asked the girl.

"She has been there a little over a week. Molly has an idea that she can help financially that way, so she is trying it out."

"She is a brick, all right. You'll make a go of it with both of you lifting on the load." She nodded brightly and was gone.

Julia left a little early that night and found Molly sitting by the window watching for her. She opened the door and extended her hand in joyous welcome.

"I've been looking forward to seeing you all the afternoon," she exclaimed, taking her hat and coat. "It was very kind of you to come to see me when you are so busy."

"My time for society is rather abbreviated," laughed the girl. "Oh, I have something so jolly to tell you," she began.

"I think I know what it is, but go on."

"I suppose your husband told you that he saw Mr. Crane on the street last night." Julia paused and looked down.

"Yes, I am crazy to hear about it," urged Molly.

"He wants me to come down to Kansas City to attend an opera with him. He invited mother to go with me for company, but she does not want to go. She does not like opera. Think of it! I can't understand it."

"So you can't go," said Molly regretfully.

"I can't give it up. I have so little pleasure, and I care about this particularly. Won't you go with me?"

"Me!" exclaimed Molly in amazement. "I'd love to but I could not afford it."

"Why, it would not cost you anything. You would go as my chaperon, all expenses paid. Your husband could see us onto the train, and Mr. Cane would meet us at the train and see us safely off. And then we would work poor Mr. Sutner again to get us home in the wee small hours when the train comes in. Will you go? Do, Molly, do," urged the girl. "I can't bear to give it up."

"Here comes John," said Molly, as that individual turned in at the gate. "We will see what he says about it. I am as crazy to go as you are."

"Oh, John!" Molly ran up to him and took hold of the lapels of his overcoat. "Would it be all right for Julia and me to go to Kansas City together to an opera? Mr. Cane has invited her and a chaperon to go. It would be all right, wouldn't it?" she urged as John looked uncomprehending.

"Did he invite you to go with her?" he asked.

"No, he invited her mother, and she doesn't want to go. I could chaperon her all right and you would see us to and from the train, wouldn't you?" It was a very coaxing wheeding little face that looked up into his.

"Why, I see no reason why you could not go if Miss Julia tells him that her mother cannot go and he is willing for you to substitute. You would make a very capable chaperon," he laughed.

"Oh, good; I'll write at once," exclaimed Julia, rising.

"Stay to supper, and meet my boarder," begged Molly.

"Not tonight, thank you. I must be going." And she was off.

Odysseus Struggled to Get Free.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

How the Greeks Finally Got Past The Whirlpool.

"GREEK story night!" cried the children.

So daddy started: "Odysseus the traveler got rid of the magic Circe threw about the Greeks and had to pass some very dangerous coasts on the way home to Ithaca. One shore belonged to some sea nymphs, who had such a power to charm by their song that whoever heard them had to throw himself right into the sea. They were very cruel, you see. But Circe had kindly warned Odysseus about these dangerous nymphs, advising that he fill the ears of his sailors with wax, so they could not hear this fatal music, and that he himself let his men bind him to the masts of his ship, so that, however much he might want to respond to their wonderful song, he would be unable to go."

"Did Odysseus obey Circe's advice?" asked Jack.

"He did. He filled the ears of his men with wax and let them tie him to the mast with strong cords. And as they rowed past the terrible island of the nymphs the sea was calm, and over the water came such marvelous music that even Odysseus struggled to get free. He begged his men to cut the cords, but they wisely obeyed his first orders and held him all the tighter till the sailors had rowed the Greek boats far beyond the sound of the sea music. When Odysseus stopped struggling they knew he could no longer hear its sweet sounds, so they unplugged their own ears and unbound their leader and rowed on and on over the unknown sea."

"What shore came next?" Evelyn wanted to know.

"Circe had also warned Odysseus of two terrible monsters who lived right in the course of the Greek ships. One was Scylla, and the other was Charybdis. Scylla was once a beautiful maiden, who had been turned into a sunky monster by the magician, Circe, in a fit of temper. Her home was in a cave high up on the cliffs that bordered the shore, and every time ships passed she would stretch her long necks—for Circe had given her six heads—and with her terrible mouths seize a man from every boat. The other terror was Charybdis, a gulf which lay on the level of the sea. Three times every day water rushed into this great chasm and three times frightfully gushed out. I suppose it must have been the tide, but the ancients thought it was a monster who lived in the gulf. Anyway, the whirlpool was so strong and swift that even Father Neptune himself could not have saved his own ship once caught in the whirl," daddy finished.

"Here are two kisses and a hug, daddy!" cried the children.

FEW WEEK-END SPORT EVENTS

Skating is Excellent But No Ice Competitions Are on Program.

ONE GUN CLUB SHOOT

Climax Shooters Will Have Five-event Card—Basketball Games Very Scarce—12-Hour Endurance Bowling Contest Planned.

Not much in the way of sports is billed over the Christmas week-end. Skating will claim the largest number, but there will be no ice competitions. Trap shooting, basketball and bowling are the indoor pastimes on the calendar.

The skating on South Plainfield pond was this morning reported to be excellent. Phil Smith is caring for the skaters who go to South Plainfield. There is a warm building in which the skaters can take off and put on their skates, and check their coats. Refreshments can be bought. Last Sunday skaters from all over came to Smith's place, a long string of automobiles being lined up along Plainfield avenue.

The Independent Gun Club will not hold a shoot, but some of the members may participate in the Climax Gun Club program. Five events will be run off at the Plainfield avenue traps, three handicap 20-bird events, and two scratch shoots at 15 birds. Turkeys, ducks and chickens will go to the winners of the last three events, while the first two will be sweepstakes, in which the Rose point system of 5-3-2-1 will be used.

There will be an unusual dearth of basketball contests. The Liberty A. C., of Perth Amboy, will appear at Hope Chapel. Two of the Y. M. C. A. League teams will hold forth in the association gym. No admission will be charged to this contest.

Leal's School and Leal's Alumni will meet in the Y. M. C. A., Monday afternoon.

An endurance bowling contest on the Eagles' Second street alleys will start at noon tomorrow, and last to midnight. Jim Mahoney and George Miller, last year's winning team, will enter again this year, as the Public Service team.

BORO SCHOOL GIRLS LOSE CLOSE SET-TO

Plainfield Five Finishes Two Points Ahead, Due to 13 Free Throws.

An eleventh hour spurt by the Plainfield Five earned a victory over the Canadian Five girls' team in the preliminary game at the Columbia Club last night, the score being 19 to 17 in favor of the home team. Fouls were frequently called on both teams, but the ability of Miss Helen Brynlarski to turn them into points was the principal feature of the game.

The first half ended 10 to 10, the Plainfield Five netting one field goal and eight fouls, while the Canadians numbered three pretty field goals and four fouls. The second half was a nip and tuck contest, the score swaying back and forth until within the last three minutes of play, after which a succession of goals and fouls by the West Front street girls gave them a two-point lead. Miss Marjorie Burtis was the principal scorer for the visitors, while the two North Plainfield guards put up excellent games.

SKATING AND GYMNASIUM AT BALTUSROL GOLF CLUB

Skating promises to be a popular sport at the Baltusrol Golf Club this winter for the first time. The two tennis courts near the clubhouse have been flooded, making the good-sized skating rink. Already the rink is being well patronized. It is planned to place electric lights around the rink. There will be skating parties at night during the season, to be followed by suppers.

The club now has a gymnasium for use of the employes. The club directors gave the employes permission to fit out a room in the rear of the locker room in the basement and this has been done under the direction of John Tennebaum, one of the help. Apparatus has been purchased from funds raised among the employes and it is proposed to make wrestling a feature. Some of the employes have already shown skill at this sport.

INTERESTING 1915 RECORDS MADE IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

There were a number of freak records made in 1915 National League baseball history, but of them all the record probably goes to Arthur Fletcher, of the New York Giants, for his base on balls record. In 155 games Fletcher drew but six bases on balls. This bears out the contention made by Manager McGraw two years ago, when he refused to trade Fletcher for Mike Doolan, then with the Phillies.

At that time McGraw declared that Fletcher's habit of swinging at bad balls and not waiting out the pitcher was the only thing which prevented him from being the leading hitter of the league. A player who draws but six bases on balls in 155 games certainly does not know the meaning of the word patience.

Another freak record is that of "Gabby" Cravath, the fence-breaking batsman of the Phillies. Barring Baird, of Pittsburgh, Cravath struck out more times than any other player in the league, but he also drew more bases on balls than any other player, showing that he was the most feared man in the league, despite his tendency to miss his third swing.

Charlie Herzog, the militant manager of the Cincinnati Reds, struck out but twenty-six times in 155 games. Six of Herzog's strikeouts were registered by Alexander, of the Phillies.

LEADING SCORE IN TURKEY CONTEST ALMOST BETTERED

George Lewis' mark of 252, which so far is the highest made in the turkey contest which closes tonight at Gates' alleys, came near being beaten last night, when Ernest Luthman started with eight straight strikes. He ran into splits in the ninth and tenth frames, and finished with a score of 242.

The leading mark may be beaten tonight. In the Thanksgiving contest, Lewis led with the same score, 252, until a half-hour before the event ended, when Art Voorhees came along with 255.

Monday night—Jersey City at Star of Bethlehem.

Star of Bethlehem Council bowlers, leaders in the State Knights of Columbus League, received the first defeat of the season last night on the Columbus Club alleys here. Although Plainfield won the match, the Watchung Council team slid back one place in the race, Star of the Sea Council, of Bayonne, jumping just ahead of the locals by winning three games from Olive Branch.

The defeat of the pace-setters has tightened the race. Plainfield, in fourth place, is only a game and a half from the leaders, and one game behind Paterson, in second place.

Frank Blatz and Chief Kiely both rendered valuable services to the home cause. Luke Cribbin, who has been leading the league in the individual average fight, rolled 207.

Olive Branch had only four men at Bayonne, and of course the homesters won easily. Bayonne rolled big totals, including one of 977.

1915 GRADS WILL PLAY AT HIGH SCHOOL MONDAY NIGHT

The girls' and boys' basketball teams of the Plainfield High School will play only one game apiece next week, and both of these will be on Monday night, when the 1915 graduates will try to lower the Red and Blue colors on the school court.

It is not yet certain how the '15 girls will line up, but in the boys' line up will be McNamee, Rosenson, Peacock, Chamberlain and Ryder. That combination will probably start the fracas against the schoolboys, while any other '15 men on hand will get in for a part of a game. Coach Patch will probably start off with the same line-up as he sent against East Orange last Saturday, with Dunham and Coudray at forward, Kyle at center and Whelan and Snyder at guard.

The '15 girls' line-up will not be decided until the game is about to start, when the team will be picked from among the graduates present. Miss Sadie Rothberg and Miss Margaret Eaton will likely be the two guards. The P. H. S. five will present their regular line-up, with Miss Irma Good, Elsa Palmar or Dorothy Butler at forwards, Miss Lansdale or Clementine Bremble at centre, Natalie Goetter or Mary Simmons at side center, and Miss Jennie Bremble and Priscilla Pennock at guards.

The games will start at 8 o'clock, the girls playing a half and then the boys playing a half.

Father Knickerbocker Wishes You

A Merry Christmas

Christmas has always been an occasion for joyous celebration—a period of feasting and merry-making

Father Knickerbocker says:

"Eat, Drink and Be Merry"

MEDICAL MEN have always advocated the drinking of beer in moderation for its digestive quality and food value. For moderation in eating, as well as in drinking, makes for finer, cleaner living.

Pure, wholesome beer used in moderation is a food—liquid food, as Baron von Leibig styled it—possessing the same nourishing, body-building qualities as bread.

A glass of well-brewed, pure beer will make your Christmas dinner taste better and make you feel better.

RUPPERT'S
Knickerbocker
The Beer That Satisfies

is especially suited for the Yuletide feast. It is a beverage of absolute purity. It is the product of hygienic brewing, careful filtering, proper aging, sanitary bottling and thorough pasteurization, and is made from the very finest quality ingredients procurable, in a brewery where cleanliness is supreme.

POULTRY SHOW IN MADISON SQUARE GARDEN NEXT WEEK

The doors of Madison Square Garden will be thrown open at 9 o'clock next Friday morning for the twenty-seventh annual exhibition of the New York Poultry and Pigeon Association, Ltd. The exhibition will be open to the public from 9 a. m. to 10.30 p. m., Friday, Saturday, Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, closing on the night of January 5.

This year's show will be restricted rigidly to standard breeds of poultry and pigeons with the one exception of rare wild and ornamental birds, as an added attraction. Besides the living specimens there will be an interesting array of commercial exhibits which will include everything that the poultry breeder wants from a sanitary drinking fountain to a hen house.

BUY ADVERTISED PRODUCTS

Widely advertised products are not only made by live concerns, but always by responsible concerns.

Don't buy Bicycles or Tires whose name means nothing to you. Why should you take such chances, especially when well known standard bicycles and tires cost you no more and often less?

Don't buy Bicycles, Tires or Sundries that any dealer offers you, when you have to ask him the name of the maker. This in itself should be your first warning that he must be trying to put something over on you in order to make an extra profit for himself, and at your expense.

We carry nothing but Standard makes of Bicycles and Tires.

INSANE MAN IS SENT TO MORRIS PLAINS

William Mauser, the man who threatened to throw his baby out of a window when patrolman Wenzel arrested him early in the week on a charge of beating his wife, was yesterday adjudged insane by physicians and will be sent to the State asylum at Morris Plains this afternoon. Mauser will get there in time for Christmas. His wife begged that some disposition be made of him by the police authorities, saying that she had lived with him twenty-four years and that she could not stand his cruelty longer.

CHILDREN AT WATCHUNG PRESENT XMAS PROGRAM

The children of the public school at Watchung presented an attractive program yesterday afternoon, under the direction of the teachers, D. H. Hawkins and the Misses Stella M. Sheets and Marguerite Dilts. The rooms were decorated with greens and colored festoons. The program follows:

Song by the school, "Santa Claus;" reading, Mary Eaton; recitations, Ruth Miles, George Fetherston, Adella Liebow, Helen MacDonald, Marion Papandrea, Reeves Kennedy, Ruth Kennedy, Edward Snoden, Linda Bartels, Margaret Demler, Marie Maurel, Clinton Harrower, Catherine Mobus, Elmer Kingman, Florence Luerssen, Jessie Ivamy, Edith Vincent, John Lang, Victor Galluppo, Paul Gollis; exercise, Joseph Bartels, Arthur Jacot, Alice Moore, Kenneth Schmidt; exercise, "A Christmas Mending Bee," Mabel Snoden, Eleanor Bartels, Mary Leurssen, Florence Kilber; song, "Silent Night."

BONNIE BURN PATIENTS HAVE A CHRISTMAS TREAT

A goodly portion of the Christmas cheer that now prevails was in evidence at Bonnie Burn Sanatorium yesterday afternoon, when Plainfield people conducted a Yuletide entertainment for the benefit of the patients. It was voted afterward the most pleasing Christmas that has ever been held at the institution. The patients were given the privilege of inviting visitors and there were many of them from Elizabeth, Roselle, Westfield and other parts of the county.

Samuel T. Carter, Jr., of this city, played the part of Santa Claus and distributed gifts, clothing and comfort necessities for the adults and toys of various kinds for the children. Rev. Henry Mesier, rector of St. Stephen's church, made an address, and Miss Mary G. Runkle, of this city, sang a selection from the "English." Christmas carols were sung by the gathering, everyone entering into the spirit of the occasion with right good will. When the program had been completed there were many in the gathering whose hearts were lighter and whose lives were happier than they had been previously.

Both the officials and patients at Bonnie Burn wish to express their appreciation for those arranging the Christmas affair and to the people of Plainfield and vicinity who contributed so liberally. A large portion of the gifts were made possible through donations from Plainfield's Community Christmas Fund.

HUSBAND AND WIFE BEREAVED.

Thomas Meaney, of 221 Watchung avenue, was called home to Jutland yesterday, by the death of his mother following a stroke of paralysis which she suffered last Sunday. Mr. Meaney's wife has only just returned from High Bridge, where her father was buried Monday. The many friends of both Mr. and Mrs. Meaney extend sympathy in their hour of bereavement.

Here Is Good News Indeed!

There is to be another CHRISTMAS CLUB and it will open at The Plainfield Trust Company on

Monday, December 27th

Members may be enrolled between December 27th and January 8th.

Everyone knows about the Christmas Club—that systematic savings plan which has been tested and proved and is now being successfully operated by hundreds of the leading financial institutions in the country.

The Club provides for weekly payments for fifty weeks, less than twelve months, at the end of which time the depositor receives the total amount paid in, with interest if payments have been made regularly. Anyone may join and those who cannot come in person to be enrolled can delegate someone else to attend to the matter.

THERE WILL BE FOUR CLASSES IN THE 1916 CLUB, AS FOLLOWS:

Class 50 Pay 50c each week and receive a check for $25 with interest.
Class 100 Pay $1 each week and receive a check for $50 with interest.
Class 200 Pay $2 each week and receive a check for $100 with interest.
Class 500 Pay $5 each week and receive a check for $250 with interest.

This is your opportunity to join the Club and save for HEALTH LAW IS IGNORED BY U. S.

City of Plainfield Stayed in Enforcement by An Injunction.

ROW OVER PLUMBING

Sub-contractor Refuses to Take Out License Here or to File Plans With the Board of Health and is Arrested by Police.

Through an injunction issued this morning by the United States District Court in Trenton the City of Plainfield is restrained from enforcing the plumbing section of the sanitary health code insofar as it effects the construction of the new Federal postoffice.

Notice of the injunction was served on Judge William De Meza, Corporation Counsel Reed and City Clerk James MacMurray today. Mayor Calkins was also made a party to the proceedings as an official but he has not been served with a restraining order.

The city is temporarily stayed from enforcing it laws. It is ordered to appear in the United States Court and show cause why it should not be enjoined from interfering with the construction of the new postoffice building, and a temporary writ is granted pending a hearing, which has been set for next Monday in Trenton. Corporation Counsel Reed will fight the case. District Attorney J. Warren Davis is representing the Federal officers.

The contention of the government is not that the Plainfield health code is defective, nor is any attack being made on the law. Those in charge of the construction of the local postoffice simply hold that they are above city health laws and are not liable for punishment if they ignore municipal statutes.

Last Saturday morning a complaint was made out by Inspector William H. Addis, of the local Board of Health, against Ferd Gerngrown, a sub-contractor on the new postoffice in charge of the plumbing work. It charged that he had violated the health laws in that he had failed to register his name with the local authorities and had failed to file a copy of his plans for work to be done. The ordinance invoked is contained in the code issued in 1902 and was passed for the purpose of permitting itinerant plumbers without responsibility, from doing work in the city that would have proved unsanitary within a few months and impair the health of residents of the property. Lieut. Higgins, of the local police force, went to arrest the plumber, but had trouble in doing so because S. M. Neily, superintendent of construction of the building, who interfered. Superintendent Neily contended that the police lieutenant had no right to make the arrest because the man was employed on government work. Lieut. Higgins went back to the station and made out a complaint against Neily, charging him with interfering with an officer in the performance of his official duty, but it was never served, as news of the injunction was received here before it could be put in force. The case against Gerngrown is held up.

The section of the health code which the city is seeking to enforce follows:

"No person shall engage in the business of master plumber in the city of Plainfield, or do or undertake to do any work as such in the said city without having such license as aforesaid as master plumber from this Board."

JUDGE IS LENIENT TO CHRISTMAS OFFENDERS

A large number of offenders who celebrated well, but unwisely, were recipients of belated Christmas presents from Judge William G. De Meza in police court this morning. Several were charged with being drunk, others with disorderly conduct and one with being drunk and acting in a suspicious manner, but all were released by the judge with a lecture on the proper manner in which to celebrate the birthday of the Saviour, and a suspended sentence hung over their heads.

CONTEST OVER FILE CLERK APPOINTMENT

Robert N. Crane is Opposed by James Morrison and Walter Firstbrook.

When the City Republican Committee meets tomorrow night a lively session is anticipated in view of the contest that is being made over the appointment of file clerk in the Assembly. Robert Newton Crane, who held the job last year, is a candidate for re-appointment and it was practically decided at a meeting of the county committee a week ago tonight that he would be continued.

However, it has always been the custom to let the city committee give an expression of preference in such matters and it is said that the matter will come up at tomorrow night's meeting. Walter Firstbrook recently announced himself a candidate for the job, and now it is learned that James Morrison, of the Fourth ward, would like to have it. The latter, it is said, has some support in the local committee and will make a fight for endorsement. Mr. Firstbrook also claims to have considerable support.

Among the leading members of the party the opinion prevails that Mr Crane will be re-named. They say that his services last year were most satisfactory and that they think he is entitled to a second term. Mr. Firstbrook has also been a hard worker for the party. Both he and Mr. Morrison have served on the election boards here. Mr. Crane has rendered service to his party in many years and he is relying on the support of his friends in the city, county and State to secure a re-appointment.

FREEHOLDERS INCREASE OFFICIALS' SALARIES

Question of Putting Prisoners to Work Referred to Committee for Investigation.

Elizabeth, Dec. 27.—At its meeting last week the Board of Freeholders carried out the recommendation of Judge James C. Connolly, and increased the salaries of Chief Probation Officer Major Charles W. Irwin and his assistant, Rev. Dr. William B. Hamilton. Major Irwin's salary is increased from $1,800 to $2,000, and Rev. Dr. Hamilton's from $1,200 to $1,320.

The Board decided to protest against the raising of the fare by the New Jersey and Staten Island Ferry Company. It plans to charge five cents for all children more than five years of age.

A transcript of the letter from the patients at Bonnie Burn Sanatorium, praising Dr. Joan E. Runnels, head of the institution, was received by the Board. Judge Abe J. David, acting for a recent conference, asked the Board to put jail prisoners to work. The matter was referred to the jail committee. County Attorney Codington reported that investigation showed that the county was not responsible for damages to Violet Miller's auto, which ran into a ditch in Westfield.

Reeves T. Strickland, a Washington lawyer, informed the Board by letter that he was ready to collect certain monies owed by the government to the county. The Board is not cognizant of any such debt. The matter was referred to committee.

The report favoring the building of a psychapathic ward at the county jail was referred to next year's Board. A final meeting will be held Friday, December 31.

COMMUNITY XMAS FUND EXCEEDED $1,400 MARK

Over fourteen hundred dollars was placed at the disposal of the Community Christmas Committee of Plainfield this year by generous citizens. Up to this morning Treasurer DeWitt Hubbell had received $1,397.44, and there are a number of boxes around town in the drug stores which have not been gathered in, which are known to contain much more than the amount necessary to pass the $1,400 mark.

Those contributions which have been received since Saturday have come from Grace Church, the girls of Hartridge School, S. Hirsch, Misses Winckler, C. F. Finch, A. C. Wilmerding, A. W. Weseman, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. R. Laidlaw and Donald L. Smith.

A report on the disposition made of the funds will be made by the committee within a few days.

HANDSOME GIFT TO PRESIDENT CLAY

City Officials Honor Retiring Head of the Common Council.

George S. Clay, president of the Common Council of Plainfield, was the happy recipient Saturday of a Christmas token of esteem from members of the Council and other municipal officials. The gift to Mr. Clay was sent with holiday greetings and in appreciation of his faithful and efficient service as an official. He has served as a member of the Common Council for the past six years, and has been its president for three years. Mr. Clay retires from the Council at the end of this week. The gift was a large rosewood humidor, decorated with heavy brass and bearing a name plate on which was engraved the date and nature of the gift.

Accompanying the gift was a letter signed by the following officials: Mayor Leighton Calkins, City Clerk James T. MacMurray, City Treasurer William F. Arnold, Tax Collector William R. Townsend, Corporation Counsel Charles A. Reed, Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett, City Judge William G. De Meza, Health Officer N. J. Randolph Chandler, Overseer of the Poor Garret T. Dunham, Chief of Police Patrick S. Kiely, Chief of Fire Department Thaddeus O. Doane, and Councilmen Theodore A. Martin, A. D. Edgar, C. P. Hamilton, Thomas F. Hylan, Robert H. Cox, Francis J. Blatz, Charles C. Graves, Juan A. Babcock, Richard A. Claybrook and John H. Cose.

RELIGIOUS CAMPAIGN COMMITTEES CHOSEN

W. D. Murray as Chairman Will Supervise Details for Evangelistic Services.

The general committee of the Union Evangelistic Campaign met at the Y. M. C. A. building yesterday afternoon, when George E. Hall, chairman of the nominating committee, submitted the names of the following men as officers of the committee: Chairman, William D. Murray; vice chairmen, George M. Rittenhouse and Joseph W. Gavett; treasurer, Augustus V. Heely; assistant treasurer, DeWitt C. Hubbell; secretary, John H. Manning. The report was adopted and the officers were elected.

The general committee appointed an executive committee composed of the officers and the chairmen of the finance, building and devotional committees. George M. Rittenhouse was chairman of the committee on site of the tabernacle, and made a report of what had been accomplished since the last meeting of the committee.

A finance committee was nominated and also chairmen of the several committees called for by the Rev. William E. Biederwolf, leader of the campaign. These names will be announced after their consent to serve has been secured. The headquarters of the campaign will be at the Y. M. C. A. building. As previously stated the tabernacle is to be built on West Front street, nearly opposite Plainfield avenue, with an entrance on Giraud avenue.

FUNERAL OF MRS. HARRIS HELD YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

Cornelius Schenck, who was to have charge of the service, the members held a leaderless meeting. A feature of the gathering was a special musical program. ing was a special musical program. Tonight there will be an executive meeting of the society.

TO GIVE A CANTATA.

The First Baptist church Bible school Christmas cantata, "In David's Royal City," will be given tomorrow night, beginning promptly at 8.15. A cordial invitation is extended to members of the church and their friends.

DARING HOLD UP IN THE BOROUGH

Sydney Dunning Confronted by Armed Highwaymen on Watchung Avenue.

POCKETS ARE RIFLED

Amount of Booty Totals Forty Cents, Penknife and Silver Pencil—Robbers Overlook $3 Hidden in Young Man's Hat.

Sydney Dunning, the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Dunning, of 12 Mountain avenue, was held up by two armed highwaymen on Watchung avenue, near Johnson's drive, at half-past ten Saturday night, and robbed of 40 cents, a penknife and a sterling silver pencil. The highwaymen went through all of Dunning's pockets but neglected to take off his hat, under which the lad had placed his pocketbook containing $3 in bills.

In the glaring light of an automobile which had passed him, Dunning saw the two men approaching him a block away and instinctively he had taken his money from an inside pocket and placed it under his hat. The men had just passed him, however, when Dunning was commanded to stop. He turned around and was confronted by two revolvers. "Face about," was the stern command of one of the robbers. Dunning had one of his arms in a sling, the result of a shoulder being dislocated, while playing basketball two weeks ago and could not offer any resistance even if he had been inclined to do so, and he lost no time in complying with the command.

While one of the highwaymen rifled his pockets the other held two revolvers close to his head.

After the strangers had completed their task they turned about and ran down Watchung avenue toward Johnston's drive, where they turned west toward Somerset street. Dunning hurried home and apprised the police by telephone of what had happened. One of his brothers, Willard, grabbing his hat and coat, was in the act of giving chase to the highwaymen when he was stopped by his father. Dunning did not have a good look at the men who held him up and could not give any descriptions of them. He said that both were rough appearing and presumably foreigners. Instead of pulling their hats down over their eyes and thus masking their features, the men had removed their headgear and were bareheaded. As the men were beating a retreat Dunning saw them stop a little distance from him and pick up something along the side of the walk. The police say the men must have stopped for their headgear, which must have been of types not usually worn and they are on the outlook for foreigners thus attired.

MRS. J. E. B. SANTEE DIES AT HORNELL, N. Y., AGED 66

Mrs. J. E. B. Santee, of Hornell New York, who has numerous local relatives, and who is quite well known in Plainfield through frequent visits, died at her home Friday night. She was in her sixty-sixth year, and beside her husband, Hon. J. E. B. Santee, is survived by three daughters and one son. They are Mrs. Erwin Whitford, of Westerly, whose husband is brother of Dr. O. B. Whitford, of this city; Miss Eloise B. Santee, of New York city. There are also two sisters surviving, Mrs. Lewis T. Titsworth, of West Fifth street, this city, and Mrs. Hannah M. Ayers, of Westerly. Mrs. Santee was a prominent member of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, and her death is a great loss to the community in which she had made her home. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made known in the messages coming to this city.

LITTLE DAMAGE IS DONE HERE BY GALE

Signs Down, Trees Broken and Windows Shattered, But No Serious Loss.

Little damage was done in Plainfield by the terrific gale that blew over this city late Saturday night and Sunday. Signs were torn down, fences leveled, trees broken and the wind played other pranks, but no one was injured and there was no serious loss of property.

The wind was not accurately gauged here, but it reached a velocity of seventy-one miles an hour in New York, and there are many who believed it was equally strong here yesterday morning. Unfortunate ones who were forced to be out and fight against the strong wind bear witness to the fact that it was almost impossible to remain erect in its face. That houses were not blown down and the streets of Plainfield blocked by broken trees is considered marvelous.

The most noticeable damage is along South avenue, where the wind struck before its fierceness had been broken by the buildings of the city proper. About 200 feet of the fence around Scott's Press Works was blown down, near Richmond street and further up Harrigan's bill board was leveled. Limbs were blown from trees in all portions of the city. The sign of VanZandt & Voorhees, on Park avenue, was blown down Sunday morning, and windows were wrecked in the Y. M. C. A.

CHRISTMAS CHEER AT THE HOSPITAL

Many Good Things Provided for Those Obliged to Stay at the Institution.

Christmas cheer was in evidence at Muhlenberg Hospital and it was the wish of those in charge that a great many citizens could have visited the institution on Christmas Day to see all that had been done to add to the happiness of the many patients. A year ago there were forty-five patients in the hospital on Christmas Day; this year there were seventy-two patients, including ten children in the children's ward.

A committee of women, of which Mrs. Evarts Tracy was chairman, assumed full charge of arranging for the Christmas decorations. Mrs. Tracy had these women to assist her: Mrs. Howard Avery, Miss Harriet Halloway, Mrs. Norman H. Probasco, Mrs. H. M. Stockton, Mrs. Edward J. Waring, Mrs. Isaac Schwed, Mrs. W. W. Coriell, Mrs. E. B. Shoemaker, Mrs. M. S. Ackerman, Mrs. E. A. Janke, Miss Louise King, Miss Eva Browne, Miss Hope Ivins and Mrs. F. D. Warren.

This committee selected a beautiful assortment of wreaths which were in evidence in all the wards of the hospital and in the various corridors, also in the private rooms. Four Christmas trees, furnished through the courtesy of H. M. Maxson, were located, one in the men's ward, one in the women's ward, one in the isolation pavilion and one for the Nurses' Home. A Christmas tree for the children's ward was given by Miss Margaret Yates. The pupils of the Plainfield Seminary sent five large boxes of toys and also gifts for distribution in the children's ward, also a cash donation of thirty dollars to be used for the children's ward. Special gifts from Mrs. Hoefler's class, of the St. Stephen's church, the Matlack Bible Class, and from the kindergarten class of the Irving School, added much to the pleasure and happiness of the little children.

Mrs. Howard Colby, Mrs. G. P. Mellick, and many other persons sent various gifts to the ward patients. The assistance given the committee made it possible for each patient in the hospital to have an appropriate gift. The Christmas trees were beautifully decorated and made a bright and lovely picture as they stood in the middle of each of the wards.

Mrs. F. D. Warren and Mrs. Charles E. Lipscomb sent poinsetta plants for each of the tables in the nurses' dining room. Superintendent Smith, of the hospital, was very much interested in providing a Christmas dinner for all patients who were able to partake of the good things provided, there being plenty of turkey and other goodies.

The staff of the hospital and all employes had the opportunity of enjoying a thorough Christmas dinner, wich naturally added to a happy day at the hospital. Mrs. Tracy, chairman of the committee in charge, is very appreciative to everybody who lent assistance to making Christmas at Muhlenberg Hospital one of the best that has ever been given.

MANY JOIN NEW CHRISTMAS CLUB

Plainfield Trust Co. Thronged with People Who Enroll as Systematic Savers.

The doors of The Plainfield Trust Company, the home of the Christmas Club, opened wide this morning to receive the eager throng of "systematic savers" who came to be enrolled in the new club which has just opened. Although members will be received any time during banking hours within the next two weeks, there were hundreds of people whose enthusiasm for the club made them want to be among the first to join and who, accordingly, presented themselves at the banking house on the opening day. The crowd, however, was handled expeditiously and without confusion and the men, women and children who were enrolled came away wearing the happy expression of those who have something pleasant to look forward to and it certainly is a pleasure to anticipate receiving at Christmas time a check drawn to your own order which you may spend as your own fancy dictates.

The new club is being operated on the basis of even weekly payments of 50 cents, $1, $2 and $5 and at the end of fifty weeks members will be paid the total amount which they have deposited, with interest if payments have been made regularly.

Those who want to join the ranks of the Christmas savers may be enrolled any day between now and the eighth of January and judging from present indications the fund for 1916 will exceed this year's high water mark of $227,000.

FUNERAL SERVICE OF MRS. SERRELL HELD

Obsequies Conducted at Her Daughter's Home by Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong.

Many relatives and friends attended the funeral of Mrs. Harold Serrell which was held at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Charles P. Lyman, on Washington avenue, the borough. Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, of which Mrs. Serrell, had been a member since 1871, officiated. He gave appropriat Scripture selections, made a few remarks and offered a fervent prayer.

During the service a quartet, comprising Miss Grace Carroll, Miss Etta Raybert, William Holmes and William J. Tallamy, sang "Nearer, My God, to Thee," and Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar." There were many beautiful floral tributes from relatives and friends. The burial was in Hillside cemetery, and the pallbearers were George Edwards, George H. Batchelor, Charles Place, E. L. Bonney, W. H. P. Veysey and Frank Jones.

PARK AVENUE BAPTISTS POSTPONE ITS PROGRAM

Owing to the storm, the Christmas exercises of the Park Avenue Baptist Bible-school have been postponed until next Sunday morning at 9:45, the usual hour of the session. A most profitable service was held yesterday morning, however, including the rehearsal of the Christmas carols, led by William N. Runyon; also remarks by the pastor, Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, superintendent Willard M. Maxim, William N. Runyon and G. V. W. Moy. The attendance was large and the hour was thoroughly enjoyed.

The weekly prayer meeting of the church will be held Wednesday evening, with a half-hour lecture immediately following, by the pastor, on "Korea," in connection with the missionary book, "The King's Highway."

The rehearsal of the church choir will take place Thursday evening, owing to the watch night service on Friday night.

CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENTS.

The Christmas exercises for the beginners and primary departments of Trinity Reformed church will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The Christmas cantata for the main school will be given at 8 o'clock in the evening, and will be repeated Thursday night for the home department and friends.

EDWARD KEEN IMPROVING.

Edward Keen, of West Front street, who was severely injured in an accident last week, when he was thrown out of a wagon, his horse being frightened by an automobile, is reported to be improving slowly. He still suffers considerable pain in the head.

ROUMANIA NOT TO AID GERMANY

Her People Hope to Soon Be Fighting With the Allies.

RUSSIA IS STRONGEST

Warships From Dardenelles Now Laying Off Greek Coast to Strengthen Saloniki — Quiet During Christmas Day.

London Dec. 27.—Take Jonescu, leader of the Roumanian conservative party, wires to the Central News from Bucharest as follows:

I can assure you that Roumania will never march beside the Germans. If it was impossible when the Russians were retreating, still more is it impossible now when the Russians are strengthening their position daily. Statements to the contrary are absolute falsehoods. Personally, I regret that Roumania has not entered the war, at least at the same time as Bulgaria. I still hope, with the immense majority of my countrymen, that Roumania will participate against the Germans."

Chinese Students Revolt.

A despatch from Shanghai to a news agency reports the capture of the Chinese cruiser Chao Ho by rebel students who, however, abandoned the vessel after it had been bombarded by other warships in the harbor at Shanghai. This was probably another move in the revolt that broke out on December 5.

Steamer Hadley Is Sunk.

The British steamer Hadley has been sunk, presumably by a submarine. The Hadley displaced 1,777 tons. She sailed from London and was owned by W. Cory & Sons, Ltd.

British Boat Beached.

The British steamer, Embla, 1,172 tons, has been beached on Mucking Flats, Lloyds announced this afternoon. The crew was saved.

Warships at Saloniki.

Athens, Dec. 27.—A considerable section of the Allied fleet at the Dardanelles has been concentrated at Saloniki. The city is under the guns of the warships which are prepared to co-operate with the shore batteries if the Germans and Bulgarians penetrate Greek territory and attack Saloniki.

Quiet Xmas In France.

Paris, Dec. 27.—French war statement:

"Nothing was reported during the night except in Lorraine, where our artillery bombarded the enemy twice in the region of Bioncourt, Gremecy, southwest of Chapeau Salins."

King Peter In Italy.

King Peter, of Serbia, arrived at Brindisi, Italy, on board an Italian cruiser on Christmas Day.

No Change In Greek Cabinet.

Berlin, Dec. 27.—A despatch from Athens states that ex-Premier Gounaris, as leader of the majority in Greece, has informed King Constantine that he will support the present cabinet, and that the King has accepted his advice to make no change in the government. Skouloudis will remain premier.

Germans Occupy Crater.

Berlin, Dec. 27 (wireless).—German war statement:

"Western theatre—We occupied a crater made by a French explosion in front of our position. The enemy caused an explosion at Combres Hill, but it did little damage. No further incidents were reported.

"Eastern—There is nothing of importance to report."

Russian Forces Demoralized.

Constantinople, Dec. 27.—The Turkish military authorities report that the Russian forces in the trans-Caucasian theatre of war are demoralized. The Russians are said to be poorly equipped and to be suffering from the intense cold weather, while their ranks are baing ravaged by cholera.

Pacific Freight Fleet Released.

New York, Dec. 27.—The agent of the Canadian-Pacific Railway announced that the company's trans-Pacific fleet had been released by the British admiralty and would be put into express service between Vancouver and Japan and China beginning with the Empress of Japan, sailing January 1. The Empress of Russia and the Empress of Asia will be put on the service in turn as they are refitted. Since the Pacific Mail Company's fleet was sold in September to the International Mercantile Marine Company the trans-Pacific service has been entirely in the hands of the Japanese.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 29 degrees; 12 a. m., 36 degrees; 1 p. m., 38 degrees.

MRS. L. D. WALKER DIES IN 57TH YEAR

Well Known Resident of New Market Succumbs to Long Illness.

Mrs. Evaline Dayton Walker, aged 57, wife of L. D. Walker, died at her home on New Market road Saturday afternoon, following a long illness, during the course of which she submitted to two operations. Since the last operation her condition grew steadily worse, and during the past week her death had been expected at any time.

Mrs. Walker was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Benward, former residents of Piscataway, but at present residing here. Mrs. Walker was twice married; her first husband, Jesse R. Dayton, of Piscataway, dying twenty-six years ago. She married Mr. Walker eight years ago last March. She was an active member of the First Baptist church, of New Market, and was affiliated with the Ladies' Foreign Missionary and the Ladies' Aid societies of the church, and was a teacher in the Sunday-school up to the time that her health commenced to fail. She was also a member of Lakeside Council, D. of L.

The deceased was a devout Christian and was faithful to all her duties. She was always willing to lend assistance to the needy, and during her illness, her thoughts were turned from her own condition toward those whom she deemed less fortunate than she.

Besides her husband, the deceased is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Ralston Dunbar, of Piscataway, and Miss Iva Dayton, of this village; two sisters, Mrs. Henry S. Garretson, of Dunellen, and Mrs. Amos Giddes, of Plainfield; a brother, Herbert Benward, of Brooklyn, and three grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at the late home at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The officiating clergymen will be the Rev. T. E. Vassar, pastor of the First Baptist church. Interment will be at the Middlesex Hillside cemetery.

CHRISTMAS SERVICES IN THE BORO CHURCHES

All of the churches of the borough held services in observance of Christmas yesterday, with the exception of St. John's church, which observed the event on Christmas Day.

Presbyterian.

At the Presbyterian church, in the morning, the pastor, Rev. E. R. Brown took as his text, "All Our Days are Passed Away." Mr. Brown's subject in the evening was "Following the Star." Over the organ, in back of the pulpit, was an electric lighted star.

Methodist Episcopal.

At the Methodist church at the morning service the Sunday-school held its Christmas exercises following the program, "The Wise Men and the Star." The pastor, Rev. D. W. C. Ramsey, delivered a pleasing fifteen-minute Christmas address, near the conclusion of the program.

In the evening the choir sang the cantata, "The Messiah's Advent," by Fred W. Peace. The choir was ably assisted by Miss Kathleen Ireland, of New York; Miss Florence Bunting and Messrs. W. B. and Archie LaRue, of New Market, and Harold Noble, of this place. All told, there were fifteen voices. Those who heard the cantata pronounced it a rare treat.

Holy Innocents'.

The holy communion was celebrated at a special service held at 8:30 a. m.. At the regular service in the afternoon the vested choir rendered special Christmas music.

W. J. HAMILTON INJURED.

W. J. Hamilton, of Dunellen avenue, who has been laid up with injuries caused by a fall off the back porch of his home, is now able to sit up. The mishap occurred last Thursday. Mr. Hamilton was coming out of the house. Just as he reached the edge of the porch, which was coated with ice, he fell.

'Plains & Fanwood.

Borough Marshal Logan has been working for several days in an effort to find the negroes who held up a Plainfield grocery clerk on Westfield road, Wednesday, and on Friday picked up two men, but the victim of the holdup could not identify them.

The Sunday-school of the Methodist church held its annual Christmas entertainment in the church last Friday night, and before a large gathering of parents and friends rendered a pleasing program of recitations and Christmas songs. Santa Claus also made a visit and left a remembrance for each one in the Sunday-school.

A Christmas cantata, "The Coming of the Christ Child," will be rendered in the Fanwood firehouse tomorrow night, by the Sunday-school of the All Saints' Episcopal church. Following the appearance of Santa, a dance will be held that has been arranged for by the young men's class of the church.

A special Christmas service with holy communion was conducted by the Rev. Oscar S. Michael in the Episcopal church at 10:30 Saturday morning. The choir also sang special Christmas music. Yesterday the pastor was in charge of a carol service at 11 o'clock.

At the Baptist church last night the Bible school held its Christmas festivities, consisting of a pageant and tableaux. Special singing by the school marked the exercises. The church was decorated and at the front on a raised platform was a manger flanked on either side with brilliantly lighted Christmas trees. As a huge star appeared over the manager the various members of the classes of the Bible school went forward, garbed as wise men and shepherds, and placed the "Gifts to the King" in it. It was a departure from previous Christmas observances and was in the nature of a "White Christmas," for instead of [illegible] the members of the Bible school gave gifts. At the morning service the Rev. J. Madison Hare preached his Christmas sermon on "White Gifts of Self For the King."

The Memorial Parish House will be the scene of great jollity tomorrow night, as the Bible school of the Baptist church will have a big Christmas party. The crowning event of the evening will be the appearance of Santa Claus to distribute gifts.

The Willow Grove chapel Christmas cantata and entertainment will be held in that edifice tomorrow night.

Maurice Hall, of South avenue, but who is spending the winter in New York, has been visiting friends in the borough.

William Cook & Son, of Springfield road, entered a number of their Orpingtons in the recent Philadelphia poultry show that carried off nearly all of the honors. In all they captured five cups, including the ones awarded for the best Orpington, the best display of all breeds and the best display in the entire show.

One of the largest dances held in the 'Plains in some time was conducted under the auspices of the Entre Nous Club last Friday night in its hall on Park avenue. The place was profusely decorated with Christmas trimmings, and several victrolas furnished music for the large crowd that thronged the floor. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening. It is probable that the club will conduct a similar affair on New Year's Eve.

Beginning with the opening of School No. 1 after the Christmas holidays, a schedule will go into effect that will enable the kindergarten and first grade to be in school the full session instead of going several hours in the morning and returning for several more in the afternoon. The change has been made possible by the opening of School No. 3 in the Graceland section and so taking about fifty pupils from School No. 1.

During the absence of Percy Cook on a trip to Philadelphia, one of the recent storms destroyed a large aviary at his farm on Springfield road, with the loss of a number of valuable ornamental birds. He is now having a considerably larger aviary built and has ordered a large consignment of the birds.

South Plainfield.

A special meeting of the Piscataway Township Committee will be held in Hotel Nelson in New Market tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. This being the last meeting of the Committee this year important questions will be considered.

The new house in which "Phil" Smith has arranged to entertain the skaters on the lake is near completion. Mr. Smith will install lockers in the new building in order that the lovers of the sport can check their valuables.

George Chirrello has returned home after being the guest of his father, John Chirrello, of Somerville.

Joseph Horn, who has been in California since last July, surprised his parents when he walked in while the family was at supper Christmas Eve. Mr. Horn has been the private secretary of his brother, Robert Horn, who has been at the Panama Exposition.

J., Dec. 27.—Stephen Masurik, who is on probation, was arrested Friday, charged with violating his probation in that he has not reported to Probation Officer John Asbourn since June 12, 1915. Masurick paid twenty-nine weekly installments due on a fine imposed by the court and was released.

ELKS PLAY SANTA CLAUS.

Somerville, Dec. 27.—Somerville Lodge, No. 1068, B. P. O. E., distributed many pounds of candy and about sixteen hundred toys among little boys and girls of Somerville and nearby towns who visited the Elks' home on West Main street, Christmas morning.

CHARGED WITH ARSON.

Somerville, Dec. 27.—Joseph Savitski was committed to the Somerset county jail, Suday morning, upon complaint of Steven Duschak, of Bound Brook, who charges that Lavitski set his house on fire. Recorder R. L. Reed, of Bound Brook, held Lavitski in $300 bond.

TWO COWS ARE STOLEN.

Somerville, Dec. 27.—Jacob Levine, a rich dairyman, of Franklin Park, was robbed of two cows some time Christmas night. One week ago a horse was stolen from the farm.

Kenneth Gaston, a student at Harvard, is home with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Gaston.

Ernest Pistaschia spent Christmas and Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pistaschia, of West Main street.

Wilson Vanderveer is home for the holiday season with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis S. Vanderveer.

Robert Bowlby, a student at Rutgers(is spending the holidays with his parents, of Ross street.

Mrs. J. W. Walton and sons, Cornelius and James, left Saturday morning for Washington, D. C. where they will spend several weeks with her parents.

Miss Nancy Stillwill is home for the holiday season.

—It's a safe guess that the first real estate transaction made in town today was influenced and brought about through "the classified."

Watchung.

In spite of the inclemency of the weather yesterday the services of the Wilson Memorial church were very well attended. At the morning service Mr. Ramsay preached on "The Power of Prayer." Special music was rendered by the choir. At the evening service Mr. Ramsay preached an excellent sermon on "From Generation to Generation," it being the second service of the series for the young people.

Plans are being completed for the annual Christmas entertainment of the Wilson Memorial church Sunday-school, which will be held tomorrow evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Fell and daughter, of New York city, are spending the Christmas holidays at their bungalow.

CRUELTY TO ANIMALS CASES ARE CONTINUED

Theodore Glaser and Samuel Pyatt, arrested on complaints made by Mrs. Van Housen, agent for the Plainfield Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, were arraigned in police court this morning, but both cases were continued. The men are charged with having worked horses that were not in fit condition for service.

CHRISTMAS SERVICE AT GRACE EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The Christmas Sunday-school service and tree will be held in Grace Episcopal church tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. This is the first time in the history of the church that the children's service will be held in the church, and promises to be one of the best.

Next Sunday morning, at 10:30, the Right Rev. Paul Matthews, bishop of the diocese, will confer the apostalic rite of confirmation on a class of about thirty at the church.

MR. AND MRS. ROTHBERG GIVE ANNIVERSARY DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Kalman Rothberg celebrated the thirtieth anniversary of their marriage at their home, 410 Madison avenue, Saturday, and all members of the family, including three generations, sat down to the dinner in honor of the event. Those present were Samuel Rothberg, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Rothberg, of McAlister, Oklahoma; Harvey Rothberg, Mrs. Alex L. Kramer and Herbert Kramer, the first grandchild, and Miss Sadie Rothberg.

MR. AND MRS. MAYNARD ENTERTAIN AT DINNER

Mrs. Frances VanBuren, daughter and son, Miss Susan VanBuren, and Harold VanBuren, of Plesantville, are spending the week with Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Maynard, of 143 North avenue. On Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Maynard gave a Christmas dinner for their guests. Others present were Mrs. Edward F. Maynard and daughter, Miss Alice Maynard, Rev. and Mrs. J. W. P. Colyer and Miss L. Lillie.

After dinner there were recitations by Miss Lillie; piano solos by Miss Alice Maynard; recitations by Mrs. Colyer; duets by Miss Susan VanBuren and Harold VanBuren and remarks by Rev. Mr. Colyer.

CHRISTMAS DINNER AT THE RESCUE MISSION

Christmas dinner was served to about one hundred men at the Rescue Mission Hall on Christmas eve, the affair being arranged by John LeMatty, the superintendent. Afterward the regular service was held in the mission, it being in charge of Miss Clyde [illegible]et. She spoke on "Peace, Good Will Toward All Men." There was also a song service.

The meeting last night was of unusual interest by reason of the fact that William Johnson, of West Philadelphia, who happened to be in the city, was present and professed conversion after a stirring talk by S. T. Perrin. Mr. Johnson decided to return to his home today.

EMORY METHODIST CHURCH CANCELS $16,000 MORTGAGE

The Christmastide observance at the Emory Methodist church, Jersey City, of which Rev. Dr. Abel C. McCrea, formerly of Plainfield, is the pastor, was marked by the burning of a $16,000 mortgage. This took place at the service yesterday morning. Dr. McCrea presented the cancelled mortgage and supervised the burning of the same, while the congregation rejoiced.

Following the burning of the mortgage the sermon was delivered by Bishop Luther B. Wilson, of New York. The Christmas programs at this church were unusually elaborate. During Dr. McCrea's pastorate the church has built a handsome parsonage and in 1912 celebrated its fiftieth anniversary.

DAUGHTER-IN-LAW VISITS CHIEF AND MRS. DOANE

Fire Chief and Mrs. T. O. Doane are entertaining their daughter-in-law and grand-daughter, Mrs. Hervey K Doane, and daughter, Miss Daphne Doane, of Miles City, Montana. They arrived in Plainfield, Friday night, and beside being a Christmas time affair, the visit is doubly auspicious from the fact that Chief and Mrs. Doane had never seen their daughter-in-law and the little girl, the latter being but three years old. Mrs. Doane and daughter left Miles City last April and have since been visiting Mrs. Doane's parents in Kansas City and her brother in Indiana. They will remain here until April, and a month before Mr. Doane will come East for a visit before taking them back West.

Hervey Doane is Chief and Mrs. Doane's second son, and has been in the West for the past eight years. After being graduated from Rutgers College as an engineer he was employed by a Kansas City concern, and on completing a contract for them in Miles City, established himself in business there. He has not been in Plainfield since first going away, and this is also the first time that Mrs. Doane has been East.

TEMPLE SHOLEM SERVICE.

William Newcorn, president of Temple Sholem, preached an appropriate sermon at the temple on Christmas morning to a large congregation. The subject of his discourse was "The lip of truth shall be established; but a lying tongue is but for a moment."

APPENDICITIS VICTIM.

Logan Murphy, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Murphy, of Bloomsbury, was rushed to this city from his home Saturday and operated upon at Muhlenberg Hospital for appendicitis. It was performed by Dr Endicott, and today the young man was reported to be resting easily.

XMAS PROGRAMS IN THE CHURCHES

Attractive Music by Choirs and Children Feature the Annual Observance.

INTERESTING SERMONS

Elaborate Decorations Mark the Yuletide Season—Sunday Schools Also Participate in Special Exercises.

Elaborate programs in observance of Christmas were held Saturday and yesterday in the churches of the city and borough. The weather of yesterday morning was so threatening that it was thought that a majority of the services would have to be postponed, but it cleared in time to permit all of them to be held as planned. The decorations were features and the programs as presented were as follows:

CRESCENT AVENUE CHURCH.

The principal service in celebration of Christmas took place yesterday afternoon at 4:45 o'clock, at which time the quaret choir sang carols from the old English, French, Slavic and German. These traditional or folk carols were in all of the Old World countries peculiarly local, and were regarded by the villagers as their private possessions, of much value and to be carefully guarded and held for their own use. They were frequently compositions of simple musicians, peasants, who disliked ornament and sentimentality, and whose sincerity and freedom from affection and conventional restrictions made them particularly well fitted to translate into music and poetry the dramatic incidents of the Christ-story.

The afternoon program follows: Organ recital—Two Western England Themes; Varol Variation, a la Mozart; Scotch Noel, Guilmant. Carol service—Two old Slavic carols; three carols from the old German, Barnby; the Virgin Mary Carol, Gounod; two traditional French carols from the Galvaert collection; old English Noel; postlude, "Hallelujah Chorus' ("Messiah"), Handel. At the morning service, at 10:30 o'clock, the choir will sing: Anthems, "Sing, O Heavens," Tours; "There were Shepherds" ("Manger Throne"), Manney; offertory trio, "Arise, Shine," (Christmas Oratorio), Saint-Saens.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST.

An attractive Christmas service was arranged at this church for 10:30 o'clock Christmas morning, which was in charge of Miss Jessie Utter, musical director. The feature was a cantata, "The Story o Christmas," by Matthews, which took about forty minutes for rendition. Assisting was an instrumental trio comprising Miss Utter organ; Mrs. Noel G. Evans, violin and Miss Mabel Maxson, piano. The program:

Prelude, Adagio Cantabile, Bryson trio; anthem, "Break Forth Into Joy," choir of fourteen voices; hymn "Silent Night, Holy Night;" offertory Adagio, Richard Strauss, trio; hymn "Hark! the Herald Angels Sing,' choir; cantata, "The Story of Christmas," Matthews; postlude, "Marche Heroique," Golterman.

In the afternoon the Sabbath-school held a giving service, with special program at 4:30 o'clock The music was in charge of Mrs. Theodore G. Davis, with Miss Utter at the organ and Mrs. Roland M. Davis at the piano. A large white cross, outlined with electric lights, was the center of the gift-giving service, and the contributions were provisions for the Children's Home, the same so far as possible, were wrapped in white. "King Forever," Lorenz, was the name of the song service. This program was presented:

Prelude, "Marche Cortege," Gounod, Miss Utter, Mrs. Theo. G. Davis Mrs. Roland M. Davis; chorus "Crown Him King," school; chorus "Christmas Time Has Come Again,' school; recitation, "Welcome," Bronner, Anna Frances Wells; song "Ring, Christmas Bells," Wilson, Boy Scouts; recitation, "Why We Celebrate Christmas," Bronner, John Reed Spicer; chorus "The Glorious Star," school; recitation, "Loving Giving, Wardner, Ruth Hunting; song, "Little Bells of Joy," Wilson primary department; recitation, "The Christmas Coins," Constance Shaw; chorus, "Our Heavenly King,' school; recitation, "Christmas Gifts,' Kenneth Dunn; chorus "Be Like Him," school; exercise, "The Christmas Gifts,' primary department; duet, "Star, Brightly Beaming," Wilson, Misses Beatrice and Jean Cottrell; recitation, "Our King," Harry Brown; chorus, "The Guest of Honor," school; exercise song, "Lullaby,' trio and chorus, primary department; offering for the Christmas fund; chorus, "Hail, the Birth of Heaven's King," school; giving service, "White Gifts for the King," school; solo, selected, Roy E. Titsworth; Postlude

The committee on program comprises Mr. and Mrs. Theodore G. Davis and Mrs. Sarah Aardner's class, while Mrs. Frank J. Hubbard and primary teachers will be in charge of refreshments, and Alexander W. Vars is chairman of the decoration committee.

ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH.

Christmas was ushered in at St. Joseph's church with a solemn high mass at midnight at which time a mixed choir of voices rendered a special musical program. The choir was under the direction of J. E. Bailey, while Mrs. H. G. DeMeza was at the organ. During the mass the following musical program was rendered: Processional, "On Where the Glory is Guiding," by Geibel; "Kyrie Eleison," by Brown; "Gloria," by Brown; "Credo," by Brown; "Adeste Fideles," by Novello; "Sanctus," by Brown; "Agnus Dei," by Brown; recessional, "Marcn of the Priests," from "Athalie," by Mendelssohn. The special soloists for the mass will be: Soprano, Miss Elsie Moulton; contralto, Mrs. George Aller; tenor, P. J. Bailey; bass, J. E Bailey. They will be accompanied by an augmented choir.

During the solemn high mass the pastor, Rev. Father P. J. Hart, was the celebrant; Rev. Father John Baldwin, of Mt. St. Mary College, the deacon, and one of the Passionist Fathers from St. Michael's Monastery Hoboken, sub-deacon. Rev. Father Hart preached the Christmas sermons at 7:30 and 9:30.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH.

Under the direction of the organist, Miss Mary Smith, the following program was given at the two high masses in St. Mary's church Xmas morning: Prelude, Lemare; processional, "Holy Night," Adam, chancel choir and choir; Kyrie, Mentzel; Gloria in Excelsis, Mentzel; Veni Creator, Millard; Credo, Mentzel; offertory, "Adeste Fidelis," Novello; Sanctus, Benedictus, Agnus Dei Mentzel; recessional, "Come, All Ye Faithful," choir and chancel choir; Postlude, Grey. The assisting choir is composed of Miss Mary Donnelley, soprano; Nora McCarthy, contralto; Albert Mathews, tenor, and Thomas Roddy, bass. Masses will be at 5:30, 6:30, 7:30, 8:30, 9:30 and 10:30. The first and last masses are solemn high masses. Children's mass was at 8:30.

MONROE AVENUE M. E. CHURCH

The Christmas services at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church were held yesterday morning and evening, the choir rendering special music both times. In the morning there was an anthem, "There Were Shepherds," by Vincent, and in the evening an anthem, "Sing, O Heavens," by Tours. The pastor, Rev. D. B. F. Randolph preached in the morning on the subject of "Opening the Christmas Box," and in the evening on the subject of "At the Gate Beautiful." In the afternoon, at 3 o'clock, the Sunday-school rendered a special program of carols and addresses. The annual Christmas cantata and festival of the Sundy-school will be given tomorrow night.

ROCCO LIGIPAM.

Rocco Ligipam, of the borough died yesterday in Muhlenberg Hospital, following a short illness with typhoid fever. His body was taken to the mortuary chapel of J. J. & C. A Higgins, on West Fourth street where his body is awaiting identification. Thus far efforts to locate relatives of the dead man have proven futile.

BUSINESS CHANGE.

Frank Wagner, the newsdealer, has sold his North avenue business to Russen S. Lipman, of New York, and will devote his time to his West Front street business.

Rev. J. Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, will lead the prayer meeting Wednesday evening. It will be in the nature of an Old Year's service.

THE DAY OF DAYS HAS COME-AND GONE

Our records show that in the number of sales as well as in the total amount of sales, this Christmas shattered the record since we opened our store for "Things Men Wear."

Our advertising previous to Christmas did not plead for business; neither did it offer any "reductions." It was general in its scope and honest in its intent.

Which leads us to believe that Advertising may be fraudulent and it may be profitable—but it can never be both.

We have received the Confidence of the people of this community not because we ASKED for it, but because we EARNED it.

Open evenings.

RAT BITTEN WOMAN SUCCUMBS AT HOSPITAL

Mrs. Catherine Manning, the aged colored woman who was found helpless and alone in her home at 511 West Fourth street, on December 18, and who was believed to have been the prey of rats, died in Muhlenberg Hospital Friday night. She did not recover consciousness. In addition to the severe bites inflicted o nher face and hands by the rodents she also suffered from paralysis.

Mrs. Manning, who was about seventy years old, was the widow of William H. Manning. The family has resided in the West End for more than forty years. Mrs. Manning's nearest relatives are several grandchildren. The funeral will be held in Mt. Olive Baptist church, and will be in charge of a former pastor, Rev. E. E. Jackson, of New Brunswick, and Rev. G. W. Bailey, of Elizabeth. Burial will be in Evergreen cemetery.

NATHANIEL HENDRY'S FUNERAL HELD YESTERDAY

The funeral of Nathaniel Hendry, whose death occurred early Friday morning, was held at his late home on South Second street, yesterday afternoon. The service was in charge of Rev. Frederick L. Greene, of Hope chapel, and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends. A solo, "Some Day," was sung by Miss Le Poidevan, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Willard H. Cook. The floral tributes were unusually numerous and beside those from the relatives and friends, included a set piece from Plainfield Local, International Association of Machinists. Interment was in Hillside cemetery, the following acting as pall bearers. Thomas Neal, James McInnes, David McLnnes, Joseph Harper, James H. Simmonds and Fred Cross.

CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION AT SAENGERBUND HALL

The members of the Saengerbund held their annual Christmas party at the hall on Christmas afternoon. There was the usual big Christmas tree loaded with gifts and a pleasing entertainment. The entertainment consisted of singing by the children and the singing section of the society.

Following the entertainment gifts were distributed and the floor was cleared for dancing which was continued until midnight. The music was furnished by Prof. Halbfoerster. Refreshment were served during the evening. The affair was a splendid success and the committee. Jacob Schlick, Jr., Herman Klinsman and Herman Weiss, are being commended for their efforts.

MISS M'GAULEY LAID TO REST IN ST. MARY'S

St. Mary's church was almost filled with relatives and friends this morning when a requiem mass was held over the body of Miss Mary Agnes McGauley, whose death occurred last Thursday night, one week after the demise of her father. In addition to the service conducted by Father McDonald, Father B. M. Bogan made an address. He spoke of the many likeable traits and the Christian character possessed by Miss McGauley. A great array of floral tributes, many of them being set pieces, gave evidence of the young woman's popularity.

Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, the casket being borne by Leo Keating, Robert Reynolds, James McCarthy, Edward MEvoy, Francis Connelly and Robert Clarkson. There was also an escort from the Children of Mary, which organization attended in a body, and the following members of it acted as honorary pallbearers: Miss Mary McGauley, Elizabeth Mottley, Mary Regan, Nora Regan, Norena Deady and Anastasia Deady.

MRS. DRITSCHEL.

Mrs. Nellie Dritschel, wife of Oscar F. Dritschel, of 417 East Third street, died at her home Christmas Day, following a long illness. She had resided in this city about ten years. Beside her husband she leaves two children, William Oscar and Margaret Dritschel. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning in St. Mary's church, where a solemn requiem mass will be said at 9 o'clock. The interment will be made later in Calvary cemetery, Brooklyn.

LAD'S NARROW ESCAPE.

The ten months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Dixon, of Grove street had a narrow escape from death last Thursday afternoon, when he was thrown headlong into the shallow current below the Grove street bridge The accident occurred when the wheel of the carriage in which he was driven became wedged in the crevice between two planks. Dr. Lufburrow is attending the little lad.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL FESTIVAL.

The annual Sunday-school festival at the church of the Heavenly Rest will be held tomorrow night in the parish house at 8 o'clock. The festival will be preceded by a short service held in the church at 7:30.

INTERESTING SERMON AT CHRISTMAS DAY SERVICE

"This Shall Be a Sign Unto You' was the subject of an interesting discourse by Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie at the Crescent Avenue church, Christmas morning. He said that while in former days Israel had always found their leaders heralded by pomp and display, the Messiah came reversing the order, and the sign of His appearing was humble in the extreme.

"The day is coming," said Dr. Zelie, "in fact, it is indeed here, in part, when the world will recognize God not as a God of pomp and display, but one who comes to his people in the quiet of their homes or business."

MR. AND MRS. BARLOW HOSTS AT XMAS PARTY

A happy gathering was held on Christmas Day at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Barlow, 40 Prospect place, when the immediate family of twenty-five children and grandchildren met for Christmas dinner, some coming from New York, Boonton and Tulsa, Oklahoma.

After dinner they were entertained by their butler, Richard H. Louis, who read two pieces written by the colored poet, Paul Lawrence Dunbar, entitled "The Party," and "When Malinda Sings."

The rest of the afternoon was given up to entertaining the ten grandchildren, who in turn made the day merry with their little school songs and pieces.

THE STORM AT SOMERVILLE.

Somerville, Dec. 27.—The juvenile blizzard which swept over Jersey yesterday morning did considerable damage in Somerville and vicinity, although the full extent has not yet became known. A large chimney on the Somerville athletic club's building, an old colonial structure, was blown down, causing considerable damage to the roof. A large plate glass in the store of Carson & Carhart, butchers, was demolished by the wind, resulting in considerable havoc within the interior of the place and two large windows were blown in at the residence of former Senator L. A. Thompson. In the rural districts fences and trees were laid low and the damage will approximate many hundreds of dollars. The telephone and telegraph wires at Somerville were carried down but quickly replaced by emergency crews of linemen.

HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Somerville, Dec. 27.—The home of Frederick Lawrence, a carpenter, and builder, located on the Chimney Rock road north of this place, was completely destroyed by fire at four o'clock this morning, resulting in a loss of about $4,000. Mr. Lawrence was awakened by smoke and had barely time to rouse his family and carry out a few effects before the building was enveloped in flames. The fire is supposed to have originated from a defective chimney.

SOMERVILLE COUPLE WEDDED.

Somerville, Dec. 27.—A wedding of much interest locally took place at the home of the bride's parents, on Grove street, Somerville, Christmas afternoon at three o'clock, when Miss Jeanette Rockefeller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. Rockefeller, was made the wife of Frederick Sisser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Sisser. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. Vale, pastor of the Second Reformed church and was witnessed by a gathering of relatives and friends. Both young people are widely known in Somerville and vicinity. They will make their home here at the conclusion of a wedding trip.

PROGRESS AND PROSPERITY IN PLAINFIELD

MATERIAL PRICES AT A STANDSTILL

No Further Advances Are Predicted Until After New Year.

QUESTION THE EFFECT

Distributors Fear That Increase Now Might Frighten Off Many Prospective Builders—Trade Reported Good.

New York, Dec. 27.—While building material prices in New York and vicinity probably have not yet reached their maximum levels, there are interests here who believe that a temporary resting place has been found, and that further price increases will not develop until January has fairly matured, at least. Distributors fear the effect of possibly frightening off prospective builders by advancing prices even to the extent actually warranted by existing conditions. For instance, Newark yard prices at the close of this week for Hudson common hard brick are $8.50 and $8.25 for Raritan commons, when the actual wholesale price at dock, New York, is $8.50 for Hudsons and $7.75 to $8.25 for brick from the Middlesex county belt.

There are Portland cement interests who believe that another price advance is warranted in Portland cement, but there does not appear to be a single company that is willing to take the lead in announcing the advance from the $1.67 wholesale price, or $1.05 mill level, now ruling. The cost of producing a barrel of cement today is between $1 and $1.05, and when freights, lighterage added demurrage charges and discounting losses attendant upon making prompt deliveries by reason of the freight embargo placed upon all goods in transit over certain Eastern lines, there is no margin left the manufacturers, according to well-informed authorities in the field.

The embargo on all building materials, as well as other kinds of freight, is going to have the effect of compelling dealers to draw upon their early spring reserves, so that heavier demand than usual will prevail after the turn of the year. Then it will be that the prices will receive their real impetus, according to authorities in the trade.

Suburban lumber dealer are apparently becoming anxious about getting their spring requirements into their yards. The freight embargo affects them as other lines. The shortage of ships, especially schooners, to bring Southern lumber to this port, the difficulty of getting lumber through on cars and the increasing tendency upon the part of lumber manufacturers to lay down on their operations in the hope of reducing, by some means, the alleged competition by the Government and its timber grants, is beginning to cause the dealers some concern. It is noteworthy that lumber is one of the three materials classed as basic in building construction that have not kept pace with the steadily advancing increases made in the price of building materials during the last year.

At the present time no notable changes in price are expected. The January official wholesale list probably will be almost identical with that of January, 1914, but if there should develop the actual shortage of supply that now seems apparent, temporary sharp increases are almost sure to develop before spring buying begins. There are many boatloads of Western lumber tied up at Panama that was expected to be here in time to relieve the pre-spring pressure. There is no telling when it will come, and Western timber about due on railroads is sidetracked, and probably will remain so for an indefinite period.

A change is expected to be made in the price of terra cotta partition and exterior fireproofing block. Shortage of labor and higher cost of production, coupled with a decided improvement in inquiry for January, February and March deliveries, has forced a change in schedules that have not been disturbed for more than a year in this commodity.

It would not surprise plaster interests to find prices moving up within the near future. Gypsum interests have stopped their price-cutting war and are meeting the new demand upon a friendlier price basis. The same is true of radiators. In this department, however, the raising price of pig iron from $15 to $20 has something to do with the more uniform radiator list now prevailing. All plumbing supplies are said to be in a price-stiffening movement.

One way to account for the rapidly upsliding prices of building materials is the fact that 1915 probably will close with national building operations in excess of $806,000,000, as against $779,000,000 in 1914, or a gain of approximately $27,000,000 for this year. To this should be added 64 per cent. of the building operations scheduled to proceed in last year's filings, which are only now beginning to call for building materials. The available quantity of mill supplies of building materials is estimated to be 11 per cent. below 1914 and 31 per cent. below the normal of 1913. Based on present supply and prospective demand, the index figure for the twelve leading building materials is reasonably sure to advance at least two points before the spring season opens.

PLANNING TO BUILD ON COUSSON TRACT

Messrs. Codington, Endress and Coriell May Put up Two Story Structure.

Former Judge W. R. Codington, Fred Endress and former Sheriff B. Frank Coriell, who are the owners of the former Cousson property on West Second street directly in the rear of the Plainfield Trust Company's building, have placed plans in the hands of local contractors for a fine new building. If the bids conform with the figures desired by the projectors, the structure will undoubtedly be erected early in the coming year. While it is still early to fix a total amount of estimated cost, it may possibly run to $20,000.

According to the plans, which have been prepared by Architect Clum, the building will be two stories in height with a total frontage of sixty feet. Four stores and an entranceway will be on the ground floor and the second floor will be given over entirely to bachelor apartments, similar to those in the Sterling building on Park avenue. These apartments are composed only of a parlor, bedroom and bath. All the interior furnishing, according to specifications, are to be strictly up-to-date. The contractors have been figuring on the plans for the past two months and something definite is expected within the next few weeks.

The Cousson property is one of the most desirable sites in the business district and the erection of a building such as the three owners contemplate will be a fine addition to the structures in that vicinity. The lot measures a trifle more than sixty feet front and has a depth of about 150 feet. Two frame houses now occupy the ground and these will either be torn down or moved away.

WESTFIELD ENJOYING A HEALTHY BUILDING BOOM

That Westfield has again started to grow is evidenced by the sudden boom that has reached the building trades. At the present time there are forty new houses under construction in various parts of the town. In most cases these houses range in price from $4,000 to $10,000, and contain all the up-to-date improvements.

In the past month building plans have been filed for houses aggregating a cost of $30,800. In October the total was $35,900 and in August, $35,200. Sixty-five permits were issued during the year, the total value of the improvements being almost a quarter of a million.

Many of the houses built within the past few months or still underway were given to Plainfield contractors.

SLOWNESS MARKS LOCAL BUILDING APPLICATIONS

Applications for building permits either for new work or alterations, continue to be light at the office of Building Inspector Doane. During the past week only two were granted with an aggregate of $1,075.

John S. Haskard has filed plans for two small buildings on McDowell street, both of which are to be of frame construction. One is to be an open shed measuring 16x16 feet, and will cost $25. The other, measuring 12x15 feet, is to cost $50, and will be used for office purposes. Walter Scriven has the contract for both buildings.

John H. Borman has filed plans for the alteration of the dwelling at 309-311 West Fourth street. The improvements are to include an extension of hollow terra cotta block, two stories high, and measuring 30x8 feet, at an estimated cost of $1,000. The plans were drawn by Mr. Borman. The masonry contract has been awarded to Peter Kirch, while the carpentry contract has been secured by George D. Wilson.

COUNTY'S VALUE SHOWS BIG GAIN

State Board of Assessors Gives Union Total Ratables of $170,285,444.26.

INCREASE $3,654,266.04

Net Valuation of Real and Personal Property in the State is Placed at $2,583,953,595.29 — Enormous Amount of Exempted Property.

Filing its annual report with Governor Fielder this week, the State Board of Taxes and Assessment showed that the net valuation of real and personal property in the State subject to local taxation for the year 1915 is $2,583,953,595.29, which is an increase of $102,348,556.68 over the valuation of 1914. The Board states that the amount of property in the State exempt from taxation this year reached the enormous total of $243,946,009.97, the largest figure in the history of the State. Even with this very large total, the Board expresses the belief that it does not represent near the full valuation of this class of property.

The total net valuation represents property to which the local tax rates would be applied, and does not include the assessments against bank stock, separately made, nor the property and franchises taxed by the State for State purposes, such as the main stems and franchises of the railroads.

This net valuation is made up as follows: Real estate, exclusive of the second-class railroad property, such as passenger and freight stations, etc., $2,158,045,893.09; second-class railroad property, $107,139,013; personal property, $319,691,958.20; deductions for debt, $768,360.

Union County Valuations.

The total valuation of the lands in Union county is $58,990,649; and of the improvements, $85,366,763.

The total net taxable valuation in Union county this year is $170,285,444.26; an increase over 1914 of $3,654,266.04.

This increase in Union county, the Board says, is general, coming from almost every taxing district in the county, and represents a normal advance in ratables.

Atlantic is the only county showing a decrease in ratables. The Board gives this comment thereon:

"The decrease of $221,287 in Atlantic county is reported by the County Tax Board to be due to reductions made in assessments on public utilities corporations for the previous year. The assessments on these properties for 1914 were placed at a much higher figure than for any previous year and were based on reports filed with the Public Utilities Commission, the companies having failed to furnish the statements called for by the local assessing authorities. These assessments were appealed from, with the result that the tentative assessments were materially reduced for 1914 and were practically continued so far the current year. The figures finally arrived at are still greatly in excess of assessments on this property prior to 1914."

The Board reports that the tax levied this year on bank stock under the Fielder-Pierce law is $663,189.80, and represents a valuation of $88,425,306. This tax shows a decrease of $42,197.42 from 1914, the year it was first levied under this act. The tax on bank stock is levied by the County Tax Boards, and is equally divided, fifty per cent. going to the county and fifty per cent. to the municipalities in which the banks are located.

COUNTY CONTRACTS ONLY $21,973 FOR THIS MONTH

Eight building contracts have been filed with County Clerk James C. Calvert during the course of the past week. The documents call for the expenditure of $21,973, the smallest amount recorded in several weeks, due largely, it is supposed, to the inclement weather of that period. The contracts filed from this end of the county are as noted below:

Gamble J. Kyle with John P. Gennovario, entire work addition to building, West Sixth street, Plainfield, $805.

Mary Harper with William Harper, entire work new building, Stanmore place, Westfield, $4,500.

George A. Palcanis with William T. Head, mason work, new building, Fanwood, $1,007.

—Those accustomed to getting SERVICE from the classified column, would consider it a very foolish thing to do to pay too much rent, either for a store, a house, an apartment or a furnished room.

BRUNSWICK CONCERNS NEED LABORING MEN

As Soon as New Buildings Are Completed Will Also Require Factory Hands.

There is still a big demand for laboring men in New Brunswick. The Westinghouse, Church, Kerr Company is anxious to get two hundred and more day laborers to be employed in the construction of two big buildings they are erecting there for the Brunswick Refrigerating and Simplex Automobile companies. Men are being added daily but the supply is not sufficient to get the work in shape for the carpenters and masons. The company hopes to have six hundred hands on this work within three weeks. They now have half that number.

Through a misunderstanding as to the needs of the company the Board of Trade inserted an advertisement throughout the State for 300 carpenters and masons. As a result the company has received requests by mail and telephone from various points for work. That many skilled workmen will be needed in a short time, but the supply on hand at the present time meets all requirements.

With the opening of new factories early in January and the supply of men at work for the Westinghouse people, the city will be taxed to house all the workmen. It is a difficult proposition at present to find boarding houses for the workmen now there and unless a lot of houses are erected quickly there will be a big scarcity of accommodations. The factory hands will be permanent residents and if men are to be secured who have families, builders will have to get busy at once. New Brunswick seems to be one of the few places where the industries are prosperous without any extensive orders due to the war.

Fifteen Furs of Selected Quality—Skunk, Black Fox, Red Fox, Pointed Silvered Fox, Slate Fox, Sable Fox, Battleship Gray Lynx, Dyed Blue Lynx, Black Lynx, Natural Mink, Fisher, Hudson Bay Sable, Seal-Dyed Muskrat, Moleskin, Persian Lamb.

This Holiday Fur Sale has been planned for weeks. Until a few days ago it hardly seemed possible to arrange it. The market apparently was bare of any made up fine furs which could be secured at lower prices. Two or three furriers were good enough to offer us their collection, but their furs, not being of our standard, had to be refused.

Then a man recognized as one of New York's good furriers, with whom we do a large regular business and who always co-operates splendidly with us, asked if we wanted his stock. He is ready to start another season. He came out this year with a good profit. He was willing to make a large concession in price if we would take everything he had.

Our experts went to his workrooms. They carefully inspected his stock. The furs were such as we have had here all season at just double the prices.

So we cleared his stock room. Took every scarf, every muff, every coat he had on hand. Without exception, all were made this season.

They are beautiful furs. One likes to handle them.

A CLOCK RUN DOWN.

The office clock has run down. Neglected through two days of vacation, it has wearied of its work, and its service is ended until it feels the touch of a human hand. The clock is but a cleverly-collected mass of cold metals. How much more delicate the intricate machinery of a man and how much more susceptible to human contact and care. Do you know someone who is being neglected; who goes for days without really coming in contact with his fellowman? Perhaps he, too, would awaken and give something of himself to his little world if he were given the care of a clock. Just a touch of the hand in the right way.

George S. Clay and Richard A. Claybrook have practically completed their work as members of the Plainfield Common Council. The former served eight years, three of which he was president and the latter has had but a single term of two years. In this age the people too often forget the good work which some of their public servants perform and able men retire without a proper expression of appreciation. This is one of the unfortunate features of our form of government. Messrs. Clay and Claybrook have been probably the two most valuable, conscientious and painstaking councilmen that the city has had during the time they have been in the body, and expressions of regret at their decision to not seek re-election were frequent prior to the balloting in November. That they will continue to work for the upbuilding of Plainfield as plain citizens goes without saying. The Daily Press extends to both its congratulations upon the service they have done for the city.

If any person doubts the need for the Community Christmas movement in this city, they can easily expel those doubts by talking to those who delivered the packages of cheer last Friday. It was our pleasure to see big bags of the things that go to brighten a child's life delivered to some forty groups of young ones, and until that time such gratitude seemed impossible. The beaming countenances of the youngsters well repaid for any time and effort that was put on the work, and the heart-broken expressions on the faces of those whose gifts happened to be coming later were enough to break down the most hard-hearted person in the city. Before the day was over nearly 900 kiddies, most of them too young to realize that Santa could come in no other way, were realizing the joy of Christmas with as much pleasure as the children of the wealthiest families in town. The thanks of the entire community should go out to those who gave so unselfishly of their time, money, labor and thought to making the Christmas of 1915 all that it should be to every child in the city.

After reading the peace agreement that warring baseball factions signed Mr. Common Folks can get some idea of what is going to happen in Europe some time soon. Organized Baseball and the Federal League got together and decided to quit fighting each other and join forces in an attack on the fans, the purpose of which is to get back the money they spent in warring. The people pay, always.

The merchants of the city found this year that the early shopping movement really did amount to something. In many of the stores business was lighter on Friday than on the other days of the week. The buying was spread over a period of several weeks.

Newspapers over the country are running scareheads and worrying editorially because there are a lot of counterfeit one hundred dollar bills in circulation, which goes to show how easily editors of said newspapers become excited about matters that concern them not.

1915 will break all precedent as a producer of freak weather. That lightning and thunder in the midst of a snow storm early Sunday morning but caps the climax for queer combinations during the year.

Although the Dardenelles blockade was on for months we failed to notice any improvement of the air in cafes and high-brow saloons. No wonder the English gave up in disgust.

Here's hoping that 1916 will be as prosperous a year for everyone as has been the last three months of 1915.

Now you have to go out and buy presents for those you forgot, but who didn't forget you. Awful, isn't it?

For a man who started out to do something big Henry Ford breaks the world's record as a quitter.

Clean your sidewalks early. Otherwise you are liable to call on the City Judge some fine morning.

Get your old last year's resolutions out and see how many of them can be mended for use again.

It's time someone got busy on buying that auto fire engine for the Netherwood section.

Now for the January White Sales!

MISS CHEATHAM JOLLY FINE AS A PLAYMATE

Kitty Cheatham, whose charm as an entertainer of children is so well known, will appear at a children's matinee in the Plainfield High School tomorrow afternoon. The entertainment will be for grown-ups as well as children and Miss Cheatham will present a program that cannot fail to please. The New York Evening Mail, speaking of Miss Cheatham, says:

"Miss Cheatham spends her whole life in one big effort to teach the broad, fundamental principles of existence! Universal spiritual co-operation is the way Miss Cheatham puts it! . . . I wish to teach and preach and live co-operation, brotherliness, simplicity, love and childlikeness. The world can never advance on any other principles but these. . . . To a little child she is a splendid big sister who 'understands' and is jolly fine as a playmate. To the music lover she is a humanized spirit of music. To the man or woman who is tired with being group up and shouldering responsibilities she points the way back to the simple, unaffected happiness of childhood. And her counsel, whether it comes through the medium of play, song or story, has the authoritative force of one who knows life's deep places as well as its mountain tops."

The Boy Scouts of Trinity Reformed church will meet in the lecture room of the church, Friday night, at 7:30 o'clock. W. H. Olmsted is the new scoutmaster and W. J. Trembath his assistant.

STRICKLAND W. GILLILAN

My Tailor

My tailor tells me he is glad
To see me in his little shop.
He does not say my clothes are bad,
For fear my patronage might stop.
But yet he intimates as much,
By looking at me as he does—
He knows that he would get in Dutch
If he should up and say I was.

My tailor gets a blank book out—
A wide one, lying on a desk—
And calls a sloppy man that's stout
And squints with leer that is grotesque,
To go around me with his tape
And see if I am just the same
In my dimensions and my shape—
I'm hep to all this tailor game.

My tailor gets his pencil out
And then repeats what Stubby grunts
As he goes measuring round about
And doing his surveying stunts.
"Fourteen"—"fourteen," "arms back," "arms back,"
And all that grim descriptive stuff—
Though I ignore each cruel crack,
I get their insults, plain enough!

My tailor says, in terms polite,
That I'm knockkneed and bottle-necked—
He has nice names for it, all right,
But I've no trouble to detect
The meaning of the things that he
And his assistant with the tape
Are saying, as they go 'round me,
And make remarks about my shape!

Phonographs

Phonographs are what is home without.

People who once had the crudest and coarsest of tastes can now enjoy Bert Williams' "Goin' Some," and "The Preacher and the Bear," and other artistic high-brow triumphs.

To say nothing of "If That's Your Idea of a Wonderful Time."

We know of few rarer pleasures than putting on a record in which Alma Homer and Louise, or some other of the Gluck girls, sings "Abide with Me."

With cold weather coming on, these great singers oughtn't to have to coax much in public to get somebody to abide thus.

To put on a John McCormack with a worn needle insufficiently screwed in, and to let the machine run down in the midst of "Mavis," or "I Hear You Bawling Me"—that is a pleasure denied to no one of even ordinary circumstances.

When the "Mavis" stuff has been pulled about to where the children are r-r-r-r-r-r-oaming the meadows for flower-pots to throw at Mavis's white satin slippers as she goes to the little white cha-e-r-r-r-tsch in the valley, and the machine's spring slowly expires, it seems to us the height of human rapture has about been attained.

Doesn't it to you?

If one takes some pains to get the greatest possible variety from his machine, he can even sit on a record or two and crack it, after which the quaintest possible effects may be had from throwing the machine into third speed and presenting the "Berceuse" whose middle name is Jocelyn.

The wording thus becomes "Concealed in this, crack, retreat

Whereto we have, crack, been led,
By sore misfortune, crack, joined
While weary night, crack, has fled,
In visions calm, crack, crack, crack, and sweet
We together have slum—crack, bered,
Or have prayed, crack, while above us
Twinkled stars unnum—crack, crack, crack—bered."

Georgeous stuff—what?

What is home without a talking machine!

We pause for a reply.

The Young Lady Across The Way

The trouble with our politics, we observed to the young lady across the way, is that our good citizens don't interest themselves personally in it and she said her father certainly did and she overheard him say that if his side won it would mean a $500,000 contract to him and if everybody was like her father she guessed we'd have a good deal better government.

Apoplexy And Paralysis

APOPLEXY is hemorrhage into the substance of an organ, usually the brain. One result of such a hemorrhage into the brain substance is paralysis of those muscles whose nerve centres are pressed upon or destroyed by the blood clot. "A stroke of paralysis," however, is not always apoplexy. Sometimes it is caused by embolism, the breaking off of a minute fragment of a diseased heart valve, or a bit of fat from the marrow of a fractured bone, or a bubble of air from some injury like a cut throat, or a bit of clot from an infected vein. Apoplexy is more common at middle age and thereafter; embolism may occur at any age. A third condition causing a stroke of paralysis is thrombus, or clotting of blood in a vessel of the brain, due to slowing of the circulation plus a diseased artery. Thrombus is less sudden in onset, as a rule.

The causes of apoplexy or cerebral hemorrhage or a stroke of paralysis, as you please to call it, are the things that cause arterial disease or hardening of the arteries or arteriosclerosis.

High living, overeating, hasty eating, eating for social reasons or to please the cook, eating because it is eating time, though you are not hungry—beyond all question this is the commonest cause of apoplexy. A typical stroke occurs right after a hearty meal, when the blood pressure is at its highest point—and the poor victim is feeling fine as a fiddle, laughing, joking, boasting, perhaps, of his fine health and hearty appetite. Somehow, persons subject to apoplexy acquire ravenous appetites and like to indulge them beyond reasonable bounds.

Heredity accounts for bad stuff in the arteries, according to the older authorities, though we personally believe heredity simply perpetuates bad habits of living.

Overwork, physical or mental, plus strain or worry, are likewise alleged to be factors. This, too, we doubt, because we don't like to think that mere hard work hurts anyone.

But of the accepted factors of apoplexy these must be mentioned: Alcohol in moderation; tobacco in excess; certain chronic infections; the damage done by certain acute infections like typhoid fever and pneumonia; and finally, lead poisoning from occupation or accidental exposure.

After forty is the age of apoplexy. Men break down after forty more frequently than they used to before the days of the automobile. Auto-intoxication, which is concerned in the causation of apoplexy in persons of sedentary life and too much appetite, would be at least diminished, if not prevented, if walking were a daily custom of the classes. After forty every man should undergo a physical examination at least once a year, including blood pressure measurement and urinalysis.

THE STREET CAR

THE street car is the mixing trough of humanity. It is an automatic enforcer of democracy, and is our greatest proof that all men are equal. The street car takes the millionaire, the society leader, the minister, the gambler, the poor immigrant and the plain drunk who meet nowhere else and it mixes them so thoroughly that at the end of five minutes the millionaire is holding the plain drunk on his lap, the gambler is leaning on the minister's bosom and the society lady's hat pin is in the poor immigrant's eye.

The street car is another reason why they have had to put adding machines in the recording angel's office. The reason why more men do not go insane trying to drive automobiles is because they have previously ridden on street cars. The street car is a short, narrow box stall on wheels. It has two rows of seats, which are only visible after business hours, and a set of brakes powerful enough to throw a 200 pound man thirty feet when the car stops. Some motormen get so expert that they can throw a large man from the rear door at a small man against the front door, and make a bull's eye every time.

The street car, as its name implies, infests our streets. It can be found either a block ahead of where you are or waiting behind six coal wagons two miles to the rear. It averages six miles an hour when you are aboard and trying to catch a train, but when you are chasing it, it frequently passes a crossing at a speed of 100 miles an hour. Sometimes a motorman has run by so many people on the corners that he has to lose his trolley to avoid getting in on time.

There are two kinds of street cars—bad and worse. In the bad kind you have to pay your money before you get in. In the other kind the company takes its chance. In the latter kind the conductor climbs over the passengers to get his fares. In the former the passenger climbs over him. Conductors assure us that the "pay as you enter" cars are an utter failure, and that the price of living is getting steadily higher.

The street car refutes the old superstition that you can't put two things in the same place at the same time. Long after a street car is entirely full, people keep getting into it. We are told by scientists that a street car does not become profitable unless it has a fringe of passengers hanging from the straps. It is much more comfortable, therefore, to contribute to the expenses of a company than it is to swell its profits. In England they use cars with roof gardens, which enables them to carry two layers of passengers at a time. In this country, however, we are more scientific. We carry three layers in one-story cars. Owing to the exertion of arranging the passengers, our street car conductors break down at an early age and become sardine packers and cotton balers.

When you are chasing it, it passes a crossing at a speed of 100 miles an hour

Because of the vast number of street cars in America and the waning popularity of walking as an exercise the feet of this nation will soon be calloused on the upper side only.

The Pope In This War

A STRANGE development of war politics in Europe is the Bavarian proposition to restore the temporal sovereignty of the Pope, as a penalty, of course, to be inflicted by victorious Germany upon the Kingdom of Italy for joining the Entente Allies. The present war has in many respects reversed the tendency of European history. It has increased the authority of monarchs and diminished that of the people. It has converted Germany into an autocracy. It has ended constitutionalism, apparently, in Bulgaria and Greece. It has silenced parliamentary opposition in England and France, and thrown a veil of slumber over Home Rule in Ireland. Even Switzerland feels the grip of militarism on the throat of its ancient democracy. Is this backward drift to take Italy back to 1860, and restore to the Pope his territorial dominions?

We may be sure that such a proposition would meet with favor in Austria and Bavaria, and perhaps in Prussia as well. If it became possible to the Austro-Germans, as the result of a complete victory over the Entente Powers, to destroy the Italian Kingdom, they would undoubtedly destroy it. As the fruit of such a victory, Venetia and even Lombardy might be given back to Austria, and the states of the Church be constituted. But that such a chimerical scheme should be seriously discussed in the Bavarian Diet is an indication of the political madness of the Germans. To reverse the course of history in such a manner would be impossible, though the strongest political combination in Europe should attempt it. Moreover, there will be no "papal conspiracy" to effect this end.

Undoubtedly the Bavarian suggestion rests on the assumption that the Holy See is sympathetically on the German side in the war. As Abbe Dimnet has shown, there has been a great revival of the religious spirit in France as a result of the war. Is the Church likely to imperil that hopeful revival by taking sides against France? Could the Church abandon its mission as the impartial c[illegible]rter and inspirer of all in orde[illegible] follow the will-o'-the-wisp of a [illegible]ration of the Papal State? It is not at all likely, and those who say that it will do so are guilty of a very great presumption. They do not understand the function of the Catholic Church in the world.

By the entrance into the war on the side of the Entente Powers, the Italians showed that they had the courage of their national hopes. Defeat for them might, indeed, mean humiliation and even dismemberment. They entered the war bravely and whole-heartedly, nevertheless, having an eye to the independent position of Italy on the Adriatic and in the Mediterranean. The entire population clerical and secular, joined in support of the Kingdom. The Roman and Neapolitan nobility, to a great extent papal in sentiment, sent their sons to fight for Italy. The whole population is loyal to the nation. The Church cannot fail to be affected by this phenomenon. It will not take sides against Italy.—Boston Evening Transcript.

BY E. R. BRANSON

What Is A Partner?

Q. I made an agreement with a business acquaintance for a mutual venture. He contributed no property or money to the enterprise. It has become important to know whether our relationship is one of partners and I should like to have your opinion in the matter.

A. It is not always easy to determine whether a partnership exists as a matter of fact. Where two or more persons engage in a joint enterprise, there are several tests to be applied in determining whether there is a partnership and whether the rights, duties and liabilities recognized by law in the case of partnerships will apply. One test is whether there is a joinder of interests and action. Another test is whether there is a sharing in the net profits. Another is whether there is the reciprocal relation of principal and agent. Still another is whether the compensation received by one of the supposed partners is in reality a part of the net profits as a partner, or whether it is compensation paid to an employee.

On The List With Books And Umbrellas

Q. I have a private collection of photographs. Some of them have been loaned to different persons and have not been returned, notwithstanding the fact that I have repeatedly requested such persons to return them. Could these persons be made legally liable? A. Yes.

A Cold Return

Q. If a man owes money and sends a draft, which is accepted as payment of the debt, will it have this legal effect? A. Yes.

State Civil Service Laws

Q. Is it made punishable under state statutes to violate the civil service regulations of a state?

A. The legislature has the power to provide penalties for a violation of civil service regulations.

The Things He Doesn't Want

Q. (1) Isn't it true that a minor child is liable for "necessaries"? (2) How may it be determined what are necessaries?

A. (1) Yes. (2) In determining the question as to what constitutes necessaries, the child's needs, his financial means and his station in life must be taken into consideration. There is no hard and fast rule of determining the matter. Something might be considered a "necessary" for one and not for another.

Stuck To The Land

Q. I understand that it is a principle of law that where personal or movable things are connected with real estate, they become part of the real estate. Now suppose such articles are disconnected from the land. Are they again considered personal property? A. Yes.

Mr. Branson will be glad to answer all questions. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not, it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Address all letters to E. R. Branson, care of this newspaper.

Salt

Stir up your Salt.

For Salt—translated into terms of moral use—is the stuff that seasons and balances one's work—keeps it from swaying into mediocrity, commonness and nothingness—it's grit, courage, back bone, refined to the crystal degree. That's Salt!

Stir up your Salt.

A man without Salt in his system is about as active a thing as a watch without works. Neither one goes.

Stir up your Salt.

The blood and body of a man is saturated with Salt. When a man's Salt runs out the man runs out.

Stir up your Salt.

Salt is the thing that savors Mankind.

Stir up your Salt.

You are worth your Salt if you have worth to add to your Salt. Salt has no value alone. Salt is a partner ingredient. It's a complement to what you already have to mix with it.

Stir up your Salt.

Salt is the commonest and [illegible]rest thing in all the world. It's almost everywhere and nowhere. But it's yours to take and use. Salt in your work is evenness of effort, stolidness of purpose and assuredness of Faith in Results—Hope for better things—Courage for bigger tasks. As you work through the minutes and the hours, keep it firmly in mind that Success must needs have its share of Salt.

Stir up your Salt.

The Don't Worries

We started a "Don't Worry" club at
Pohick on the Crick.
We thought we'd stop the troubles that were gatherin' too thick.
We'd heard about the way that exercisin' of the mind
Would help us to be gay an' leave our earthly cares behind.
Sim Slicer said that he was through with worryin' each day,
'Bout goin' home an' hearin' what his wife would have to say.
An' all the fellers, they agreed the proper thing to do
Was jes' to think of pleasant things an' hope that they'd come true.

We sat and talked about the world
so full of nature's charm,
An' no one made allusions to the mortgage on the farm.
We all took life so easy that Bill
Briggs, who keeps the store,
Resolved to shut up an' never trust himself no more.
Sim Slicer's wife she led a crowd who said a thing or two
'Bout various things, including mortgages a fallin due.
It was a blissful dream from which we wakened all too quick.
Now everybody's worryin' down to
Pohick on the Crick.

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Bibbley Wah Got Out of The Wood Box.

"Say you love me and I'll lift you out."

"EVERY Christmas holiday," daddy began, "Bibbley Wah, whether she wanted to or not, had to visit her great-aunt, Eliza. Now, this nice old lady was so rich that everybody called her Dear Aunt Eliza—everybody in town. She had a great big house all filled with curious, rare things she had found in her travels through strange lands, and she always wore silk gowns and pretty caps of real lace."

"Even to bed with her?" cried Evelyn.

"Yes, even to bed with her," daddy went on. "Well, one of the things she enjoyed most of all was the holiday visit from Bibbley Wah. Her mamma used to dress her all up in pretty clothes, pack a little trunk and send her off for a week to be the only child in the great big empty house, the only plaything for Dear Aunt Eliza. For the first two or three days Bibbley Wah used to have a fairly good time playing with the strange things in all the closets and bureaus and with Dear Aunt Eliza's queer old maid, who was a friend of Anne's. Then she used to nearly die of homesickness for the boys.

"She was too polite to cry, but she tried to find some fun taking the beautiful white birch sticks out of Dear Aunt Eliza's wood box and stacking them all neatly back in again. Dear Aunt Eliza was so rich that she would burn nothing in her fireplace but white birch, because she used to like to listen to the charming white bark crackle. She paid a great sum every winter to have a carload of birch sent down from the Green mountains. And her wood box was once the cradle of a little prince. It was fine old wood, all hand carved and Dear Aunt Eliza had brought it back from Europe. One day, when Bibbley Wah had just emptied it and started to lay the pretty logs in again her small feet slipped right out from under her, and she tumbled right into the wood box cradle, with her chubby little legs doubled back beside her ears, just the way a jackknife shuts up. She screamed for help, and Dear Aunt Eliza came running to her. 'Say you love me and I'll lift you out!' she promised Bibbley Wah, who was silent as a mouse. 'Love me best of all and I'll pick you up!' Dear Aunt Eliza jealously repeated, smiling. Now, Bibbley Wah was a very truthful child, and there was any number of things she loved better than Dear Aunt Eliza—her own papa and mamma, the boys, Carlo, Uncle Ben and Anne. But her legs ached, and her aunt was so stubborn that she finally did. Then, when the old lady tried to kiss her, she ran like anything. 'But you said you loved me!' cried Dear Aunt Eliza. 'I loved you to get out of the wood box,' said the truthful Bibbley Wah."

Married Life on $80 a Month

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

A Train Wreck Brings Anxious Hours to John Sutner.

"Isn't it most time for that train?" asked John Sutner, yawning, as he walked up and down the platform between one and two o'clock in the morning.

"It's past due, but no word has come as to when to expect it." The sleepy night operator rose to stretch and poke the fire.

"I am precious glad my wife isn't invited to chaperon young people to the opera very often," grumbled John, cross from lack of sleep.

The telegraph instrument began to tick insistently, and the operator sprang to take the message.

"God!" he ejaculated, springing to his feet.

"What?" asked John.

"There has been an awful accident. A head-on collision down the road here."

"An accident! Anybody killed?"

"Well, I should say yes," exclaimed the young fellow. "There, they are calling me again." John followed him over to the instrument, his heart beating so fast that he could hardly breathe.

"What did you learn?" His voice sounded strange to himself as he heard his question.

"There were three killed and about forty injured. It occurred about twenty-five miles this side of Kansas City. They have sent for a relief train from the city." He stopped, John stood there so white and still.

"Is there no way I can get there?" John asked.

"Not till the express at five in the morning, you know."

"I thought there might be a freight through. Can't you find out more about who was hurt and——" He could not bring himself to say killed.

"It was the agent at the next station who called me. I will tell him you are waiting for news and ask him to pass on anything he hears," said the youth sympathetically. "When I tell him your wife is on board and you're here waiting for news he'll do it all right."

John sank into a seat and buried his face in his hands; then restlessly paced the floor.

"If only I could know. If I could get there!" he exclaimed, striding up and down the dingy room. When it was nearly four o'clock he left the depot and hurried to Doctor Ellson's and rang the night bell. When he told him what had happened the doctor said:

"I'll go with you on the morning express. I may be needed."

"And Jack! Will you ask Mrs. Ellson to look after him till I come back. She is so kind. She will let Miss Travers know what has happened."

The two men were very silent all the way to the little station where the wreck had occurred. As they neared the place the tension was almost unbearable and John was on the last step ready to spring off as soon as the train slowed up. He had hardly struck the pavement when Molly rushed up to him and flung her arms around his neck, sobbing wildly.

"Oh, I hoped you would come," she cried. "Julia is dreadfully hurt. She is unconscious and they do not know how serious her injuries are. They have taken her to a hospital in Kansas City."

John could hardly speak, the reaction from the terrible strain was so great. "Here is the doctor, Molly," he said as she became more quiet.

"I believe I will go down to see how Miss Osgood is," said Dr. Ellson when he had assured himself that Molly was all right. "Good-bye," he called as he swung onto the train that was just moving off.

"Oh, John, I never was so glad to see you," exclaimed Molly as they were seated in the train to go back to Fairport.

"What do you think about my being glad to see you, when I did not know whether I should ever see you alive again?" asked her husband.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The following program of Triangle plays is presented at Proctor's the first half of the week starting today. Thomas Jefferson and Tully Marshall appear in "The Sable Lorcha," and Raymond Hitchcock and Mabel Normand are featured in the rollicking Keystone comedy, "Stolen Magic." "The Sable Lorcha" is one of the most interesting of the Triangle plays that has yet been seen. Tully Marshall was an excellent choice for the half breed Chinaman. "Stolen Magic," featuring Raymond Hitchcock, is a comedy that may best described as an Arabian Nights tale brought up-to-date and Keystonized. Among the all star vaudeville acts presented in conjunction with the Triangle plays is a ventriloquist offering presented by Warren and Walters. This act is "somewhat different" from the usual offerings of its kind. Another offering is Miss Rose Jeanette, a petite miss, billed as the "Broadway Nightingale." "The Erstwhile Entertainers" will endeavor to ingratiate themselves with the spectators with one of the most entertaining offerings ever seen in this city. Miss Belle Onra, a clever trapeze artiste, performs daring and almost impossible feats of skill and strength, that would do credit to some of the so-called strong men appearing in public. This dainty miss possesses enormous stamina and will prove a hit with local patrons.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Obviously some theatrical attractions come here occasionally that some people can afford to miss, once in a while there is something that everybody can afford to miss, but an attraction that no one can afford to miss is Lyman H. Howe's travel, which comes to the Plainfield Theatre, today, tomorrow night and tomorrow afternoon. This assertion applies even more for the forthcoming visit than any preceding one, not merely because Mr. Howe promises a trip to both California Expositions through the Panama Canal, a ride on a submarine, a pictorial excursion to Bruges, Belgium, to Holland, etc., but because it will also be a return engagement of that delightful, thrice-blessed, never-to-be-forgotten baby which appeared here once before and having the time of his year old life breaking, tearing and eating lots of things and then finding bliss supreme by sitting in the very happiest middle of a nice, big, soft puddle of black mud—a picture of child life which prompted Douglas Gordon, of the Richmond Times-Dispatch, to address him thus. "Baby, happier than any piggy that ever squealed, you'll never be so exalted in all-glorious ecstasy again. So sit there, dabble in it, lie down in it and roll; many a man who watches you has wished in his life for just such a beautiful puddle as you've got."

As the silken tapestries of the East are to the products of the Caucasian brush, so are the wondrous dances of the Orient to the drama of the East. Where the one but paints his ideal, the other weaves it into tangibility. What the West would tell in spoken parable and theatric art, the East expresses in the unhindered sense of motion only. And that the latter goes further, mounts to a higher form of the beautiful, and can be made a more perfect vehicle for the expression of thought and feeling, is strikingly proved by Ruth St. Denis, the world famous danse artiste, who is booked to appear Wednesday night at the Plainfield Theatre in her repertoire of Oriental, Greek and other classic dances.

Like the very spirit of the land, whose strange mysticism and stranger philosophies she would interpret through the medium of her flashing fingers and twinkling toes, Miss St. Denis is herself quite beyond the comprehension of the Caucasian mind. She deals in ideals and ideas, in forms and expressions, that have about them the impenetrable gauze of the mystic Orient.

BIG FIELD FACES CLIMAX'S TRAPS

Twelve Events on Plainfield Gun Club's All-day Xmas Shoot.

RETURN GOOD SCORES

John Terry Shoots at 165 During Day, and Breaks 150—Many Perfect Scores Made in Events of 10 and 15 Birds.

A big field took part in the dozen events that made up the all-day program at the Climax Gun Club traps Christmas Day. Some excellent shooting was seen, John Terry breaking 150 out of 165. Pete Terry broke 37 out of 40; C. Randolph, 92 out of 100; Anthony Alberts, 42 out of 50, and F. Ginnam, 87 out of 100.

The first event, a 15-bird handicap, resulted in a tie between Ginnam and Clawson. The shoot-off came in the second event, when the former returned a perfect score, winning the pair of chickens which went with first honors in No. 1 event. Clawson got two ducks for being second.

In the second event, Charles Foster was first with a perfect score, A. VanCleef, with a score of 13—2—15, being second.

John Terry and A. VanCleef divided first prize in the third event, C. Randolph winning a duck for being second with a score of 14.

Three 10-bird sweepstakes followed. In the seventh event, Dr. Giddie broke 70 out of 100; John Terry, 24 out of 25, and Richard MacIntyre, 68 out of 95.

Neaf Apgar had a perfect score of 10 in the eighth shoot, while Foster Randolph and Bishop tied at 9 in the next competition. The tenth was at 15 birds, J. Terry and C. Randolph breaking 14. John Terry had but three misses in the eleventh event, at 25 birds, while C. Randolph won the twelfth, breaking 9 out of 10.

HOPE MEN ONLY ONES SCORE WHEN COVERED

Playing of Porter and Marsh Sparkling Feature of Chapelites' Win.

Praiseworthy work by Forward William Marsh and Albert Porter accounted for the victory scored by Hope Chapel basketball players Saturday afternoon, over the Liberty A. C., of Perth Amboy. The score was 33 to 10. Tight guarding made the scoring sparse, but while the close defensive tactics kept all the other contestants from doing much in the way of gathering points, Marsh and Porter dropped in five field goals apiece, while Marsh also made good on 11 of his 17 free throws.

The work of the home forwards was a revelation to the Hope Chapel rooters, and a source of much encouragement to Coach Jack Martin's hopes of developing a team as good as the one Hope Chapel is used to supporting. Porter and Marsh showed ability to pass and shoot while covered, the real test of basketball ability.

Seventeen fouls were called on the Hopes, but the visitors turned only six of their chances into points.

The Men's Union League team, of the Irvington First Reformed church, will appearr at Hope Chapel next Saturday afternoon.

TRAP-SHOOTERS AT LAKEWOOD.

Lakewood, Dec. 27.—Sportsmen who love the crack of the gun are gathered here for the big invitation trap-shoot at Lake Manetta, which gets under way today. There are $800 in prizes, besides valuable trophies. Today the practice shooting is on. Tomorrow six events will be shot. One of these is the Lakewood amateur championship at sixteen-yard targets. Six more events will be staged on Wednesday, one of which is for the Lakewood Handicap Trophy.

NEWARK BOY WINS BY K. O.

Patsy Kline knocked out Young O'Toole in the first round of their fight in New York, Saturday night.

FEDS HAVE FEW PLAYERS WHO WILL STRENGTHEN THE MAJORS

Left to right, top: Eddie Plank and Hendryx. Bottom: Zwilling, Kauff and Tinker.

New York, Dec. 27.—(Special).—Now that peace between organized baseball and the Federal League has become an assured fact, one of the most interesting problems from the public's standpoint that must be unravelled pertains to the distribution of players now connected with the Federal League.

American League managers agree the Feds have few players who are good enough to get jobs in either the American or National leagues, and that most of them probably will drop to the minors.

The opinion seems to be general among the magnates that the only Fed players possessing big league calibre are Pitchers Hendryx, Rogge, Allen, Davenport, and perhaps Eddie Plank, who did great work during the last season; Catchers Rariden and Wilson, and Outfielders Magee, Kauff, Zwilling, Tobin, Oakes and Marsans.

According to present plans each Federal League owner who is frozen out in the new line-up will be paid for his players, the price to be determined by a committee. These players will be apportioned among the clubs of the two leagues so as to equalize playing strength.

Any Federal League owner who buys himself into organized baseball will have all his own men to combine with the players on the American or National League Club.

As arranged at present, the new combinations will be: Chicago Cubs and Chicago Whales, St. Louis Cards and St. Louis Feds, Newark Feds and New York Giants. That means the owners of the Baltimore, Buffalo, Kansas City, Pittsburg and Brooklyn Federal League clubs will be apportioned among the National and American League clubs, though there is a chance that the Wards will buy an interest in the New York Yankees.

Just how much will be allowed the Fed owners on their players will be determined by the length of time a man is under contract. If his contract has expired the Fed club will be able to get a very good price, as he'll naturally be asked to accept a reduction in salary, now that the war is a thing of the past. But if he is under contract for one or two more years at a wartime salary, he'll not bring his club any great amount of coin.

There are some Federal League players whose terms of usefulness upon the diamond are said to be over, and who may continue to draw big salaries next year, despite the declaration of peace. These include Fred Falkenberg at $7,000 and Bill Bradley at $5,000, Joe Tinker at $12,000 and a few others.

ALL STARS MAKE IT THREE OVER T. A. B. S.

Change in Boroughites' Line-up Helps in Holding Down Homesters.

A shift in their line-up played an important part in the All-Stars' third straight victory over the St. Mary's Tabs, on the latter's court, Saturday night. The Stars won, 22 to 18, after Harry Moulton had been changed from forward to guard in order to hold down Eugene Lidgate, who had been running loose at the beginning of the game.

Carson's quartet of baskets was a big factor in the North Plainfielders winning.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN TO BE HUGE ICE PALACE

New York, Dec. 27.—At a cost of $800,000 Madison Square Garden is to be made into the largest ice skating rink in the world, modeled after the famous ice palace in Berlin, Harry A. Cochrane, general manager of the Garden, announced Saturday.

Plans for the alterations necessary to convert the large arena into a gigantic rink have already been prepared by Warren & Wetmore, architects. The transformation will be so carried on as not to interfere with the regular exhibitions, boxing matches and other events already booked.

N. C. A. A. WILL OPEN ITS SESSION TOMORROW IN N. Y.

New York, Dec. 27.—The executive committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Association met here today to complete arrangements for the tenth annual convention of the college men, to begin tomorrow. Among the speakers at the morning session tomorrow will be Hon. William H. Taft, President Garfield, of Williams College; Prof. Corwin, of the Yale Athletic Committee, and Dean McClenahan, of Princeton. The adoption of college rules to govern all college sports will be discussed at the meeting, and military training will be bought up for opinions.

The organization of college athletes is growing. It originated by a union of the smaller colleges and has branched out so that the addition of Yale University to its list of members leaves comparatively few of the large universities outside the association.

The problems of eradicating from college baseball its objectionable features and adopting a definition of the term "amateur" will occupy much attention at the hands of the college board. The association has in the past acted merely as an advisory organization, but it is expected that the coming meeting will take a definite stand for clean sport in the college world.

NEW TABLE ADDED TO Y. M. BILLIARD ROOM

Two Pool Tournaments Will Be Run Off Soon After First of Year.

A new table is today being added to the billiard room of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. The table will be a combination pool-billiard affair, and is a Brunswick-Balke-Collender. One of the two old tables will be repaired and the other will be moved to the boys' department on the third floor. A pocket billiard tournament will be started soon after the first of the year.

It has been more than eight years since the carrom game was played at the Y. M. C. A. Pictures of men prominent in the billiard world will adorn the walls of the room, which is another innovation. F. O. Dunning is chairman of the committee in charge of the improvements. A new outfit of cues, etc., has also been purchased.

The pocket billiard tournament held last winter, the first held at the association in many years, was a big success. The winners of the prizes were Harry Moulton and Henry Welle.

Owing to the large number of members whose ability with the cue is not known to the billiard committee, it is probable that a scratch tourney will be held in order to give the handicappers a line on the players who will enter the annual handicap competition to be held later.

GUN CLUB TO HOLD ITS ANNUAL MEETING SATURDAY

An all-day shoot and a special meeting, at which officers for the coming year will be elected, will be held at the Climax Gun Club, New Year's Day.

A 1916 feature will be a special holiday season competition, in which prizes will go to those breaking the largest number of birds at all the holiday shoots held during the year.

BIG MEETING TODAY OF ATHLETIC HEADS

Leaders in All Branches of Sport Will Help Solve the Amateur Problem.

One of the first real steps in an endeavor to evolve order from chaos in the rules governing the eligibility of athletes to take part in amateur competition will be taken this afternoon, when the representatives of sixteen controlling organizations in amateur sport will meet at the Hotel Astor in New York.

The conference is the outgrowth of a resolution of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America calling for a recodifying of the rules of amateur athletics with the purpose of defining more distinctly the line between amateurism and professionalism.

The fifteen organizations which have responded to the invitation of the I. A. A. A. A. to meet in conference and discuss amateur problems are the controlling bodies in lawn tennis, golf, fencing, college rowing, skating, revolver shooting, billiards, playgrounds and recreation centers, intercollegiate basketball, soccer football, and the A. A. U., the A. A. U. of Canada, the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the Athletic Research Society and the Boy Scouts. This group covers practically the entire field of amateur sport in the United States, except, of course, the Western college conferences, but these are listed under the National Collegiate Athletic Assocation.

Suggested rules have been drawn up to be submitted to the conference by the I. A. A. A. A. These define an amateur to be one who engages in sport solely for the pleasure and physical benefits he derives therefrom, and who regards sport as an avocation. There are five ways whereby the amateur may be disbarred. These, in broad terms, are for perpetrating a fraud in an athletic competition, by competing for money, by coaching for money, by capitalizing athletic fame and by associating with professionals.

N. P. H. S. GIRLS PLAY ON SAENGERBUND HALL COURT

A girls' basketball game between graduates and undergraduates of North Plainfield High School will be held at Saengerbund Hall tonight. Dancing will follow the game.

The Misses Helen George, Nettie Steiner, Clara Smith, Lucy Douglas and Elsie Debele will play on the Alumni, while the Misses Lillian Spencer, Marjorie Burtis, Theresa McCullough, May Doughty and Bertha Keller will perform.

LES DARCY ROLLS OFF BOUT WITH M'GOORTY, IN SYDNEY

New York, Dec. 27.—Eddie McGoorty, the American middle weight, today cabled from Australia that Les Darcy, the Australian champion, whom he was to box at Sydney, Australia, yesterday, canceled the fight Saturday night, alleging that he was not in condition to fight.

New York, Dec. 27.—Charles Brown, manager of Tom Cowler, the Australian heavyweight, now in this country, has received a cablegram from Snowy Baker, the Australian fight promoter, saying that Les Darcy, the Australian champion, knocked out Eddie McGoorty, the American, in the eighth round of their fight in Sydney last Saturday night.

BUY ADVERTISED PRODUCTS

Widely advertised products are not only made by live concerns, but always by responsible concerns.

Don't buy Bicycles or Tires whose name means nothing to you. Why should you take such chances, especially when well known standard bicycles and tires cost you no more and often less?

Don't buy Bicycles, Tires or Sundries that any dealer offers you, when you have to ask him the name of the maker. This in itself should be your first warning that he must be trying to put something over on you in order to make an extra profit for himself, and at your expense.

DRINK WATER TO AVOID SICKNESS SAYS AUTHORITY

Glass of hot water before breakfast daily keeps the doctor away.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides, with results that are of untold blessings to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to make anyone a crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

CONFIDENCE IN MAYOR CALKINS

Churchmen and Men's Clubs Leave Enforcement to Him.

LETTER FROM WEEKS

Accepts Criticism of Original Petition With Due Humility and Trusts Lord's Interests to City's Chief Executive.

Men's clubs and organizations of church men in the city that recently petitioned Mayor Calkins for an enforcement of the laws prohibiting the opening of stores in this city on Sunday have accepted the position of the chief executive, and in a letter signed by Frank A. Weeks, they state that they are confident the welfare of the city and the Lord's interests will be carefully looked after by Mayor Calkins.

The letter of Mr. Weeks, in answer to that read at a recent meeting of the Common Council, follows:

"Your esteemed favor acknowledging receipt of the copy of communication to the Common Council from the various men's clubs, asking them to watch and stop the growing tendency to keep open stores in our city without an observance of a Sabbath, has been received.

"I accept with due humility your criticism (that we did not first inquire about what was being done in this direction) before sending in the communication.

"That portion of the second paragraph of your letter in which you state 'I recognize the good motive which prompts your action, and I am in sympathy with what I hope is your position, that a growing tendency, if such exists, to depart from a reasonable substantial observance of Sunday as a day of general rest from work should be discouraged,' assures us that we can let this matter rest in your hands with confidence that the welfare of your city and the Lord's interests will be carefully looked after."

COURT UNION, I. O. F., INITIATE AND ELECT

Court Union, No. 3277, Independent Order Foresters, at its meeting last night, initiated one candidate and then elected these officers for the ensuing year, the installation to take place on Monday night, January 24:

CHRISTMAS CANTATA AT MONROE AVENUE CHURCH

The Monroe Avenue church Sunday school will give its Christmas cantata this evening at 7:45. The latter is entitled "The Sign in the Sky."

Watch Night services wil be held Friday evening. From nine to ten o'clock there will be a social gathering with music and refreshments. At 10 o'clock the Rev. F. J. Hubach will preach. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated during the last hour of the closing year. The New Year will be welcomed with appropriate exercises.

The first Sunday of the New Year will be observed as Go-to-Church-Sunday. The Japanese evangelist, Rev. K. S. Hiraide, will preach in the church on Monday evening, January 3.

APPOINTED MANAGER.

P. H. Currier, of 41 Montclair avenue, has been promoted to the position of manager of the Dunellen store of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company. He had been a clerk in the store for several months.

MANY SURPRISES AT HOSPITAL DANCE

Woman's Auxiliary Complete Plans for Affair on New Year's Eve.

All arrangements have been completed for the dance to be given on New Year's Eve under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary Board of Muhlenberg Hospital. A large number of tickets have been disposed of, and from all indications a big crowd will dance the old year out and the new year in at the Plainfield High School Auditorium. Dancing will be from 9:30 until 3 in the morning, with an intermission for supper, which will be served without charge. At 11 o'clock there will be a dancing contest, and at 12 a fitting celebration of the arrival of 1916. The proceeds of the dance will be devoted to Muhlenberg Hospital.

Tickets for the affair may be purchased at the door on New Year's Eve or at any of the following drug stores: Randolph's, Armstrong's and Riker-Hegeman Co. They can also be purchased from the committee: Miss Eva Browne, chairman; Mrs. J. Whitney Baker, Mrs. Henry W. Brower, Mrs. Frederick Goddard, Miss Helen Harman, Mrs. Herman B. Joost, Mrs. Walter Righter, Mrs. William B. Tyler, Mrs. Edward J. Waring. The floor committee consists of Warren Ackerman, J. Whitney Baker, Henry W. Brower, Kenneth Browne, Thomas M. Day, Jr., Owen Fleming, James Fleming, William Flanders, Frederick W. Goddard, E. W. Jeddcott, Sherman J. Joost, Howard Ladd, John Martin, J. Hartley Mellick, Roger Mellick, James O. Murray, Walter L. Righter, Rex Schoonmaker, Lawrence Smith, William Palmer Smith, Jr., Edward F. Stevenson, John Valiant, William B. Tyler and Edward J. Waring.

OVERSEER OF POOR CAUSES HIS ARREST

Benjamin Bluryski was arraigned in police court this morning on a complaint sworn out by Overseer of the Poor Garrett T. Dunham, who charges that the man is the father of a child about to become a public charge. He was held under a bond of $600 by Judge DeMeza, and will be tried tomorrow morning.

S. W. RUSHMORE RUNS INTO A STREET CAR

Samuel W. Rushmore yesterday afternoon ran his automobile into a street car. The accident occurred at the corner of Fifth and Richmond streets. A fender on the street car was badly bent, but Mr. Rushmore's automobile was not damaged. He acknowledged responsibility for the accident, and will settle with the Public Service Corporation for the damage done.

NEW YEAR'S PROGRAM FOR HOPE CHAPEL FOLK

The usual watch night service will be held in Hope chapel on Friday evening at 10:30 o'clock. As is customary, this meeting will begin with a song service and will be open for prayer and testimony. It is the hope of the pastor that there will be the usual large attendance and that all members of the church and congregation will come with some message from the old year or for the new.

There will be "open house" at Hope chapel on New Year's Day. The gymnasium will be open for the boys from 9 until 11:30 in the morning. From 1 until 2:30 will be reserved for the girls. At three o'clock there will be a basketball game. The chapel will be open in the evening for the men of all ages, and a pleasant time is assured for all.

The ways and means committee, together with their wives, will hold a reception in Hope chapel on New Year's Day from 4 until 6. A cordial invitation is extended to the members of the church and congregation.

There will be evangelistic services held in the chapel every night during the week beginning Sunday, January 2.

WEEK LEFT FOR AUTO LICENSES

No extension of the 1916 automobile registration period will be permitted by the State Department of Motor Vehicles. Commissioner William L. Dill said Saturday that there was no possibility of such action, since the law was explicit on the matter. Any such extension would be contrary to the law, he said, and any New Jersey automobile on the highways on January 1 which did not display the 1916 license would be there in violation of the law.

SANTA GAVE HIM A BRAND NEW UNIFORM

Needed It, Because Old One Was Frayed After Ten Years' Wear.

Santa Klaus was good to William A. Logan, marshal of the borough of Fanwood.

The marshal is all dressed up like a sore finger. He's got a brand new policeman's uniform and the manly, brave-looking limbs of the law who stand at Forty-second street and Fifth avenue have nothing on him. The only way you can tell whether he is a member of the New York or the Fanwood police department is to look at his badge.

For ten years Marshal Logan has preserved order in the borough of Fanwood and he has done his work well. He got a regular policeman's uniform, with brass buttons and everything else, when he became the Fanwood police force, but it was getting a little worn and frayed from its ten years of service, and when Logan laid himself down to sleep last Friday evening, instead of hanging up his stocking he rung up the old uniform, with a prayer that Santa would swap him a new one for it, and his prayer was answered. The new uniform was purchased by the borough, but that's a secret, because it is supposed to have been a gift from Santa Klaus. However, don't tell the marshal he didn't bring it, because he may take a chance on getting his new regalia dirty by having it come in contact with a prisoner.

STEALS A DRUM, BUT COULDN'T BEAT A FINE

Arraigned before Justice Snape in the borough court last night, Howard Hall, colored, of 309 Arlington avenue, was found guilty of a charge of larceny preferred against him by Howard Hankerson, also colored, of Lincoln place, and fined $5 and costs or $8.50 in all. The fine was paid.

In swearing out the warrant for Hall's arrest Hankerson alleged that he had stolen a drum from his home while visiting there on August 4 last. The warrant was sworn out shortly after the drum was missed. When Hall became aware that he was wanted by the police he disappeared. Yesterday he drifted into town and into the arms of Officer Pope.

HEART TROUBLE FATAL TO MAN ON CHRISTMAS VISIT

Somerville, Dec. 28.—Levi L. Gardner, a wealthy resident of Flemington Junction, died suddenly shortly before 8 o'clock last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. William H. Van Fleet, of the Thomas apartments, West Main street, Somerville. With his wife, he was paying his daughter and son-in-law a holiday visit, intending to remain until New Year's, and to all appearances was in the best of health. After eating a hearty supper, and enjoying a chat he retired to the bath-room and failing to return after a considerable time elapsed, his relatives investigated. They found him in what they believed to be an unconscious condition, and when a physician arrived in response to a summons he announced the man had been dead for some time. The shock was a great one to his daughter and wife who had held the body from the time of discovery, not realizing they were supporting a lifeless form. Heart failure is given as the cause of death.

Mr. Gardner was sixty-seven years old and had retired from active work. Beside Mrs. Van Fleet, whose husband is station agent at Finderne and Mansville, he is survived by his wife and one son. The body will be taken to Stewartsville, Warren county, where the funeral and interment will take place Thursday morning.

OBSERVE THEIR WEDDING DAY

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Buckalew Quietly Celebrate Sixty-first Anniversary.

YULETIDE GREETINGS

Couple Have Resided in This City for Nearly Half Century—They Have Three Children and Several Grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Henry Buckalew, of West Fifth street, yesterday quietly observed the sixty-first anniversary of their marriage, no special celebration being arranged in honor of the event. The couple received many congratulations and messages conveying the season's greetings.

Mrs. Buckalew is the daughter of Asa Fitz Randolph and Rachael Vail Fitz Randolph, and is the only living granddaughter of Edward Fitz Randolph, who guided General George Washington to Washington Rock during the Revolutionary War.

Mr. Buckalew was born in New Brunswick and he is the last of a family of eight, while his wife is the last of a family of seven. The couple was married on December 27, 1854. They removed to Plainfield in 1868, where they have continued to reside most of the time at their present address. Mr. Buckalew was a United States inspector of steam vessels for many years, retiring two years ago. He is a member of the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers and is a veteran of the Civil War. For twenty-five years he was manager of the New York office of the Ashton Valve Company, and his son, Charles W. Buckalew, now holds his position. Mr. and Mrs. Buckalew are both members of the First Baptist church.

The couple have three children, Mrs. Ella Benson, who lives at home; Charles W. Buckalew, of the borough, and Peter Buckalew, of this city. The last named is a traveling salesman.

CIGARETTE BUTT CAUSES EARLY MORNING BLAZE

Damage to the extent of $150 was caused by fire at the home of Peter Dixon, colored, of 411 West Fourth street, as 8:30 this morning. It originated in the attick from a cigarette butt, Chief Doane believes, and worked its way between two studdings to the lower floors. A brisk blaze was in progress when No. 2 chemical engine arrived in response to a still alarm, but the flames were extinguished by chemicals alone.

Dixon's furniture escaped damage and the loss to the house is covered by insurance.

JOHN EDWARDS.

John Edwards, aged seventy-eight years, well known resident of Scotch Plains for many years, died at 4 o'clock this morning at the home of his son, John Edwards, of Seeley road, North Plainfield township. He had been ill only since Saturday with pneumonia. Mr. Edwards was a farmer by occupation, his place near the Scotch Plains "Back Pond" being familiar to hundreds of Plainfielders. Beside his son, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. J. Ernest Clark, of Scotch Plains. The funeral will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence of his son, and burial will be in Hillside cemetery.

EDWARD KEEN IMPROVING.

Edward Keen, the driver for Henry Nischevitz, of North Plainfield, who was injured quite badly Thursday night, when the horses which he was driving became frightened at a passing automobile and ran away, throwing him out of the wagon, is now able to be about. He is wearing a patch over one eye, over which a deep gash was cut. It is feared that the optic may cause him considerable trouble.

FREEHOLDERS ACCEPT BRIDGE.

Somerville, Dec. 28.—The full Board of the Somerset County Freeholders met at the Mosher bridge in Mountgomery Township this morning and accepted the structure. The contractor was William Ely, of Bernardsville. The bridge is a small one but is on an important railway.

DEMAND JURY TRIAL ON CRUELTY CHARGE

Two Men in Police Court Will Fight Cases of S. P. C. A.

Theodore Glaser and Fred Pyatt, arrested on charges of cruelty to animals, demanded trial by jury when arraigned in police court this morning, and the cases were again continued. The men were picked up on complaint sworn out by Mrs. Van Housen, agent for the local Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. She charges that each man was working a crippled horse. Attorney John P. Owens appeared for the two men when their cases were called by Judge DeMeza this morning, and he demanded a trial by jury. The cases were continued for one week.

REV. RUFUS H. JOHNSON DIES AT DAYTONA, FLA.

Rev. Rufus H. Johnson, pastor of Trinity Baptist church, Jersey City, and once a protege of the Rev. Dr. D. C. Hughes, father of Justice Charles Hughes, of the United States Supreme Court, died at Daytona, Fla., yesterday from heart disease. Mr. Johnson was born near Rahway in 1842, his early years being spent on a farm.

Mr. Johnson was a deacon of the Summit Avenue Baptist church, Jersey City, when Dr. Hughes was pastor. It was at that time he decided to enter the ministry and he appealed to Dr. Hughes for aid. The pastor assisted him in his duties and two years later he became the pastor of Trinity church. He leaves a wife.

MRS. SARAH J. KOYER DIES IN THE HOSPITAL

Mrs. Sarah J. Koyer, widow of William E. Koyer, died in Muhlenberg Hospital yesterday afternoon, following a long illness. She was eighty years old and had resided for a number of years on East Third street, but her last place of residence was on New street. She is survived by one son, William W. Stratton, of Elizabeth, one great granddaughter living in Plainfield and several other distant relatives. She was a member of Hope chapel and also Lincoln Division, Sons of Temperance, and the Daughters of Liberty, of Elizabeth. The funeral will be held at Higgins' mortuary chapel at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon, and at 2 o'clock at Hope chapel, Rev. Frederic L. Greene officiating. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery, Elizabeth.

GIVEN SUSPENDED SENTENCE.

Mrs. Mary Zigler, wife of Alex Zigler, of 510 North avenue, Dunellen, was arrested in a drunken condition in front of the Children's Home this morning by Marshal Charles Keller. When placed behind the bars in the borough jail she sobered quickly and Recorder Hand gave her an early hearing so that she could return to her family of seven children, the youngest of whom is only seven months old. After severely censuring the woman for the example she was setting her children the court released her under a suspended sentence.

FUNERAL OF MRS. DRITSCHEL.

The funeral of Mrs. Oscar F. Dritschel was held this morning at her home, on East Third street, and later in St. Mary's church, where a requiem mass was offered by Rev. Vincent Sciolla. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends and many floral tributes. The interment was made later in Calvary cemetery, Brooklyn.

FUNERAL OF J. C. KIRKNER.

XMAS PARTY.

The primary and kindergarten departments of the Grace church Sunday school will hold their annual Christmas party Thursday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock in the parish house. A tree has been provided for the children and an afternoon of entertainment.

AUTO TURNS TURTLE BUT PARTY ESCAPES

Shock and Bruises Practically the Only Injury Sustained by Plainfielders.

An automobile party composed of J. T. Vail, his son, E. Frank Vail, the North avenue real estate dealers; Dr. Bostwick, of Crescent avenue, and a fourth person from New York, had a miraculous escape from serious injury and perhaps death when their car slid over an embankment, Christmas morning, and completely overturned. All four persons extricated themselves from the upturned vehicle, suffering only from shock and slight bruises, with the exception of E. Frank Vail. The latter was driving the automobile and was pinned in such a position that gasoline pouring from the tank ran over his face and some of it got into his eyes. He was forced to call Dr. Norman Probasco to have the optics properly treated.

The mishap occurred on the mountain road back of Pound Brook and was due to the slippery condition of the ice covered paving. In making a slight turn, the rear wheels skidded and despite desperate attempts on the part of Mr. Vail, the car slipped over a four foot embankment. Before any of the party could do anything to save themselves they were held prisoners underneath the heavy vehicle. The fact that the hood was up let the car down slowly and kept it far enough above the ground to allow all four to wiggle out. The automobile was only slightly damaged but the party had to come back without it.

NEW YEAR PARTY AND DANCE IN DEBELE HALL

A New Year party and dance will be given in Debele's Hall, tomorrow night, for the benefit of the building fund of St. Joseph's church. The committee in charge of the affair under the chairmanship of Miss Kathryn Conshay promise all attendants a jolly time. The patronesses comprise: Miss Mary O'Connor, Mrs. Hillaire Blatz, Mrs. Andrew Kenney, Mrs. James Bailey, Mrs. J. Harper, Mrs. J. Hurley, Mrs. Edward Conshay. The refreshments committee is composed of Miss Anna Howe, chairman, assisted by the Misses E. Mullen, H. McDonough, Margaret Meade, Katherine Howe, Dorothy Howe, Stella Frazer, Nora Bergen, May Barry, Loretta Feller, Margaret Conroy and Elsie Moulton. Music for the occasion will be provided by Paroubek's orchestra.

UNION WEEK OF PRAYER SERVICES ANNOUNCED

The programs have been completed for the annual week of union prayer meetings of the First Presbyterian church, First Methodist, First Baptist and Trinity Reformed churches. The addresses of the pastors will be limited in each case to fifteen minutes and the spirit of prayer will pervade each service as much as possible. The dates, preachers and their subjects are as follows:

Tuesday, January 4, First Methodist church, Rev. Philip B. Strong, pastor of the First Baptist church, will preach on "Prayer and the Church." Wednesday, January 5, Trinity Reformed church, Rev. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, will be the preacher and his topic will be "The Unity of the Church." Thursday, January 6, First Presbyterian church, Rev. Charles M. Anderson will preach on the subject of "The Church in Foreign Lands." Friday, January 7, First Baptist church, Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of the Trinity Reformed church, will take as his subject "The Church in the Home Land."

ALL PRAY FOR MAYOR RIDDLE, OF ATLANTIC CITY

Atlantic City, Dec. 28.—It feels good to be prayed for, according to Mayor William Riddle, for whom prayer meetings are being held daily by the Young Men's Christian Association and in the thirteen Protestant churches which will participate in the Stough revival campaign, opening here next Sunday.

Mayor Riddle was asked if he had been correctly quoted in favor of a "wide-open Atlantic City."

"I favor a sane, but sensible, Sunday," he said. "The saloons should be allowed to be open at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The churches should have Sunday morning, and let the others have the afternoon."

Church people identified with the [illegible] campaign feel that Mayor [illegible] the obstacle to a sweeping success. For this reason it has been decided that the Mayor must be converted at any cost. The daily prayer meetings held in the various Protestant churches are intended to accomplish this.

PRONOUNCES NAME SAINT DENIS NOT SAN DENEE

In order to satisfy the inquiring public, as well as the many admirers and patrons of Ruth St. Denis, who appears at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow night, as to the correct pronunciation of her name, which is so often mispronounced, and also to correct the misinformed that this famous dancer is not an Oriental, but an every-day American girl and pronounced her name as it is spelled, we may say that her surname is Denis, and she comes from an old English family, her father coming to this country from Liverpool, England. Her mother was a New England woman, and Ruth was born in the little New Jersey town of Somerville.

When Miss St. Denis first appeared in Paris, where she was first recognized as a great artist, even before she had been accepted in her own country, the Parisians, who paid her marked homage, bestowed upon her the "St.," and claimed her as a daughter of France. The love of the French people, and their recognition of her artistic ability, appealed to the dancer so strongly, that she adopted the name they had given her, and has used it ever since as her "nomme de theatre," but instead of using the French pronunciation of "San Denee" she prefers to be called St. Denis.

YULETIDE PROGRAM AT THE Y. W. C. A.

Members of Association Have Busy Period Since Last Thursday.

The Christmas festivities at the Young Women's Christian Association began on Thursday, December 23, at 8 p. m., with a simple ceremony of "Hanging the Greens." The cosy "Green Room" was softly lighted by candles and an open fire when the Christmas Spirit (Miss Mildred Caleen), in snowy white robes, with flowing hair and a gold star on her forehead, appeared against a background of crimson curtains. Announcing that she had come "to usher in this holy season with fitting ceremony and to bring back the flavor of Christmas time in other and simpler days," the Christmas Spirit recounted the legend of how the little Christ-child wanders at Christmas time looking for the light of the Yule candle, which shines out from the homes where he will be welcomed. A tall white taper was lighted and placed in the window as the Spirit continued: "So let us place our candle where it will show through the holly wreath to tell passers-by that this is the House of Friendliness and that He is our guest.

By further direction of the Christmas Spirit a large "Jack Horner" pie was brought in, and when the strings were pulled paper bags of popcorn and cranberries came out. These were strung in ropes by some of the company, who assisted in trimming the Christmas tree, already in place while others lighted the big Yule log which was carried in, and decorated the rooms with wreaths and holly branches.

When all was completed an electric button was pressed and the Christmas tree glowed from top to bottom with tiny lights in the form of flowers, fruits, birds and fancy figures.

The Queen of Mis-rule (Miss Nettie Steiner) then appeared, in a dainty yellow and green flower costume, and declared that the company was too somberly clad for such a joyous occasion. All were commanded to repair to the "Mistress of the Robes," Miss Myrtle Fedderman, who provided each one with a gay-colored piece of crepe paper, from which caps, collars and capes were rapidly fashioned and donned. Music sounded and all joined in a grand march, which terminated around the wassail bowl, where each reveler could quench her thirst with cooling drafts of lemonade. The evening concluded with a rehearsal for the Christmas festival.

On Christmas Eve a group of seven Y. W. C. A. members, in red caps and cloaks, with lighted lanterns, sang Christmas carols in the wards of Muhlenberg Hospital, and also at the home of Mrs. F. G. Mead president of the Association.

The Christmas festival took place last evening, and consisted of a simple presentation of the Bethlehem Christmas story. The audience room was lighted with Christmas tapers, and on a small stage was seen a cattle shed, within which was a manger. Christmas music was heard in the distance, provided by Miss Alice Titus (violin) and Mrs. Harry McGee (piano). The program began with the reading of the Christmas story from the gospels of Luke and Matthew, and invocation by the general secretary, Miss Katharine Aller.

An angel voice (Mrs. Edward Suffern) from the unseen choir was then heard singing Adolphe Adam's beautiful solo, "O, Holy Night!" While the invisible angel choir sang "O, Little Town of Bethlehem" and "I Came Upon the Midnight Clear," characters representing Mary and Joseph entered through the audience room, according to the ancient custom, and took their places upon the stage. Then, as the angelic voices sang a nativity carol, three angels appeared, the first carrying the Christ child. As they knelt and the Babe was laid in the manger, distant chimes rang out and radiance flooded over the scene from a bright star which hung above the rude shelter, while the celestial voices burst into the glad strain,

"Angels from the realms of glory,
Wing your flight o'er all the earth."

As appropriate carols were sung those who came to worship the Christ-child entered in the following groups: 1, The shepherds; 2, the wise men; 3, a company of the lame and blind; 4, a group of mothers; 5 some little children; 6, a group of peasants. When all had paid their glad homage to the Child of Bethlehem the entire company of pageanters and audience joined in responsive reading of the Litany, closing with singing the "Adeste Fideles."

Refreshments were then served while Christmas greetings and good wishes were exchanged among the eighty-five people who were present.

There will be a party for the junior members of the association tomorrow afternoon.

DANCING AND SOCIAL.

The dancing class conducted under the auspices of the Women's League of North Plainfield will be held as usual tonight. Charles Cregar, the instructor, will be present. Beside the regular dancing, a social hour will be enjoyed this evening and refreshments enjoyed.

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

Washington—The task of providing entertainment and arranging for the metings of the women's conference in connection with the big scientific congress which opened yesterday, has been ably accomplished by Mrs. Robert Lansing, wife of the Secretary of State. This international gathering of women gives an added importance to the Pan-American Scientific Congress, for it is expected to lead to regular conferences of women from all of the republics in North, South and Central America. The women who have come to Washington from the southern republics are leaders in their home countries. They are well able to discus women's matters and the progress of woman's sphere in the modern world. The women delegates, the wives and daughters of delegates, and prominent Washington women who are acting as hostesses will be prominent in the grand reception tonight at the Pan-American building. Mrs Lansing was chosen to arrange for the women's auxiliary meetings, because of her skill and experience in large affairs. As the daughter of Hon. John W. Foster Secretary of State in the Banjamin Harrison cabinet, she learned the fine art of making things agreeable. She is a close rival of her husband in general popularity at the capital.

Chicago—The Chicago Chinese Woman's Club, the most unique woman's organization in the country, is now a year old. Dr. Hie Ding Lin is president of the club, and she is planning her return to China to be the eighth female physician in the nation of 450,000,000 people. According to Dr. Lin half of the number of Chinese young mothers die each year in childbirth, because of the aged custom of refusing, through false modesty, to be tended by a male doctor. The valiant little woman is an interne at the Mary Thompson Hospital. She proposes to establish a hospital in China. There are twenty members in the unique Chinese club here.

Washington—When the American Civic Association opens its annual convention here today, Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the President, it is announced, will make her debut as a presiding officer of a public meeting. One session of the association during the meeting of four days will be devoted to a consideration of the schoolhouse as a community center. The use of the school is said to be one of Miss Wilson's special desires, which she has advocated consistently. Other prominent women will take part in the discussion on city planning and country planning.

New York—Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, the successor of Dr. Anna Howard Shaw as president of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, is a woman of the great West, although she is now known as a New Yorker. She was born at Ripon, Wisconsin, and was educated at the State Industrial College, in Iowa. She studied law and taught school, and was superintendent of schools at Mason City at one time. Her maiden name was Miss Carrie Lane. She married twice and was widowed twice. She organized the suffrage forces of Iowa, and went forth to battle for the cause in other States. She has lectured on the suffrage question in nearly every State and foreign country. Her campaign work brought her into national prominence, and with the retirement of Dr Shaw, she was practically unopposed for the national leadership.

Juneau, Alaska—The most lonesome woman in Alaska on Christmas Day was Mrs. E P. Frohock, the government school teacher, who was forced to put up for the winter in the dismal town of Bethel. She was on her way to an isolated post in the Kuskokwim country, when the early freeze caught the vessel on which she was a passenger. She had her two small children with her, and those are her only comfort until the spring thaw reopens navigation.

MRS. MANNING'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine Manning, whose death occurred in Muhlenberg Hospital, was held in Mt. Olive Baptist church yesterday in the presence of a large gathering. Rev. Mr. Johnson, acting pastor of Mt. Olive church, conducted the service and he was assisted by Rev. J H. Bailey, pastor of the Union Baptist church, of Elizabeth; Rev. E. E. Jackson, of New Brunswick, and Rev. E. W. Roberts, of this city. There were many floral tributes given by friends and sympathizers. Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery.

TO REPEAT PROGRAM.

The Christmas exercises at Warren chapel will be repeated next Sunday. At 9:45 o'clock the Sunday school will meet while at the church and evening service Christmas anthems will be sung.

HOW THE SOUTH GREETS OLD SANTA

Reports of Murder and Violence From Four Typical Cities.

Europe is not the only spot that was red with blood on Christmas. The long established custom of celebrating the birthday of the Saviour with fireworks, liquor and firearms in Southern communities brought its usual number of deaths and casualties. Here are reports from four typical Southern cities, all clipped from a single issue of a Tennessee newspaper, which will tell of the turbulent manner in which Santa Claus was greeted in Tennessee and Georgia:

Three Dead In Chattanooga.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Dec. 25.—Shootings, cuttings and robberies kept the police and sheriff's forces on the run today and tonight.

Raymond Delozier, a young white man, was shot down by a negro and is expected to die. The cause of the affair is unknown. The negro escaped.

Ellis Walker, negro, was killed in a pistol and knife fight with a negress, who was arrested.

Paul Snodgrass, a negro, was fatally shot by a companion, who is in jail.

Samuel Weington, a merchant, was attacked and overpowered in his store by two negroes, who secured his pistol, after which they disappeared quickly as help came.

A number of other robberies and holdups took place.

130 Arrested in Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 25.—Three negroes dead, three dying and eighteen in the City Hospital suffering from gunshot and knife wounds, was the record of the Christmas celebration in Atlanta's negro quarter last night and this morning. The celebration was started at 6 o'clock last night and when the last shot was fired it was 4 o'clock Christmas morning. A count of the prisoners booked at police quarters on charges of varying gravity showed 130 arrests had been made.

Fine Time in Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 25.—Christmas in Nashville was marked by a number of shooting and cutting scrapes throughout the day and night. Detective Gus Kiger shot and probably fatally wounded a negro who snapped a pistol in his face when placed under arrest.

Al Wallace was probably fatally cut in a street brawl in which several men were arrested, and there were numerous other affrays, most among negroes.

19 in Macon Hospital.

Macon, Ga., Dec. 25.—Nineteen persons were taken to Macon hospitals today and tonight suffering from gunshot wounds and injuries from fireworks as a result of the Christmas celebration here. Only two of the wounded were white persons. Two negroes are in a serious condition. Five of the victims have gunshot wounds.

Tonsilitis From Bad Water.

That enlarged tonsils are generally due to drinking impure water is the contention of Dr. F. Lucas Benham of Exeter, South Australia. He says that in every case he has seen the child was a great drinker of water from the faucet and that whenever he has been able to get filtered or boiled water substituted his patients have improved and their attacks have become rarer.—New York World.

Saltness of the Sea.

The saltness of the waters of the ocean maintains a certain uniform figure simply because the inwash of things from the continents by way of the rivers is also fairly uniform. The saline matter entering the seas year by year remains about the same, and consequently the ocean waters vary but little in their saltness. — New York American.

Nothing So Low.

De Goosby — I am utterly ruined. I've lost every cent of my money. What shall I do? Reggy—Never mind, old chap. Brace up and be a man. De Goosby—What! And brush some other fellow's boots and clothes? Nevah!—Puck.

The Answer.

Father (teaching his six-year-old son arithmetic by giving a problem to his wife; begs his son to listen)—Mother, if you had a dollar and I gave you five more, what would you have? Mother (replying absently)—Hysterics.—Brooklyn Life.

An Assurance.

She—I suppose it is a genuine antique? The Dealer—Why, of course it is, madam! And, besides, it is the very latest thing in antiques!—Puck.

The Rip Van Winkle Kind.

Salesman—Why not try one of our Rip Van Winkle rugs, madam? Prospective Purchaser — What kind are they? Salesman—They have an unusually long nap.—Indianapolis Star.

The Outlet.

Physiology Teacher—Clarence, you may explain how we hear things. Clarence—Pa tells 'em to ma as a secret, and ma gives 'em away at the bridge club.—Cleveland Leader.

By request of some of our customers we are making them "Bulgarian Scientific Buttermilk." They have read the story of Professor Metchnikoff, the noted German scientist, and how he developed the kind of buttermilk which helps digestion and prolongs life through old age.

RALPH RUNYAN ALLOWED FREEDOM ON $500 BOND

Ralpr Runyan, who assaulted Frank Mason with a piece of lead pipe at the home of Mason in the borough of North Plainfield last week is out on bond pending a hearing. Runyan has been bound over to await the action of the grand jury. He is being represented by William DeMeza, of Plainfield. The bond is $500.

J. HERVEY DOANE HOME.

Freeholder J. Hervey Doane, who has been in Muhlenberg Hospital for the past two weeks, following an operation performed in New York, was discharged from the institution yesterday. He has almost fully recovered, and will probably be able to return to business in the near future.

FIERCE GALE OFF ENGLAND.

London, Dec. 28.—The British coasts were lashed today by gales which wrought heavy damage to shipping. A steamship disappeared in the storm off Penzance and it is feared she foundered. The Scottish trawler Empress of Aberdeen is missing.

GUIANA CABLE REPAIRED.

New York, Dec. 28.—The Postal Tel.-Cable Co. announced this morning that the Martinique-Paramaribo cable has been repaired, restoring communication with Dutch Guiana via Haiti.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 39 degrees; 11 a. m., 42 degrees; 1 p. m., 42 degrees.

RECOVERS FROM GRIP.

Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson, rector of Grace church, was able to be out yesterday for the first time after an illness of two weeks with grip.

MAKING MONEY

We have no hesitancy in saying that this business was started for the purpose of making money.

Nor have we any hesitancy in saying that it has succeeded.

But we also wish to say, that the successful business will make other things besides money—it will make loyal, life-long friends.

And, if it doesn't, then in our opinion it hasn't succeeded, no matter how much money it has amassed.

Money isn't the final test of honesty and fair dealing.

But loyal, life-long customers are.

How about that?

LORD CHESTERFIELD'S SON'S LETTERS TO HIS FATHER.

A number of the letters of Lord Chesterfield's son to his father are to be published as soon as a publisher can be found with sufficient courage. A few samples are given below.

"Dear Father—Yours received and contents noted. What you say about etiquette is very true. In haste, your affectionate son, Phil."

"Dear Father—Your beautiful letter is at hand. The sentiments are simply charming. Dear Father, I am very short. Could you send me £5? Your effectionate son, Philip."

"Dear Father—I have to acknowledge yours of the 14th. Permit me to thank you for your excellent advice. I am sure that posterity will appreciate it. Dear Father, a small cheque would be deeply appreciated. Your affectionate son, Philip."

"Dear Father—Will you be kind enough to let me know how to write a letter asking one's father for a small but much-needed remittance in such a way as to preclude the possibility of a refusal. Your early attention will oblige your affectionate son, Philip."

"Dear Father—Your extremely interesting and instructive letter received. Such felicity of expression—such taste—and so forth! I am more than ever convinced that you can give them all cards and spades on etiquette. I am having a very pleasant time here, and * * * * * £10?"

DISADVANTAGE.

"A pretty girl," observed the Plain Girl, bitterly, "has a great advantage in this business of making a name for herself!"

"I don't know!" sighed the Pretty Girl. "She finds so many lovely ready-to-wear names at hand!"

QUICK CHANGES.

"Can you tell me which country has the most powerful Dreadnaught?"

"No."

"Or who holds the aeroplane altitude record?"

"No."

"Or which liner has the trans-Atlantic speed record?"

"No."

"Or in what state the greatest graft steal in the history of the country exists?"

"No."

"Then maybe you can tell me the name of the richest baby in the world?"

"No. Confound it, man! I haven't seen the morning paper yet."

THE DIFFERENCE.

Little Elmer—Papa, what is a sot?

Professor Broadnead—A sot, my son, is a poor man who gets drunk; a rich man who drinks to excess is the possessor of a convivial disposition.

CONSOLATION.

First Criminal Lawyer—Facts are stubborn things.

Second Criminal Lawyer (cheerfully)—Oh, yes! If they were not, our fees would be smaller.

HIS WAY.

Landlady (sympathetically)—Why, how did you fall downstairs, Mr Lanks?

Boarder—(with dignity)—Unexpectedly, Ma'am.

ALL IN.

Two schooners, loaded to the decks
With kegs and casks of XXX.
Went on the rocks that hidden lay;
There was no hope for them—for they Were alcoholic wrecks.

TO BE CONSIDERED.

"Goin' to New York, Silas? You ought to run over to Paris."

"I might if I understood French."

"Well, not understandin' it, Silas, you might be harder to bunco."

HIS FAVORITE OCCUPATION.

Hostess—And a mile from here there's the cutest little lake with ice that is just like glass.

Suffragette Guest—Lead me to it, so I can throw a rock throw it!

—There's a job for you—if you have a good head and willing hands and feet. But you must advertise yourself into the job.

BOROUGH REPUBLICANS PLAN FOR BIG FEAST

At a meeting of the North Plainfield Republican Club held last night in the club's room on Somerset street, Howard Woolston, Grover Kipsey and William Trembath were appointed a committee to arrange for a dinner to be served to the former mayors of the borough, during the latter part of January.

The dinner will probably be served in Debele's Hall. Speech-making will follow. The State Senators and Assemblymen will be present and a rousing good time is anticipated.

The club room was attractively decorated with the national colors last evening, and there was other evidence of the interest which is being displayed in the organization by its members. Among other business was the decision to purchase a billiard table and several other tables for general use.

NEW HAVEN DIRECTORS MUST GO ON TRIAL

New York, Dec. 28.—On the opening of court this morning, Judge Hunt, presiding over the trial of the directors of the New Haven for alleged violation of the Sherman law, denied four motions that had been made last Friday for the dismissal of the case. One motion was for the dismissal of the case altogether and the others were for the dismissal as against certain groups of defendants. Judge Hunt said that he would not at this time go into the reasons for his action but would simply announce that he denied all the motions. Counsel for the various defendants then proceeded to begin their defense. The defendants won one point when Judge Hunt ordered stricken from the record all the correspondence between J. M. Hall and C. F. Booker.

Bound Brook.

A song recital will be given in the Methodist church, of this place, tomorrow night by Miss Marion Vermilye Angus, of Albany, soprano, assisted by Robert Scheid, violinist; Alfred Stryker, pianist, and Elma Robbins Wood, accompanist. The program will be a classical one.

CONFLICT OF STATE AND NATIONAL LAWS.

Many of our State laws require standardization, or better yet, elimination in favor of National laws. Best of all would be the delegating to the National Government of some of our present State prerogatives. The sovereign right of each State to make its own laws may have been without question in the days of the ox-cart; but with the advent of more modern means of locomotion bringing with it interstate travel and commerce, this right as evidenced by many of our State laws, instead of making for progress, is actually a tremendous hindrance to the country at large. The subject of safety, for instance, is one which has received considerable attention during the past few years with the result that no less than twenty-two States have already adopted as many different workmen's compensation laws and the remaining States will sooner or later do likewise. Think of the utter absurdity of having as many different laws on a single subject as there are States in the Union and of the needless expense and work involved not only on the part of our Legislatures in formulating them, but on the part of every concern doing an interstate business in having to familiarize itself with all of them.

Again, a steam boiler which is built in Detroit and which would work perfectly in that vicinity, would not operate at all in Philadelphia and would surely blow up in Boston, says a writer in American Industries. This simply means that Philadelphia requires certain features in boiler construction which Detroit does not, and that Boston insists upon still other requirements which neither Philadelphia nor Detroit, consider necessary. As these laws can be changed in the various cities yearly, it will be readily appreciated how difficult it is for manufacturers to keep abreast of them and it means to a boiler manufacturer who has been in the business for years, to be told by some politically appointed inspector that his boiler, just installed in a customer's plant and at a very small profit, does not meet the regulations of some first or even second class city and will have to be altered, or taken out. And what is true of boilers, is true of many other things. Still again the United States Steel Corporation paid to the State of New Jersey, upon its incorporation, a tax approximating $250,000. If it had been organized under the laws of Pennsylvania instead, the tax would have been between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. What would the public think of two contractors binding on the same work, whose figures differed by these amounts?

At the last National Conference on Taxation, it was stated the tax assessment and collection machinery of the various States is costing the taxpayers $20,000,000 a year, a low estimate, and much of it unnecessary. For example, Chicago has no less than thirty-seven duplicate district tax levying bodies; while New York city has five counties, each with its separate organization and which latter according to Mayor Mitchell, could and should be consolidated. Simplification would mean less waste through the avoidance of duplication of work as well as saving the taxpayer both time and trouble; but, present methods mean more politics (one of the country's curses) and are therefore, unlikely to be altered except with an increasing appreciation of the situation on the part of the public.

SANE MAYOR MAKES REMARKS.

(New York Morning Telegraph).

Leighton Calkins, mayor of Plainfield, N. J., sets forth a good many reasons for not enforcing the blue laws of New Jersey to the extreme statutory requirement, an all-sufficient one being that he wishes to keep out of jail himself. Of course, if the Mayor should conclude that the letter of the ordinance, and not the spirit of age, shall govern, he would not enter the bastile alone. He would have company, and it may be that he regards this as the higher and more compelling impulse against severity so great. "Strict and technical enforcement of the so-called Sunday laws," he says, "would find most of us in the police court Monday morning. I should confidently expect to be there myself, touching elbows possibly with one or more worthy members of these petitioning (reform) organizations."

A jail may possibly have allurements. It gets one away from the madding crowd, it gives opportunity for reflection and meditation. Many a man has given himself the once over in the seclusion of his cell, with wholesome results. But to be in jail with one of the truly good Sabbatarians of New Jersey would require a fortitude that even Plainfield's aggressive Mayor does not possess. He passes up the opportunity.

Seriously, the Mayor is right. Every "reformer," so called, in the commonwealth violates the law, strictly interpreted, every Sunday of his life, and the Mayor knows it. Therefore, their appeal to him in a campaign to annoy and harass the small and inoffensive shopkeeper falls upon deaf ears, as it should.

"Any kind of play, pastime or diversion is unlawful," declares the Mayor. "Unfairness and needless restraint should be avoided if the spirit of the law, as overwhelmingly supported by public opinion and by the conduct of the mass of the people, is attained by quiet, orderliness and a very general cessation of business and labor on Sunday."

We have no line on the politics of Mr. Calkins, but he talks like a man who could write a most excellent message to the State Legislature from the Governor's chair.

From the point of view of the theatregoers the local competition in that line is a decided success. Never before have Plainfielders had a chance to get so much for so little money.

By next Christmas it is to be hoped that Uncle Sam will find in his stocking a definite assurance that he is to have a bigger army and navy.

In two or three days now the parents' interest in the mechanical toys will at least be abated enough for the kids to get a chance to see how they work.

It's a good thing for a whole lot of us that the yarns told the youngsters at Christmas time are not recorded as black marks on the book of judgment.

Better begin to practice a little on writing 1916.

The Lilt Of The Prevaricator

I scarcely can wait till the first of the month,
To watch the sweet bills rolling in!
Along till the tenth, starting in at the oneth,
My face is one glorious grin.
At my doorstep I stand
With my check-book in hand,
Saying: "Letterman, hurry, I say!
You have bills, I am certain,
For carpet and curtain,
And this is my debt-paying day!"

It's fearfully dull near the ides, at my house—
It's so far from the bill-paying time!
I'm tempted sometimes to go out on a souse,
Just to let go of dime after dime.
I've coin in the bank
And I dote on its clank
As it pays off the tradesmen, and sich.
So I plead with my debtors
To hold back their letters
With checks in, because I am rich!

So hasten, please hasten, the first of the month,
When merchants their statements
send in!
Clean on to the tenth from the dawn of the oneth
My mouth's one perpetual grin.
Although I don't owe it,
I never would know it;
I've a case of checkwritis acute.
When I'm paying my bills
I forget all my ills——
Why that's my elongated suit!

Indians

There are in these rather loosely-United States a lot of Indians.

Some are civilized, but others are still using the referendum.

They prefer a twelve-round blanket and a pair of thick pants, in hot weather, to knee-length mesh underpanties.

What I can't understand about the Indian is why he quit scalping people.

There are as many people needing it as ever.

The Indians once owned this country.

True, they were behind considerable in their taxes and forgot now and then to kerosene the mosquito hatcheries or wash behind their ears.

But they liked their farms right much.

How would you like to have somebody more painfully civilized than you come along and say:

"Some farm you got there. Here's a brass dog-collar, three bangles from a glass chandelier, and a quarter's worth of kindergarten beads. Here's your bonnet. What's your hurry? Beat it, bo!"

Now and then he would say, would Lo, "I am getting the gaff too regularly. This has to stop."

Then he and some others would crayon their faces rather extemporaneously, in fine pastel effects, and cut down the work of the white census taker.

Funny the Indian didn't adopt Christianity right away, isn't it, judging by the samples he got?

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Bow Legs

SOME children are born with bow legs, others achieve bow legs, and still others have bow legs thrust upon them. The first born always look bow-legged, pug-nosed, squint-eyed and generally unsatisfactory to the anxious father. Not so the mother, she thinks the homely little stranger beautiful.

If the bow legs are moderate, as they are in most instances, nature will bring about spontaneous recovery in due time. If the deformity is severe, operation is necessary.

Braces are valuable in retaining the correction gained by operation, but it is very doubtful whether any advantage is to be had from applying braces with the idea of gradually correcting the bowing.

Massage and gentle efforts to straighten the legs are advisable in every case of bow legs. This may be done night and morning for five minutes.

But remember that moderate bow legs will usually straighten as the child grows—perhaps the one pathological condition a child really does "outgrow."

The operation for bow legs may be a bloodless one in which the curved bone is fractured, under anesthesia, and reset in a correct position. And this painless, absolutely safe operation is the only one that ever aroused in the heartless author of these lines anything akin to emotion—the anxiety of the few seconds of waiting for the bending bone to break centered itself viciously in the solar plexus, but it didn't go any farther.

Sometimes it is necessary to cut down upon the bone to correct the deformity, but not before the fourth year.

People often ask if early efforts to walk will favor deformity of the legs. Not if the efforts are voluntary and the child not too fat or rickety. Rickets often causes bone deformities, and many children fed on artificial foods, like condensed milk and malted milk and the cereal baby foods without raw cow's milk, do grow too fat and develop rickets.

In another talk we shall discuss rickets.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Smoking Out Vermin

Can you tell me how to get rid of vermin? They seem to come from a closet which was ceiled over just before we moved in, and numerous holes and crevices are left in the walls.

Answer—Fumigate the closet with sulphur—leave it tightly closed for twenty-four hours. Cracks about the door of the closet should be sealed with paper or adhesive plaster. When you open the door after you have fumigated, be careful not to inhale the vapor.

Recurrence Of Lupus

Is a lupus spot a cancer? Will it grow after it is cut out?

Answer—It is tuberculosis of the skin or mucous membrane. If treated with X-ray or Finsen light it should not return.

That Bad Salts Habit

Is there any harm in taking a dose of Epsom salts twice a week to clean out the bowels?

Answer—Yes, if you continue it more than a few weeks. Salts is too harsh—all salines act by extracting water from the bowel wall, and obviously that is a severe treatment. There are plenty of simpler means of regulating the bowels.

Glasses and Headache

I had glasses fitted, and for a week or so I had no headaches, but I am now having them as bad as ever, although the glasses have been changed twice.

Answer—Does the fitting of glasses ever permanently stop headaches of long standing? We would like to hear from any readers who have experienced such relief. Also the name and address of the person fitting the glasses.

THE STATE OF MAINE

THE state of Maine is an irregular knob on the northeast corner of the map of the United States. It is surrounded by Canada on the north and east, the Atlantic Ocean on the south and the Boston and Maine Railroad on the west, so escape is almost impossible.

Maine is a rough, rugged country full of rough, rugged names such as "Androscoggin," "Aroostook," "Damariscotta" and "Molechunkemunk." It has been settled for about two hundred and fifty years, but in spite of this, very few Maine farms have been entirely un-bouldered as yet. The first crop off of the Maine farm is a stone house, and the next few crops are stone barns, stone fences, stone well curbs, stone sheep houses and stone walks. The stone boat is a familiar and useful craft throughout the state and has hauled enough rocks off of Maine farms in the last century to hide the pyramids under billions of tons of glacial drift.

The climate of Maine is dry by a very small majority and is automatically refrigerated throughout the greater part of the year. It gets through snowing in Maine in the spring, just in time to cloud up and prepare for the first fall flurry. The population of the state is about 750,000 people, most of whom are huddled together in the extreme southern section for warmth's sake. Owing to the climate, it is hard to raise much of anything in Maine except hotel prices. The seacoast of Maine resembles a piece of Battenburg lace and is profusely speckled with summer hotels. In the spring, the Maine hotelkeeper takes a room, which would rent for $1.25 a month during the winter, and by judiciously mixing it with climate, manages to raise the price to $7 a day by July.

It is hard to raise much of anything except hotel prices

Besides hotel prices, Maine raises hay, potatoes, pine trees and statesmen. The entire north end of the state is a shaggy growth of timber. This section, however, is being rapidly barbered by the lumber interests. Maine statesmen are of the finest brand and when a Maine man goes to Congress he usually remains there until death doth him part. The climate of his home state undoubtedly accounts for the tenacity with which the Maine statesman clings to Washington.

Views Of The Press

The Practical Poet

THAT writer of polished verses, Arthur Guiterman, says in a recent issue of the New York Times that a poet should be able to earn his living by writing poetry. According to Mr. Guiterman, the worst thing a young poet can do is to write an epic poem; the best, to make topical verses on themes suggested by the day's news, to study the needs of particular newspapers and magazines, to get in touch with publishers of Christmas cards, and to write verses for advertisements. The poet should at the same time write the kind of verse he specially desires to write, but "if his pot-boiling is honestly done it will help him with his other work."

The writer of "Rhymed Reviews" appears to be in earnest in these views, and he cites as an example Shakespeare, who, he says, started as a lyric poet, but who turned to plays because the popular demand was for plays. This all has a plausible sound, but one's acceptance of it is governed by what is mean by "poet." To most of us that word has a high meaning hardly compatible with writing verses to order.

The case of Shakespeare is not a fair xample. That genius had "accelerated perceptions." When nature made his mind she "left the door open," and the divine intelligence, or whatever one chooses to call it, flooded through. His writings stand as amazing and unequaled storehouses of expressed knowledge of the world. The careless, free form of some of his plays show that he was wiser than he knew.

A poet of humbler powers must at least be in earnest. He must be an observer of causes and relations and a discerner of truths. He is constantly struggling to speak of these things, and the task is so hard that he cannot waste much time speaking of anything less. He will not consent to write sentimental mush, to sing in erotic verse, to write to please instead of to teach. One cannot imagine Milton or George Herbert writing inanities for the low-priced magazines. They found a lifetime too short for their work.—Rochester Democrat.

Phalacrosis

As the result of hostile demonstrations, one of the leading citizens of the berg had been taken before the village justice, on a charge of assault and battery.

He was fat, evidently good-natured in ordinary circumstances, and th proprietor of a conspicuously shining pate. The prosecuting attorney was active in a perfunctory way, secretly hoping for an acquittal, because he did not wish to arouse the political antagonism of the leading citizen. However, one of the witnesses was the village physician, whom the prosecutor loved not and sought to humiliate.

"You are prejudiced in favor of the defendant, are you not, doctor?"

"No, sir."

"You are his family physician, are you not? And you are afraid you will lose his patronage; consequently you have wilfully distorted and doctored your evidence here to curry favor."

"No, I have not; but since you mention my professional relations with him, I think the jury should be informed that he is suffering from phalacrosis."

"From what?"

"Phalacrosis," repeated the doctor.

Whereupon everybody sat up and took notice; the attorney put on a dignified, studious air; the honorable court pricked up his ears; one and all centered their gaze upon the defendant, who acquired that reddish tint which proclaimed that at last he had been discovered.

"What is this phalacrosis?" asked the prosecutor.

"It is a sort of chronic disease of an inflammatory nature which affects certain cranial tissues."

"Does it affect the mind, cause insanity, or anything like that?"

"Well, I shouldn't wish to answer that question as an expert; but I have known some persons who were suffering from the disease to become raving maniacs, others merely foolish, some showed destructive and pugilistic tendencies, while many others have suffered for years and never shown any mental abnormality."

"Well, doctor, just tell the jury all about this sickness."

"I decline to do so. I am not an expert in such diseases, and was not summoned here as an expert witness. You will have to call in an expert to answer your question."

And there the matter rested. The prosecutor told the justice and jury the case was not of sufficient importance to warrant the calling of expensive experts, and that they would have to ignore the doctor's testimony as unsupported and unworthy of credence.

But the jury promptly acquitted the leading citizen, "Because," as the foreman explained, "Doc said there was something the matter with his head; 'phalacrosis,' he called it."

When the prosecutor got back to his office he sought enlightenment and in the dictionary found the following:

"PHALACROSIS — bald-headedness."—Case and Comment.

Crowds

We get a better idea of a proposition in its entirety. We are sure to lose some of the best things about a man, for instance, if we center our attention upon his weakness. In regard to an important question, if we study only a few, plausible points on one side of it, our knowledge of that question is worse than entire ignorance. So it is with the lesson taught by the Crowd. By studying it as a whole, you come to know the individual people who make it up.

In a Crowd you are but one—and yet, such as you make the Crowd.

The organized Crowd teaches Sympathy, Enthusiasm, Team-work—and it embodies Power that is inspiring. If you want to feel your real importance, get into a great Crowd. For, subdued and unknown, there is chance for play of the finest sentiments in your character.

But a Crowd cannot make the Big Man smaller nor the Small Man bigger.

In its final analysis the Crowd is always Human, made up wholly of Human Beings. The Strong Man stalks big because he is big, and the Crowd could not take away from his Power if it would. The Big Man is big because of his knowledge of the Crowd and the Crowd's desires and the Crowd's feeling; whereas the small, unimportant and uncaring man is immediately lost in the Crowd.

In your daily endeavor, let the thought that you are of the Crowd, making up Life itself, lead you into service for the Crowd.

Current Poetry

Life

Life is a gift to be used every day,
Not to be smothered and hidden away;
It isn't a thing to be stored in the chest
Where you gather your keepsakes and treasure your best;
It isn't a joy to be sipped now and then
And promptly put back in a dark place again.

Life is a gift that the humblest may boast of
And one that the humblest may well make the most of.
Get out and live it each hour of the day;
Wear it and use it as much as you may;
Don't keep it in niches and corners and grooves,
You'll find that in service its beauty improves.

LITERARY

BIRD ROOSTS.

"One of the best ways to prepare for a long journey is to make a short one. So we find that many birds, before they embark on their great air voyage which is to take them from their summer to their winter home, first make daily trips between their sleeping-quarters and their feeding-grounds.

"This is the habit of our robin. Robins raise two and sometimes three families in one season. When the first family leaves the nest, early in June, it is taken by the father robin to some dense, leafy growth of young trees to pass the night. To this place they return every night. Many other robins, sometimes thousands of them, come to the same woods. Such resorts are known as robin-roosts. In flying to and from them the young birds learn how to find their way.

"Meanwhile, mother robin is patiently sitting on her blue eggs, from which in about two weeks' time another little family will appear. In two weeks more they also will be large enough to leave the nest and can join their brothers and sisters in the roost.

"Grackles, or crow-blackbirds, have the same habit. But since they have only one family, or brood, both the parent birds go to the roost with their young.

"Sometimes the robins are joined by the grackles, and both by the European starlings, which, brought to this country and released in Central Park in 1890, have since become one of the most abundant birds in our Middle Atlantic States. Such a roost is visited nightly by many thousands of birds."—Frank M. Chapman, in the January St. Nicholas.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

The Greeks Visit The Island Pastured By Sacred Flocks.

He Found His Men Had Disobeyed Him.

"WHEN the Greeks had to pass the terrible shores of Scylla and Charybdis," daddy told the children, "Odysseus kept a sharp watch for the two monsters who wanted to sink his boats. From far away came the roar of the whirlpool, warning him he had better keep away, but Scylla the fair maiden was nowhere to be seen. While the Greeks had their eyes on the waves and their oars, trying to steer away from the terrible tides, they were not equally on guard from the frightful lady of six heads. She darted out her snaky necks and from her high cliff caught six of Odysseus' men, carrying them off, shrieking for help, to her rocky den."

"Poor Greeks!" cried Evelyn.

"This accident made Odysseus sadder than anything—to see his brave comrades meet such a cruel fate and still be quite powerless to help them. But those still left rowed on for home and dear life. Another danger Circe had warned them about. This was the island of the Sun, who kept beautiful flocks there, tended by his two daughters, lovely sun goddesses. Now, these cattle were all sacred to the sun god, and, no matter how hungry mortals might be, these flocks must not be killed. If a single beast was destroyed, then came swift destruction to the man.

"Odysseus wanted to pass this sun god's island without stopping. He was tired of trouble, you see. But his men were also tired of rowing so hard and begged him to stop for a day's rest on land. So Odysseus decided to anchor and pass the night. He first made all his men promise under oath that they would not touch one of the sun god's flocks, but be contented with the food they still had left from the provisions Circe had packed in their boats. The Greeks kept their word as long as this food lasted. But bad winds kept them on the island for a month, their food gave out, and they were forced to starve or catch fish and birds. All this proves," said daddy, "that, no matter how much we want to obey, if we take too many chances with trouble it often overpowers us. The winds blew hurricanes, hunger drove the poor Greeks, and one day when Odysseus was absent they slew some of the sacred cattle. Imagine his horror when he returned to find his men had disobeyed and the skins of the slain animals creeping along the ground, while the pieces of meat the Greeks were trying to roast for their dinner were mooing, just as if they were still alive!

"Then the wind shifted, the weather became fair, and the Greeks sailed from the sun god's island," said daddy, with a good night kiss.

Married Life on $80 a Month

BY MRS EVA LEONARD

Dr. Ellson Brings Cheering News From Kansas City.

"You come right in here, and I'll put you to bed. You do not look fit to be alone. Jack is here, you know. Your husband brought him before he took the train to the wreck." Olive led poor trembling Molly to her room and soon had her comfortably tucked in bed.

"Thank you, dear. This is like you," murmured Molly feebly. "Tell me the minute you hear a word from poor Julia. I am so worried about her. I thought she was dead when I first saw her after the crash."

"Don't try to talk now, but go to sleep. Then you will be ready to hear the news when the doctor comes." Olive went out and softly closed the door.

Olive had been full of business since John Sutner had wakened them to ask if he might leave little Jack there while he went down to the wrecked train to learn the fate of his wife and Julia Osgood. John had bundled little Jack in a blanket and in his excitement had forgotten his clothes. After the men had gone to the train, Jack went to sleep. As soon as the tardy winter daylight came Olive went over to the Sutner house to let Miss Travers know of the accident and invite her to breakfast. That young lady had just started for school when John and Molly called for Jack on their way home. Olive sent John to the office, telling him she would care for Molly.

The doctor returned from Kansas City that evening. His cheerful face encouraged the anxious friends to hope that Julia's case was not hopeless at least.

"Well, she will pull through, I think," he began cheerfully. "She has some broken bones and they fear internal injuries, but she was conscious when I left and sent word that no one was to worry about her."

"Call up the Osgoods at once. You left Mrs. Osgood with her, didn't you?" said Olive.

"Yes. She came about noon, and will stay still all danger is past. I had better run over and report to the Sutners. They will be anxious to hear," continued the doctor.

"Don't be gone long. I will have supper on the table when you return," called Olive.

A good sleep had restored Molly to some degree of composure, but she looked pale as she met the doctor at the door.

"Oh, how is she?" she asked tremulously.

"I think there is no doubt but that she will recover," said the doctor, dropping into a chair. "She seems cheerful, and she already has a lovely bouquet of flowers." He smiled knowingly.

"Flowers? From whom? Mr. Cane?"

"The very man. He has spent a very exhausting day. He was at the hospital three or four times inquiring about her." The doctor rose to go, adding:

"My wife instructed me not to stay long, for supper was about ready."

"You have put in long enough hours to be very tired," said John, following him to the door.

"Doctors take no notice of that. They do not expect to get regular sleep."

"The good news will give us all a good night's sleep," said Molly. "Thank you for coming to let us know."

NEWS AND VIEWS

Conducted by THE W. C. T. U.

An article is going the rounds of some of the newspapers not too particular about what they publish, calling attention to the sad plight of the Southern States which have adopted prohibition, and who, it is stated, are as a consequence, now handicapped by depleted treasuries, large State debts, high taxes, etc. This combination of half truths with false statements is being given publicity with the very evident intention of misleading the public and creating sentiment against prohibition. Among the States especially mentioned are Georgia, Tennessee and West Virginia.

It must strike the reader of the article as somewhat strange if the pitiable picture of Georgia on the verge of bankruptcy as the result of its anti-liquor policy is a true one, that there should very recently have been called a special session of the Legislature, not, mind you, for the purpose of repealing the troublesome law, but to enact more drastic and stringent measures for its enforcement, even to the extent of prohibiting liquor advertising in the State.

One cannot take very seriously the statements made about the disastrous prohibition policy that is driving Tennessee to the wall, when one recalls that every political party in the State is committed to prohibition, and the people regularly elect a Governor who stands four-square for the enforcement of the law. If prohibition were financially detrimental to the State, would the people not demand a change?

If, as asserted, West Virginia is tottering on the verge of financial ruin because its people, by 92,000 majority, voted to place in its constitution a prohibition clause, the "little mountain State" is wonderfully cheerful and complacent over the sad situation, and while admitting that it still carries an indebtedness, accumulated years before prohibition became a law, congratulates itself that by outlawing the liquor traffic it has already caused a reduction of its expense in the matter of caring for the victims of the liquor traffic.

So far as we can discover the people who are troubled over the financial difficulties of the prohibition States are not its taxpayers or reputable citizens, but the liquor interests at large, who are fearful that the success of prohibition in the State that now have it may encourage other commonwealths to outlaw the traffic in drink.

The decision of the Supreme Court of the State of Washington on the appeal made by the liquor men to test the validity of the dry law, although long delayed, has at last been announced, and, as was to be expected, the court upholds the will of the people, giving a decision in favor of the "drys" by a vote of six to two. One judge, who had been appointed to the bench since the case was argued, did not vote.

The appeal on behalf of the liquor interests was based on technicalities which of themselves seemed trivial but which involved the validity of the constitutional amendment providing for the initiative, referendum and recall. Had the appeal been sustained immeasurable confusion throughout the State would have ensued, as other statutes are operating under the same law.

Another contention was that sufficient time for publicity before election was not given the matter, and the people did not understand the question upon which they were voting.

However, the law is sustained by the highest State tribunal, and Washington will enter the dry column January 1, 1916. The majority given the law at the election, after a vigorous and enthusiastic campaign on the part of the "drys," and the use of all the usual tactics on the part of the liquor people, was almost 19,000. There was in reality no lack of publicity, the press carrying to the remotest hamlet being well informed on the issue, and the arguments pro and con. Now the Governor of the State, Hon. Ernest Lister, the mayors of the principal cities, the sheriffs and prosecuting attorneys have publicly declared that the law will be rigidly enforced, and the City Council of Seattle has enacted an ordinance providing in detail special measures for law enforcement in that city. That the liquor dealers themselves had little or no hope for the success of their appeal is evidenced by the fact that all the year they have been preparing for the inevitable, gradually readjusting their affairs to the changed conditions. Many have already entered other lines of activity. The liquor traffic is doomed. The sooner its friends recognize that fact the better for all the people.

WHISKEY AND BLACK MULES.

Fergus Falls, Minn., Dec. 28.—The suit of the United States government against two barrels of whiskey, four kegs of whiskey, two black mules, one lumber wagon and two sets of harness will be heard in the Federal Court here today. It is charged by the Federal agent that the whiskey was being conveyed by the mules and the wagon from outside Indian territory into the city of Bemidji, and he took possession of the outfit.

LEAL'S GRADS WIN CONTEST

Reunion of Past and Present Students of School at Annual Basketball Game.

UNDERGRADS SURPRISE

Do Better Than Expected Against Bigger and More Experienced Opponents—Score, 20 to 5—Stewart and Blake Rivals' Stars.

The annual Leal's School-Alumni basketball game—or perhaps the game was but a side issue to the general reunion of John Leal's present and former students—took place in the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. Between hand shakes, the Alumni won the game, but not by the overwhelming score they were expected to make. The grads were able to tally only 11 points in the first half, and two less in the second, and won the game by a tally of 20 to 5.

The game was not a basketball classic by several regulation miles. The school team lacked experience, which is the major part of ability while their opponents showed they had not played together before. Neither had the Front street tossers, for that matter, so the game produced very little team work.

At that, the Leal's School players did surprisingly well, and showed encouraging possibilities. Blake at center made all the points for his team. Hawthorne, the team's most dependable shot, failed to break into the scoring column. Borden, playing guard, held the clever "Peanut" Stewart to a trio of goals, and he is not likely to go up against a better forward all season than the Interscholastic League star of last season.

Stewart and Schneider caged most of the winners' points. Egbert Fountain missed a number of pretty side shots, and the one that found its way through the hoop was the feature basket of the game. Mellor played on both teams, filling in at guard for the Alumni until the fifth man arrived.

ARROW A. C. WINS.

Somerville, Dec. 27.—The Arrow A. C. basketball five defeated Jewett's All-Stars last night by a score of 20 to 12, at the DeForest House Casino. The victors played well and excelled in shooting. The losers were greatly handicapped by the loss of their captain and star, Frank Jewett.

SOME CLASSY ATHLETES ON THIS ALL-AMERICAN TRACK TEAM

Left to right, top: N. S. Taber, Arlie Mucks and H. T. Withington. Bottom, Hannes Kolehmainen.

These men would have to be included in any All-American track team for 1915. In the 440-yard run Meredith equalled the world's record of forty-seven seconds. He holds the world's record in the half mile. Taber this year made a new record in the mile of 4:12 3-5. In the five and ten-mile runs Hannes Kolehmainen beat everyone who raced with him. Arlie Mucks defeated all in the shot put, making a record of 48 feet 11¾ inches. In the broad jump H. T. Worthington became the champion when he made a record of 23 feet 10 inches.

VERSATILE MATTY HAS ACCUMULATED FORTUNE

There is no man in baseball, nor has there been for ten years, who is making the money that Christy Mathewson has made on practically no investment. For a long time Matty was the highest salaried man in the game. Last year he got $5,200 for fifty-two baseball stories and an occasional magazine contribution. He has an insurance business which dovetails with the diamond game. He has good investments in real estate, the entree he gained through his baseball connections. He is said to be worth $150,000, although always a conservative manipulator. But—

Matty has been for ten years one of the great pitchers in the game.

He's now the best golf player in baseball.

Only Bob Wallace can make things interesting for him in billiards.

Nobody in baseball can make things interesting for Matty in chess or checkers. He has toured the Y. M. C. A.'s on exhibition tours.

He plays a better hand of bridge than anybody in his profession—so good that his income from this alone is not to be poofed at.

He can play poker so well that he'll break up a game by merely "sittin' in."

Indeed, he acknowledges only one defeat. George Baumgartner is a better dancer; but, after all, George is not rated as a great ball player.—Newark Call.

Brown University football men, twenty-one strong, arrived in Pasadena, Cal., yesterday. They will play Washington State College, New Year's Day.

DUMMY DEEGAN WILL LEAD VISITING FIVE

Former Star Pitcher of the Pets to Bring Team of Deaf Mutes Here.

"Dummy" Deegan, star pitcher on the Plainfield Baseball Club during the Phil Dabb regime, will make his first reappearance before a local sporting assemblage in eight years, when he leads the basketball team of St. Joseph's Institute, of Westchester, N. Y., at Columbus Hall, Thursday night, in the game with the Knights of Columbus quintet that represents Watchung Council, of this city.

Deegan, who ran a Scotch Plains hotel a few years ago, was one of the most popular players that ever appeared on Crescent Oval. The silent one pitched the team that represented this city on the diamond on Saturdays, and Hoboken on Sundays, to many notable victories over the best independent nines, as well as league clubs.

The team of deaf mutes that Deegan will bring from St. Joseph's Institute is expected to give the local Knights a hard battle. The Plainfield Columbians have yet to meet defeat this season, their three games—against the Tabs, the Plainfield A. A. and the Canadian Five—all resulting in victories.

The home players will be George Linke, Joe Carty, Dan McAfee, Bill Coyle, Al Bryniarski, Jack Caulfield, Joe Sullivan, Jim Cullen and John Coffey. Dancing will follow the exhibition.

INITIATE NEW POOL TABLE.

The new billiard table at the Y. M. C. A. was initiated last night, F. O. Dunning, chairman of the billiard committee and Boys' Secretary Lynn playing the first game.

ROLL-OFF IN MARCH.

The Westfield Bowling League match between the Clinks and Westfield Club, postponed from Friday night, will not be rolled until the end of the season.

N. P. H. S. GIRLS WIN THEIR SEVENTH GAME

Continue Excellent Work, and Add Alumnae to List of Victims.

The North Plainfield High School girls scored their seventh consecutive victory of the season by decisively defeating the Alumnae, last evening, in Saengerbund Hall, by a score of 29 to 8. The boroughites played around their opponents and soon left the grads in the rear.

The borough maids have displayed remarkable basketball the entire season and have yet to be interrupted in their victorious march. The passing, particularly between the two forwards, was cleverly executed, while the unerring eye of Captain Spencer and Marjorie Burtis rapidly ran up the points.

The vigilance of Miss Keller and Miss Doughty in the guard positions has curtailed the scoring of many an opponent. In the entire eight games the opposing forwards have shot twelve field goals collectively, or an average of three points per game.

Miss Spencer contributed six field goals in the scoring last evening, while her teammate made four two-pointers and six fouls. Miss McCullough made her first field goal of the season, a sensational shot from the middle of the floor.

MEETING ACCOMPLISHES ONLY SUGGESTIONS ON AMATEURISM

Little progress toward the clarification of the definition of the term amateur as applied to athletics was made at the joint conference of the leading governing sports organizations of America, which opened yesterday in New York under the auspices of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America. The conference lasted more than three hours, but it was impossible to agree upon any definition of an amateur that could be worthy of such a representative gathering. An adjournment was therefore ordered until Thursday by Gustavus T. Kirby, of the Intercollegiate A. A. A. A., who was selected as chairman, when a further effort will be made to attain the ends for which the meeting was intended.

BUY ADVERTISED PRODUCTS

Widely advertised products are not only made by live concerns, but always by responsible concerns.

Don't buy Bicycles or Tires whose name means nothing to you. Why should you take such chances, especially when well known standard bicycles and tires cost you no more and often less?

Don't buy Bicycles, Tires or Sundries that any dealer offers you, when you have to ask him the name of the maker. This in itself should be your first warning that he must be trying to put something over on you in order to make an extra profit for himself, and at your expense.

We carry nothing but Standard makes of Bicycles and Tires.

Boys Win by One Point, But Girls Lose, 13-7, in Games With Alumni.

FOUL WINS ONE MATCH

P. H. S. Quintet, Coming from Rear, Ties Last Year's Team Near End of Game, and Then Coudray Drops in a Free Throw.

Alumni home from college for the Christmas holidays turned out in large numbers at the Plainfield High School, last night, to witness the annual holiday double-header between the school basketball representatives and the boys' and girls' alumni teams. The school representatives won the boys' game, 23 to 22, while the girls' contest went to the grads, 13-7.

Both exhibitions were of highest calibre and although the schoolboys defeated the grads by one point, they had to fight a hard, uphill battle, inasmuch as the "come-backs" held the upper hand throughout the initial period, the score being 14 to 8.

Letting up on their fast passing and accurate shooting during the second period, the schoolboys edged closer and closer upon their rivals, tieing the score just one minute before time. A free throw by Coudray at this time gave the Ninth street aggregation the one-point decision.

Coudray was the high scorer for the schoolboys, tallying six goals and five fouls. His running mate played an equally good passing game.

In the Alumni line-up many former stars were seen. Captain Benny Rosenson, of the 1914 five, occupied one of the forward positions and showed his old time form. He caged three pretty field goals. Bill Peacock, playing at guard, displayed his usual form, and was a popular favorite. Beside filling his position admirably he netted four long distance shots.

In the preliminary game the contest was closely waged throughout both halves, the initial period giving the grads a 7 to 3 decision. The High School sextet was held on one goal, caged by Miss Elsa Palmer. The remaining points were made on free throws. Miss Bessie Morris and Miss Alice Mehl played excellently for the Alumnae.

DEATH CAUSES POSTPONEMENT OF WESTFIELD S. S. BOWLING

The bowling match between the Baptist and Trinity church teams, of the Westfield Sunday-school League, scheduled to be rolled on the Playhouse alleys last night, was postponed on account of the death of the fifteen-month-old son of George Worth, a member of the Baptist team.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Adv.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Since the completion of the Panama Canal is the greatest physical achievement in history, it is fitting that the event should be celebrated in a manner commensurate with the event. How well the expositions are doing this may be realized only after seeing Lyman H. Howe's filmization of the event itself—the completion and operation of the Panama Canal and also the celebrations both at San Francisco and San Diego at the Plainfield Theatre, this afternoon and tonight. These expositions mark an epoch or era on life's highway and as such no one can afford to miss seeing them through the medium of Mr. Howe's superb film reproduction. They are as perfect as anything the hand or mind of man has ever wrought. In the scenes of the San Francisco Exposition "Howe travelers" will gaze upon an epochal achievement—a city of palaces the like of which has never been seen before. Every foot of the film exhibited by Howe commands admiration. Just as the exposition itself stands as a monument to the combined genius of the most noted artists, architects, sculptors, engineers and gardeners from all corners of the earth, so, too, is Howe's filmization the very epitome of artistic photography.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

"The Majesty of the Law," a Paramount subject in which George Fawcett, the noted dramatic actor is starred, will be on view again today at the U. S. Astor Theatre, where it received its first presentation in Union county yesterday afternoon. Mr. Fawcett portrays the role of a judge in this engrossing play, it being a part in which is fitted in every respect for Mr. Fawcett's peculiar talents. Tomorrow will bring to the Astor the greatest photo drama-play of the season, "Carmen," with Geraldine Farrar, the oper star. Miss Farrar has created a sensation in the film world by her remarkable work in this splendid production, which, when shown at the Strand Theatre, New York, several weeks ago, broke all attendance records by playing to more than 22,000 persons in a single day. Plainfield opera lovers will find a distinct pleasure in seeing the favorite prima donna of the greatest opera house in the world portray her great character on the screen.

"Carmen" develops two of these possibilities to the full—acting and production. In the latter must be included not only glorious wild mountain settings, but the skilful posing of the human elements against them; invariably the drama is made to gain by the contrast of the human and the natural. As for acting, that is Geraldine Farrar's part. She scores the greatest dramatic triumph in the history of the screen in this epoch-making subject.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Starting yesterday and continuing today and tomorrow, Proctor's presents two Triangle pictures and four vaudeville acts. The photo-plays today and tomorrow include Thomas Jefferson and Tully Marshall in "The Sable Lorcha," a Chinese mystery story. The Keystone comedy for the first half of the week features Raymond Hitchcock and Mabel Normand. This is a rollicking farce entitled, "Stolen Magic." The vaudeville entertainment consists of "Dance Land;" the headline act, introducing a bevy of beautiful girls. Belle Onra, possesses strength and daring. Warren and Walters offer a novelty in ventriloquism, and Rose Jeanette, billed as the "Broadway Nightingale." The big bazaar will take place tomorrow night, and a special toy matinee for the kiddies will be held on Friday afternoon, instead of Saturday, at which time all the children attending will receive a handsome toy.

SALTS FINE FOR ACHING KIDNEYS
We Eat too Much Meat Which Clogs Kidneys, Then the Back Hurts.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally. Else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Nobody Can Tell When You Darken Gray, Faded Hair With Sage Tea.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and abundant with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair fell out or took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, ready to use, for about 50 cents. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair and is splendid for dandruff, dry, itchy scalp and falling hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and abundant.—Adv.

AUTO CRASHES INTO STREET CAR

Two Women and Children Have Narrow Escape From Injury.

MRS. BUTLER DRIVING

Step Torn From Car and Automobile Badly Damaged—Fourth Street and Sycamore Scene of Near Fatality This Morning.

Four occupants of a high-powered automobile had a narrow escape from death this morning, when the machine crashed into a street car at the corner of Fourth and Sycamore streets. In the automobile was Mrs. Eleanor Mason Butler, wife of Henry E. Butler, of Cushing road, her mother, and her two small children. None were hurt.

The Arlington avenue street car that was hit by the machine lost a front step, and the auto was badly damaged. Its front axle was badly bent, the radiator broken, a wheel torn loose and one front light flattened against the radiator.

The accident happened at 10:20 this morning. Mrs. Butler was driving the car, an eight cylinder Cadillac limousine, and was going to the station to catch the 10:26 express for New York. She was coming into Sycamore street toward the station and did not see an Arlington avenue car going west on Fourth street until within a few feet of it. It was too late then to pass in front of the car and she attempted to turn to the right and pass it on Fourth street. The space allowed for a turn was too short and the left front wheel struck the step of the car.

Chief Kiely, Captain Flynn and Patrolman Martin Welsh were at the corner almost as soon as the car and automobile were stopped. There were two eye witnesses to the collision, in addition to the motorman and the occupants of the automobile. Chief Kiely called all into the station, even the motorman and conductor on the car that was hit, and until their statements could be taken the carload of passengers stood waiting on the corner.

Motorman Mike Welch said that he approached the corner at a speed of five or six miles an hour. He rang his gong, he said, and did not hear an automobile horn. He did not see the automobile until one or two seconds before it struck his car, he stated, and there was no time to do anything except to apply brakes. He said he stopped within three feet after he first sighted the approaching automobile.

H. Jeromitzky, who was on his way to the station, was within a few feet of the two vehicles when they collided. He said that the automobile was going "pretty fast," and the street car "about the way they usually run." Neither motorman nor auto driver rang a bell or blew a horn, he said, and he called the accident unavoidable.

Charles Friedman, another witness, heard Mrs. Butler blow her horn. He was positive of this. He did not hear the motorman's gong. He was coming along Sycamore street behind Mrs. Butler's car and did not see the street car until a second or two before he heard the crash. He could not tell how fast the automobile was going, but was certain it was not "very fast."

Mrs. Butler told of approaching Fourth street and looking for a car. She would not say that she blew her horn, but believed that she did, as this action was instinctive with her at crossings. When she saw the street car it was too close to attempt to dart in front of it, she said, and she believed she was going slow enough to make the right turn between the car and the curbing, but failed to do so.

After hearing the testimony of all the witnesses Chief Kiely said that in his opinion the accident was the result of "too much caution on both sides," and that it was unavoidable. He called a machine and assisted Mrs. Butler and her children to the station. There will be no further action on the part of the police department.

KITTY CHEATHAM CHARMS AUDIENCE

Popular Entertainer of Children Gives Christmas Recital at High School.

Miss Kitty Cheatham entertained a large audience in the Plainfield High School Auditorium yesterday afternoon with her Christmas recital, which was given under the auspices of the Auditorium Concert Series of Recitals. Miss Cheatham visited Plainfield several years ago, and as usual her program contained a large assortment of novelties, especially songs and stories relating to childhood. In keeping with the holiday season, two highly decorated Christmas trees adorned the stage and added much to the appropriate Yuletide renditions, which Miss Cheatham gave with her customary charm.

Songs of Russia, Germany, Great Britain and America occupied a part of the program, and each depicted the characteristic airs of the peoples. No small part of the recital was devoted to traditional Mother Goose rhymes, a number of them set to music. Among the latter were the well known "Little Boy Blue," "Solomon Grundy," "Little Miss Muffet," "Ba, Ba, Black Sheep," and "Mistress Mary." Miss Flora MacDonald presided at the Steinway piano throughout the entire programe.

A native of the South, Miss Cheatham appears undoubtely at her best in renditions of the Southern melodies and her old negro folk-songs and stories yesterday evoked much applause. Throughout the entire recital her style was frankly simple, and her success is probably attributed to her exquisite sympathy with childhood, and her power to become again as a little child.

L. V. CLARK DIES IN HIS 53RD YEAR

Former Well Known Resident of This City Passes Away at Germantown, Pa.

L. V. Clark, formerly of Westfield and this city, who for twenty-five years has been vice president, director and general sales manager of the Lawrence Portland Cement Company, died at his home in Germantown, Pa., yesterday, after a long illness from heart trouble, at the age of 53 years.

Mr. Clark was well known in this city and in cement circles in New York and Philadelphia, where he has made his headquarters for many years. His loyalty to the interests he served so long and his gentlemanly bearing under all circumstances won for him a host of friends who have been greatly shocked at his demise although he has been ill for some time.

The funeral will be held at 157 Pelham road, Philadelphia, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

TICKETS SELLING FAST FOR HOSPITAL DANCE

Everything has been done to make the hospital dance on New Year's Eve a great success, and it is hoped that a large sum will be realized for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital.

The dance is given under the auspices of the Woman's Auxiliary Board and will be held at the High School Auditorium on Friday evening, December 31, from 9:30 p. m. to 3 a. m. Supper will be served free of charge and in addition there will be a dancing contest at 11 o'clock and a celebration at midnight to welcome 1916.

Tickets are on sale at Randolph's, Armstrong's and the United Cigar Store or may be obtained from members of the committee in charge or the floor committee.

SOMERSET COUNCIL TO HAVE CHRISTMAS TREE

Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., will hold a Christmas entertainment and tree in their rooms on Front street, Friday night. The program will be rounded out with dancing, musical selections and stories appropriate to the Yuletide season. Supper will be served late in the evening. The initiatory team of the council will appear in full uniform. An invitation is extended to members, their wives and friends to attend the sociable. The committee in charge of the affair comprises Guy Thomas, chairman; William England, William Walker and Bob Metler.

WOMAN SLASHES HER OWN THROAT

Mrs. James McNee Seeks Relief From Delusions in Death.

HAS CHANCE TO LIVE

Sleepless Night is Ended by Desperate Attempt at Suicide — Son Found Her Lying in Pool of Blood on Kitchen Floor.

Mrs. James McNee, of 303 Madison avenue, sleeplessly walked the floor of her room all last night fighting mental aberation that took the form of murder plots against her, and just as dawn came this morning her nerves broke under the strain, and she ended the night of horror by slashing her throat with a razor.

She is in Muhlenberg Hospital in a serious condition, and physicians believe that her attempt at suicide will prove successful, although she still has a fighting chance to live.

Mrs. McNee is forty-five years of age. She lives with her husband and her seventeen-year-old son, James McNee, Jr. It was the son who found her this morning on the floor of the kitchen, lying in a pool of her own blood. He, too, had passed a sleepless night, lying awake to hear the monotonous pattering of his mother's feet as she nervously fought against the dread of death that finally led her to seek safety in death itself. Shortly before 5 o'clock this morning he heard the footsteps cease, and turned over for a few minutes' sleep in the hope that his mother had finally laid down to rest. A few minutes later her groans aroused him, and he rushed into the kitchen to find her on the floor, with a great gash across her throat. She had found a razor lying on the mantelpiece in the kitchen, and, mad from the delusion that had haunted her throughout the night, she attempted to end her life.

The son called a physician and then ran to the police station to report the act of his mother. She was taken to the hospital at once, and early this afternoon it was said that she had a chance to live.

Mrs. McNee has been worrying recently because of the loss of her two small girls, that were taken from her in August, 1914. The girls were placed in the Children's Home by order of Judge DeMeza. McNee agreed that it should be done, as the home was not a proper place for them to be brought up in, and he has been paying for their support there.

Agents of the local charitable society have been visiting the McNee home recently in efforts to bring the woman back to a normal life, and at times it seemed as though they would succeed, but she always broke after a few days of rational living. She has complained much of rheumatism recently, and had a severe attack on Christmas Eve, which prompted her to seek relief in alcoholic medicines.

HIGH SCHOOL ALUMNI ENJOY YULETIDE DANCE

The Plainfield High School Alumni dance held in the school auditorium last night was one of the most successful affairs ever held by the graduates, over 125 young people attending. Young men and young women home for the Christmas holidays from their various colleges took the opportunity to visit their alma mater last night and renew school-day acquaintances. Banners of the class colors of the Alumni present were draped artistically around the auditorium. Dancing was the principal feature, music being provided by the well known orchestra of Brooks and Denton. During the intermissions the latter delighted with songs and clog dances and earned rounds of applause from the dancers. They favored with several encores during the evening.

Supper was served at midnight by Mrs. Henry Johnson and dancing continued until a late hour. The affair last night was in charge of Miss Miriam Carman and Dr. Sidney Titsworth.

ANNUAL RECEPTION OF KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS

Watchung Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, will hold their annual reception and dance in Columbus Auditorium, Wednesday evening, January 12. The affair will be formal, and invitations are now being distributed. An augmented orchestra of six pieces has been engaged, and supper will be served by a well-known local caterer. It is expected that the occasion will prove a great social success, and preparations are being made to entertain a large number of guests.

JAMES CALVERT DIES SUDDENLY

Union County Clerk Succumbs to Stroke of Paralysis.

ILL ONLY TWO DAYS

One of Best Known Men in Entire County—Member of Famous Calvert Family of Pennsylvania—Hurt in Accident Here Recently.

County Clerk James C. Calvert, one of the best known officeholders in this vicinity, died shortly before noon today at his home in Elizabeth, following an attack of paralysis which first becamme apparent two days ago.

He attempted to go to his office early this morning but after his wife insisted that he was not fit he went back to bed. He was found at 10 o'clock in an unconscious condition and before the arrival of Dr. A. O. Buck, who was hurriedly summoned, he passed away. The death came as a great shock to his many friends and colleagues, as it was not thought that the illness he suffered from was of a serious nature. Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made.

For the past eighteen years Mr. Calvert had held an official position in Union county and he had a wide acquaintance in Plainfield. An accident which befell him in this city a year ago last September is still fresh in the minds of local people. An automobile driven by Mrs. G. J. Weinman collided with his touring car at East Front and Berckman streets, injuring Mr. Calvert so badly that he had to be romoved to Muhlenberg Hospital. There was a faint suggestion today that his death might have come indirectly from these injuries, but this was denied by relatives.

Mr. Calvert was born in Baltimore November 26, 1861. He was the son of the late Charles and Elizabeth Cooper Graham Calvert, and was of the famous Calvert family of Pennsylvania. His early education was at Central High School in Philadelphia, after which he attended Villanova College in Pennsylvania. He was employed at the Singer Sewing Machine works for many years, while a young man, and worked in the V. S. department. In 1897 Mr. Calvert entered public life as clerk of the District court in Elizabeth, being appointed to serve under Judge Atwater. He was re-appointed in 1899 and served in this capacity until 1904 when he was elected County Clerk of Union county. He was reelected in 1909 and 1913. He was a staunch Republican.

He was a member of Court Columbus, 920, I. O. O. F., of Elizabeth; Elizabeth Lodge, No. 289, B. P. O. E., and of Elizabeth Council, 253, Knights of Columbus.

He is survived by a widow, Mrs. H. Bradley Calvert, and five children Irene A., Nellie B., Ruth, Dorothy and Charles Cecil, all of Elizabeth.

MOTHER LEFT BABY ON SOMERVILLE "DUMP"

Somerville, Dec. 29.—William Taylor, driver of a delivery wagon, yesterday found a small one month old boy lying on the dump on West Summit street. The child had been left more than an hour before, according to residents in the neighborhood, who saw a woman, a foreigner by appearance, leave a bundle on the dump. The child was of German parentage. It has been turned over to Miss Marks, nurse of the local hospital, and will be cared for by the county if its parents are not found.

MISS PATTERSON A SOCIETY BUD

Is Formally Introduced at a Brilliant Reception at Hartridge Auditorium.

RECIPIENT OF PRESENTS

Popular Young Woman is Showered With Congratulations—Dance Follows Reception—Elaborate Yuletide Decorations.

Miss Louise Patterson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart H. Patterson, of Park avenue, was formally introduced to society at a brilliant reception given at the Hartridge Auditorium last night. The large hall was thronged with society people from New York, Brooklyn, other distant points and this city, who gathered to shower congratulations on the debutante, while the young woman was also the recipient of a wealth of floral and other gifts from relatives and admiring friends. The auditorium was attractively decorated with greens and the seeaon's flowers, presenting a Yuletide effect.

Among those receiving with Mrs Patterson and her daughter were the Misses Helen H. Irons, Elizabeth B. Browne, Helen Terry, Mildred Miller, Pauline Sandford, Dorcas Bomann and Priscilla Fraker, of Plainfield; Miss Margaret Stanley-Brown, of New Gardens, Long Island; Miss Carolyn Long, of Chester, Pa., and Miss Anne Wheeler, of New York; also the aunts of the debutante, Mrs. A. W. Kleinecke, of New York, and Mrs. Gregg C. Birdsall, of Washington.

The young women assisting carried old-fashioned bouquets of sunburst roses and mignonette, and edged with pale blue ostrich tips. The debutante's gown was a hand-embroidered Japanese silk, draped in paniere style over a petticoat of silver lace, and trimmed with tulle and silver roses. She carried an old-fashioned bouquet of sunburst roses and lilies of the valley and edged with white ostrich tips. Miss Patterson's mother wore a gown of changeable orchid and silver satin d'amour, trimmed with silver lace and white fur, and carried an arm bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids.

The early hours of the function were devoted to the reception, many of those extending congratulations being among the older people. A little later the auditorium was given over to the young people, who enjoyed dancing until an early hour this morning. Attractive music was furnished by Austin. At midnight an elaborate supper was served.

EIGHTY-NINE CASES OF DISEASE REPORTED

Board of Health Statistics Show Sanitary Condition of City for Past Month.

Eighty-nine cases of communicable diseases were reported during the past month at the meeting of the Board of Health held in the local office last night, when reports were received showing the sanitary condition of the city. The cases were classed as follows: Scarlet fever, 4; diphtheria, 9; tuberculosis, 3; typhoid fever, 1; chicken pox, 28; whooping cough, 13; German measles, 1, measles, 28; mumps, 1. Only four of the cases of diphtheria are under quarantine at the present time, and in one instance two cases are in one family. All of the cases of scarlet fever are still under quarantine. Nineteen rooms were disinfected in twelve buildings during the month and three carriages also disinfected.

The practice of taking cultures from the throats of the children in the school rooms where a case of diphtheria has been reported was started during the month and the cultures were taken from the throats of the children in one class in the Irving School and one in the Bryant School.

The total number of inspections made were 448, and were classed as follows: Milk supply, 52; food supply, 89; nuisances, 57; communicable disease, 61; disinfections, 25; general work, 61, and plumbing work, 103.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wildgen, of West Clift street, Somerville, are receiving congratulations upon the birth of a daughter that came Christmas morning.

CRANE IS ENDORSED BY CITY COMMITTEE

Opposition Fades Away and He Will Be Re-appointed File Clerk.

Robert Newton Cane received the endorsement of the City Republican Committee last night for re-appointment as file clerk in the Assembly and that he will succeed himself is now assured. He previously received the endorsement of the county committee and the chairman, William Newcorn, will at the proper time recommend his appointment.

The fact that James Morrison and Walter Firstbrook were candidates for the job led to the belief that last night's session of the city committee would be a lively one, and the fact that the above matter was to be considered bought out two-thirds of the membership.

Mr. Newcorn first explained why Mr. Crane should be continued as file clerk. He said that it was an unwritten law that if a man "made good" he was entitled to a second term; that the Assemblymen from the county had praised Mr. Crane, always finding him on the job, and that he had performed good work for the party, being willing to do all in his power for its success.

Both V. W. Nash, Jr., who had intended recommending Walter Firstbrook for the job, and Charles Kling, who had presented James Morrison's name, stated after Mr. Newcorn's remarks, that in view of the situation, they would not be justified in pressing the claims of their candidates, and withdrew the names. Mr. Nash and Mr. Kling seconded the nomination of Mr. Crane for re-appointment. Practically the whole committee was unanimous in their support of the present incumbent.

WILL KEEP "TABS" ON LEGISLATION

Non-Partisan Citizens, Inc., Will Work for More Honest and Clean Elections.

Former Mayor G. W. V. Moy, Arthur B. Jones, Champlain L. Riley, and E. F. Feickert, of Plainfield, are members of the organization committee of the Non-Partisan Citizens, Inc., of New Jersey, the object of which is to create a channel through which the people may gain better political understanding and thereby secure more honest and clean elections—a higher standard of officials and wiser, simple and more practical legislation. The idea as set forth in the announcement is to join forces with other organizations throughout the State, thus exerting a maximum influence through combined action. No candidates, however, will be nominated for office by the organization.

A central headquarters will be maintained at Trenton, at which copies of all bills introduced in the Legislature will be kept on file, and the organization intends to examine carefully into the merits of such measures and actively support or oppose any bills which call for drastic action.

GEO. B. UTTER, WELL KNOWN HERE, TO WED MISS WILBUR

Invitations were received by a number of Plainfielders this morning to the wedding of George Benjamin Utter, publisher of the Westerly (R. I.) Sun, and Miss Katherine Latham Wilbur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen Wilbur, of Bridgewater, Mass. The ceremony, which will be followed by a large reception, will take place on January 17 at the bride's home. Mr. Utter has a number of relatives in this city, and has visited here several times. He is a son of the late Governor George H. Utter, of Rhode Island, whom he succeeded in the publishing business, after graduating from Amherst College in 1905. After an extended honeymoon trip the couple will reside in a new home which Mr. Utter has had erected in Westerly.

ENGLAND TO CALL ALL SINGLE MEN

Conscription Bill is to Be Presented Next Week.

LABOR OPPOSES IT

Bulgarians Are Preparing for Attack From Greece, Not for Drive Into That Territory — Austrian Note Not in.

London, Dec. 29.—The greatest parliamentary battle in many decades was foreshadowed today by the authoritative announcement the government intends to introduce next week a bill providing for conscription.

The lines were being drawn today. An informal conference of labor members of Commons now in London was called. Other laborites are en route here from provincial districts. Trades union heads, who early in the war denounced conscription, were exchanging messages. Before Parliament meets to hear from Premier Asquith, the Labor party may make known its decision on compulsory service.

Some hope was expressed by conscription leaders that the Laborites will not solidly oppose the modified form of conscription understood to be planned by the government, though reiterating their opposition to the principle of compulsory service. The solid opposition of the Irish party, if Ireland is included in the conscription, is expected.

In many quarters it was reported today the government will exclude Ireland, to escape the antagonism of John Redmond and other Irish leaders. At the same time such a course is bound to draw vitrolic attacks from other members.

Russians Take Kasban.

A despatch from Teheran says that Russians have occupied Kasban and are marching toward Ispahan.

Fall of Scutria Expected.

A despatch to a news agency from Turin quotes the Gazette Del Papola as saying that the Austro-Hungarians are attacking Scutaria in Albania and that the fall of that city is expected soon.

Glass Works Resume Work.

Word has been received from Brussels, via Berlin, that the glass works at Mariemont, Jenappes, and Dampreny, which have been closed since the outbreak of the war, are to be reopened on full time on January 3. A large number of workmen will be employed.

Morning Goes Down.

The British steamer Morning, 444 tons, has been sunk by a German submarine. Two members of the crew were saved.

Bulgarians Fear Attack.

Paris, Dec. 29.—A despatch to the Petit Parisien from Saloniki states that the delay in the offensive movement of the Central Powers is largely due to the destruction of the railway for a length of sixty miles south of Krivolak to the Greek border of Serbia. The Bulgarians, the despatch states, are constructing important defenses indicating that they are expecting rather than intending an attack.

Still Quiet In France.

French war statement:

"The night was calm except in the sector of Chaunes, where there was a combat with grenades and in Champagne, where we shelled the enemy's positions west of Ferme Mevarin."

Germans Admit Defeat.

Berlin, Dec. 29 (Wireless)—"Western theatre—The French advance at Hirzstein broke down under our fire. Two night attacks were made by the French at Hartmannsweiler Kopf, the first was repulsed, but in the second the enemy succeeded in penetrating our trenches.

"Balkan theatre—There is nothing to report."

The foregoing is the German war statement issued today.

Another Protest to England.

Washington, Dec. 29.—On the basis of reports received today, Consul General Skinner at London, the State Department is preparing a protest against British interference with American mail to and from Holland.

Austrian Note Not Here.

Austria's reply to the Ancona note has not yet arrived in Washington, although it is expected within the next forty-eight hours. It probably will be made public shortly after it is received.

French Order Freight Cars.

Montreal, Dec. 29.—The Canadian Car and Foundry Company has closed an order for nearly 2,000 freight cars for the French government.

Dutch Steamer Blows Up.

Amsterdam, Dec. 29.—The Dutch steamer Erin has foundered at sea.

XMAS ENTERTAINMENT IN BORO CHURCHES

Young and Old Enjoy Yuletide Festivities—Gifts Are Distributed.

The Presbyterian, Methodist and Holy Innocent Sunday-schools rendered their annual Christmas programs last evening.

Presbyterian.

The program of the Presbyterian Sunday-school commenced in the afternoon with exercises and a Xmas tree for the small children and members of the cradle roll. The exercises were held in the chapel, which was comfortably filled with the children, their mothers and visitors.

The exercises opened with the singing of "Carol, Children, Carol;" then followed in order a prayer by Rev. E. R. Brown; a recitation, "A Welcome," by Dorothy Marienscheck and George Young; a recitation, "Merry Christmas," by Adolph Brier; an exercise, "Like Merry Birds We Come,' by nine children; a recitation, "A Prayer," by Helen Williams; a recitation, "Slighted," by Dorothy Milliken; a recitation, "'Twas the Night Before Christmas," by Eleanor Jares; a song, "He Cares for Me;" a short talk by Rev. E. R. Brown; a recitation, "Welcome to Santa Claus," by Verna Fromneyer, and, in conclusion the arrival of Santa Claus in the person of George Craig. It did the hearts of the older folks good to see the little tots walk timidly up to jolly old Santa to receive their present.

The program was continued in the evening for the older scholars with the presentation of a playlette called, "Christmas at Finnegan's Flats.' The cast was as follows: Patrick Finnegan, owner of the flats, Benjamin Dodwell; Professor Baton, a violinist, Albert Ritterbusch; Dan Dooley, the policeman, George Hipp; Little Tom, the pet of the flats, Richard Merry; John, the chauffeur, George Hipp; Biddy Finnegan, Pat's wife, Miss May V. Day; Miss Neversmile, a lodger, Miss Laura Todd; Miss Goodhart, Santa Claus' agent, Natalie Terry; a dozen little children, who live in Finnegan's flats, Ronald Hamley, Margaret Frederick, Deveral Apgar, Edwin Terry, Jessie Sutphen, Madaline Sutphen, Mildred Mattis and Margaret Gardner. May Day, Laura Todd Benjamin Dodwell and Albert Ritterbusch took the leading parts. Following the play came the distribution of gifts and a collection for the needy of the borough.

Methodist.

The program of the Methodist Episcopal church, which follows, was rendered before a large audience in the church:

Prayer by Rev. D. W. C. Ramsey; singing by the school; recitation, "What Means the Joy," by Helen Titus; exercise, "The World's Wonderful Night," by Myrtle Headley; Mamie Gary and Florence Hebard; solo and chorus, Theodore Watts solo, school, chorus; recitation, "A Christmas Stocking," by Alvin Shively; exercise, "The Infant Jesus," by Elizabeth Seal, Cathryn Heilig and Frances Gary; solo and chorus, Miss Adelaide Ramsey, solo, school, chorus; exercise, "What Shall We Bring the King " four juniors; recitation, "If You're Good," by Evelyn Apgar; exercise, "The Offerings of the Year,," by fifteen children.

The latter was the feature of the program. Twelve children in costumes representing the months of the year brought gifts to a picture of the Infant Jesus on the altar.

Josephine Hague, who took the part of "Hope," admitted all of the months. She deserves honorable mention.

William Deering, in a costume of scarlet, trimmed with white fur, impersonated January. His gift was a branch of evergreen. Walter Bowlby, who impersonated February, was arrayed in a continental costume as Little George Washington. A laurel wreath was his gift. Fred Townley, as a little farm boy, represented March. He gave a measure of dust. Arlene Bartin, impersonating April, wore a fool's cap and a dress trimmed with green grass. Her gift was a bunch of green grass. Doris Deering, representing May, was gowned as a May Queen in a gown lavishly trimmed with various colored roses. A garland of roses was her gift. Marion Heilig, as a June Queen, in a dress of pink, trimmed with pink roses, impersonated the first month of summer. She laid a chaplet of pink roses before the picture of the Infant Jesus. Alton Vail, attired as Uncle Sam, impersonated the month of July. He brought an American flag. Milton Schenck, dressed in white as a sailor boy, impersonated August. His gift was a basket of sea shells. Johnson Gary impersonated September in a peasant's costume, elaborately decked with red. A bunch of wheat and a sickle was his gift. Dorothy Shively, dressed as Autumn, in a costume of brown, trimmed with autumn leaves, impersonated October. She brought a basket of fruit. Harriett Townley, as November, was dressed as an Indian maiden. She laid a pumpkin on the altar. Ruth Seal impersonated December in a costume of black, with silver stars, to represent "night." She brought the three Kings of the Orient. These were Richard Townley, Horace Williams and Theodore Watts. They were dressed as kings, with gold crowns, and presented gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh.

At the conclusion of the program came the customary distribution of gifts. The pastor was presented with twenty-five one-dollar bills shaped to represent a fan, and the superintendent, Mr. Townley, with an umbrella.

Holy Innocents.

Holy Innocents' program consisted of singing, the distribution of gifts and a few remarks by Rector A. S. Phelps. The church was attractively decorated with Christmas greens.

George Jennings, the sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jennings, has been ill with blood poisoning since Monday. The attending physician is Dr. T. H. Platt.

'Plains & Fanwood.

The Christmas entertainment of the Sunday-school of All Saints' Episcopal church was held in the Fanwood firehouse last night, and attracted a large gathering of friends and parents. The "Coming of the Christ-child" was pictured by tableaux, song and story, while several of the children recited poems. Charles Bent was the Santa Claus that closed the entertainment by entering and distributing present to each one in the Sunday-school. During the remainder of the evening the older members of the Sunday-school and their friends enjoyed dancing.

The Adult Bible Class, Sunday-school and the rest of the congregation of the Willow Grove chapel held its annual Christmas festivities in the chapel last night. Recitations and songs were rendered by the members of the Sunday-school, and the older people present enjoyed a short musical program arranged for by the Misses Lambert. A brilliantly lighted Christmas tree proved to be the centre of attraction around which all gathered while Santa Claus distributed the presents.

A daughter and son, John Edwards, and Mrs. Ernest Clark, survive him, both residing in the Plains. The funeral will be held from his late home tomorrow afternoon.

Local people will be interested to learn of the marriage today of Miss Grace Emma Kane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. N. Kane, of Warwick, N. Y., to John Livingston Todd, of Bellvale, N. Y. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, and was witnessed by several local people. Mr. Todd lived in the borough for the greater part of his life, until he removed to Bellvale three years ago. Miss Kane is also well known, having made numerous visits in the borough. After a wedding trip the young couple will return to Warwick to live.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Helen Schroeder Johnson, daughter of W R. Johnson, of Westfield, to John H. Kyte, son of Mrs. George Kyte, of Martine avenue, the borough. Miss Johnson is well known locally, and Mr. Kyte is a popular member of the younger set. Miss Johnson is a graduate of Long Island College Hospital in this year's class, while Mr. Kyte was graduated from Columbia University in 1907.

About fifty members of the Bible School of the Baptist church enjoyed a Christmas entertainment in the memorial parish house last night. An interesting program arranged by Mrs Archibald was rendered by the children, while Harry Paff entertained with moving pictures. Santa Claus found it a rather difficult job to descend the temporary chimney erected in a corner of the gymnasium, but after doing so had a present for everyone.

Mrs. Augustus Sheelen and daughter have returned to their home on North avenue after visiting relatives in Greenville.

Borough Postmaster George Reiner has made the announcement that in a short time there is to be several changes made in the postoffice. Included in the improvements will be the changing of the letter boxes. The majority of the present ones are with a glass front, and the only opening at the back, while the new ones will be of the latest automatic keyless type that will allow the lessee of it to get his mail without going to the window and asking.

SHERIFF OTTO TO SPEAK ON JAIL REFORM WORK

Elizabeth, Dec. 29.—James L. Griggs, of Somerville, has sent an invitation to Sheriff George C. Otto to address the Second Reformed church Sunday-school pupils there on his jail reform work and the sheriff will accept. Among the recent successful experiments at the jail was the release of two prisoners who were permitted to go to their homes in Elizabeth, Christmas Day, and who returned promptly at the hour appointed. A "shoe fund" has also been established at the jail for needy prisoners under Warden Hughson's administration and steps are underway to make the Union county institution a model of its kind. Plans for putting the men prisoners to work are now being considered.

The housewife is the "official buyer" for the home—in almost all families. She is, consequently, the official "ad reader" for the home.

A woman with buying to do never saves any time by omitting to read the advertisements. Nor does she always secure par-value for her dollar.

It is proper that the housewife should know as much about the business of buying for the home as her husband knows about the business in which he earns his income.

SENATOR ASPIRES TO GOVERNORSHIP

Charles O'Connor Hennessy, of Bergen, to Be Candidate at Democratic Primaries.

IS PROMISED SUPPORT

Many Influential Members of the Party Forgetting Past Differences Declare Themselves in His Favor and Sign Statement.

Trenton, Dec. 29.—That Senator Charles O'Connor Hennessy, of Bergen county, will enter the Democratic primaries as a candidate for Governor, and that the most influential Democrats of Bergen county, irrespective of past local differences, are united behind him, was the interesting news made public yesterday in a statement forwarded by County Judge William M. Seufert to Democratic State Chairman Edward E. Grosscup. Among those, beside Judge Seufert, who joined in the statement were former Senator James A. C. Johnson, Democratic County Chairman Jesse Moore, State Committeeman Dan Fellows Platt, Circuit Court Judge Luther A. Campbell, Court of Appeals Judge Frank M. Taylor, Prosecutor Thomas J. Huckin, and his assisstant, Arthur M. Agnew, Surrogate Robert A. Sibbald, Sheriff Robert N. Heath, President J. Spencer Smith, of the State Board of Commerce and Navigation; County Collector Walter Christie, District Court Judge Peter W. Stagg and E. Howard Foster, County Tax Commissioners William Conklin and Frank McLees, Professor E. H. Sturtevant of the State Board of Education; Walker W. Vick and Assemblyman Edgar A. De Yoe.

The following mayors of municipalities in Bergen county also signed the declaration: Mayor Vernon Munroe, of Englewood; Mayor Byron W. Hyler, of Tenafly; Mayor William H. Fleet, of Dumont; Mayor Daniel A. Garber, of Ridgewood, and Mayor Edward A. White, of Fort Lee.

County Clerk George Van Buskirk did not sign the statement. He is confined to his house ill with scarlet fever, and is under strict quarantine. It is not known what his views are about Senator Hennessy's candidacy but many of his close friends are supporting the Senator.

The statement is as follows:

"Senator Hennessy's record of four years of active legislative service for the people of his county and State, has, we believe, earned for him, to a degree seldom enjoyed by a public servant, the favor and the friendship of the thinking and progressive citizenship of the State. The statute books bear permanent evidence of his constructive ability as a statesman. His fights for honesty and efficiency in administrative matters, for systematizing the State's finances, for removing burdens from industry through wise taxation reforms, and for the elimination of waste and extravagance in public work, are but a few of the incidents of his public record that we are sure will make him an exceedingly strong candidate. His ability as a writer and debater, with unusual capacity to attract independent voters to his cause, would not be the least of his qualifications in a campaign.

Senator Hennessy has been urged to enter the race for the Democratic nomination for the Governorship and has consented to do so. We believe that outside of Bergen county he has many loyal and devoted friends in many sections of the State who will help to make his candidacy successful, not only on Primary Day, but on Election Day in November, should he win the nomination from the Democratic voters. For these, among other reasons that will occur to those who have watched his public career we now have the honor, on behalf of old Bergen, the most rapidly growing county in New Jersey, to announce and commend the candidacy of Charles O'Connor Hennessy to the Democracy of New Jersey."

Delivering the Goods

The only secret we have is that we consistently deliver the goods.

If we have erred at all, it has been in your favor rather than our own.

Our faults have been faults in addition rather than faults of subtraction. We are more prone to boost our costs than increase our prices.

But between you and us and the lamp post, we never lost any business thereby.

MISS ST. DENIS TO GIVE "THE GARDEN OF KAMA"

Ruth St. Denis will appear at the Plainfield Theatre tonight, supported by a company of thirty people. This will be her only engagement outside of New York city this season, and she selected Plainfield for the reason that it is near her old home. She has an extensive repertoire of Oriental dances to which she had added "The Garden of Kama," a beautiful legendary dance of India, created from Lawrence Hope's poems.

Another of the feature dances is "The Peacock," also an East Indian legend. This dance has won favorable comment wherever presented, and has been pronounced by critics as one of the most artistic dances given by Miss St. Denis.

TEACHERS FIGHT OVER PREPAREDNESS

Opposition to Military Training in Public Schools Develops.

Atlantic City, Dec. 29.—W. H. Connors, of Minotola, offered a resolution yesterday at the meeting of the New Jersey Teachers Association to place the association on record in opposition to military training and instruction in the public schools.

William A. Wendell, of Camden president of the association, tried to discourage action on the resolution, and intimated that discussion of topics relating to the war should be kept out of the convention, but Mr. Connors insisted on being heard. The resolution, however, was set aside for action tomorrow.

The association voted down a plan to bring about a merger of the retirement, tenure of office and pension legislation, and went on record against change in the method of electing delegates to the association.

President John Grier Hibben, of Princeton, in an address, said:

"The teaching profession is for you not merely a means of livelihood, but an opportunity to train the youth in your care for the solemn enterprise of living. It is not a personal career, but a public mission. As teachers of the coming generation, you should regard yourselves as the servants of the State. You are daily serving the interests of the State in your teaching because you are discharging a national function."

He argued in favor of small classes and said that there was a dissipation of attention and interest as the numbers increased.

"The teacher cannot mold the mass," he continued, "but he can influence the individual. He should endeavor to make an adequate diagnosis of the peculiarites and possibilities and needs of each student."

Good Furniture in Correct Design and at Moderate Prices

The illustration above depicts a good example of our new period designs in metal beds—the very latest thought in metal bed construction. This picture shows an Adam Brothers period bed. Period designing is also carried out in a number of other equally handsome styles of Simmons Beds. With the soft and pleasing finishes in which these beds are completed, they are essentially the beds de luxe for well furnished homes.

NEWARK AMUSEMENTS

One of the big events of the season will be the engagement in Newark at the Shubert Theatre, on Thursday and Friday next week, of the inimitable Harry Lauder. He will include this city on his eighth annual tour of America, which, as on all his former tours, will be under the direction of William Morris. Not alone has Mr. Launder provided himself with a half dozen new songs, all of which he is author and composer, but he still has his popular old repertoire from which he will also make selections. His latest songs are: "I'll Stick to Rosie," "Come Back, Nanny," "She Comes Frae Bonnie Scotland," "Doughie, the Baker," "I Love My Jean" and "Bonnie Haggie Tamson."

Mr. Lauder has this season an extraordinary vaudeville company. It includes the Al Golem Troupe of sixteen performers; Dave Genaro and Isabelle Jason, in a number of dance specialties; Selwyn Driver, who was with Mr. Lauder on his "Round the World Tour," and who performs his piano specialty in a very novel and humorous vein; Albert Donnelly, the silent humorist in shadowgraphy, and Mlle. Lucille and her marvelous talking cockatoo. As Mr. Lunder's engagement is limited to four performances it will be well for those who desire to see this wonderful artist to make early reservations.

LITERARY

One Dollar on the Farm Worth Three in City.

In the January Woman's Home Companion Robert Lane Wells tells us why the farmer's money goes farther than the salesman's or clerk's.

"It is commonly understood," he says, "that an income of one thousand dollars a year in the country, that is, on a farm, is equivalent to three thousand dollars in the city. I judge this is a fairly safe estimate. In fact, a good many farm families seem to have no income at all, in the city sense. In the course of the year they handle surprisingly little cash. Their actual needs are few and plain, and are met in an almost direct fashion by good old Mother Nature.

"Our family account books, which I have not quoted, show that we spent the first year about one-half as much for clothing as in previous years, only a little more than one-half as much for food; nothing for rent or fire wood; practically nothing for travel or amusement. We feel though, that we ought to spend more on amusements."

NEW BUDGET SYSTEM PROPOSED FOR JERSEY

Trenton, Dec. 29.—A budget system that would revolutionize the State's financial methods is expected to be the principal legislation proposed by the Republican majority of the Legislature at the session which begins two weeks from today. Republican Senators and Assemblyman had conferences at the Capitol here today. Senator Edge, of Atlantic county, is chairman of the committee in charge of the budget bill.

It provides for making the Governor head of all appropriation matters. Each department would submit to the Governor two months before the convening of the Legislature a requisition for the total money it would need. The Governor would be expected to look into the various estimates and then submit the budget, with his comment, to the Legislature, the same procedure as followed now with the annual message.

Pleasing Cantatas Are Features of Elaborate Holiday Programs.

PRESENTS DISTRIBUTED

Children and Grown-ups Join in Yuletide Festivities—Attractive Service at Grace Church—Decorations are Attractive.

Christmas entertainments were held in many of the churches of the city and borough last night, according to the annual custom during holiday week. In a majority of cases the programs were presented by the children, some pleasing cantatas being features. The programs:

TRINITY REFORMED.

"Old Kris" took up his temporary abode with the Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school last night, when the annual Christmas cantata took place, before a large audience of interested parents and friends. "Santa's Parcel Post" was the title of the production and opened with Santa (Charles Harvey) sending a Christmas book to his old friend "Samuel Jones," a Sunday-school superintendent, but careless "Laffin'" Montgomery Hart), who delivers the parcel post for Santa, takes it to "Sammy Jones" (Carman Trembath), a boy who had been expecting a rifle. From this mix-up the fun begins. Sammy had no liking for the book and give it to "Mrs. Rainbow" (Miss Jennie Sears), not knowing that a twenty dollar bill was pinned to the back page. When they found out about the bill, the chase to recover the book begins. It passes through a number of hands, but "Sue" (Miss Margaret McIntyre) being the only one to appreciate the gift, is lucky enough to find the bill. Much time and funny sayings elapse before Santa gets back the book. Montgomery Hart, impersonating "Laffin," scored the biggest hit of the evening, the young lad keeping the audience in a continuous roar of laughter.

Beside those mentioned the cast included Harvey Kesselring, Craig Holder, Margaret McIntyre, Arthur Krymer, Violet Neighbour, Dorothy Kenyon, Helen Willett, Viola Pawson and members of the primary and junior departments. Music for the affair was provided by the Dutch Ann orchestra.

The choruses were made up of the following: Adelaide Sheridan, Gladys Davis, Ruth Colthar, Evelyn Krymer, Pauline Davidson, Dorothy Giles, Doris Bittenbender, Helen O'Neal, Hazel Pangborn, Louise Husen, Helen Heege, Mary Baker, Margaret May, Alice Benton, Josie May Young, Helen Zepp, Elizabeth Trembath, Rae Glaentzer, Edgar Beader, Earl Lyman, Emerson Stricker, Harold Trembath and Harry Stugis. Miss Etta Raybert, who was chairman of the Christmas committee, rehearsed the children for a number of weeks and the careful training was revealed in the splendid presentation last night. Miss Raybert was assisted by the following members of the committee: Miss Helen Woodruff, Mrs. A. B. Cole, Mrs. Harry Cool, Mrs. E. Pangborn, Miss Edna Dilts, Mrs. John Young, Henry Beader, William Krimes and Edgar Sheppard.

The cantata will be repeated Thursday night for the benefit of the home department and their friends.

TEMPLE BAPTIST.

A large crowd that completely filled the audience room, was present last night to enjoy the cantata given by the Temple Baptist Bible school. The cantata was entitled "Betty's Dilemma," and was a story of a Christmas house party by a crowd of college boys and girls. The parts were taken by the older boys and girls of the school. The entertainment was in every way a success, and enjoyed by all present. The church was beautifully decorated in keeping with the season. A large room was furnished on the platform, this had special lighting and an electric fireplace. During the entertainment only these lights were going, the rest of them in the room were turned off.

After the entertainment, Frank Stewart, the assistant superintendent, and in the absence of Superintendent L. W. Randolph, who was kept at home on account of sickness, presented the pastor, Rev. E. C. Conover with a well filled purse of gold, the organist and sexton were also remembered. The pastor's wife received as usual the stocking which was not only filled, but covered all over the outside with boxes containing remembrances. A large bouquet of flowers was sent to Superintendent Randolph by the officers and teachers of the school.

The committee in charge was Edward Baker, Jr., George E. Hall, Mrs Edward Baker, Jr., Miss B. Carson, Mrs. Harry Bouton, Mrs. E. C. Conover, Mrs. P. I. Minton; decorations, Charles Griffen, C. H. Meyers, C. S. Meyers, George Huff and P. H. Moore.

MONROE AVENUE.

A Christmas cantata entitled "The Sign in the Sky," was given by the members of the Sunday-school of the Monroe Avenue church last night. The cantata told the story of the birth of Christ and the search for the Christ-child by the shepherds, the three wise men and the other wise man. The cast of characters follows: Nehemiah, William Cooke; Esther and Rebecca, Nehemiah's daughters, Miss Alberta Oakley and Miss Anna Lee; Philip, Nehemiah's son, Arthur Van Pelt; Patrice and Electra, two slaves, Miss Esther and Miss Miriam Hofer, Orillah, a rich woman, Miss Beasie Gunzelman; Tezra, a shepherd Robert Lee; other shepherds, Willie Egel, Harry Weber, Theodore Schwartz, Jerry Lant; Zaida, a messenger, Clifford Randolph; three wise men, Clarence Weber, George Weber, Arthur Hofer; the other wise man Parker Newell; chorus of Jewish girls, Elizabeth Lawson, Grace McDowell, Aleta McDowell, Cora Hofer, Irene Weber, Flora Zeek, Grace Schmidt, Caroline Randolph, Constance Hadden, Ruth Hubach, Dorothy Manning; chorus of Bethlehem children, Helen Schwartz, Jennie Roberson, Leslie Zeek, Russell Pound, Esther Saums. Mrs. Hubach presided at the organ. After the cantata, Santa Claus, impersonated by Blanchard Randolph, distributed candy and oranges to the members of the Sunday-school. The Christmas committee consisted of Edwin Beekman, Mrs. Saums, Miss Hofer, Miss Bouard, Miss Gray, Miss Barnes, Mrs. Lee, Miss Heritage, Mrs. Louis Tallamy, Blanchard Randolph, Clarence Weber.

GRACE CHURCH.

A magnificent Christmas tree, standing tall and stately for a height of twenty seven feet and illuminated with one hundred and ninety-two vari-colored incandescent lights, was a feature of the Christmas entertainment for the Sunday-school of Grace church last night. For the first time in its history, the affair was held in the church proper, in previous years having always taken place in the parish house. The members of the Sunday-school brought their parents and friends and the edifice was filled when the program began. The entertainment, which of a religious nature, was cheerful and appropriate. It was in the form of a cantata entitled "Three Kings of Orient." The kings were impersonated by Irvin Manley, Irving Wiltsey and William Thiers. In one portion a dialogue took place between two shepherds. The rector, E. Vicar Stevenson, gave a short Christmas address and the congregation sang carols.

Just previous to the distribution of gifts, candy and oranges, all the lights in the church were turned out except those of the chancel and the tree and the gathering sang, "Wonderful Tree." The effect was both pretty and impressive. The lights on the tree were put in place by Charles Ryder, Jr., the local electrician and were so arranged as to show up to the best advantage the elaborate tinsel and other decorations. It proved such a delight to the children and their friends that the committee felt more than repaid for its efforts. Those who had charge of the entertainment and arrangements were Harry Finch, Donald Fullerton, Howard Troth, Mrs. J. A. Peterson, Mrs. Charles DuBois and Miss Louise Egan.

CHURCH OF HEAVENLY REST.

The Sunday-school of the Church of the Heavenly Rest had one of the most enjoyable entertainments in its history last night. The children and their parents first assembled in the church, where carols were sung, and the rector, Rev. Cortlandt R. Mallery, made an address referring to the Christmas spirit. After this adjournment was made to the parish house, where Harry White, of Bound Brook, assisted by his little daughter, Mildred, gave a series of character sketches and recitations. Each number afforded much amusement and the artists were heartily encored.

Following the entertainment numbers, Mr. White, disguised as Santa Claus, summoned the children before him and presented each one with gifts. A big chimney served as background and the little ones were highly delighted with this portion of the program. The attendance was very large.

Miss Elizabeth Forster was chairman of the committee which arranged and had charge of the affair.

FIRST BAPTIST.

Members of the Sunday-school of the First Baptist church gave the cantata, "In David's Royal City," before a large audience in the lecture room of the church last night. The affair was arranged by Miss Dight, while Charles Lee coached the young people in their various parts. The program was opened with a violin solo by Miss Charlotte Verschuur, accompanied by Miss Emma Verschuur.

The cast for the cantata was as follows:

Innkeeper, Horace Bunker; his wife, Miss Lillian Fountain; rabbis, Egbert Fountain and Robert Butler; Bethlehem girls, Miss Irma E. Coddington, Miss Hazel Coddington, Miss Lillian McCready, Miss Helen Ryno and Miss Bessie Case; innkeeper's daughter, Miss Aileen Chandler; shepherd boys, Hafold and James Hodgkins, Harold Allen, Alexander Milne, Jr., Horace Fisher, Jr. In connection with the cantata there were also several tableaux given by small children.

HOPE CHAPEL.

Hope chapel's annual Christmas entertainment was held in the Sunday-school rooms last night, and consisted mainly of a sketch entitled "The Moonlight on the Levee," presented by the Boy Scouts of the chapel. An appropriate stage setting with a moonlight background aided the idea, and the boys gave songs, jokes and general fun. Selections by a Zobo band was one of the features. At the conclusion of the entertainment the usual gifts were distributed. G. Stuart Simons was chairman of the committee of arrangements.

The primary department of the Sunday-school held its exercises in the chapel yesterday afternoon. The little ones enjoyed a Santa Claus, who presented them with gifts, and sang. The affair was in charge of Miss Flora Griffin and Miss Eunice Eckert.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Yuletide observances at the Congregational church, held yesterday afternoon for the children, and last night for the older members of the Sunday school, took the form of a Christmas party more than an entertainment. Gifts, taken from the tree, delighted the children. In the evening, everyone present received a box of candy. There was vocal and instrumental music, and games were played.

ANOTHER INDUSTRY FOR NEW MARKET

Reported That Large Linen Concern Has Purchased Roller Mills Property.

Through a reliable source there is a report that the defunct New Market Roller Mills Company property at New Market, which was sold several months ago at a receiver's sale, has been purchased through the agency of John Fedderman by a large New York importing concern, which will remodel the mill into a linen manufacturing plant. At the receiver's sale, A. J. Hamley, representing the First National Bank, of Dunellen, was the purchaser.

The war has curtailed the importation of linen to such an extent that numerous linen importing concerns have been compelled to enter the manufacturing part of the business to meet the demand from the merchant. It is reported that if the new concern can secure some additional ground it will be able to give employment to at least five hundred people. This would make three large industries to be located in New Market, which would have a tendency to boost realty values in that community.

PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. William Moore, of Newark, who have been spending several days with relatives in this city, have returned.

Judge and Mrs. Isaac P. Runyon, who have just removed from the mountains to their home in the borough, contemplate making their home in Plainfield in the near future.

Mrs. C. M. Hansen, of Portsmouth, O., is visiting Miss Anna C. Bratton, of West Fourth street.

Lawrence French, of Washington avenue, a student at Rutgers College, entertained the class of '12, Borough High School, of which he was a member, at his home on Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Zabriskie have taken possession of their handsome new home, on Willow avenue, the borough, which has just been completed.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, continues to improve from a recent illness, and has again taken up his pastoral duties.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Babcock, of West Eighth strett, are entertaining relatives from Alfred, N. Y., during the holiday season.

Edward Sebring, of Lincoln place, is seriously ill at his home with an attack of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Duhamel, of Somerset street, will leave tomorrow for Providence, R. I., where they will spend the week with the former's parents.

Charles W. McCutchen is confined to his home on Rockview avenue with an attack of grip.

Joel D. Pennington, of Monroe avenue, is able to be about after a week's illness with grip.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Voehl, of 30 Grove street, are both ill with the grip.

Frank Bach, of Somerset street, who left for St. Louis on Christmas morning, is expected home this evening.

CONTRASTS.

Now that the merchants have had time to check up, it has been discovered that the Christmas business in Plainfield has been unusually good. Not a few of the merchants say that it was the best in the history of their stores. If there is a single one that did not get his full share of the business, it was his fault and that of no one else, for he could not have advertised or did not have reliable merchandise.

Plainfield certainly cannot complain that it is not sharing in the prosperity that is sweeping over the country. The big pay rolls of the local shops are releasing hundreds of thousands of dollars each month and a large part of the money has been used in this city.

Similar conditions exist throughout the land. Reflect a moment and contrast this happy condition with the deplorable state of affairs existing in most of Europe, where the dogs of war are snapping and snarling, bringing death and misery to millions of homes, where peace, happiness and contentment reigned only a camparatively few months ago. This comparison must convince us of the blessings that accompany life under the Stars and Stripes—the flag that means peace, the flag under which no ambitious politician can plunge a nation into war in an effort to satisfy his desire for wealth and power.

Perhaps the blood of the millions that is being shed on the fields of Europe and the thousands of lives that are being drained by disease and starvation, will ere long bring to the people of the land of trouble governments that, like our own, will not tolerate the despot who cares more for his own self-glory than for human life.

IMMIGRATION AND POPULATION.

The Italian-born population in New Jersey now exceeds the German-born by 29,137, the figures being: Italians, 144,848; Germans, 115,711. Evidently, too, the census figures include thousands of Austrian-Germans under the head of German-born. While there was an immense immigration of Italians up to the beginning of the European war, immigration from Germany had become almost negligible.

What the immigration after the war will be nobody knows. No doubt Italian immigration will be resumed in much the same volume unless the Italian government puts a check upon it. German immigration will depend on the fortunes of the present war, which if it goes against Germany will leave such burdens upon the people that many will want to come to America.

Probably the European war will last two years longer, and if so, for two years longer, immigration will be practically at a standstill. The loss of immigration made a material difference in the State census this year and a further loss of more than two years will make a relatively still greater difference in the Federal census in 1920. The total State population increase for the last decade ending this year was about seven hundred thousand.—Newark Eagle.

POSTAL SPEED!

A holiday greeting to the editor of the Daily Press, under first class letter postage, postmarked in the local office at 9 p. m., December 24, read as follows:

I send my Christmas greeting.
If it's not held up on the way,
It surely ought to reach you
In time for Christmas day.

The sender evidently knew what to expect in the mail service, for the letter was delivered yesterday, December 28. Three days or more for a first class communication to get from the postoffice to the corner of North and Park avenue demonstrates more than ever that the local postal service is completely demoralized, and that it is time for an investigation. Even a holiday rush does not excuse such delays as this.

Christmas has passed; but why should it? It is the most wonderful part of the year, the best thing in life. Of course it would not be well to continue some of the practices of Christmas through the entire year, but the spirit of the season should be carried until a time when it shall be renewed. Christ did not set aside one day in the year upon which to heal the afflicted and soothe the pains of unfortunates, and those who try to follow in His footsteps should not wait until the observance of His birthday to befriend their brothers and sisters who are in need. Carry a little of the Christmas spirit with you through the new year.

Senator Hennessy, of Bergen county, has shied his hat in the ring for the Democratic Gubernatorial nomination. If he goes around the State making speeches as poor as the one he delivered here at a suffrage mass meeting a few months ago, it is easy to predict what will happen to him.

The "harmony" existing thus far with the Ford peace party indicates that when a lot of people who are big fish in little puddles, all get into the same puddle together there develops a lot of jealousy and trouble.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The Triangle plays to be presented at Proctor's the latter half of the week, starting tomorrow, include Julia Dean in "Matrimony" and Ford Sterling in "His Father's Footsteps." "Matrimony" is an offering that is somewhat different from the usual run of photo-plays, and is sure to hold your interest from beginning to end. Ford Sterling in "His Father's Footsteps" is at his best, and is funnier than in any other screen production in which he has starred. His grotesque imitation of a cabaret dancer will produce continual laughter. An announcement of great importance is made to the effect that Ray Eaton and Eddie Madden, the "kid" team in the recent six-day bicycle race held at Madison Square Garden, will appear at Proctor's starting tomorrow and continuing the rest of the week. These two youngsters finished in sixth place in the New York grind, and put many of the veterans to shame by their marvellous exhibition of grit and stamina. These boys will show their ability on home trainers, a mechanical devise showing the speed of the rider by means of a dial. They are prepared to meet all comers and prove that they are the greatest youngsters in cycledom. Three other big acts will also be presented, besides the photo-plays.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Helen S. Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. T. Johnston, of Westfield, to John Herbert Kyte, of Fanwood. No date has beeu set for the wedding. Miss Johnston is a graduate nurse, while Mr. Kyte is a graduate of Columbia University, class '07.

Behold the old, pot-bellied mare
Who stands beside the stack.
She is not stream-lined anywhere;
She has a sagging back.
The hair is worn from off her sides
Where tug and trace have been;
Profound disgust with life abides
About that pendant chin.

Her draggled fetlocks reek with mud,
Her tail is full of burs;
No pride of race or purple blood
Or Blue-grass sires is hers.
Her sturdy pasterns, nit-bestrewn,
Have blemishes galore;
Through chaff-filled mane the breezes croon,
Each shoulder bears a sore.

But she has never cast a tire;
Her starter always works;
Her spark-plugs never fail to fire,
Her timer never shirks;
Her oil-gauge plunger never sticks,
And ne'er has she, I ween,
Five miles from home, or maybe six,
Run out of gasolene!

Nations

This is a subject on which many persons who knew nothing about it have written learnedly.

It is time somebody who knew exactly as much wrote about it frankly and admitted his ignorance.

Nations are more or less temporary coagulations of individuals who find it to their mutual interest to agree on something for awhile.

Each member of a nation is supposed to be loyal to that nation.

He will be, so long as he doesn't find it strongly to his interest to be otherwise.

Nations will hang together after it ceases to be to the interest of individuals to do so, unless the people get to thinking.

Loyalty is a matter of the feelings, not of the mind.

When the mind butts in on the job, something is liable to happen.

Hearts make citizen armies in support of the existing order.

Heads make rebellions.

Personally we prefer that hearts remain trumps.

Nobody who thinks ever does things right in the big sense, if he allows his mind alone to influence him.

Fools differ in their opinions, but not half so much as wise men differ.

The brainier men are and the better their opportunities for developing their minds, the more radically they differ on the most vital of subjects.

Something of a sockdolager for a gink with a six-and-a-quarter bean, eh?

Nations are held together more through vanity and clannishness and the desire to appear consistent than through any other influence.

If you give your mind a vacation you can be just as loyal to a mut-de-luxe ruler as to the smartest and best man in the world.

Nations is a large subject.

Just see how much space one can fill on it and not say a thing!

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D..

Rickets

RACHITIS (inflammation of the spine) is the older medical name for rickets. Of course the disease involves all parts of the body as well as the bones of the spine.

In large cities the majority of children in the crowded districts show more or less rickets. But the disease occurs very frequently in children of well-to-do families in which ill-advised methods of feeding prevail. Rickets seems particularly common in negro children in America (not in the tropics); we believe the explanation for this is the common use of condensed milk in this country for raising negro babies. Most of the bony deformities noticed in negroes are attributable to rickets in childhood.

In rickets the bones are deficiently supplied with mineral matter, the per cent. of ash in the bones being often as low as twenty-five per cent. of the normal (which is about one-third of the substance of the bone in health).

The causes of rickets, as definitely as may be stated, are (1) improper food, such as condensed milk, malted milk and the various so-called infant foods which are given without fresh cows' milk; probably also (2) lack of outdoor air and sunshine; (3) a hereditary tendency transmitted chiefly by the mother.

Usually the disease develops in the colder part of the year when children are not taken out for the daily airing.

Signs of rickets rarely appear until after the age of three months, and in most cases not until the latter part of the first year or the first half of the second year.

Among the suggestive symptoms we can mention but a few. Restlessness, head rolling, inability to support the head, rubbing off of the hair on back of head, preference to lie on one side rather than on the back, sweating, particularly about the head, odorous urine, absence of normal desire to play, pale and flabby appearance. Such symptoms appear after three or four months of artificial feeding in many cases.

Effects of rickets are constitutional weakness and bony deformities. Pigeon-breast, spinal curvature, bow legs, knock-knees, characteristically a forward arching of the shins, a peculiarly noticeable "square head" due to unusual prominence of the frontal eminences, swellings of the wrists and ankles (bony thickening), prominent abdomen (pot belly), delayed closure of the fontanelles or soft spots on the skull, and weak muscles are common results of rickets.

Prevention is summed up in two words—proper feeding and open air. The treatment of rickets demands careful management of the diet by the doctor. Fresh fruit juices and vegetable broths, as well as meat broths, are useful. Also certain medicines will hasten recovery.

STENOGRAPHERS

A STENOGRAPHER is a young lady who takes down the hard thunk thoughts of her employer in a note-book and afterwards edits and improves them on a typewriter, as soon as she has done up her cuffs, revised her hair, manicured her nails and modified her complexion.

There was a time when there were no stenographers, and business offices were gloomy places, in which men swore and wore hats, smoked cigars and kept their feet on the tables and their coats on hooks in the closets. Then the cheery stenographer was invented and through her coming, most of the gloom has been dispelled.

Stenographers are manufactured by business colleges out of shop girls, farmers' daughters and assistant housekeepers, with now and then a high school graduate as a prize package. They have good educations and can spell almost any small word by ear. However, the memory of the average stenographer is somewhat defective, which makes it almost impossible for her to understand her notes after they have stood for a few minutes.

Stenographers are great linguists and are forever inventing new words and phrases. A stenographer will write "Supreme Cuff," "nuborgination," "Witness be noses and says" and other remarkable improvements on the language, without giving it a thought. Indeed most of them are very modest over these achievements and will take half an hour of their employer's valuable time to convince him he is entitled to all the credit of the improvement.

Stenographers get from $3 a week to $10,000 a year and earn less and more than this. A poor stenographer is dear at $3 a week, while there is always a waiting list of eager employers for the $150 a month stenographer who sharpens her pencils in her spare time, and writes letters which can be "signed but not read."

They sometimes spare a moment to typewrite a letter or two

Stenographers should always dress modestly and refrain from anything but business conversation during office hours. Unless they do this, they are very likely to become millionaires' wives, or to meet some other equally terrible fate.

Views Of The Press

A Great Agricultural Year

UNCLE SAM is the envied of all nations at this time. In addition to being the greatest nation that hasn't a war on its hands, this country is benefiting by the failure of production in the great manufacturing centers of Europe, and especially are we happy over the immense crops produced by the farms of this country.

The harvest of crops in this country produced in excess of ten billions of dollars and that is said to be a new high-water mark for Uncle Sam. Throughout the country there was some concern about weather conditions at harvest time, but in the main the splendid crops were properly cared for, and to a great extent the revenue therefrom has been conserved to the best possible extent.

It would be strange indeed, if bank deposits did not swell in agricultural communities. It would be strange indeed if the merchants in agricultural states did not sell more goods and better goods than has been their custom. It would be strange indeed if the spirit of Christmas did not pervade the entire country when it comes time to fill the stockings about the family fireside or decorate the Christmas tree.

The value of the corn crop is estimated at $1,913,025,071; of wheat, $932,888,999; of oats, $532,599,822; of hay, $877,054,890; of potatoes, $260,881,374; of apples, $164,380,480.

Manhattan island contains twenty-seven square miles. If we dumped the three biggest cereal crops on Manhattan island the gathered grain would cover that island to a depth of 120 feet.

The corn crop of the United States would pay the national debt almost twice over.

The wheat crop would buy a $20 suit of clothes for every man, boy and baby boy in the United States.

The oats crop would pay for all the public schools in the United States, and have enough left to pay the tuition bills of all the college students in the country for two and a half years.

The value of the hay crop exceeds the total assessed wealth of the state of Georgia.

The cotton crop of the country would dig the Panama canal twice over.

The potato crop would buy an automobile for every man, woman and child in Pittsburgh—a city of 500,000 population.

It would seem every person in the United States ought to be able to find enough to eat and something to make him feel grateful.

People's Legal Friend

BY E. R. BRANSON

A One-Man Road

Q. Do the authorities have any right to lay out a public road merely for the benefit of one man?

A. They have no right to do so for such purpose alone, but it sometimes happens that, although one individual is principally benefited, others receive incidental benefit, and where a road is laid out or established for the public good the legality of the proceeding is not affected by the circumstance that it may be of primary or especial advantage to one person.

Ignorance At A Loss

Q. A man who could not read was misled as to the character of a legal document which he signed. He was told that it was a paper of a wholly different sort. Can it be used against him?

A. He may avoid the contract.

The Wife's Estate

Q. Will you kindly inform me with regard to the following: My sister died intestate, leaving a husband, mother, sisters and brothers, but no children. Her estate consisted of personal property and real estate and also a mortgage on the homestead, dating back some fifteen years, for which she never claimed interest. (Her mother now occupies the homestead.) All this she had long before marriage accumulated except two lots, and these were purchased with her money and the deeds are in her name. This is since her marriage. What share can her husband legally claim of the estate under the New York state law?

A. The New York law provides that the real estate of one who dies intestate shall descend as follows: First—To lineal descendants. Second—To the father. Third—To the mother. Fourth—To collateral relatives, in the manner prescribed by the statute. Where the husband or wife survives and there are no children, the personal property, after the payment of the debts of the estate, is distributed as follows: One-half of the whole surplus to the widow or surviving husband; one-half to the next of kin of the deceased.

Mr. Branson will be glad to answer all questions. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not, it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Address all letters to E. R. Branson, care of this newspaper.

The Psychological Moment

The man who has won a reputation as a criminal lawyer knows the psychological effect of the critical moment, and prepares for it with as much care as a general marshaling his forces for battle. Then he has to try it on the jury, hit or miss. He knows that if he falls flat it will place in jeopardy the liberty or the life of his client, but he must take the risk. The law books contain no guide for playing the "trump card." All is left to the discretion of the lawyer.

There was a man on trial for murder in a certain court in Missouri. He had armed himself with a double-barreled shotgun, walked some distance to a neighbor's field, and emptied both charges into his enemy's body.

The slayer surrendered himself, and at the trial pleaded the unwritten law, and that he had acted in the heat of passion. As his daughter was involved in the case, the defendant took the stand, told of the betrayal and how angry it made him. He said he seized his old shotgun, and, hurrying to the field where his victim was at work, shot him.

The man fell to the ground, raised himself up on his arm, and the defendant shot again.

On cross-examination the state's attorney let him repeat his story in detail, and then quietly asked:

"Why did you fire the second shot?"

The defendant nervously passed his hands over each other, coughed, and replied helplessly,

"I—I don't know."

He was convicted on that answer.

Worth

There is but one vital Standard by which the value of anything from a Match to a human Character can be determined, and that is—Worth. All Life is a Contest. The prizes are distributed according to—Worth.

The Market Places of this world cry out for—Worth, Worth, Worth!

Not all of us are trained to pick out Worth from the places where it exists. Centuries ago a Great Teacher said that a Prophet was not without Honor excepting in his own Country. The reason is simple—most people prefer to look for the ordinary qualities in others, whereas one of the predominating qualities back of the great man is his ability to See and Express and Live, beyond his time. People see the shell of a man's activity, but fail to see the Vision of the man, which is really the basis for measuring his Worth.

There is priceless Worth in Ability and Character all about you if you will but recognize it.

No permanent honor ever rested upon the shoulders of anyone whose Worth did not merit it. Worth is always rewarded. So often there appear in the application for positions in the Classified Columns of newspapers, phrases like this: "Position desired where Worth and Ability will be appreciated." Genuine Worth and Ability are always appreciated. They are not always adequately paid for in money. But if you have real Worth someone, somehow, somewhere, is bound to find it and rejoice over the fact.

The Chubby Girl

The chubby girl is coming back with the new winter fashions.—
News Note.

The chubby girl is coming back,
The buxom type and pleasing,
The roly-poly sort of girl—
An armful built for squeezing;
The sofa pillow style of maid,
By nature deftly bolstered—
The plump and billowy make of girl,
Abundantly upholstered.

The chubby girl is coming back,
Sing, hey, the tidings charmful!
The ample, bouncing, dimpled wench,
A round and rosy armful—
The full-blown rose, all blush and bloom,
Of girls, the sort to fondle.
Sing, hey, the curved and jovial miss,
Of sweets a wholesome bundle!

The chubby girl is coming back,
The slender type displacing,
The plumper fad is going out—
The newest thing is lacing,
A bas the geometric type,
Slim, sinuous and bony.
Sing, hey, the appetizing maid—
Made round like good bologna!

The chubby girl is coming back—
'Twill vulgar be to wiggle.
She's out of date, that swaying sylph—
All angles, soul and giggle.
Dame Fashion, deaf to every plea,
Decrees the goddess burly—
So here's to the sprite with the appetite,
The blithe and fatted girlie!

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Tells why everyone should drink hot water each morning before breakfast.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some day really incapacitated by illness.

If we all would practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with pasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day, before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water, with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights, have become real cranks about the morning inside-bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to anyone its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.

OUCH! BACKACHE! RUB LUMBAGO OR STIFFNESS AWAY

Rub pain from back with small trial bottle of old, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil."

When your back is sore and lame or lumbago, sciatica or rheumatism has you stiffened up, don't suffer! Get a small trial bottle of old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub it right on your aching back, and by the time you count fifty, the soreness and lameness is gone.

Don't stay crippled! This soothing, penetrating oil needs to be used only once. It takes the pain right out and ends the misery. It is magical, yet absolutely harmless, and doesn't burn the skin.

Nothing else stops lumbago, sciatica, backache or rheumatism so promptly. It never disappoints.—Adv.

"Lots of water needed to flood a yard."

Daddy's Bedtime Story—

How Bobbie Made A Skating Pond In The Front Yard.

"ONE day," daddy began when two children curled up beside him. "Bobbie's mother went downtown to buy Christmas presents. There were a great many to buy, so she took her cook along with her to help bring things home and also to buy a pair of shoes for her own little boy. This left Bobbie and Jim and Bibbley Wah alone to keep house, you see.

"It was a clear, cold December day, and when Bobbie came home from school he noticed that little icicles had formed around the veranda posts. He immediately decided to make a skating pond in the front yard. So he and Jim ran for the garden hose, hitched it to the spigot in the butler's pantry, threw wide open the front door and began to hose the front yard. But it takes a great deal of water to make a pond, and when the boys turned it on full force it began to spatter the front hall."

"What did the boys do?" Jack wanted to know.

"They moved all the furniture to one side. All three of them tugged at the big chime clock till they got it off in one corner. Then they stacked the umbrella stand and hall table—lots of room needed to flood a yard, you see. By this time Bibbley Wah was all soaking wet, so the boys put a rubber coat on her and got into rubber hip boots themselves. Then the hose slipped off the spigot, and the boys flew to the cellar for a wrench, a tin pail and a snow shovel. Finally, with sopping wet mittens, red cheeks and a big band of cheering school friends, Bobbie stood triumphant playing a big stream of water right across the hall, through the front door, over the veranda rail right into the front yard!" cried daddy.

"Did it freeze fast before their mamma got home?" asked Jack.

"Fairly fast after the sun went down. But it was the cook who got home first. 'Whatever are you kids doing?' she cried when she saw the door open and a huge stream pouring out of it. 'Just having fun making a skating pond. Isn't that a jolly good stream?' Bobbie explained. 'An' your poor mother's bee-utiful Persian rug all soaked, as I'm alive!' the cook shouted, waving her arms at the admiring children grouped around Bobbie. He glanced down at the huge rare rug Uncle Ben had once given his mamma for Christmas, and across all its beautiful old patterns—little animals, queer men, small trees and bugs all woven into its lovely old nap—were the slushy little footprints of rubber boots. Bobbie turned off the hose and closed the door. 'But mother would let me do it,' he told the cook."

Married Life on $80 a Month

BY MRS. EVA LEONARD

Gossip Has Julia Osgood Quitting Her Position to Take a Better One.

"Mrs. Osgood came home today. You will want to go over and see her and find out all about Julia," said John Sutner one evening about a week after the wreck.

"I surely will go right away," replied Molly. "The fact that Mrs. Osgood has returned shows that Julia is better, but I want to learn all the particulars."

"You wash Jack's face, will you, dear? Supper is about ready, and it needs attention right now." Molly hurried off to the kitchen.

The subject of Julia's accident was not brought up during supper, for she was a stranger to Miss Travers, but after the table was cleared John followed Molly into the kitchen and said:

"Give me a wiping towel. I'll wipe the dishes while I tell you the news about Julia."

"Good stunt," assented Molly cheerfully, handing him the towel. "Did you see Mrs. Osgood to talk to her?"

"Yes, she went right to the office to see Jaynes and came to see me before she left. It happened that I was alone in the room at the time and we had a good talk."

"I did not know that you knew her mother," remarked Molly.

"I did not; but she said Julia had talked so much about the Sutners that she felt acquainted with us." John was polishing on a glass with great vigor.

"Good; that sounds friendly. How long will Julia have to stay at the hospital?"

"Probably two weeks longer. It is the internal injuries that keep her so long."

"Is that glass all right?" John held it up for inspection.

"Fine. Just what were her injuries?" asked Molly.

"I do not know. She did not tell and I thought I'd not ask," answered John.

"What did she say?" Molly poured the rinsing water over the dishes.

"From what she says I doubt if Julia ever comes back to the office." John turned to set the dish he was wiping on the table.

"Why, John, I did not know she was so badly hurt as that," exclaimed Molly in alarm.

John laughed. "You do not understand. Mr. Crane is calling very regularly and sending flowers. Mrs. Osgood smiled when she told me. I think she likes the young man."

"When I go to see her perhaps she will tell me particulars." Molly was radiant. "I am so glad. She is a very fine girl and will make him happy. I knew she cared for him. She was so disappointed when her mother would not go to the opera with her."

"I suppose she will live in Kansas City, and I shall see very little of her." There was regret in Molly's tone.

"You talk as if she was your most intimate friend." John smiled as he spoke.

"I have very few real friends and she is one of them. It is not the length of time you have known a person that counts. It is the way you have known them. We got acquainted over night you might say. What she did for you was enough to make me her friend forever, and she seemed to like me, so that made the thing perfect. How glad I'll be to see her when she comes back," continued Molly after a pause.

"I feel as if we had indirectly had a great deal to do with bringing these young people together," laughed John. "My affairs made the providence."

TOM SHEVLIN, FAMOUS YALE FOOTBALL PLAYER AND COACH, DIED THIS MORNING

Minneapolis, Dec. 29.—Thomas Shevlin, famous Yale football star and coach, died here today of pneumonia. Although ill but six days, it is believed the milionaire lumberman contracted the cold which proved fatal, while he was coaching the Yale eleven last month.

The death of Shevlin carries away the man whose praises were being sung all over the country only a few weeks ago. When he rounded up Yale's gridiron forces in a few days before the Princeton game, and drove them to a victory over the Tigers that stunned the whole sporting world, the "Miracle Man," as he was hailed, was the hero of the hour.

Shevlin, during his college days, was conceded to be the greatest player ever developed at New Haven. He was graduated in 1906, after captaining one of the Elis' most successful elevens.

SPORTING NOTES

Those who have seen Ad Wolgast in his recent bouts believe his "comeback" is a farce. He was no match for Leach Cross in his New York bout a few weeks ago, and the mill was stopped at the end of the sixth round. Battered and blue, the former champ was a sorry sight.

Cassignol, the French billiardist, who is trying out his stroke in New York, will probably get a match with Hoppe before the winter is out. The French expert is rated as one of the best of the Europeans. Jules Aderjan, the Hungarian expert, now in Spain, is his only rival across the big pond.

The masked wrestler who showed his prowess in the West last winter, has invaded New York, and has the gang going. Any man who can jolt Waldek Zbyszko must go some. The wise wrestling promoters claim they know who the mystery is, but it don't make much difference so long as he produces the goods.

The signing up of Pat Moran to manage the Phillies for three more years means that another pennant, at least, will fall to the Baker club, and possibly a world's championship. Baseball followers are always glad to see ability rewarded, and are glad to learn of his higher salary.

The Japanese wrestler, Tare Myaki, will meet Jack Peyton in a jiu jitsu match at Boston tomorrow night, and the two men will go to a finish. Peyton held off the Jap during a 20 minute performance two weeks ago, and is confident he will surprise the clever oriental at his own game.

The most interesting college athlete is a one-legged wonder, Robert Garver, a basketball star at Butler College, Indianapolis. He played on the Spokane, Wash., baseball team holding down the first sack, and won a tennis championship, despite the lack of one of his pins. It takes lots of courage to overcome such a handicap, but the youth has made good against two-legged contenders.

The ice curlers are out in force not only in breezy Scotland, where the royal, ancient and roaring sport originated, but in Canada and many eastern cities of the United States. They are having a hot match in New York today, between teams representing the North and South of Scotland. All winter the curlers are to be seen at Boston, Chicago and Buffalo, for wherever Scotchmen and ice exist the sport is keen.

A rip-roaring fighter is this Ted Lewis from England. He jumps from one city to another, taking on all comers, and stands the gaff remarkably well. One fight is his training for the next, and he has discarded the long dickering and jockeying for prices and fighting weight so popular now with our alleged fighters. Ted believes in fighting when he can, just as a dentist hauls out a molar when he can.

And this is the birthday of our Kansas champion, Jess Willard. He is just 28 today, according to the ciphering of the writers who look up his record. He is much more wealthy than he was at 27, besides being somewhat of a show card. He is not a John L. Sullivan for popularity, but that doesn't bother Jess any.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

After a three days' cessation, because of other attractions the vaudeville program will be resumed at the Plainfield Theatre tomorrow afternoon. In celebration of holiday week, a mammoth bill has been prepared, headed by Jim McMahon's "Pullman Porter Maids" a singing and dancing specialty hitherto only seen on the "big time" stages. It includes a company of eight people, and is featured by Sam J. Harris. Mr McMahon, the producer, is well known in Plainfield, having been promoter of the vaudeville entertainments given in this city four years ago for the benefit of Mt. St. Mary's College directly after the fire which destroyed the original building.

The other numbers on the bill are Seeley, Chick and company, an act of nonsensical fun; Louie Decker, comedienne; Volant, the flying pianist; Mantilla, the original Grecian Maid, and Robbins and Pals, a novelty act.

P. J. RIDDELL DIES.

P. J. Riddell, known to almost every prominent bowler in the United States, died yesterday in New York. Both the Elks' and the Eagles' alleys in this city were built under the supervision of the veteran, who is the father of Glen Riddell, the famous bowler.

Pioneer Workmen's Compensation Law Under Fire

New Jersey's Law to Be Amended

In response to demands of recent conferences which have been held between representatives of the Manufacturers' Association, the New Jersey State Federation of Labor and the Employers' Liability Commission, the American Association for Labor Legislation has issued a statement of its arguments for amending the New Jersey workmen's compensation law.

Their recommendations are based upon an extensive investigation carried on last year. This investigation (the only one of its kind undertaken in this country) which covered over 1000 accident cases, disclosed many instances of hardship and destitution where injured workers had received inadequate compensation or none at all. The Association charges that a number of the less public spirited employers, not being compelled to insure under the present law, evade the payment of compensation. With no bureau charged with the administration of the compensation law, the Association states that it is easy for employers who wish to escape their responsibilities to do so, and that in fact the purpose of the law is largely defeated by lack of proper machinery. Following is the Association's summary of arguments for amendment:

NEW JERSEY COMPENSATION LAW AS IT IS AT PRESENT.

1. Inadequate compensation:

Since no one receives compensation unless incapacitated longer than 14 days, and only 39% of accidents cause more than 14 days' disability, 61% of all accidents causing absence from work of more than one day are not subject to compensation.

(a) 50% of wages;

42.7% of New Jersey's working population earn less than $10 a week. As it is impossible for a family to live on $5 a week, compensation must be supplemented by charity. Charity thus subsidizes industry.

(b) Medical attendance limited to 14 days and $50;

Infections and operations frequently fall outside the 14 day limit. Insurance companies and many employers voluntarily give unlimited medical attendance.

(c) Compensation for permanent total disability limited to 400 weeks;

Less than 1% of all accidents result in total disability of more than 400 weeks, but in the cases that do, what happens to a totally disabled man at the expiration of 400 weeks?

(d) In case of death, compensation limited to 300 weeks.

Only 0.9% of all accidents result fatally. Fatherless children do not grow up in 300 weeks nor are widows better able to support themselves at the end of that time.

2. Insurance voluntary, so that employee has no recourse against an insolvent or irresponsible employer.

In 1913, 98 manufacturing establishments in New Jersey became insolvent. It is not the employer of sound financial standing but the small employer with no capital who, when uninsured, has a constant incentive to evade the law.

3. Covers injuries by accident only.

Lead and mercury poisoning, although scarce in New Jersey, cause great need where they do exist. The claim of a man incapacitated by lead poisoning is no less just than if he were injured by accident.

4. Non-resident alien dependents excluded.

Besides imposing undue hardship on alien widows, discrimination against native labor results.

5. Administered by the courts, with the result that:

(a) During 1913-1914 there were 1,839 accidents reported to the Department of Labor in which some or all of the compensation legally due went unpaid;

(b) From $50,000 to $60,000 a year is being spent in litigation;

(c) In disputed cases an average of over 30 weeks elapses between accident and award, as contrasted with 7 weeks in Massachusetts;

(d) Conflicting interpretations arise in different courts;

(e) The Common Pleas Courts are overworked, handling about 400 compensation cases annually;

(f) Much of the antagonism engendered by the old employers' liability system persists.

NEW JERSEY COMPENSATION LAW AS IT SHOULD BE.

1. Compensation equal to that of California, Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, and Wisconsin:

The theory of a compensation law is that industry shall bear the burden of accidental injuries.

(a) 66-2-3% of wages:

That 66-2-3% of wages is not too attractive is shown by the fact that no increase in malingering accompanied the raise from 1-2 to 2-3 of wages in Massachusetts. In no case could this amount to more than the maximum weekly rate, $10 at present.

(b) Necessary medical attendance for reasonable period (to be determined by Compensation Bureau);

Employers would save in the long run by preventing the prolongation of disability which results from inadequate medical attendance.

(c) Compensation given during duration of disability;

By raising the insurance rate less than 1% permanently disabled workers would be provided for and charity relieved of a burden which properly belongs to industry.

(d) Compensation given until widow dies or remarries and children become of employable age.

Industry would bear the burden of dependence as long as logically necessary, thus relieving charity.

2. Compulsory insurance and a state fund so that insurance companies will not have a monopoly.

If subject to regulation by the Commissioner of Insurance, the solvency of a state fund may be assured. Insurance companies exert a strong influence for the installation of accident prevention devices.

3. Industrial diseases included.

Employers would be induced to install preventive devices which would practically eliminate the few industrial diseases which occur.

4. Non-resident alien dependents included.

Insurance companies handle payments through consular representatives, and fraud is easily detected because of the ease with which identity is established under the European passport system.

5. Administered by an expert Bureau of Workmen's Compensation (3 men at $5,000) in the Department of Labor:

(a) Accident prevention would be emphasized by co-ordinating workmen's compensation and factory inspection in the same Department.

(b) Direct settlements between employer and employee would be filed for the Bureau's approval.

(c) Informal hearing of incorrect settlements and disputed cases, the Bureau having power to subpoena witnesses and administer oaths, etc.;

(d) Award of the Board final (appeal taken to Supreme Court on questions of law only);

(e) The Common Pleas Courts would be relieved;

(f) The informal procedure for settlement of disputes would reduce friction between employers and workmen.

SOMERVILLE WOMAN DEFIES CONTRACTOR

Mrs. Patrick Maher is Haled to Court on Charge of Assault.

Somerville, Dec. 29.—Mrs. Patrick Maher, a resident of Somerville, appeared before Justice Sutphen yesterday in response to a summons, and furnished fifty dollars bail for her appearance before the grand jury on a charge of assault and battery. The complaint was made by Salvatore Denuzzi, an Italian, and is the outcome of a controversy between Mrs. Maher and R. Rudderman, a contractor, who is erecting a building at Somerset and Middagh streets. Rudderman placed the structure directly on the property line adjoining Mrs. Maher's place, and when it came time to put a scaffolding on that side, it was necessary to place the uprights on the woman's property. Mrs. Maher objected, and when the workmen refused to get off her premises she drenched them with a garden hose. The attempt was stopped for the time being, and yesterday the workmen tried again to put the uprights into position. As fast as one went up Mrs. Maher promptly chopped it down with an axe, handling all workmen who came near in anything but a gentle manner.

Feeling against Rudderman runs high in the neighborhood, as he projected his new building seven feet forward on the recognized building line, thus shutting off nine houses adjacent. It is said that the contractor was warned by Architect Jacques Vanderbeek that he would have trouble in putting up his building if he attempted to go on Mrs. Maher's property, but he proceeded despite this warning. Work on the disputed side of the structure has been indefinitely postponed pending the grand jury's disposition of Mrs. Maher's case or some sort of an amicable settlement.

ICEMAN HAS A FALL.

While taking a heavy cake of ice in the meat market of H. C. Reynolds at 93 Somerset street this morning, Charles Ingram, an employe of the Independent Ice Company, slipped on the porch, which was coated with ice and fell. In falling his elbow struck against a large pane of glass smashing it. He was fortunate in escaping with a few scratches.

Tonight—Paterson at Plainfield.

Bayley won two games on Ascension's alleys, and Bayonne lost two at Newark, in the Knights of Columbus League matches decided last night. The defeat of Bayonne sent that team from third place to fifth, and allowed Plainfield to move back into third place.

Newark pinners did their best work of the season in the first game, having a total of 956 and winning by eighty pins. In the next game they dropped to 855 and the visitors were nineteen pins to the good. In the final and deciding contest the Newarks had an advantage of 141 pins, with 934. Eddie Barkhorn was there for 234 and 210 and averaged 202.1. Jack Speary had 214 and 208, averaging 202.1 also. Eugene Farrell tallied 211 and Van Valkenberg an even 200.

In the match of Jersey City, there was some interesting competition, the third and deciding game, which was won by the visitors by four pins, with 918, being particularly exciting. McLoughlin, of the home team, was there for 245 and 211, and D. Murphy had 204. Hastings rolled 211 and 205 for the visitors, Kelleher had 207, and Hasson 201.

Local Sport News, Views, Reviews and Interviews

ELKS WANT TO HAVE GODDESS OF FORTUNE WITH THEM.

If you are a rooter for Plainfield's bowling team in the Elks' League, and you put your shirt on inside out tomorrow morning, don't change it; if you come to a ladder, don't walk under it; if you meet a cross eyed, red-headed stranger, cross your fingers; and don't let up on the jinx dispellers until the 11 o'clock toast is sung. For tomorrow night, the 885 team goes to Hoboken, there to engage in an alley combat with the Germans, the locals' most troublesome rivals in the B. P. O. E. circle.

Plainfield always has to do its best in order to tear off a victory over the Hoboes, and frequently in the past the best has not been good enough—for instance, back in 1912, when the locals turned in three games over 1,000, and still lost all three.

And the Germans are just as formidable this year as in former winters—more so, if anything. As Exhibit No. 1 in this evidence presentation. Hoboken is the only team in the league that hasn't lost a series this season. Not only that, but every other team in the league has been walloped at least twice. The Champions of 1908 and 1912 include New Brunswick, Paterson, Newark, and New York among their list of victims this season, and as they have made a habit of copping the championship every leap year since the league was formed, they expect February 29, 1916, to find them possessors of another title.

BILLIARD COMPETITIONS ON THE INCREASE HERE.

The last two or three years have been comparatively lean ones locally, so far as the billiard game is concerned, but the advent of the year 1916 promises a boom. The tournaments at Krewson's and the Plainfield Association Football Club are well under way, and plans are being made for competitions at the Elks' Club, the Y. M. C. A., the Park Club and one or two other organizations in this city.

WHOSE MOVE?

What has become of the chess players hereabouts? Has the ancient and honorable game lost all its adherents? The city schools used to boast of teams, but not now. Why not an interscholastic chess league, along with the basketball and baseball tourneys? Here at least Leal's School might enter a team without envying the size and numbers of the high school contingents, a handicap the public schools have always enjoyed over the Front street team.

INTERSCHOLASTIC BASKETBALL PROSPECTS.

Interscholastic basketball for the city titles will start next month, and although the games between the high school boys do not promise the high class basketball these championship frays have produced in previous winters, the girls' meetings should be among the best in the history of local scholastic competition. The N. P. H. S. boys have suffered genuine hard luck in the loss of players, while the P. H. S. basketeers have gotten away to one of the worst starts a Ninth street quintet has ever had. The contests between the girls' teams, on the other hand, give every indication of being excellently played. N. P. H. S. has an experienced team that is strong on the defense as well as offense, and the boroughites' record of seven straight victories proves the team is an exceptionally good one.

GIRLS' MATCH ADDED TO BASKETBALL CARD

Deaf Mutes' Exhibition at Columbus Hall Tomorrow Night a Bargain Bill.

Have you ever seen a basketball game played by mutes? If you are among those who have not, you will have the opportunity offered you tomorrow night at the Columbus Club. Promptly at 8:15, the St. Joseph's College Deaf Mutes will line-up against the Columbus Club quintet. The Brooklynites hold the deaf mutes' eastern basketball championship, and come to Plainfield heralded among the fastest fives in the vicinity of New York. Just how the West Front street players will converse with their opponents is of small moment, but nevertheless the visitors promise to add Plainfield to their long string of victories.

Plainfielders for a number of years have enjoyed an annual mute exhibition on the Y. M. C. A. court, the Deaf Mutes from Trenton opposing the local association. However, owing to the disbanding of the association team, the game tomorrow night will be the only time this season that fans will see such an exhibition.

Possessed of keen intuition, the mutes, although deaf to the chirp of the whistle of the referee, are quick to see a foul made by their teammates or opponents and rarely if ever make a mistake. They stop playing promptly.

To round out the evening, the Plainfield Five girls' team will line-up against another local quintet, and dancing will follow the two games. Tickets have been selling rapidly, and the prospects of a large crowd of rooters are very good.

MAY YET SEE OUT-OF-TOWN FIVES ON Y. M. C. A. COURT

It looks as though there will still be games with out-of-town quintets, on the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. basketball court. The following challenge is appearing in papers of near-by cities:

"Plainfield Y. M. C. A. basketball players have open dates for light senior registered amateur teams in this city and vicinity. Address H. B. Berse, Plainfield Y. M. C. A., Plainfield."

FRANK BLATZ WON'T BE ON ELKS' TEAM TOMORROW NIGHT

Frank Blatz will not be able to roll with the Plainfield Elks at Hoboken tomorrow night, because he will have to attend the final Council meeting of the year. Bill Nash will roll as the fifth member of the 885 team in the grapple with the undefeated league leaders.

PLAINFIELD ELKS' JUNIORS NEXT MATCH IS POSTPONED

The next regularly scheduled match of the Plainfield Elks' Junior League team, carded for Friday, January 7, at New Brunswick, has been postponed at the request of the College Town Antlers. The local team has offered three dates to the Brunswicks, who will name the date on which the deferred tilt will be rolled off.

SWIMMING MEET IN CITY HIGH SCHOOL JANUARY 22

A swimming meet between Central High School, of Newark, and Plainfield High School will take place in the P. H. S. tank, Saturday, January 22. Central's squad has just started work. The Newark manager has five meets scheduled, and several more pending. The other dates are with Montclair Academy, Poly Prep, Montclair High and Boys' High.

Former White Sox Catcher Today Signed Detroit Contract—Clymer and Dave Altizer Announce Retirement.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—The Chicago Herald today says: "According to a report from the East, an attorney for the Baltimore Club is on the way to Chicago to demand certain concessions from the Federal League attorneys here. If these are not forthcoming, they plan on going before Judge Landis with a protest against the withdrawal of the baseball suit until all differences at Baltimore are adjusted.

Detroit, Dec. 29.—Billy Sullivan, a catcher formerly with the Chicago White Sox, and a member of the Minneapolis American Association champions last year, has signed a Detroit contract for the coming season.

St. Paul, Dec. 29.—Otto Clymer and Dave Altizer today announced their retirement from baseball. They will engage in business.

Cleveland, Dec. 29.—American League magnates assembled here today. One of the most important issues discussed was the financial assistance one or two of the clubs will be given, in line with the co-operative plan which will be used to reconstruct the baseball organization so badly riddled in the two-years' war with the Federals.

The owners of the club that represented Pittsburgh in the Federal League want to buy the Cleveland Club, it is said, but Ban Johnson, president of the American League, is opposed to the plan.

LOCAL KNIGHTS EXPECT TO ROLL LEADERS HERE TONIGHT

Plainfield pinners in the Knights of Columbus League expect to roll the league leading Paterson outfit on the Columbus Club alleys here tonight, despite the fact that the Silk City men asked to have the match postponed until tomorrow night. The Watchung Council rollers sent word to Paterson that they could roll no other night than this evening.

All the local team's rooters are planning to turn out in force tonight. The Plainfield team is on the road to victory and is now only one game behind the leaders. Three victories over Paterson will put the locals at the top of the pack.

MASONIC LEAGUE THREATENS FORMER PLAINFIELDER'S MARK

A new individual high score tally was registered by Henry Hoffman, of Hermann Lodge, in a Masonic League championship match with the Washington Lodge team, on the German Lutheran alleys, in Elizabeth, Monday night. Hoffman's record score was 265 in the third game, when his team turned in a total of 979, the second best team score corralled this season. Essex leads with 981. Colonel Martin, of the champion Tyrian quintet, holds the record individual score for the league with 269 hung up last season.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffing, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.—Adv.

FURS! FURS!

Kurtzman's is the home of the best furs. From all quarters of the globe our fur stock has been assembled. It is complete to the last detail. If you love beautiful things you will revel in this display. Purchased with careful judgment and skill, every fur here has style, finish and quality.

Prices, remember, are always lowest at Kurtzman's and some of our competitors are positively asking twice as much for inferior offerings.

See our dependable fur coats of French or Hudson Seal, natural red fox sets, barrel or ball muff, black fox sets, sets of the beautiful taupe or battleship grey, golden beaver goods, women's and misses' fur garments of all kinds.

We vouch for and guarantee every piece we sell. We invite an early call while the immense assortment is entirely unbroken.

A Kitchen Not Complete

Your kitchen is not complete without a Meat Press, a Food Chopper or a Coffee Grinder.

You no doubt are in need of some article to complete the Kitchen Furnishings.

A modern kitchen needs many things that are in the hardware store.

We Aim to Please

May we have the pleasure of helping to complete that kitchen of yours?

A White Mountain Freezer, a Bissell Carpet Sweeper, Bread Box, Scale, Washing Machine, Wash Boiler, Dish Pan or some item in the Tinware Line may be the article needed. Look over your utensils and see if some item is not there.

Aluminum Ware, Enameled Ware, Tinware, Iron and Steel Pots.

We have a fine line of RANGES and HEATERS in our kitchen show room. Come in and look them over.

St. Mary's T. A. B. S. Hall, on West Fourth street, will present a veritable fairyland of delights and surprises when it opens tomorrow night for one week of continuous entertaining. The new hall has been attractively decorated for the event, palms, cut flowers and flags being used in large numbers in an artistic manner.

The week of festivities will be ushered in with an appropriate address by Rev. Father B. M. Bogan, pastor of St. Mary's church, after which dancing will continue until a late hour. Michael D. O'Keeffe, who is chairman of the fair committee has been working zealously for the past month with the assistance of a large corps of young men and women and everything is in readiness for the grand opening. The new bowling alleys and pool tables will be open each evening for individual bowling and billiards, and many other attractions will give attendants plenty of opportunity of enjoying themselves. The various booths in charge of the young women will offer handsome gifts and refreshments.

On Wednesday evening, January 5, two hundred Elizabeth Tabs and women guests will attend the fair They will come to Plainfield in special cars and will furnish music. A feature of that evening will be a bowling match between the Plainfield Tabs and the Elizabethans. Prizes will be offered every evening to the best bowlers.

Music throughout the entire fair will be provided by Al Squiers' orchestra. On Friday evening, January 8, a supper will be served from 4 to 7 o'clock. On this night the awards will be made to the various contestants who have been competing for some time past for the prizes offered. The contestants include Misses Katherine Boyle and Annabelle McAfee, for the diamond ring; Miss May Lyons and Miss Henrietta Granieri, for the girl's bicycle; Messrs. Frank Force and John Winzenried, for the boy's bicycle, and Messrs Thomas Grimn and John Diskin for the men's gold watch. Probably the greatest interest in the contests will be centered in the outcome of the baby contest, in which are entered Robert McDonald, May Currin, Jean Lyons, Leonard Cullen, Katherine Winzenried, May Burke and Emma Perry.

The committees in charge of the fair comprise the following:

House committee—James Scott, chairman; James O'Keeffe, Albert Jaeger, James Monahan, Harry Dunn, Rufus Larew, George Rohgs, Frank Donnelly, Thomas Hines and John O'Keeffe. J. D. Force is secretary and H. A. McDonald is treasurer.

FIRE LADDIES GIVE A "TURKEY SUPPER"

Annual Affair at Headquarters Most Successful "Boys" Have Ever Held.

The firemen stationed at headquarters on East Second street held their annual Christmas "turkey" supper last night, during which they entertained members of the fire board and a number of friends closely associated with fire fighting. Twenty-five persons in all were present and enjoyed a most excellent meal prepared by Mrs. Daniel Keiderling. Two big gobblers were the features of the menu, but there were plenty of other good things as well, among them being creamed onions, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, celery, plum pudding and coffee, followed by cigars and cigarettes.

The supper was served in the dormitory on the second floor, which was lavishly decorated for the occasion through the generosity of Charles L. Stanley. There were numerous signs of Christmas by the use of holly wreaths, roping, crepe paper and plants. The center of the table was graced by a handsome assortment of flowers and a huge bell hung from a centerpiece in the shape of a tiller wheel.

The guests of honor were Chief T. O. Doane, Assistant Chief A. D. Jennings, Councilmen John H. Cose, Theodore Martin and Charles C. Graves, the latter three being members of the fire board. The other two members, Councilman Edgar and Councilman Blatz, were unable to be present. Speeches were made by all the men mentioned and accordeon solos were contributed by Roy McDonough. The addresses of Chief Doane and Councilman Cose were especially appreciated by the firemen as both took occasion to review the excellent work they had done during the past year, a record of which any department might be justly proud. At the conclusion of the affair the "boys" all bade a regretful farewell to Councilman Martin, who retires from the board January 1.

The supper was arranged and conducted by a committee composed of James McDonough, chairman; Harry Wierenga and Edward Mosher, each of whom was warmly congratulated for making the affair the most successful the department has ever held.

"SIBERIAN PRISONS" TO BE SUBJECT OF LECTURE

"Siberian Prisons" will be the subject of a lecture to be given Monday afternoon in the Plainfield High School Auditorium, under the auspices of the literature department of the Monday Afternoon Club. George Kennan will deliver the lecture in Russian costume and will illustrate parts of his talk with native songs. Mr. Kennan is an authority on conditions in Russia and there is probably no one in America who has as much first hand knowledge of the great empire as he.

In 1865 Mr. Kennan went to northeastern Siberia as an explorer and telegraphic engineer and the following two years was the superintendent of the construction of the middle division of the Russo-American telegraphic line. Throughout his stay in that country he has made a careful study of the conditions, the people and their customs and the great Russian exile system. Since 1885 he has devoted his time to lectures in the United States and Great Britain and has written many manuscripts on his travels. At present Mr. Kennan is a member of the editorial staff of the Outlook, having held that position since 1909, after his return from Cuba, where he represented the magazine as special commissioner. Among the most noted of his articles are "Tent Life in Siberia," "Siberia and the Exile System," "Campaigning in Cuba" and "Folk Tale of Napoleon."

The lecture, which will begin promptly at 3:30, is open to the public, the admission being a nominal charge.

"A SCOUT IS FRIENDLY."

Troop 14, Boy Scouts, of the First Baptist church, will hold its second annual "get-together evening" tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The troop has prepared an hour of entertainment, which will be followed by a "friendly" hour. All friends of the troops are invited to attend.

GIVEN A BIRTHDAY PARTY.

Mrs. Irving C. Cubberly, of the borough, was given a surprise party last night by her neighbors and friends in honor of her birthday anniversary. A large cake was presented to the celebrant, together with a shower of postal cards. Refreshments were served during a social hour.

J. C. Manning, of Madison avenue, is sojourning at Cromanton, Bay county, Florida.

DEATH SUMMONS WM. F. STANBERY

Widely Known Young Man Succumbs to Heart Affectation and Complications.

ILL BUT A FEW DAYS

Upon Attaining His Majority Two Years Ago He Inherited Fortune of $100,000 and Stanbery Homestead—Was Recently Married.

William Field Stanbery, the former Scotch Plains youth who became widely known locally through an inheritance of $100,000 a few years ago, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at his new home at 1257 East Second street. He had been ailing for several days and was under the care of Dr. Albert Pittis for a heart affection produced by complications. His system had been in more or less over-wrought condition for a long time and although he had had several bad attacks in the past few months his demise was unexpected. He was apparently recovering strength and health yesterday morning, but during the afternoon he lapsed into a spasm and passed away about 3 o'clock.

William F. Stanbery was the son of the late William Runyon Stanbery and grandson of the late William C. Stanbery. The young man was born at Fanwood in 1892 and resided in that borough until the death of both his father and mother about eight years ago. He then made his home with his grandfather in the Stanbery homestead at Park and Mountain avenues, Scotch Plains, and at the death of the latter about five years ago he became his sole heir. The grandfather's estate was valued at about $100,000 and by the terms of the will he came into absolute control of everything at the age of twenty-one. The Homestead property was part of the estate, but two months ago the youth sold it to Louis Kiel, of this city, and removed to North Plainfield. He remained there only a short time when he took the residence on East Second street

Because of the lavish manner in which young Mr. Stanbery spent his inheritance, especially the way he showered favors upon friends, gained for him the name of "Mounty Brewster" and other sobriquetes. It also brought him into considerable notoriety and speculation has been rife as to how much of it he had spent when announcement was made that he had sold the Homestead property. For this he secured $11,000 and it has been generally believed that it was all he had remaining. Whatever might be said regarding the young man's profligacy, those who knew him best are staunch in their support of him as a boy who never forgot his friends and was always ready to do them favors. He was very young when the great amount of money came to him and what followed afterward is due more than anything else to his immaturity and the fact that those who were in a position to do so did not incumber the bequest. If he had his faults, his friends say, he hurt no one but himself and no scars have been left in his going.

On December 17 last, Mr. Stanbery was married in the parsonage of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, his bride being Miss May Day, daughter of Mrs. Daniel Galbraith, of this city. She is his only surviving relative, outside of his maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Field, of East Front street. The funeral will be held at the East Second street residence, Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and burial will be in Evergreen cemetery. Rev. J. Madison Hare, of the Scotch Plains Baptist church, will be the officiating clergyman.

REALTY EXCHANGE.

A deal has been consummated between Hiram J. Scandell, of 58 Manning avenue, and Daniel D. Denny, of 48 Fairview avenue, whereby Mr. Scandell exchanges his property at 1310 Park avenue, for Mr. Denny's present place of residence. The property which Mr. Scandell transfers consists of about an acre of ground, a seven-room house and a barn. The Denny property includes a 12-room house with all improvements and a lot with a frontage of 66 feet and a depth of 125 feet.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Debele, of Rock avenue, today announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Kathryn Eleanor Debele, to Charles Albert Bornman, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Bornman, of East Second street. No date has been set for the wedding.

Stores Will Close.

CHAS. J. BAXTER DIES IN MAINE

Telegram to Former Judge W. R. Codington, Conveys the Sad News.

FORMERLY LIVED HERE

For Sixteen Years He Was State Superintendent of Schools, Retiring in 1912—Leaves Wife and Two Daughters.

Former State Superintendent of Schools Charles J. Baxter, who resided in this city for many years, died yesterday at his home in Wilton, Me., where he had been living for the past three years. News of his death came by telegram to his close friend, former Judge W. R. Codington, but gave no details. It is believed that death wa sudden, as last reports by letter gave no indication that he was suffering from any illness. Judge Codington left for Maine last night to aid in making arrangements for the funeral.

Mr. Baxter was born at Glenwood, Sussex county, on November 8, 1841. He attended the district school there until he was twelve years of age, after which he went to work on his father's farm, continuing his studies by himself and with the aid of an uncle who had graduated from Lafayette College, and then lived on the next farm. On his eighteenth birthday he started his educational work as a teacher in the district school at Frankfort Plains. After twelve years of teaching in several district schools, Mr. Baxter was appointed principal of the Franklin Furnace District School. He gradually improved the condition of the school until it was converted into a high school, remaining in that position for thirteen years. After leaving Franklin Furnace in 1889, he moved to Plainfield, where he became connected with the Provident Life and Trut Company, of Philadelphia.

In 1875 Mr. Baxter was nominated and renominated as county school superintendent of Sussex county by the State Board of Education, but was rejected by the Democratic Board of Freeholders because of his party affiliations. This started the agitation which resulted in that power being taken from the Board of Freeholders and given to the Board of Education. He was appointed to the position of State Superintendent of Schools by Governor Griggs on March 24, 1896, as a successor to Addison B. Poland, who had resigned. In 1899 he was reappointed for another term of three years, and in 1902 for a new term of five years, and again in 1907 for another term of five years. Under the terms of the Frelinghuysen act in 1912 the office of State School Superintendent was abolished. In its place the act called for a State Board of Education with a State head, to be known as "State School Commissioners." The position was given to Calvin N. Kendall, who holds it at the present time.

Mr. Baxter and his family had made their summer home in Wilton for many years, and on relinquishing his New Jersey duties he took up his residence there permanently. With him at the time of his death was his wife and one daughter, Miss Adelaide Baxter. Only one other daughter survives, Mrs. William F. Groves, of Elizabeth.

ONE MAN WHO DOES NOT INTEND TO QUIT SMOKING

There is at least one man in Plainfield who has no intentions of swearing off smoking for the new year. He is plentifully supplied with tobacco, as the local agent for the Union News Company and the police department will attest. Sometime last night a thief broke into the News Company stand at the North Avenue station and rifled the tobacco case. He carried off six boxes of Stag, six of Tuxedo, twelve of Velvet and six twenty-five cent pipes. The robbery was reported by Patrolman Brower and is being investigated by the police.

SAID HE HAD NO HOME.

Charles Steginake, aged 57, was tried in police court yesterday morning on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He was arrested by Sergeant Saffron at the station. When registered at the police station the man said he had no home. He was dismissed with a lecture by Judge De Meza.

GAVE BENEFIT DANCE.

Miss Katherine M. Conshay, of the borough, gave a dance in Debele Hall last night for the benefit of the building fund of St. Joseph's church. Music was furnished by Paroubek's orchestra. Owing to the inclemency of the weather there was a small attendance.

WANT MORE TIME ON SEWER WORK

Construction Company Says It Cannot Get Enough Laborers.

JOINT BOARD MEETS

Mayor Clark and Others Pay Tribute to Work of George S. Clay, Who Retires as Presiding Officer at End of Year.

A request from the Atlantic Construction Company that it be allowed additional time in which to complete sewers and the sewer disposal plant for Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen was presented to the Joint Sewer Board at its meeting of last night, but no action was taken.

The construction company blames its inability to finish the contract on time on the European war. In its request for an extension of time it set out that labor was scarce, that the making of munitions for European countries here had given employment to so many men that it was practically impossible to secure laborers, even though the company was willing to pay $2.25 a day to men who work in ditches. The request for further time was referred to Lindabury, Depew & Faulks, attorney for the Joint Sewer Board.

It was announced by the contracting committee that work on the disposal plant at Dunellen had been discontinued for the winter months. This was forced because of the cold weather. News of the stopping of work on this plant was carried in the Press three weeks ago, but the story was then denied by the contractor and engineer. Almost one hundred men were thrown out of work for the winter. The contractors are busy laying iron pipe until work on the filtering system will be resumed again.

Bills amounting to $10,872.25 for the month of December were audited and ordered paid.

The Joint Sewer Board meeting of last night was the last over which George S. Clay will preside. Mr. Clay is president of the Plainfield Common Council, but his term expires with this year and he did not ask re-election. At last night's meeting Mayor Robert Clark, Jr., paid a tribute to the work done by President Clay as head of the Joint Sewer Board. He spoke for other members and thanked the presiding officer for his courtesy to North Plainfield representatives on the Board. He said he regretted that Mr. Clay was so soon to retire to private life, because while serving as presiding officer of the board all his suggestions had been timely and his judgment tempered with reason.

President Clay thanked Mayor Clark and other members for their kind and loyal co-operation. He said he was retiring after seven years of service as a city official and felt that he was entitled to a rest. He extended a hearty wish for prosperity and happiness for all members during the coming year.

THE TIME, PLACE AND GIRL FOR HOSPITAL DANCE

By this time it is believed that everyone who likes dancing and a good time has purchased a ticket for the hospital dance tomorrow night at the Plainfield High School, but for the few who are still hesitating the following information is given:

The time, Friday, December 31, 9:30 to 3 a. m.; the place, High School Auditorium; the girl—? the object, Muhlenberg Hospital; the hostesses, Woman's Auxiliary Board; supper, without charge; entertainment, dancing, a dancing contest and a surprise at midnight.

Tickets will be on sale at the door and at Randolph's, Armstrong's and the United Cigar Store and can also be obtained from the committee in charge.

WATCH NIGHT SERVICES.

Watch night services will be held in Ebenezer Baptist church tomorrow night. Rev. S. L. Bush, the pastor will have charge of the service, which will begin at 8 o'clock. At 10 o'clock the pastor will preach on "The Prodigal Son." His sermon will be illustrated with moving pictures.

CALVERT FUNERAL AT 10 TOMORROW

Courts in Elizabeth Adjourned Out of Respect to Him.

Funeral services over the body of James C. Calvert, who died at his home in Elizabeth suddenly Wednesday morning, will be held from Sacred Heart church at 10 a. m., tomorrow.

Flags on the Union county courthouse, at Elizabeth, this morning, were flying at half-mast, and all courts are adjourned until next month out of honor to the dead county clerk. Judge James C. Connolly, of county court, this morning announced that all cases would go over until January. Judge Connolly paid the following tribute to Mr. Calvert: "I have always regarded him as an upright citizen and a capable county officer. He was possessed of a genial character and a lovable disposition, which attracted to him people of all classes. He was one of those few men to be found in every community who was looked to as a friend and adviser by other men not so favorably situated in life. We know his loss will be felt by all in the community."

John R. Connolly, a member of the Bar, also paid a tribute to Mr. Calvert, as did other attorneys who were in court this morning.

In District Court a similar scene was enacted. Juldge Abe J. David called that body to order and then announced that court would be adjourned until January, 1916, out of respect for Mr. Calvert. Several attorneys paid tribute to the dead county clerk, and a committee was named to draw suitable resolutions on his death.

Members of the Board of Freeholders and all county officials will attend the funeral services in a body. Interment will be in Linden-Roselle Park cemetery, Linden.

MRS. ANNIE ABBOTT DIES IN DUNELLEN

Well Known Resident of Borough Succumbs to Brief Illness.

Following a brief illness from pneumonia, which first became apparent about a week ago, Mrs. Annie Augusta Abbott, widow of Edwin R Abbott, died a 9:45 last night at the home of her mother, Mrs. Josephine Terry, of New Market road, Dunellen. Her condition became serious almost from the first, and for the last forty-eight hours she was in an unconscious state. Everything possible in the way of medical skill was secured, and the patient made a brave fight, but without avail.

Mrs. Abbott, who was the daughter of Josephine and the late William H. Terry, was a native of Brooklyn, where she was born fifty-two years ago. With her parents she came to Dunellen in 1880, and had resided in that borough since. She was a member and a devoted worker in the Dunellen Presbyterian church, and for many years was a soloist in the choir. Because of her friendly nature and many estimable traits, she had hosts of acquaintances in this city and vicinity, as well as in her home town, to all of whom her death will come as a great shock. Her loss will be keenly felt, especially to the officers of the Presbyterian church and to her neighbors and close friends.

Beside her mother, Mrs. Abbott is survived by one son, Parcy R. Abbott, of Dunellen, and also two brothers, William E. Terry, of Dunellen, and Harry L. Terry, of West Eighth street, this city. The funeral service will be held at the mother's residence on New Market road, Saturday afternoon, at 2:30, and will be in charge of Rev. E. R. Brown, pastor of the Dunellen Presbyterian church Interment will be in Hillside cemetery, this city.

JUDGE DEMEZA APPEARS IN ROLE OF HENRY FORD

A family fued of gossip was aired in police court this morning, when Mrs. Florence Leigh was arraigned on a charge of disorderly conduct. Complaint against her was made by Mrs. Britt Martin. The two families live on South Second street, near Clinton avenue. Judge William N. Runyon represented Mrs. Martin and Robert Newton Crane appeared for Mrs. Leigh. After hearing the evidence Judge De Meza played Henry Ford long enough to establish peace between the warring families and sent them home as friends.

Joseph Hummer, of Auburn, N. Y., is visiting his brother-in-law, Charles L. Force, of Mountain avenue, the borough.

NOTHING HEARD FROM AUSTRIA

Washington Refuses to Be Alarmed Over the Situation.

DOES NOT FEAR BREAK

Stories Sent Out From London, Paris and Switzerland Indicate That Austrians Will Defy This Government, But They Are Unofficial.

Washington, Dec. 30.—Despite startling reports from London, Paris and even from Switzerland, that Austria was preparing to defy the United States over the sinking of the Ancona, Washington has nothing new on the controversy and officials refuse to believe that a break between the two countries is imminent.

It is said in reports from Swiss newspapers that Austrian officials have refused to accept German advice in drawing the second Ancona note and that they are preparing the defy to the United States government in its demands for a disavowal of the sinking of the Italian liner.

Members of Congress are urging that President Wilson confer with them before he breaks off diplomatic relations with Austria, should he find such a course necessary, but they are agreed that his position does not make this necessary and there is little possibility that they will be called into conference on the matter, even though a break should be decided upon. Official Washington is not alarmed over rumors as to the second Austrian note, refusing to believe the stories that have come out of London, Paris and Switzerland.

Two Austrian Destroyers Sunk.

Paris, Dec. 30.—Two Austrian destroyers have been sunk in the Adriatic Sea, off Durazzo, one by Allied warships and the other by a mine. They were the Lika, 787 tons, and the Triglay, 787 tons. An Austrian fleet, which had steamed from Cattaro, met a fleet of Allied warships off Durazzo. The Lika struck a mine and sank and the Triglay was destroyed by the guns of the Allied war fleet. The other Austrian ships escaped.

Austrian Sub Sunk.

A Havas news agency despatch from Cettinje reports that an Austrian submarine has been sunk in the Adriatic off San Giovani De Medua, Albania, by a Montenegrin sailing ship armed with a cannon.

French Repulse Attack.

French war statement:

"To the west of Peronne the enemy attempted to capture one of our saps in front of Dompierre. The attack was completely repulsed. In Champagne in the region of Navarin Farm our artillery fire prevented the enemy from repairing the trenches which were demolished by us on the night of December 28-29."

Bridge Is Blown Up.

Zurich, Dec. 30.—A bridge over the Vistula River near Plock, in Poland, has been destroyed by an explosion. The Germans have arrested several of the inhabitants on suspicion.

Air Raid On Belgium.

Berlin, Dec. 30 (by wireless).—German war statement:

"West front—Southeast of Albert a few dozen Englishmen were taken in a night attack. We have reconquered the trench sections remaining in French hands at Hartmannsweiler Kopf. Enemy aeroplanes bombarded Vervico and Menin on the Belgian-Franco border, killing seven inhabitants. No military damage was done.

"East front—Gen. Von Bothner's army reports it repulsed a Russian attack on the bridge head at Burnnaow on the Strypa River, Galician Sphere, with sanguinary losses for the enemy.

"Balkan front—The situation is unchanged."

Pestilence In Russ Camps.

Pestilence is sweeping the prison camp in Russia, according to the Overseas news agency.

Germany Has Enough Food.

Count Westarp, of the Reichstag committee which has been investigating food conditions, reported today that the existing supply is sufficient to feed Germany's population no matter how long the war lasts.

German Sub Not Sunk.

The report from Bucharest that a German submarine had been sunk in the Black Sea by Russian ships was today denied by the Admiralty through the Overseas news agency.

Varna Is Bombarded.

London, Dec. 30.—An Athens report says it is semi-officially announced that Varna, the principal Bulgarian port on the Black Sea, and Trana, have been bombarded by Russian warships. King Ferdinand's palace at Varna was shelled.

SALE OF NEW MARKET PROPERTY CONFIRMED

Remy, Schmidt and Pleissner to Establish Linen Industry in the Village.

The report that the property of the defunct New Market Roller Mills property had been sold by the First National Bank of Dunellen through the John Fedderman agency to a New York importing concern for the purpose of remodeling the mills into a plant to manufacture linen, was confirmed by John Fedderman last night.

The name of the purchasing concern is Remy, Schmidt and Pleissner, of 22 White street, New York city. The name of the plant will be the New Market Linen Mills. Yesterday, Mr. Schmidt, one of the members of the concern, motored to the village and spent several hours about the property with contractors, who will figure for the remodeling of the plant. Afterward Mr. Schmidt and Mr. Fedderman motored to New Brunswick in connection with the deal.

XMAS ENTERTAINMENT AT SEVENTH-DAY CHURCH

A pleasing Christmas entertainment was given by the Seventh-Day Baptist Sunday-school in the church, last night. The program follows: Song, "O Little Town of Bethlehem," school; exercise, Charles Kellogg and Stanley Ryan; distribution of gifts; cantata, "Blessed Is He That Cometh." The cantata was the feature of the program.

The cast: The shepherds, Frank Burdick, Elston Randolph, Russell Burdick and Forrest Randolph; the three wise men, Frank Kellogg, Milton Randolph and Byron Burdick; Jewish maidens, Bernice Rogers, Maude Whitford, Dora Whitford, Florence Curtis, Elizabeth Kellogg; three Jewish children, Helen Whitford, Austen and Marion Wilson. The first scene was the inside of a Jewish temple with the rabbi and girls kneeling in prayer. The second scene was in and about Bethlehem, and the other on the hills of Judea.

A chorus, screened by evergreens, assisted the choir in rendering the cantata. The wise men sang the song, "Wise Men Are We From the Orient," male voices of the choir joining in the chorus. A tenor solo, "Blessed Is He," was pleasingly rendered by Frank Burdick, one of the wise men. A bass solo, "We Have Seen the Holy Angel," was sung by Frank Burdick, one of the shepherds.

Those taking the part of the three children sang a lullaby. During the scene in which the star, which was lighted by electricity, appeared over the hills of Judea, Miss Edna Burdick from behind the scene sang "A Star Through the Portal Clouds Gleaming." The cantata was a complete success. A great deal of the credit for this was due to Miss Merle F. Randolph, Miss Edna Burdick and Miss Ethel Rogers.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL OF MRS. LEWIS D. WALKER

The funeral of Mrs. Lewis D. Walker, Sr., was held at the late home on New Market road at 2:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and was largely attended. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. T. E. Vassar, pastor of the First Baptist church, in which the deceased had long been an active worker. Besides making the address, in which he spoke of the devout Christian life led by the departed and what the loss of such a life means to a community, Mr. Vassar read two of Mrs. Walker's favorite hymns, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "Crossing the Bar." The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful.

A very pathetic incident of the funeral was when the funeral procession passed the home of the aged parents of the deceased, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Benward, who have been under quarantine for several weeks because their three great-grandchildren, Dorothy, Geraldine and Wilbur Dunbar, are ill at their home with diphtheria. Mrs. Ralston Dunbar, who has been attending her children, was unable to attend the funeral of her mother for the same reason.

The burial was at the Middlesex Hillside cemetery. The pallbearers were: John M. Dayton, Edgar Boice, W. Fitz Randolph, John I. Nelson, Charles F. Dayton and Manlon R. Dayton. Lakeside Council, D. of L., of which the deceased was a member, performed its ritual service at the grave.

COMMISSION TO MEET.

The commissioners of assessment in regard to the construction of the storm sewer improvement on Madison avenue will meet in the Borough Hall on the eleventh day of January at 8 o'clock for the purpose of hearing all parties interested in the improvement and to consider damage and benefit to property-holders.

Mrs. Peter Nagel, of 282 Prospect avenue, entertained her brother, William Martin, of Summit, recently.

John Schenck, of Penfield place, who has been ill for the past three weeks with the grip, is able to be up and about his house.

James L. Manning, of Washington avenue, who has been confined to his bed with an old complaint for the past week, is no better. Mrs. Manning, who has been ill with the grip, is reported improved.

Mrs. Frank Kellogg, of 378 Prospect avenue, entertained Miss Marion Bigley, of Plainfield, on Monday.

Margaret and Horace Vail, children of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vail, will submit to operations shortly in which they will have their adenoids and tonsils removed.

Leslie Bowlby, of Washington avenue, has resigned his position at Ford's to go back to his former position with George T. Scheack, the local grocer.

Louis Watts has taken a position as clerk in the local store of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company.

Former Postmaster Peter Staats, who has been ill with the grip, is better.

William and Philip Thompson, students at the University of Pennsylvania, are spending the holidays at their home on Prospect avenue.

Mrs. W. H. Clum, of Lincoln avenue, continues quite ill with the grip.

Leslie Vail is quite ill at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Walters, of Front street, with an attack of the grip and bronchitis.

The last meeting of the Mayor and Common Council during this year will be held in the Borough Hall, this evening.

Madison Vail, son of Mrs. Lydia Vail, of Lincoln avenue, continues to be an acute sufferer from inflammatory rheumatism.

Thomas Taylor, of Washington avenue, is numbered among the victims of the grip.

Bartholomew Kelly, of Madison avenue, who was taken ill with pneumonia on Christmas, is said to be slightly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leach, of Front street, have recovered from attacks of the grip.

Miss May Hunt, of Brooklyn, is spending a week in the borough as the guest of her cousins, the Misses Margaret and Jennie Ryan.

Mrs. E. B. Leland, of Columbia street, has gone to Indiana to make her parents a six weeks' visit.

AMICABLE SETTLEMENT.

The former Hetfield row of buildings, located on the south side of North avenue, west of Prospect avenue, title to which was transferred on November 1 from Frank T. Farrell to William Lockenvitz, will not be sold at a sheriff's sale under foreclosure proceedings brought by W. R. Hetfield, because the contending parties amicably settled the matter yesterday. Mr. Hetfield holds a mortgage on the row of buildings and he foreclosed on the mortgage because Mr. Farrell failed to pay the fire insurance premium when it was due. The premium was paid by Mr. Hetfield to protect himself against loss.

COASTER GETS DRENCHING.

Burton Stillwaggon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Stillwaggon, received a good drenching in the New Market pond, Tuesday afternoon. Burton had been spending a half hour or so in coasting on the ice with his sled. Around the island, located in the center of the pond, was a narrow strip of open water. Coasting losing its attraction for Burton, he hit upon the idea of seeing how close he could go with his sled to this open water without going it. After several trips the inevitable happened and Burton went in, sled and all. Fortunately the water is not deep near the island and the lad still, grasping his sled, was easily assisted back on the ice by Willie Snyder, of Dunellen.

PIG TOO GOOD NATURED.

Alexander Stillwaggon, proprietor of the Lake House, had a good sized porker stolen from its pen in the back of the hotel a few nights ago. Mr. Stillwaggon says that "the darn pig was too good natured to squeal on the culprit."

UNDERGOES OPERATION.

George Jennings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jennings, of Front street, who has been suffering from blood poisoning in his left arm, submitted to an operation yesterday. The operation was performed by Doctors Platt and Longbotham. The lad came out of the ether satisfactorily and is said to be doing well.

Lloyd Smith, a student at New York University, is spending the holidays at his home on Grove street.

U. S. ASTOR THEATRE

Geraldine Farrar, favorite prima donna, came to Plainfield yeterday, not in the flesh but in the shadow; not on the operatic stage nor on the concert platform, but on the screen. The place was the U. S. Astor Theatre; the occasion, a presentation of "Carmen." Miss Farrar plays, of course, the leading role, and by this means makes her first Plainfield appearance in the movies. As for Miss F[illegible] it be said that among movie actresses she is one of the best. The U. S. Astor may be besieged today simply because her name has been one with which to conjure. There is every indication that new millions will soon be calling her "Our Geraldine." This new movie star "registers," as the film folk have it. There is no doubt at all about that. She does more than make faces at the camera; she knows that in acting for motion pictures she must do more than go through the motions. And she does. Her familiar vigor and dash are helpful, and she can make good use of the Farrar smile. But quite aside from these she brings to the richly colorful performance a degree of vitality that animates all the picture, and offers a good illustration of the difference between posing and acting for the camera.

WATCHING POLITICAL STRAWS.

"I have just been attempting," remarked the editor of the Houndtown Glad Shout, "to take a vote of my subscribers to find out how they stand on the Trust question."

"Ah!" replied the vicitor, who had dropped in by appointment to see the speed with which the edition of the Glad Shout was printed on the Washington hand-press, "you do it with a view to learning beforehand, if possible, how the presidential election will go?"

"Well—er—not exactly! The state committees of both parties offer to send me plate-matter, either for or against Trust, free of cost. I hardly know which to get."

A DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

The Ward Heeler—Last time yer voted fer two plunks an' dis time yer kickin' fer a five spot; what d' yer mean by doin' de party dirt?"

The Voter—Begorra! Oi got a good job now an' Oi don't give a dum whither Oi vote or not!

IN LOVE'S NET.

When overhead are summer skies
With cunning, crafty finger
Love spreads a tempting paradise
Where two may sweetly linger.

He hangs his net within the shade
(The crickets low are singing)
And baits it with a witching maid,
Slow, swinging, swinging, swinging

O Love! entangled in your weave
I wish no Eden dearer—
A hammock, nook, a Summer Eve,
And I, the Adam, near her.

ALMOST INCOMPREHENSIBLE.

Husband—Oh! don't be so particular! I assure you the people who go to the ball game won't care what you wear.

Wife—Indeed? What very peculiar people they must be!

HAD HEARD OF THEM BEFORE.

Teacher—Yes; the Constitution was adopted in 1879. Now, Johnny, can you tell us anything about the principles of American liberty?

Johnny—Gee! I should say I could! I've been runnin' fer office ever since I kin remember.

IN THE COMING ERA.

First Citizen—My wife and I haven't voted for fifteen years.

Second Citizen—Not interested in politics?

First Citizen—Oh, yes! deeply interested, but we're paired.

A SURE THING.

Silas—Hiram says he really expects to git elected ter de office of constable this time, fer sure.

Joshua—He does? Why, what's his politics? He hain't fer expansion nor free silver.

Silas—Oh! they say he's got a scheme ter make the foreigner pay all the internal revenue tax. He sprung it down ter the store the over evenin' an' it took like hot cakes.

OF COURSE NOT.

"To vote for your bill," said the Congressman, "I would have to stulify myself."

"Just so," said the lobbyist, blandly. "And, of course, we don't expect a man to stulify himself for nothing."

A DEFINITION.

Rhetoric Teacher—What is meant by poetic license?

Scholar—The permission claimed by the educated to use language such as they would ridicule if used by the uneducated.

AN EXTREMIST.

"He is very broad-minded for a clergyman."

"Does he believe in hell?"

"Oh! not only that, but he believes in saying so."

LOUIS E. STAHL TO WED MISS LUCILLE JACKSON

Announcement was made at a luncheon yesterday afternoon of the engagement of Miss Lucille Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Edward Jackson, of Springfield avenue, New Providence, to Louis Edward Stahl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stahl, of Division avenue, that place. Miss Jackson is a teacher of domestic science in the Plainfield High School and is a graduate of the Summit High School and Columbia University.

LESLIE CRIGHTON.

Leslie Crighton, aged thirty-six years, died yesterday at the home of his uncle, James Duncan, of 822 West Third street, following a long illness. He was a native of Scotland and had resided here only a short time. He was located for a short while at Barre, Vt., and later at Atlantic City. He is survived by his father living in Scotland, a sister in Canada and another in Atlantic City. The funeral will be held at 402 Park avenue, tomorrow morning and burial will be in Hillside cemetery. Rev. F. L. Greene will officiate.

ILL WITH TYPHOID.

Max Munger, who returned last Friday from Europe on the Holland-American Line steamer, "Rotterdam" is confined to his apartments at the Seminary, West Seventh street, with an attack of typhoid fever. Mr. Munger had been in England for several months, accompanied by Mrs. Munger and on leaving London the former was apparently in the best of health. Three days out on the home trip the fever asserted itself and when New York was reached Mr. Munger had to be taken from the steamer.

QUEEN CITY ELECTS.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., elected the following officers at its regular meeting last night: Noble Grand, Jesse Cotgreave; vice grand, Joseph Neill; recording secretary, R. James Neal; financial secretary, B. J. Ford; treasurer, James D Brown; trustee, R. J. Neal. The installation will take place on January 19 and the ceremonies will be done by District Deputy Grand Master George E. Newton and his staff of the Essex County Lodge, No. 27, of Rahway.

XMAS ENTERTAINMENT.

The Grace M. E. Sunday-school held its Christmas entertainment last night. There was an attendance of fully 200 young people present. The children gave a pleasing program of speaking. The repetition of the Xmas story by a mother to her children gathered about her before a fireplace was one of the features. There was a Xmas tree and the program was concluded with the distribution of presents. Each child was given a box of candy and an orange.

WILLIAM A. WHEELER.

William A. Wheeler, a former well-known resident in Plainfield, who lived at East Second and Richmond street for a long time, and later on East Seventh street, died this morning at Morristown. He is survived by a wife and two sons, Percy and Roy Wheeler, at present living in New York. Mr. Wheeler was a member of Anchor Lodge, F. and A. M. and other local organizations. No arrangements have been made as yet for the funeral.

Y. W. C. A.

The vesper service at the association Sunday afternoon, January 2 will be observed as a New Year service. William D. Murray will be the speaker for the occasion.

On Monday, January 10, the Bible classes will resume lessons. At that time they will study the chapter of "China" from Mrs. Montgomery's book, entitled, "The King's Highway."

RESCUE MISSION MEETING.

The New Market First Baptist Young People's Society will have charge of the service at the Rescue Mission tonight at eight o'clock.

WILL OPEN STOCK FARM.

Stonewall Jackson, of the borough, is about to establish a horse farm in Manville.

It Pays to Secure a Tenant Who Pays.

The uncertain sort of tenant is easy to find. He is always answering the call of the window sign of "To Let." He is easy to please. Even a rather high rental does not frighten him away.

But the Stay-and-Pay tenant is not so easy to secure. He is surer of what he wants. He does not take the first house, or apartment, or store that he finds. He watches and answers "To Let" Ads.

And to secure him for your tenant is a good day's work—a good week's work.

Property that is advertised adequately in the Plainfield Daily Press is rarely rented injudiciously.

MISS MAIR BECOMES THE BRIDE OF J. R. M'CONNELL

Miss Cressence Frances Maier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Maier, of Bound Brook, was united in marriage to J. Roy McConnell at the home of the bride's parents this afternoon. The ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock, the Rev. C. C. Culp officiating. J. Clyde Enk, of Bound Brook, was best man, and Miss Emma Conover was bridesmaid. Following the ceremony there is to be a reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maier, and more than 100 guests will attend. The young couple will go on a short honeymoon trip, after which they will be at home in Calgary, province of Alberta, Canada, where the bridegroom is employed.

MAKING PLANS FOR THE Y. M. H. A. BALL

Committee reports for the Y. M. H. A. ball to be held in Columbus Hall, Saturday evening, were heard at the bi-monthly meeting of the club last night. William Newcorn is chairman of the floor committee, assisted by Harry Siegel and Max Oliner.

It was announced that seventeen young people, ten of them boys, have entered the Y. M. H. A. speaking contest to be held next month. A gold medal, offered by the State Y. M. H. A., will go to the winner. Other prizes will be a silver medal, offered by Arthur H. Richards, and a set of books. Ten new members were elected at last night's meeting.

CHRISTMAS PARTY.

The annual Christmas entertainment of the cradle roll, the primary department and the beginners' department of the First Baptist church Sunday-school was held yesterday afternoon, and a pleasing program was rendered by the young people. Two trees were a feature of the entertainment and a Santa Claus distributed presents to all the children. Recitations were rendered and the play of "Mother Goose" enjoyed. Those who gave the recitations were Elizabeth Powlison, John Ulmer, May and Ethel Derflinger, Clifford Dorsn, Mary Douglas, Walter Bruun and Louise Bruun. Mrs. Howard Case was the chairman of the entire affair.

MRS. KOYER'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Mrs. Sarah J. Koyer, who died in Muhlenberg Hopital Sunday, was held this afternoon at 1 o'clock from the mortuary chapel of J. J. & C. A. Higgins, and at 2 o'clock in Hope chapel, where Rev. Frederic L. Greene, pastor of the church, held a short service over the body in the presence of a large gathering. The body was later taken to Elizabeth, where interment took place in Evergreen cemetery, that place.

WILCOX-KNIGHT.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Knight, of New York and Fanwood, entertained with a dance at their country estate near Fanwood, last night, the purpose of which was to announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Alice Knight, to Kenneth Wilcox, of Westfield. More than 100 guests attended the ball.

TO GIVE A DANCE.

The Stone Square Lodge, No. 38, F. & A. M., will hold a dance in Saengerbund Hall this evening. The music will be furnished by the New Amsterdam orchestra.

"Trade-marked" articles—things sold by NAME or DISTINGUISHING and IDENTIFYING BRAND—must be kept at the highest standard of quality. The VALUE must never vary. For a maker to "cheapen" such an article would be to throw away the prestige he had fought so hard, and advertised so effectinvely, to gain.

"SPIRITS" IN COFFINS SOMETIMES TURN OUT TO BE "BOOZE"

Spirits in coffins have had Tennessee legal authorities guessing. The "medium" in the case was a coffin company of Chattanooga. The company claims no supernatural powers. It was simply medium of distribution. Neither were the spirits of the ethereal variety. They were the substantial kind, commonly known as "booze."

An employe evidently thought he was doing nothing wrong—although he didn't tell the boss—to use the spirits as a stimulant to the coffin industry in dry territory, so a few quarts sometimes were included as "lagnappe" in coffins shipped to customers. The federal authorities could not see it exactly that way, however, especially since the coffins were made use of by "live ones."

The new form of the old game of bootlegging, varieties of which are said to be increasing in proportion to the spread of legalized prohibition, was unearthed by Inspector Webster Spates, of the Department of Justice, Washington.

Careful investigation of the spirits by several well qualified officers is said to have confirmed the fact that it was real whisky, similar to the variety which led the little mouse to want to hunt up the cat and the proverbial rabbit to spit in the bulldog's eye.

As is customary in bootlegging cases in dry territory, no attempt was made to smuggle in the less harmful malt beverages. Quicker action was said to be desired.

Opponents of state-wide prohibition are asserting that the case evidences the fact that the only real solution to the temperance question is through education, not legislation, or through the substitution of the less alcoholic beverages for the more intoxicating spirituous liquors.

BUSINESS LEADER PLEADS FOR TAX THAT WILL NOT REPRESS INDUSTRY

...the majority points ...of the improvements ...which the city ...are reflected in higher values of land and nowhere else. The exclusive taxing of land, it adds, simply means the taxing of benefitted property.

In showing how an exclusive land value tax would operate, lists were made of representative factories, banks, office buildings and residences, showing the present tax burden of each and what it would be under the proposed system. In nearly every instance the proposed tax is less than the present tax, the difference being made up by increased taxation on vacant sites held for speculation. The tendency of a land tax to force such sites into use and stimulate building is discussed in the report.

Chairman Little also pleaded the cause of local home rule in taxation before the Ohio Municipal League at Dayton. He said that it would permit any locality to experiment with the single tax system without affecting other localities.

Which of the stores can serve you most usefully today—that is one thing you may learn from reading today's advertisements.

Did you decide, not long ago, that you could not buy some particular thing because the price was a little too high? See if the store advertisements bring to you today any interesting "news" on this question.

If values and prices ruled about alike in all stores at all times, there would not be any such thing as store competition. And, as finding desirable values would require no especial knowledge or insight, store advertising would be superfluous.

RED MEN ELECT NEW OFFICERS FOR THE YEAR

Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, I. O. R. M., elected the following officers at its regular meeting last night. Prophet, Fred H. Bowe; sachem, Peter Lund; senior sagamore, Elmer Bailey; junior sagamore, Edwin Terry; keeper of records, Charles L. Holstein; keeper of wampum, Charles L. Holstein, Jr.; trustee, Peter Sheridan; trustee for three years, Charles L. Holstein; representative to Grand Council, David C. Allen. The instalation will take place on January 12 and the work will be done by Joseph Fitzga, of Somerville. During the meeting last night announcement was made that there had been an increase of nineteen in membership during the past six months. On Wednesday night, February 9, the Orphan's Fund committee will hold a social dance in the Tribal hall on West Front street.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PARTY AT HOLY CROSS CHURCH

The annual Christmas party of the Sunday-school of Holy Cross' church was held in the parish house last night, and despite the stormy weather there was a large attendance. The program, an informal one, comprised the singing of carols under the direction of Douglas Anderson, superintendent of the school. Santa Claus appeared in the person of Fred Noble, and after making a short address he distributed gifts to the children. These included oranges and candy. Refreshments were also served.

DECEMBER 30TH

In a few days' time man will go into executive session with himself and create a lot of resolutions which he will break about January 10th.

Personally, we have just gone over the resolutions we have in stock, and have decided that our present assortment is good enough to keep in force another year.

Briefly, Rothberg's annual resolutions have for their purpose the single objective of living up to our reputation as Plainfield's foremost shop for "Things Men Wear."

And if there is any departure from the present methods of the "Stylish-Reliable" Rothberg Shop in 1916, it will be simply that Effort will run somewhat ahead of Resolve.

COAST IS OPEN TO FOE, SAYS DEWEY

Navy Equal to Strongest Enemy Needed, Admiral Asserts.

MANY CITIES EASY TO TAKE

"With Such a Navy Enemy Would Not Attempt Invasion as Long as It Remained In Existence"—Continuing, He Says Long Island Is a Vantage Point For Any Invader.

Only an adequate navy can prevent a hostile force from landing at will upon the Atlantic coast, according to Admiral George Dewey, president of the general board of the navy.

In a letter to Representative A. P. Gardner of Massachusetts Admiral Dewey says:

Hon. A. P. Gardner, House of Representatives, Washington:

"Dear Mr. Gardner—I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of Dec. 9, asking me to write you, setting forth my views on the question of the possibility of large hostile forces landing on our coast and inviting my attention to an article by Eric Fisher Wood.

"The part of the Atlantic coast mentioned in Mr. Wood's article extends from Eastport, Me., to Cape Henry, Va., and in this area we have permanent defenses on the Penobscot and Kennebec rivers; at Portland, Portsmouth, Boston and New Bedford harbors; at Narragansett Bay; at the eastern entrance to Long Island sound; at the entrance to New York harbor; on the Delaware river; at Baltimore; on the upper Potomac river and at Hampton Roads.

"Of the defenses only those at Portland, Narragansett Bay, entrance to Long Island sound and the entrance to New York protect the coast; the others are solely harbor defenses.

Easy For Troops to Land.

"It is true that a large hostile force can land on the open coast wherever the transports can get within a reasonable distance of the shore, especially so where their landing is covered by the gunfire of the naval escort, even though the landing be opposed by troops.

"The most recent example of this is the landing of the allied troops on the Gallipoli peninsula. We have similar examples in our own history, as the landing of Scott's army near Vera Cruz, the landings near Fort Fisher and the landing of Shafter's army in Cuba.

"From Eastport, Me., to Cape Henry, Va., there are but very few places where large ships cannot approach with safety to within two miles of the coast, and the extent of this shore line that is too precipitous or too ragged to make a landing practicable is small. The only force that can prevent such a landing is a navy of our own strong enough to prevent such an expedition from reaching our coast.

"In saying that a hostile expedition can land upon our coast at will outside the range of our coast defense guns, I mean that it is physically possible and with no very great difficulty. I do not mean that such a force could accomplish its object by landing anywhere on our coast.

Many Good Landing Places.

"No commander would desire to have his force isolated on the peninsulas of Maine nor on the sand dunes of New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland or Virginia, with inland waters between it and the mainland. They will prefer to land where there are railroads and good roads leading to their objective, which would probably be one of our large cities. Such places are numerous along the coast of Massachusetts, both shores of Massachusetts bay, the eastern end and south shore of Long Island and in the Delaware and Chesapeake bays.

"A landing place sheltered from the force of the sea would greatly facilitate the disembarkation of a hostile force, but is not a vital necessity. Such sheltered places are too numerous to name, but among them are Frenchman's bay, Penobscot bay, Blue Hill bay, Sheepscott river, Casco bay in Maine, Rockport, Gloucester, Salem, Plymouth, Provincetown, Vineyard sound and Buzzards bay in Massachusetts, Fort Pond bay and then, to the southward, Delaware and Chesapeake bays.

Strong Navy the Need.

"Only the navy can prevent landings at those places, and that navy must be strong enough to defeat the enemy. Should we have such a navy the enemy would not attempt an invasion as long as it remained in existence.

"Our main defense and protection from invasion must always rest with the navy, which must ever remain our first and best line of defense. This defense, unless adequate, is impotent, and, as before stated, adequacy is not reached until the navy is strong enough to meet on equal terms the navy of the strongest probable adversary. Sincerely yours, GEORGE DEWEY."

Dance and Drink Divorced.

Dancing and drinking are not to be combined in public places in Boston, according to an order issued by the licensing board. The order stated that any hotel or restaurant serving liquor in rooms where dancing was conducted would be deprived of its license.

UNCLE SAM OPENS SCHOOL OF MUSKETRY

Only Institution of Its Kind is Now Established at Fort Sill.

Fort Sill, Okla., Dec. 30.—The School of Musketry of the United States army, the only school of its kind in the country, is being opened at Fort Sill reservation, and will be in full operation next week. The school aims to train officers and noncommissioned officers of the army in directing and controlling the fire of bodies of troops, and in the systematic handling and formation of troops under fire. Range finding will be another feature of the musketry school work here, and there will be thorough drill in the art of concealing troops from fire, and the most advantageous methods of formation in moving a body of troops across a fire-swept field or against an enemy position. The school is therefore an authoritative institution for training in offensive and defensive warfare.

The musketry school was organized last July, and much preliminary work has been done in mapping out the scope of the training course and preparing for the handling of the classes. There are five classes in the school, which is composed of fifteen field officers, thirty company and troop officers, fifteen machine gun officers and 110 non-commissioned officers. The field officers above the rank of captain are being trained as instructors to command the regimental schools which are to be established.

Colonel R. M. Blatchford is in command of the musketry school. Captain H. E. Eames, the assistant commandant, had charge of the first investigation of the possibilities of mass firing, conducted at Fort Leavenworth seven [illegible] was nothing in the English language on the subject of mass firing at that time. The problems and formulas which he worked out now comprise the textbook of the army. The results of test lessons conducted under simulated war conditions have demonstrated the practicability of the theory and the need of thoroughly trained officers, according to army officials.

The reservation here is a rolling prairie, particularly adapted to rifle practice at concealed targets. The school of fire for artillery is also located here.

The idea of mass firing, as opposed to individual marksmanship, was first conceived by an Italian general about twenty years ago. It was developed by the Germans and finally adopted by other European countries and musketry schools are maintained by all the big nations. The American army officers point to a test that took place at Camp Perry, O., two years ago, when a company of the best civilian marksmen was formed to fire in competition with a company chosen at random from the army. The army shooters, although composed of only average marksmen, were commanded by an officer trained in mass firing, and they easily defeated the selected civilians.

In addition to teaching rifle and machine-gun fire, the school is entrusted with the testing of new rifles, targets and ammunition.

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

The excellent program of Triangle plays presented the latter half of the week starting yesterday includes Julia Dean, the Broadway favorite, in "Matrimony," one of the most interesting of the Triangle plays. This picture is true to life, and shows how a neglected wife succeeds in winning back her husband's love by the use of strategy. The Keystone comedy presented in conjunction with the above is entitled "His Father's Footsteps," and features Ford Sterling, one of the best comedians appearing on the screen. The headline act on the vaudeville entertainment consists of Ray Eaton and Eddie Madden, who recently finished sixth in the New York six-day bicycle race. These youngsters were the youngest riders in that race, and put many of the veterans to shame by their grit and stamina. Among the other acts will be Lasca, the "Handcuff Queen;" Alice and Dick Moss, in comedy, singing and dancing, and Rollins and Johnson, colored entertainers. On Friday afternoon a special toy matinee will be held for the children. Eva Fay, the world famous mind reader, will appear at Proctor's the entire week starting Monday, January 3. Among the contestants against Eaton and Madden will be George Simons, who will try to wrest the honors from the six-day stars.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.—Adv.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.—Adv.

CLEAN HANDS.

The health regulations of the State of New York prescribe among other things that those who handle foodstuffs in hotels and restaurants, cooks, waiters, kitchen and pantry help, must stand an examination. There can be no question regarding the excellence of such a law, and no reason can possibly be adduced for its non strict enforcement, says the Pittsburg Sun. It appears that 10,000 people were examined in New York city under this provision and 110 were found to be physically unfit and health certificates, which they must have to secure such employment, were denied.

The examinations at first are quite thorough, with particular reference to the hands. After the initial examintion the succeeding inspections at regular intervals are less formal but none the less careful. The purpose is to safeguard the food supply as much as possible. With that end in view the examination will be extended to embrace milkmen and marketmen and others whose work requires them to handle foodstuffs. It is an application of the old saw that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and by throwing as many safeguards about the food supply as possible, it is argued, there is less danger of disease spreading.

To make such inspections, to keep them up and to enforce such strict regulations will mean a great deal of work, but the result ought to justify the effort and the expense. Left to their own devices the most particular and painstaking hotel and restaurant managements cannot maintain as strict observation over the health of their employes as they might desire. Again they have not the law back of them to warrant physical examinations.

OSBORNE TRIAL WELCOMED.

We believe that most thinking people really welcome the prosecution of Warden Osborne, the "Tom Brown" of Sing Sing Prison. Although they regret the possible misfortune of a man who may be falsely accused, it is time that there be a show down between the warring factions that seek supremacy over New York prisons. There are many who hold a firm belief that Osborne is the subject of malicious and unjust attacks from grafters that he has been driven out of prison affairs, and they would have the truth brought out. It can only be done by an official investigation, which is now underway as a sequel to the indictments brought against the prison head. By his announcement that Osborne would be dismissed pending a trial, Superintendent Riley throws himself on the side of the accusers, because this is in violation of all laws of justice, written and unwritten. The whole thing smacks of a contemptible conspiracy, and Osborne is the hero just now. Riley may condemn him without a trial, but the general public hopes for his exoneration. Whatever his sins, he has taught the world that a prisoner is human, despite his convict stripes, and the lesson will not be soon forgotten.

From reports of the accident at the corner of Fourth and Sycamore streets yesterday, when an automobile collided with a street car, no blame can be attached to the motorman or the woman driving the car. It is a bad corner, and one that those in charge of all vehicles must watch. It would be well for the Public Service Corporation to install an electric signal there. The outlay would be small, and might save many lives.

Lake McLuke says they say a lot of means things about whisky but the worst he can think of is that it makes men think they can sing, and Luke ought to know, but he's probably never heard a Briton, with a little Scotch (Haig and Haig) in him, discuss American neutrality with the barkeep.

After reading the peace terms offered by Germany a neutral is forced to the belief that she intends to wage war to the bitter end. If reports from a Zurich newspaper are true the Kaiser will agree to quit fighting if the Allies will give him everything in the world but Georgia.

Awfully Puzzling

I told the dolt he was a fool,
He seemed to know it!
If he was otherwise than cool,
He did not show it.
He waited just a bit to see
If there was other word from me,
Then, just as calm as calm could be,
I watched him go it.

My disappointment was intense,
At his demeanor.
I thought my statement might incense—
'Twas such a beaner!
But he just took it as it came,
His feelings seemed about the same—
Was he a nut, or was he game?
Me—I felt meaner.

It is insulting to a chap
To have folks listen
Unto his hardest verbal rap,
Without a glisten
Of seething rage or wild invective;
One likes to think one's curse effective,
Elsewise one feels one is a defective,
With something missin'.

A Sacred Relic

Recently it was our painful duty to linger about Pittsburgh for a few days, one afternoon.

We wrote our w. k. name on a register at the Colonial Hotel Annex.

After we had been ushered to our stall and had paid the boy ten cents, without which his forenoon would have been ruined, we went down stairs and sought for railroad information.

The thing we sought was not there.

We asked the statesman who was at the desk, on the safe side of it, if he had an official railway guide.

Sure.

He opened a drawer and handed us a guide of the vintage of some years agone.

It was a priceless and dirty relic of other ages.

It contained that which once was, but now no longer is, information.

Originally it had been a condensed guide.

Now it was a condemned guide.

There had been at least four radical time changes since the book was issued.

We handed it back, after having added a tear of reverence to the other dirt spots on its dog's eared cover, thanked the clerk, burst into uncontrollable sobbing, and ran for the elevator.

Distinguished.

"Who is that man giving himself such airs?"

"He is the fellow Henry Ford didn't invite to go on his peace ship."

Unappreciated Immunity

"People don't appreciate what personal freedom there is, in this world," said the geek who is always thinking of unexpected things.

"Huh?"

"For instance, think what a fix a lot of fellows would be in if they were suddenly summoned before the court and compelled to justify their whiskers!"

Preparedness Primer

"Do you believe in military and naval preparedness?"

"No, indeed!"

"Why?"

"It is a recognition and a virtual adoption of a policy of war."

"Certainly—why didn't I think of that! Do you lock your house of nights?"

"Sure."

"Why?"

"To keep out burglars, of course."

"But isn't it a recognition of burglary, a virtual adoption of a policy of burglary?"

"No, indeed. There is no parallel in the instances you cite. A burglar is one outside the pale of society. We have to protect ourselves against his proclivities to disregard the rights of others."

"I see. But isn't a nation that wages deliberate war outside the pale of international society? And isn't preparation for defense merely protecting ourselves against proclivities to disregard the national rights of others?"

"Tut, tut! There's no use trying to argue intelligently with some people."

Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

A Man With A Lame Back

HE was thirty-four years old, rather too stout, a bookkeeper, a heavy smoker, flabby, disinclined to walk to and from his work. For six weeks he had suffered with lumbago, and had been compelled to give up work. The man was damned with too many friends, and every friend had a remedy which the poor fellow had to try in order to keep peace in the community. Among other things he tried three kinds of plasters, two kinds of "kidney cure," electricity, Turkish baths, aspirin, chiropractic adjustment, and a blister. But the back remained "about the same."

Finally some one had a brilliant thought. Why not go down and see the family doctor? It might be something growing in the spine!

Sure enough. The patient called on the doctor—after six weeks of misery.

The doctor ordered him to strip off every stitch of clothing. That was a good beginning.

The spine was not tender. There was no muscle spasm. Seated in a chair the patient could easily bend forward, so that the spinal vertebrae were probably not inflamed. With his knees stiff he could bend forward and touch the floor with his fingertips, showing that the sacroiliac joints were probably not at fault. Sciatica was ruled out because there was absolutely no tenderness to pressure along the course of the sciatic nerve.

You see, the doctor was trying to find out what was the matter before attempting treatment.

The hip movements were unimpaired. There was no indication of loose kidney, ptosis, or abdominal disease. No piles or varicocele. In fact no apparent explanation for the trouble. The urine was normal. The blood was normal. The temperature was normal. The feet were not flat, and the footprint was normal. But—

When the patient stood upon his feet the doctor detected some pronation, or turning in at the ankles.

"Ah!" exclaimed the doctor under his breath, getting out his shears, felt, adhesive plaster, bandages, and other impedimenta.

The doctor applied a temporary support to prevent footstrain. The patient went home and lost his lumbago somewhere on the way. Next day he returned to work, and he has been working happily ever since. Each of his friends assumes the credit for the cure—but the patient, without ostentation, continues to follow the doctor's instructions regarding the proper kind of footwear, exercise and non-rigid support.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Feeding A Fever

Is there a new way of treating typhoid fever by allowing the patient certain solid foods throughout? I have always supposed only liquids were safe.

Answer—Liquids may be more dangerous than solid foods. Excellent results are obtained by feeding scraped beef, soft eggs, toast, and the like. Too many typhoid victims have been literally starved.

SCHOOL TEACHERS

A SCHOOL teacher is a person who teaches things to people when they are young. However, it would be unfair to accuse her of teaching them what they know when they grow up. She only teaches them what they have forgotten by that time.

The teacher comes to school at eight thirty o'clock and when she has gotten enough children for a mess in her room, she teaches them reading, writing, geography, grammar, arithmetic, music, drawing, cooking, board-sawing, crocheting, deep breathing, bird calls, scientific eating, patriotism, plain and fancy bathing, forestry, civics and other sciences too numerous to mention. When school is out she stays behind with five or six of her worst scholars and tries to save the state the job of reforming them later on. After that she hurries home to make herself a new dress and snatch a hasty supper before going back to attend a lecture by an imported specialist on the history of tribal law in Patagonia which the superintendent thinks may give her some information which may be useful in her school work some day. A great many lecturers roam the country preying on school teachers and some of them are very cruel, talking to them so long that the poor things have to sit up until morning when they get home to get their daily test papers corrected.

School teachers' salaries range from $30 a month up—but not far enough up to make them dizzy. On her salary the teacher must dress nicely, buy herself things for her work which the city is too poor to get, go to twenty-nine lectures and concerts a year, buy helpful books on pedagogy, pay her way to district county and state institutes, and enjoy herself during a three months' vacation which her salary takes every year. In addition, the teacher is supposed to hoard away vast sums of money so that when she becomes too nervous and cross to teach, at the age of fifty or thereabouts, she can retire and live happily ever after on her income.

School teachers' salaries range from $30 a month up

There is a popular superstition to the effect that the great financiers can be found in Wall Street and that they gather there every morning; but they don't. They gather in the schoolhouses of the land every morning and as they teach the children of the nation twice as much as they will ever remember, they figure out new ways of dividing $45 into a month's board, a new dress, a trip to the county seat, a pair of shoes, two entertainment tickets, an insurance assessment and a deposit in the savings bank.

The Small Farm Dream

"THOUSANDS of tired business men have been dreaming for years of the independence, peace and prosperity that may be had with the possession of a small farm," says the Indianapolis News. "Experts have told them, in books, pamphlets and magazines, how a few acres, intensively cultivated, would lead to 'liberty.' Concrete examples have been cited by way of proof. There, for instance, was the tubercular bank clerk ordered by his physician to live in the open air, who, accordingly, with a hundred dollars or so, the savings of a lifetime, made a payment on ten acres, moved his family to the farm and, five years later, had regained his health, paid off the mortgage, put in a bathroom and bought an automobile. Then there was the widow, left penniless save for a pittance of life insurance, who, also, bought a little farm and is now sending three grown sons to college and adding daily to her bank account.

"These are typical, and alluring, too, they have proved to be. What one person has done, says the tired city man, another can do. And so the small farm has remained his goal. Now, however, comes the Department of Agriculture with hard, cruel, statistical facts to shatter the dream. It shows by figures—accumulated after much investigation—that under conditions which prevail on the average American farm, the opportunity for making a satisfactory profit varies directly with the number of acres farmed. By this it means that the fewer the acres the higher the cost of cultivation and the smaller the gross income. 'Very small farms,' it goes on, 'are difficult to make successful anywhere, and it is only the exceptional man who is equal to the task.'

"Not even intensive cultivation—which the city man, of course, has planned to practice—will help matters. For, says the department, 'the products of most kinds of intensive farming fluctuate greatly in volume and price, so that the business is insecure.' And this danger, it finds, is 'greatly magnified if the small farm is situated a long distance from the market, for prices for its products do not have to fall very far until the transportation charges wipe out all profits. Even in the vicinity of the better markets these small farms succeed only in localities where they have distinct advantages for the particular type of farming which they follow.'

"And this is only a preliminary report. More is to come later. But, bad as this makes the prospects appear and shattering as it is to the dream, there is still encouragement in the statement that 'only the exceptional man is equal to the task.' That, as the saying goes, lets us in, for are not those of us who dream the dream, all of us, 'exceptional' men?"—Emporia Gazette.

Married Women's Rights

Q. Will you kindly tell me what are a married woman's rights in her own property in the State of Ohio. What is the difference between a husband's [illegible] property rights? In short: [illegible] wife stand on the [illegible] aside from voting?

A. In [illegible] Ohio a married woman may take hold and dispose of property, real or personal, the same as if unmarried. Dower is recognized. Courtesy does not exist, but the husband, upon the wife's death, is entitled to one-third of the property for a life estate. Wife is required to execute deed in order to bar homestead rights. Where a conveyance is made by a married woman, no separate examination is necessary.

The Great Lawyer

What constitutes a great lawyer? One respectable and eminent authority answers this question by saying that he must have a collegiate training and get his law learning in a law school, else he can never expect to be other than a "case lawyer," and not much of that.

Our opinion is that lawyers are born and not made. Unless one have the "legal mind" all the college and all the law in the world will not make a lawyer of him, and if he be gifted with the legal mind he will get to be a great lawyer, although he never saw a college and never read half the text-books. Abraham Lincoln was one of them.

Robert Burns never went to college, but he ranks amongst the greatest poets of all the world. Ben Hardin of Kentucky never attended a law school, but he was the equal of any lawyer our country has produced.

To be a great lawyer one must understand the philosophy, the science of it. All the study in the world, in college or out of college, and all the experience the courtroom can supply, will not reveal the philosophies of the great principles of our jurisprudence; and yet your greatest lawyer, however much he understands the reason of "the rule," must make himself acquainted with the history of the rule, when it was established, and the conditions that called it into being.

John Marshall was not a learned lawyer. He was not versed in the precedents as Story was, or as any other one of his associates on the bench was; but he knew the principle and applied it to every case and he cared not whether there was precedent or not. If there was, all well and good; if there was not, he established the precedent. Your "case lawyer" can give no opinion offhand. He must search the precedents; but a great lawyer applies the philosophy of the law to given facts, and he flings precedents to the winds if they be contrary to his conceptions. Hence from the bench we have "leading cases."

The late William Lindsay, when on the supreme bench of Kentucky, rendered an opinion about rents for the occupancy of real estate. He adjudicated in reversal of the precedents of America since its first settlement by the Anglo-Saxon and in reversal of the precedents of England for centuries, and to-day his decision is a precedent and is cited as conclusive authority in the courts of Great Britain.

Lindsay never attended a law school—he was a natural born lawyer.—Washington Post.

Ahead

The human race gets its Hope and Inspiration from the things Ahead. The mere satisfying of bare necessity has never been enough. To go Ahead—to be bigger and more important To-morrow than To-day has always been the object in view of the majority of people. Else there would have been nothing of progress.

Plan Ahead.

Look into the Possibility of things. Set your Imagination to work. Draw on your accumulated Experience and Knowledge. What you have so securely now, you may not have later on. So, plan Ahead. Ask yourself what you would do first if you had nothing of what you do have. Unless you Plan Ahead, you may be sure that you will never get Ahead.

Think Ahead.

No successful Business man ever Planned Ahead without first Thinking Ahead. No Mind can grow without taking the Thought at hand and measuring it against the Possible Thoughts of someone else, or the Thoughts of those of the past. Thought begets Thought. Think Ahead.

Live Ahead.

Plan Ahead and Think Ahead and you will find yourself Living Ahead, which Fact, being interpreted, means that you are a vital Factor in the Universal Progress of the world. And it is always the proportion that you play and not the play itself that counts greatest so far as you are concerned.

O Little Night Wind

O little night wind, take me where thou goest
Between the dark and dawn, when life swings lowest,
And all the world's asleep!
I lie awake and listen to thy sighing
Give me thy hand, and let me, too, go flying
Over the tree-tops' sweep.

Over the harbor, with faint lights a-dipping,
Out toward the sky's edge, over the shipping,
Stifling walls far behind,
Foam-crested waves that would leap up to snatch us,
They must be fleet indeed to catch us,
Skimming low with arms entwined.

O little night wind, saddest of singers,
Tapping my window with small timid fingers,
Mourning the long night through:
So oft I lie and see the gray light breaking,
And hear the world once more around me waking—
Wishing I had gone away with you!

Daddy's Bedtime Story — How the Greeks Visited the Daughter Of the Sun.

Promised to Turn the Pigs Back Into Greeks.

"THIS is the best time of all day," said Evelyn on daddy's lap.

"What with storms, cruel treatment and bad winds the brave Greek Odysseus lost all his ships except his very own," daddy began. "So, very sad at the loss of so many brave companions, he rowed and rowed his one boat till he came to a beautiful island where lived Circe, the daughter of the sun."

"Tell us about her, daddy!" cried the children.

"She was a beautiful magician who trained wild animals to obey her. She had a wonderful menagerie, and also sang very charmingly. When Odysseus climbed a hill and looked about in the very center of the island he saw a palace in a bower of trees. It looked pleasant, but he had learned to be careful, so he sent half of his men ahead to explore and kept the rest with him. When the Greeks reached the palace a lot of lions, tigers and wolves ran up to them. They weren't fierce, but tamed by Circe's art. Playful as dogs, these dreadful animals wagged their tails, stood on their hind feet and licked the Greeks' hands, while Circe's voice floated out of the palace in a beautiful song. This was all too pleasant, and the leader of the men began to fear trouble. So he called loudly, and Circe came out and invited the Greeks into her palace. They all gladly went except the leader, who felt danger. And he was just right for when Circe had feasted the Greeks she touched them with her magic wand and they all turned into pigs that ate the acorns on the ground."

"What did the leader do?" cried Jack.

"He ran back to the boat and told Odysseus, who decided to enter the place and try to save his comrades. On the way he met a graceful youth who proved to be Mercury, the gods' messenger boy. He warned Odysseus, fortunately, about the magic arts of Circe and gave him a wonderful sprig of a certain plant that had the power to resist magic. So that when Circe had feasted Odysseus, who was hungry, and touched him with her wand he drew his sword and rushed right at her. This frightened her so that she begged for mercy, promising to turn the pigs back into Greeks. And she kept her word. Then the sailors came up from the boats, and all the Greeks, even Odysseus himself, enjoyed living on the island so much that they almost forgot about going home. But one day they remembered, and Circe told them how to pass safely a very dangerous coast beyond hers. So they all put to sea again," daddy finished, with two big hugs.

"Couldn't you tell us now, daddy?" begged Evelyn.

But daddy smiled and looked at the clock.

Julia Osgood Confirms the Rumors of an Approac

"It is so good to have you back." Molly stooped and kissed Julia Osgood's pale cheek. "You do look a little peaked, but no one would think you had been through what you have." She drew up a chair by the couch where her friend lay.

"People can't stay sick when they are filled so full of happiness," said Julia, her eyes shining like stars.

"So it is all settled, dear. I am so glad. You have my heartiest congratulations. John and I were talking it over the other day. John said the Sutners were a special providence in your love affair. Your effort to save your friend brought you to the notice of Mr. Cane. Not everyone gets such swift recognition of her services. Well, I'm mighty glad."

"I suppose you know that I am not going back into the office." Julia's smile was full of meaning.

"Is it to be so sudden, your marriage?" asked Molly.

"No, I am not going to be married right away, but I am not strong enough to work now and I mean to take a thorough course in domestic science before I undertake to run a home."

"Good for you," applauded Molly. "You were always so sensible. I am glad you are not going to make the mistake I did. A mistake that cost me five years of misery and nearly wrecked my home." Molly looked very sober.

"Mother and I have talked the thing all over. I a[illegible] charge of the hou[illegible] cooking and everythin[illegible] a[illegible] my own home, only I am [illegible] first under her supervis[illegible] she sees that I can run th[illegible] alone she is going to take a [illegible] go on a visit somewhe[illegible] me to myself for a while, so th[illegible] really will have charge alone. I [illegible] going to get a set of domestic s[illegible]ence books to study to help [illegible] along."

"How sensible. If every home [illegible] started in that way how much heartache and bitterness would be spared. I hope the day is coming when girls will be expected to do just what you are doing just as much as now they are expected to get their wardrobes in order." Molly absently examined her pricked forefinger as she spoke.

"You see what I am going through to learn to sew." She held the finger up to view.

"Thanks to my mother I know how to sew. I learned how making doll's clothes, so I was way past the finger wounding period before I grew up."

"Have you met any of Mr. Cane's people?" asked Molly, after a pause.

A shade passed over the happy face. "Mrs. Cane came to the hospital to see me once," she replied.

"What was she like?" asked Molly.

"I hardly know how to tell you. She is a very formal, distant woman. Gordon is the only son and she naturally hates the thought of giving him up. I cannot blame her for that. I can imagine what it must be like to have had him, and then have to give him up." Julia's voice was soft and low.

"Well, she'll like you, she can't help it," said Molly cheerfully as she rose to go. "The days are getting so springlike that you will be able to go out soon, I hope. Good-bye," she called as she ran down the steps.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association. Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.

Mrs. Joseph Smith and Mrs. J. L. Evans.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

I WILL.

I will start anew this morning
With a higher, fairer creed,
I will cease to stand complaining
Of my ruthless neighbor's greed
I will cease to sit repining
While my duty's calf is clear;
I will waste no more time whining
And my heart shall know no fear.

I will look sometimes about me
For the things that merit praise
I will search for hidden beauties
That elude the grumbler's gaze.
I will try to find contentment
In the paths that I must tread;
I will cease to have resentment
When another moves ahead.

I'll not be swayed by envy
When my rival's strength shown;
I'll not deny his merit,
But I'll strive to prove my own.
I will try to see the beauty
Spread before me, rain or shine
I will cease to preach your duty,
And be more concerned with mine.

Social Life in the School.

The model homes are few. The majority of the children of our century must get their consciously directed social training, if at all, in the school, the Sunday-school, the church and the organizations fostered by these.

In the school, as in the home, the character and disposition of the teacher has an important influence in the social development of the children. She attracts or she repels—influence for good or for evil. The qualities in teachers that pupils admire are cheerfulness, ability to inspire confidence, kind and sympathetic helpfulness, stability and poise of character, independence, beauty, vigor, recognition of merit, truthfulness, purity of life, athleticism. The qualities and acts of teachers for which pupils have an aversion are: unjust punishment, sarcasm, suspicion, severity, sternness, indifference, threats, scolding, roasting, the overlooking of merited praise, and sourness of disposition. These qualities in teachers as in parents exert a strong influence on the child for good or for evil.

In addition to this unconscious influence, the school should give positive training in the common social courtesies and in the art of conversation.

In teaching the common courtesies the rules of good society should be followed. Pupils should be taught and trained how to open and close the door, when to take off the hat in meeting people, what to say in acknowledgment of a courtesy extended, when not to interrupt a conversation, when and how to introduce people, when and how to offer and render assistance, when to offer a chair, when and how one may pass in front of another, how to express appreciation, thankfulness, etc. On these things some rules of etiquette may be formulated and learned. Pupils take this kind of teaching readily when given in a kindly spirit.

Pupils should be trained in conversational power, correct speech, the formation of good habits, and the consciousness of a clean, pure life.

Another social problem that confronts the teacher is the awkward and morbidly self-conscious pupil. This condition may grow out of the natural disposition of the pupil, or out of inequalities in dress, or out of social distinctions based on wealth or position. Where such conditions arise kind attention to the unfortunate one or ones will do much to help such persons.

Another social problem of the school is the early love affair of the boys and girls. There is a tendency in our schools and especially in the high school to undue familiarity on the part of the boys and girls. In the parent-teacher meetings parents should insist that teachers exercise due care in their oversight of the boys and girls; and teachers should insist that parents impress indelibly upon their sons and daughters a due sense of modesty and propriety. They should also be impressed with their responsibility in the matter of teaching their sons and daughters lessons of purity. This is a duty to which parents should wake up. Parents and teachers should be impressed too in dealing with the love affairs of youths to refrain from teasing, sarcasm, extreme laxity and extreme severity. Prudent oversight will usually succeed in solving this problem.—(S. C. Parish.)

Teaching the Child Responsibility.

The four-year-old girl was carrying plates to the table, one at a time when a neighbor came in and watched the progress with anxiety. She was wise enough not to make detrimental remarks, but after a little when the busy child had gone happily to call father to supper, she burst forth:

"Aren't you afraid to let Gladys carry those fine dishes to the table? I was just trembling for fear she would drop one and break it!"

The mother laughed happily. "I've let Gladys do things ever since she could walk and use her hands and feet! She knows she is responsible and is proud and careful not to let any accident happen, and it very rarely does."

"And you let her do real things? Why, you could have put those plates on the table at once, and she made a trip for every plate. It was really a waste of your time to humor her that way!"

"I don't look at it that way. Children who live in families where things are done by the household people, usually do want to 'help.' Nine persons out of ten crush this fine impulse in the bud and by the time these self-same children are 'old enough' to assume small tasks, the impulse to do them is gone. They have come to believe they are too small and have turned to other things. The carrying of those plates before you has been one of the proudest acts of Gladys' life and has built up her desire for achievement."

"So that is your idea. I remember now, Jean used to want to do things but I never let her. Now she has no taste for helping and no responsibility."—(Mothers' Magazine.)

Homes the Servants of the State.

The right kind of a home is itself one of the most helpful servants of the State.

The right kind of home—what is it? We who pride ourselves on being faithful home-makers for our children, usually look with great care to the performing of household tasks of each day. Many of us keep in mind so little the ideal home, as it shall appear to our children in future years, when from a larger life in the world they look back upon it.

We think of happy and inspiring memories of home as being among the world's good and beautiful things. So they are. Such blessings should never be left to chance. We should look upon them rather as things which we should give to our children and plan for them as definitely as we plan for an education, sound health and good moral judgment.—(Laura S. Porter.)

THE WOMAN'S COLUMN

San Francisco.—Prominent California women are aiding in the formation of the San Francisco Art Society, which will promote art and bring together people interested in art, besides aiding in a practical way by scholarships a number of promising young artists and sculptors of the Pacific Coast. Among the women who are raising the scholarship fund are Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst, the noted philanthropist; Mrs. Benjamin de Wheeler, Mrs. William H. Crocker and Mrs. M. H. de Young.

London.—The first public memorial to George Eliot, the novelist, is being completed at her birthplace at Nuncaton. The memorial is a museum and art gallery, and is set in the scenes made famous in her book, "Scenes from Clerical Life." To the left of the building is Milby church, of "Janet's Repentance," and but a short step away stands the old house in Orchard street, where lived the Lawyer Dempster and his wife. Two minutes in the opposite direction brings one to the school where the writer received her first initiation into the wonders of the English language.

New York.—Port statistics for the year show that while European travel is at the minimum, American women are still buying Paris gowns by mail. According to a trade authority American women have proven the mainstay of the Paris makers during the war. English women have been forced to economy, and Germany is cut off from the fashion center. Paris model gowns are coming on nearly every steamer, whereas in former years each importer was content with one collection a season.

Stevens Point, Wis.—Miss Helen Parkhurst, director of the primary training department in the Wisconsin Normal School, who has been studying under Mme. Montessori, has been named director of all the Montessori method schools in America. Mme. Montessori has just returned to Spain to supervise the installation of her teaching methods there.

Chicago.—The authorities of Chicago are hot on the trail of "poison pen" letter writers, who persist in writing letters that annoy and humiliate women. It is said that there are 500 or more in the ranks of these trouble makers. Recently a Chicago woman who received one of these missives showed it to her husband and ageed to meet the writer of the note so that he could be arrested. Women all over the city have received some of the "poison pen" letters, suggesting appointments. Women naturally shrink at the publicity in exposing the degenerates, so that the task of running down the writers is made doubly difficult.

Chicago.—Fabulous fortune has fallen to two American women, through the rise in price of Texas oil stock. Mrs. Dellora Gates, widow of John W. Gates, the railroad magnate, is reputed to have made five millions, and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harold Lee Judd, with having added two full millions to her fortune. Gates was a heavy investor in Texas oil, and left his holdings to his widow and his son, Charles W. Gates. A year ago the stock was quoted at $120 a share, and it is now about twice that figure. The younger Gates left his entire estate to his young widow, who was formerly Miss Florence Hopwood, of Minneapolis, and who later married Judd.

Washington.—The noted scientists from the twenty-one American republics who are holding an international conference here are enjoying the hospitality of Washington women. Dinners are being given tonight by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mrs. William Phillips, Mrs. Hennen Jennings, Mrs. Andrew J. Peters and Mrs. John B. Henderson. A reception will be given this evening at the home of Mrs. Thomas T. Gaff. A reception is also set for tonight at the Chilean embassy.

Boston.—An American steamer will probably be sent to South Africa to rescue 150 German women and children who are unable to secure passage to America. The United States Government has been seeking a ship here. The United States Consul at Cape Town reports the refugees are in a sorry plight, for they are forced to remain in the territory of an enemy country.

CITY BOWLING LEAGUE HAS ELKS' ENCOURAGEMENT.

If the bowlers who first started the City League bee abuzzing intend to put through their original plans, they should get busy immediately There is every indication that such an organization will be a popular success. The Elks have not yet received their "bid" to get aboard the band wagon, but that the proposed league is looked upon with favor by the Watchung avenue club is shown by the following, taken from the current issue of the lodge's official bulletin:

"The local newspapers report that 885 will shortly receive an invitation to enter the City Bowling League now being formed among several fraternal organizations in Plainfield. It would be a good thing for the club to enter a team and help revive local interest in bowling where everybody present at the games knows the other bowler. We should not stand on the dignity question and have it be said that we are scared of this or that team defeating us. Surely 885 can produce a team that cannot be equaled in the city. Give the idea a boost and urge it along to the bowling committee."

ANOTHER HARD YEAR FOR BASEBALL YOUNGSTERS.

Hard as times were last summer for local league ball tossers, the 1916 season will be worse. The end of the Federals has flooded the baseball market with talent, and the overflow of every league to the lower classes will mean that, with experienced players so plentiful, minor league clubs will have little room for untried youngsters.

Last year, there were fewer local men in the leagues than there have been in many years, and with the cause of their staying home in 1915, aggravated in 1916, the next baseball season will doubtless find most of the athletes working at jobs less remunerative, but more certain, than pastiming on the diamond.

TOM SHEVLIN.

Tom Shevlin, tackled by the Grim Reaper whom none gets by, crossed Life's goal line yesterday. Today the whole sporting world mourns his loss, and Plainfielders, three of whom—R. Story Rowland, Donald A. McGee and Austin W. Andrews—were his classmates at Yale, join Yale in her bereavement.

Dummy Deegan—the same Deegan who, bareheaded, used to occupy the center of the diamond at Crescent Oval, will be at Columbus Hall tonight. Deegan probably had more admirers in proportion to the number of his actual acquaintances among the fans than any other Plainfield baseball favorite, for while his affliction kept him from mingling with his rooters, it did not keep the latter from reserving a warm place in their affections for the silent worker who pitched this city's representative team to so many glorious victories. And that Plainfielders have not forgotten their old pitcher will be proved tonight.

Plainfield tumbled down to fifth place in the Knights of Columbus League standing as a result of losing two games to Paterson on the Columbus Club alleys here last night. The visitors won by superior pinning their work, once they found the alleys, being very clean.

Plainfield showed the way in the first game, and finished 79 pins to the good. Paterson had the advantage in the last two fights, winning the second by 35 points, and having a big margin in the final.

FIRESIDE ARCANUMS BOSS OF AVERAGES

Former Plainfielder Leads the County League—Westfield Team Has Best Mark.

Fireside Council pinners, of Westfield, have by far a bigger average than any team on the circuit, but the Cranford Council lads lead the Royal Arcanum League with thirteen wins and five defeats. Fireside has a record of eight victories in a dozen games. The Westfield lads hold an average of 848. Cranford's average is 804.9. High team score honors are also held by Fireside with 975. In addition, the first three men in the individual average list announced yesterday by the league secretary are Fireside pinners, the leader being Charley Montross, the former Plainfielder, who has a mark of 189.5

The averages of the Firesiders follow: Montross, 189.5; Foster, 188.1; Ehmling, 180.8; Radin, 174.3; Hunt 167.7; Post, 162; Tobin, 158; Jackson, 158; Westerleg, 148.1; Powles, 143.3.

CARTER WINS MEDAL.

Pinehurst, N. C., Dec. 30.—Philip Carter, of New York, junior metropolitan champion, won the qualification round and gold medal in the twelfth annual holiday week golf tournament here yesterday, defeating H. V. Seggerman, of the Englewood Country Club. Carter turned in a card of 79, while Seggerman's score was 83. They had tied in Tuesday's match for the medal.

BILL CARRIGAN SATISFIED WITH RED SOX; WON'T SWAP PLAYERS

Lewiston, Me., Dec. 30.—(Special)—Winter league dopesters have started in making trades and issuing releases, selling gold bricks and picking possible pennant winners, but down in this neck of the woods Manager Bill Carrigan, head of the world's champion Red Sox, and one of the few big league directors who managed to get entirely out of the limelight after the stirring strife of October, is keeping his own counsel in the old-time Bill Carrigan way, and letting other people do the talking for him.

Just returned from his outing at the camp on Lake Annabessacook the other day, some clippings from a Boston paper were brought to his attention. In these clippigs were several paragraphs affecting the status of the Red Sox team, such as the trading of Gardner, Wood and Collins, the threatened desertion of Speaker and the purchase of Ray Chapman from the Cleveland Indians. Loath to discuss these, Bill was finally moved to anger when he saw the proposed changes that some of the winter league scribes were making in his team.

"Anybody would think," grunted Bill, after he saw where a few of his Red Sox champions were scheduled to go, "that I had nothing to say in the matter at all, and that the Boston team would be completely made over by the time I get back to the Hub. It's funny what queer ideas some writers seem to collect.

A Foolish Move.

"Can you imagine anything more foolish than for a manager or an owner to break up or change a team that has just won a world's championship? I can't.

"Any team that was good enough to take the measure of the Tigers and the White Sox, not to mention the Philadelphia Nationals, is good enough to go right back there and repeat, barring accidents. The most ridiculous move that a manager could make would be to shake up an outfit that had just won the big title.

"There have been teams like the Chicago Cubs, the Giants and maybe one or two other clubs that slipped badly in the year following the winning of a championship, but the main reason for that to my mind is that these teams had reached the top of their form before that and were really starting to go back. But this is not the case with the Red Sox.

"Barring Heinie Wagner and myself, I doubt if there is a man on the team that has reached his thirtieth year yet. Gregg may b coming to that point, but take Hooper, Speaker, Henriksen, Lewis, Hoblitzell, Janvrin, Gardner and Scott, of the regulars, they are well under that age and capable of playing championship baseball for a long time yet. Cady and Thomas, not to mention Haley, are well below the thirty-year mark Mays, Ruth, Shore, Leonard and Foster are practically kids, while Collins and Wood have yet to see their twenty-seventh birthday. So it can be seen that we have not started to go back yet, in spite of the dreams of some of these dopesters.

A Regular Habit.

"Every now and then someone comes out with the statement that Larry Gardner is to be traded. Can you imagine any club in the American League that would give up a player that would be anything like an equal exchange? Take Gardner day in and day out, and he is a pretty dependable third-sacker. The records will show that his long drives annually put a lot of games on the winning side for us.

"Granted that now and then Gardner slows up a bit in his fielding, and that Scott fails to hit as expected. This is ony something that happens in all great ball clubs. Cobb had a bad batting slump last season; as hard a hitter as Crawford is, he ran for a long spell without doing any thing with his bat. Slumps overtake every player, for the strain of a championship season is so great that unless a break comes now and then a player is apt to go bad altogether.

"There were plenty to criticise Scott when he failed to do much hitting during the world series, yet at different times during the regular season he delivered many a timely blow. The critics didn't yell then. I have seen and heard Janvrin scored by Boston fans because of an occasional error or failure to hit, yet these same people must have forgotten that it was Janvrin who won about four of the six straight defeats that we pinned on Washington in three days. Everybody was talking about his batting and fielding in that series, but there were still plenty to criticise the next time he failed to make good.

"I'm only mentioning this to you to show that even a world championship team cannot have everything. If any one team could have an aggregation of the best fielders, the best hitters, the most effective pitchers and the cleverest base runners in the game baseball would soon lose its popularity, for the games would be toon one-sided to attract the fans.

"But this stuff about trades and swaps, as far as we are concerned, is all bunk. No team would let any player come here that might strengthen us. We could sell or trade a lot of players, but we could not get what we gave for them. So I am willing to let these dopesters do all their trading now. All they can do is to make paper trades. When the time comes President Lanning and myself will look after whatever shifts they have left for us to make."

WILLARD-FULTON FIGHT IN NEW ORLEANS CALLED OFF

New Orleans, Dec. 30.—The twenty-round fight for the heavyweight championship of the world, set for March 4, in this city, between Jess Willard and Fred Fulton, of Minnesota, was definitely declared off here late yesterday by Tom Jones, Willard's manager, and Tommy Burns, who was a partner of Dominick J. Tortorich in promoting the fight.

A disagreement between Jones and Burns over the latter's insistence that Fulton meet some other first class fighter before the Willard match caused the cancellation.

Jones said last night there was a strong probability that Willard and Fulton would fight for the championship in Milwaukee on February 22.

Schedule.
Monday night—Somerville at Newark.

Somerville and Elizabeth Elks rolled their match that was postponed from December 20, at Elizabeth Tuesday night, the home team taking the deciding game by six pins.

The Elizabethans garnered the opening tilt by rolling a mark of 933 to 857, while the visitors bagged the next by pinning 870. Owing to the excellent windup by Henny Gathman and Henny Keller, the homesters romped home by six sticks in the last contest, rolling a total of 905.

Henny Gathman, the league's individual leader, did some good bowling and accounted for totals of 203, 181 and 187. Joe Bach's 218 was high for the winners. J. Schaub's 227 and Roller's 219 were big for the invaders. Matthews, Somerville's anchor, rolled scores of 195, 192 and 181.

The scores:

ATTRACTIVE CARD ON COLUMBUS HALL FLOOR

Two Good Basketball Games and Evening of Dancing Billed for Tonight.

Two games of basketball and two or three hours of dancing will attract the multitude to Columbus Hall tonight, and judging from the advance sale of tickets, the largest crowd of the season will take in one of the best cards of the winter. A boys' game between the Columbus Club men and a team of deaf mutes representing St. Joseph's College, and a girls' match between local school players and the peerless Plainfield Five, will furnish the court competition. Al Squires orchestra will provide the incentive for dancing.

The boys' engagement should be a keen struggle. The mutes claim the championship of the East among the non-talkatives, while the Plainfield Knights have played three games and have not yet been introduced to Mr. Defeat. The Columbians will probably take the floor with Captain George Linke and Billy Coyle playing forwards; Dan McAfee, center; Al Bryniarski and Joe Carty, guards.

It will be the third game of the season for the Plainfield Five, when that combination meets a team composed of Plainfield and North Plainfield High School players. The Misses Irma Good and Lillian Spencer, captains of the Plainfield and North Plainfield school teams, respectively, will hold down the forward positions for the "Scholastics," while the Misses Theresa McCullough (N. P. H. S.) and Clementine Bremble (P. H. S.) will do the pivot work. The Misses Jennie Bremble (P. H. S.) and Bertha Keller (N. P. H. S.) will do the defensive work for the visitors.

Miss Helen Hummel will make her first appearance this season on the Columbus Club court in the Plainfield Five line-up, occupying the position of forward with her sister, Miss Ida Hummel. The remainder of the team will line up as in previous years, the Misses Helen Bryniarski and Mildred McAuliffe, centers, and the Misses Clara Smith and Ellen Doughty, guards.

OWNER OF DODGERS WANTS LATER START

Charles Ebbets.

Charles Ebbets, owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has announced his intention of putting up a fight to have the National league season open one week later. Cold weather, poor attendance, and small gate receipts are his reasons for espousing the late opening. April 19 would be a good date to begin the season, Ebbets thinks.

NEW YEAR'S SERVICE AT PARK AVE. BAPTIST CHURCH

New Year's Eve at the Park Avenue Baptist church will be of unusual interest. Both church and school have planned to make the occasion a memorable one. The evening opens with a Christmas social given by the Bible school, with a varied program that is certain to please. The last hour of the night—from 11 to 12—will be in charge of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Birney S. Hudson, and the passing of the Old Year will be marked by appropriate features that will be well worth the while of anyone to enjoy. The evening will be full of interest from start to finish and the attendance will undoubtedly be large.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

The title of the piece de resistance for the newest "Follies of the Day," which Barney Gerard brings to the Plainfield Theatre, January 4, is "Hot Dog" or "What Does the Public Want?" To properly present this idea Mr. Gerard has engaged the most formidable cast in burlesque. Since the term "All star cast" has been so often abused as applied to burlesque attractions, a little review of the records of the "all star" with "Follies of the Day" would not be amiss. The stellar lights are George P. Murphy, Gertrude Hayes and Chester Nelson, than whom there are no brighter stars in the burlesque firmament. For years Mr. Murphy starred in "The Newlyweds and Their Baby," and "Let George Do It," playing the higher priced theatres. He was induced to return to burlesque by Mr. Gerard's tempting offer. Gertrude Hayes, who has been the star of the "Follies" for eight years, is regarded as burlesque's most versatile comedienne. Chester Nelson, the third featured member starred with E. D. Miner's attractions and is conceded to be the funniest rube on the stage.

Lovers of artistic singing and dancing, combined with a proper setting will have an opportunity to see what they like at the Plainfield Theatre the last half of this week, when McMahon's "Pullman Porter Maids" will be featured on a big six vaudeville program. These "Porter Maids" have played the principal theatres of the country for the past five years, and present a novel offering. Playing the part of "Pullman Porters," they give a thirty-minute sketch of "rollicking, frollicking song and dance." Tim McMahon, who originated McMahon's "Watermelon Girls," is the producer of the act, and it surpasses anything he ever attempted previously.

Other numbers on the well-balanced bill which will be seen this afternoon for the first time are Seeley, Chick and company, "Nonsensical Fun;" Louie Decker, comedian; Volant, the flying pianist, presenting an act never before seen in this city or having a duplicate; Mantilla, the Spanish Grecian Maid, in a novel offering, and Robbins and Pals, presenting a novel canine act. Another of the popular "Country Stores" is scheduled for tomorrow night, and many handsome gifts, as well as household articles and produce, have been secured for presentation. Every program at the Plainfield Theatre includes motion pictures, comedies, dramas and pictures of travel. Three performances are given each day, afternoons at 2 o'clock, and evnings at 7 and 9.

1915 COUNCIL CLOSES RECORDS

Final Meeting of Retiring Body Given Over to Eulogies in Farewell.

THREE MEMBERS RETIRE

George S. Clay, Theodore A. Martin and Richard A. Claybrook Tell of Pleasant Service and Regret at Leaving Board.

The Plainfield Common Council of 1915 died last night, and with it expired the terms of three members, President George S. Clay, Theodore S. Martin and Frederick S. Claybrook. There was little done at the final session except pay tribute to the members who were to become private citizens on the morrow, and well were their praises sung by men who had served with them during their terms of office.

Mayor Calkins, Corporation Counsel Reed and Councilman Blatz delivered the eulogies, while President Clay and Councilmen Claybrook and Martin sang swan songs to their colleagues of the past years. The meeting officially ended the year 1915 so far as the municipal corporation of Plainfield is concerned. Reports of various city departments were not received, although all were ready, but they will be read at the first meeting of the new year, which will be held Saturday evening.

President Clay presided for the last time. After a few inconsequential routine matters had been disposed of, Former Senator Reed arose to a point of personal privilege to voice his tribute to the men who were soon to become private citizens after long service as officials. Senator Reed said:

"The public whom you have served so faithfully does not, I believe, at all realize the amount of time and energy you have devoted to the performance of your duties, nor the many, many evenings which you might otherwise have been free to use for your own business or pleasure. It does not know that night after night, until 10, 11 and sometimes nearer 12 o'clock, you have spent in the earnest consideration of those civic affairs which it has been your province to administer; to say nothing of attention constantly given them in the daytime.

"I have been interested in looking up the records of the year now ending to ascertain the number of actual meetings of the Council and of its various standing committees, and I find that the number of formal meetings by the various Councilmanic standing committees held in 1915 was as follows:

License committee, two; finance committee, twenty-five; public affairs committee, nine; fire and buildings committee, ten; street lighting committee, ten; audit committee, twelve; police board and committee, twenty-four; alms committee, twelve; laws and ordinance committee, one; street and sewer committees, jointly, twelve; Council meetings, twenty-seven, making a total of 144 meetings, to which must be added sixteen meetings of the Joint Sewer Commission, making a grand total of 160 formal meetings during the year.

"While it is true that not every member of the Council attended all of these metings, yet it is equally true that each meeting was preceded or followed by attention given outside of the meeting to details which were considered at the meeting, so that it is apparent that the total number of meetings is less rather than greater than the number of days or evenings devoted by each member of the Council to the duties of his office.

"A majority of these meetings have been attended by the Mayor, in addition to the hours which he has almost daily spent in the Mayor's office, and I know from personal experience in how thorough and businesslike a manner your meetings have been conducted, and that Plainfield owes to each of you who now retires, as well as to those who remain in office, a vote of thanks and appreciation which should be both hearty and unanimous."

Mayor Calkins was the next to bear witness to the good work of those who were to retire. He said that the year 1915 had been of the happiest of his life, and that he thanked every member of the Council for their courtesy and kindness to him, because they had aided him wonderfully in his duties toward the people. He said that his attendance upon committee meetings held by members of the Council had given him a great education on public affairs, and that in speaking of the work done by members of the Council it was only fair that he should call attention to the regular attendance of Corporation Counsel Reed at these meetings.

"The city of Plainfield has never had a corporation counsel so willing and so able to serve its officials and its people," said Mayor Calkins. "He has been an integral part of the government and has worked untiringly

FINED FOR TRADING WITHOUT A LICENSE

Newark Junk Dealer Worked Clever Scheme Until Arrested.

Abraham Banfield, a junk dealer of 136 Prince street, Newark, was fined $20 by Judge De Meza in police court this morning on a charge of doing business in Plainfield without a license. Banfield was working a clever scheme to dodge this license here when arrested by Capt. Flynn. He brought a big black suit case over full of burlap bags which he filled by going from house to house and buying remnants and rags. The bags were left at various points in the city as soon as they were full, and Banfield planned to send his wagon for them one day next week. He denied his guilt, but Captain Flynn had followed him from house to house and had proof of his operations and he was made to pay a fine of $20.

GALBRAITH TO MOVE BUSINESS TO NEW SHOP

Will Move Office to Darrow Avenue Plant—On North Avenue Twenty Years.

Den J. Galbraith, whose building has been taken by the Plainfield Daily Press, will continue his plumbing business, and establish an office at his shop at 605 Darrow avenue. He has already begun to move the contents of the North avenue building to the new location, where he is erecting a new store-house and shop. In discussing the matter today, Mr. Galbraith said:

"The Daily Press made me a very attractive offer, which I finally decided to accept, after some hesitation, owing to the many pleasant associations I had on the street, where I have been located for over twenty years. The store was too large for office purposes only, and having shop and storage facilities in two other parts of the city, I will concentrate all these at 605 Darrow avenue, where I am building a more convenient building for the transaction of the business.

"The plumbing business has changed and developed wonderful'y during the years that I have been in the business, and no person will now build unless their house is 'modern.' The plumbing trade has given a new meaning to the application of this word to building. When we speak or think of a 'modern house' we think of a house that has a complete system of plumbing and heating, either small or large, according to the pretensions of the building. The best plumbing is now recognized as absolutely essential."

STATE TRUST COMPANY DEPOSITS EXCEED A MILLION

The State Trust Company today announces that its deposits have passed the million dollar mark, and congratulations are being freely offered to the officers and directors for having attained such a substantial amount of business in the little over five years that have elapsed since the company's organization.

It was on September 16, 1910, that the company began business in its present quarters, and while its equipment is modern, it is now proving entirely inadequate for the rapidly increasing business.

The State Trust Company sometime ago foresaw that it would be necessary to make arrangements for better quarters, and after a long series of negotiations, was successful in securing the Vanderbeek property corner of North and Park avenues, as a building site. The company proposes to erect thereon a bank building that will be an adornment to the city and one that will materially add to the comfort and convenience of its customers in transacting business with it. When this building is completed early in the fall, the company's equipment will compare favorably with anything in the State, and should help it measurably in its future development.

REPEAT PROGRAM.

"Santa's Parcels Post," the Christmas cantata presented by the Sunday-school of Trinity Reformed church last Tuesday, was repeated last night in the Sunday-school rooms for the benefit of the home department. There wa a large attendance of members and friends.

DR. BRIDGES TO PREACH.

Rev. Dr. Thomas Bridges, of New York, will preach at the 11 and 7:45 o'clock services at Holy Cross church, the borough, on Sunday.

Daily Press To Occupy Galbraith Building, New Scott Press and Additional Machinery Will Make Publication Facilities Unsurpassed Building To Be Altered Into An Ideal Printing Establishment--Plainfield Built Press Will Be Fastest Piece of Printing Machinery Ever Installed By a Local Newspaper--First Edition To Appear From New Home On February 14.

Negotiations have been completed by the Plainfield Press Company, as a result of which the Plainfield Daily Press will, beginning February 14, 1916, be published from the building at 193 North avenue, now occupied by Den J. Galbraith. A long term lease has been taken, with an option to buy at any time, and Mr. Galbraith will vacate not later than January 15, so that extensive alterations can be made to adapt the building to the purposes of a general newspaper and job printing establishment.

At the time of removal the Daily Press will put into operation a new sixteen page, stereotyping press, capable of printing 13,000 papers of 4, 6, 8, 10, 12 or 16 pages per hour, which will be by far the fastest press ever installed in Plainfield. This press will be placed in the building some weeks before the present quarters in the Vanderbeek building are vacated, so that at the time of moving there will be no interruption or delay in the publication of the paper. Another linotype will be installed, making a battery of four to be devoted entirely to the production of the Daily Press, increasing materially the amount of news that can be set each day. New steel equipment of the most modern type is to be used in the composing room, which will be compact, and a model for efficiency.

It is with unusual satisfaction that we announce the installation of a new press, because of the fact that it is a Plainfield product and will be erected in our plant especially for our use by Walter Scott and Company. This firm's reputation as builders par excellence of newspaper presses, a reputation which extends far beyond the borders of this country, assures Daily Press readers that they will have a splendidly printed publication delivered promptly at their doors each night. The machine is three times as fast as our present press, which has a capacity of but ten pages at one printing, frequently necessitating the splitting of the paper into two sections. The page will be 22 inches long or one and a half inches longer than at present, so that in a ten page paper, there will be space equal to five and a half more columns than are found in a ten page paper today. Sixteen pages will be delivered in one section. The press, which is known as a "Scott two tiered printing, insetting, and folding machine," is so constructed that another tier can be added at any time giving an additional capacity of four or eight pages, and if at some time in the future it is desired to print in more than one color proper apparatus can be added for that purpose.

One of the features about the press is that it will be erected in a glass enclosed "well" in the basement, directly below the front window of the office, where passersby may watch it run off the edition of the paper each day. Complete and up-to-the-minute stereotyping equipment will also be installed in the basement.

The first floor of the building will be given over to the business office and composing room for the newspaper, while the second floor will be devoted to the editorial rooms and offices for the heads of the various departments. On the top floor a fully equipped job printing establishment will be run entirely independent of the newspaper plant, so that there will be no confusion in the two departments, which tends for greater efficiency all around.

It was originally planned to erect a building for the Daily Press, and sites have been sought since last May, but nothing exactly suitable for our purposes could be found in the neighborhood of the new postoffice, which was imperative for the new location. When the State Trust Company purchased the Vanderbeek building, in which the Daily Press is now housed, it was found that it would be impossible to get a new building up in time to accommodate the bank, which will start work on a new building in February, so the plan of leasing, with an option to purchase, was decided upon, and with the contemplated alterations the Daily Press will have one of the most complete newspaper publishing houses in the State.

The negotiations for the property were made through Frederick A. Martin, of North avenue, who has devoted a great deal of his time to a painstaking and satisfactory solution of the matter. A. L. C. Marsh is completing plans for the necessary alterations.

ITALIAN BOUND OVER FOR CUTTING DONE IN NOVEMBER

Louis Ronzo, aged 45, was held to the grand jury by Judge De Meza in police court this morning on a charge of assault. The complainant against him was Salvadore Combinane. The two Italians engaged in a fight on the night of November 7 and Ronzo cut his opponent with a knife. The case has been repeatedly continued because of the inability of the complainant to attend court. Ronzo did not make a defense in police court.

VICE-CHANCELLOR RETIRES AFTER 21 YEARS' SERVICE

Vice Chancellor J. R. Emery, of Newark, upon his own request, was retired from that office today, after a continuous service of twenty-one years, lacking one month. He retires on half pay, a pension of $6,000 a year being allowed under the State law.

The new vice chancellor to fill the vacancy will be named by Chancellor Walker next week. Among the half dozen or more men who have been mentioned for the appointment are former Governor J. Franklin Fort, former Attorney General Edmund Wilson, of Red Bank; Edward M. Colie, of Newark; Nelson B. Gaskill, of Mt. Holly, and Frank H. Sommer, of Newark.

CROWDS ATTEND CALVERT FUNERAL

Services Over Body of County Clerk Held This Morning.

Funeral services over the body of James C. Calvert, former county clerk, were held from the residence on Madison avenue in Elizabeth at 9:30 this morning. Scores of people were unable to gain admission to the house because of the large crowd that attended and waited in the street until the ceremony was finished. A second service was held at 10 a. m. at the Church of the Sacred Heart, where requiem high mass was said. Practicall every officeholder in Union county, and leaders of both political parties attended the funeral. Among them were Hamilton F. Kean, Frank H. Smith, William F. Newcorn and S. P. T. Wilbur, of Plainfield. Interment followed in Rosedale and Linden Park cemetery.

HOW PLAINFIELD IS TO BEGIN 1916

Plenty of Entertainment is Offered for All on New Year's Day.

There will be plenty for Plainfielders to do tomorrow as the holiday is to be generally observed here. Beginning with watch services tonight, entertainment is offered at almost all hours so that the first day of the new year will be a busy one for those who care to spend the day at public entertainments.

Watch parties will be held at practically all of the Methodist churches in the city. Other churches and organizations will also be hosts to merry throngs assembled for the purpose of seeing the birth of the new year.

Local banks, business houses, down town stores and other commercial institutions will be closed during all of tomorrow. The postoffice will be closed after 10 a. m., and there will be but one mail delivery. The public library will also be closed except from to 6 p. m.

Mayor Calkins will hold a public reception at his office where city officials and others will gather to christen the year of 1916. There will also be open house at the Y. M. C. A., Hope chapel, Saengerbund Hall, and other local institutions, and many politicians will go to Elizabeth to attend the annual reception at Republican headquarters for Union county.

Members of the Common Council and the Board of Freeholders of Plainfield and North Plainfield will organize on the first day of the new year. The Borough Council will meet at noon, and that in Plainfield at 8 p. m.

There will be a reception at the Park Club this evening and a ball and entertainment under auspices of the Y. M. H. C. at the Columbus Club.

MIKE HIGGINS ALMOST GOES OVER A BLUFF

Michael Higgins, driver of a local taxicab, had a narrow escape from death yesterday near Smalley's stone crusher on Watchung mountain, when his car skidded and almost plunged over a forty foot bluff. Mr. Higgins was under the car when it began to slide and is not able to explain even yet how he managed to get to a position of safety. After sliding for several feet on the icy roadway the machine stopped against a pile of stone on the brink of a precipice. Former Mayor Newton Smalley and two New Yorkers were passengers in the machine but had alighted a few minutes before when the taxicab began to skid on the ice and snow.

CHANGES AT MUHLENBERG.

Miss Lily Watts, who has been night supervisor at Muhlenberg Hospital, has resigned in order to become superintendent of Dr. Macy's private hospital at Willimantic, Conn. She will be succeeded by Miss Mary F. Musser, of Philadelphia. The change takes effect tomorrow. A new appointment to the hospital staff is that of Miss Hilda Lundstedt, of New York, who will tomorrow assume the position of operating room supervisor.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

The Plainfield Daily Press will not be published tomorrow and the office will be closed all day in observance of the opening of the New Year.

AUSTRIAN NOTE IS SATISFACTORY

Complete Surrender on All Points Advanced by United States.

COMING IN SLOWLY

Lansing Will Not Be in Possession of Full Reply Before Tonight, But Officials Are Pleased With Sections Already Received.

Washington, Dec. 31.—Sections of the second Austrian note on the sinking of the Ancona that have been received here show a complete surrender to the United States on the part of the Imperial Government, including admission of guilt on the part of the submarine commander who sank the Italian liner, assurances that he has been punished, and a guarantee of protection for passengers on ships, whether they are under the flags of belligerent countries or not.

Not all of the note has arrived. It is coming in slowly and will not be in the possession of Secretary Lansing in full until late in the day and possibly Saturday morning. It will be given out for publication Saturday afternoon or Sunday morning, but parts have been wired from unofficial sources in Europe.

Sections of the Austrian reply follow:

"Fully appreciating the attitude of the commander, who had in view the rescue of the passengers and crew, the Austro-Hungarian naval authorities have arrived at the conclusion that he apparently neglected to take sufficiently into consideration the panic among the passengers which rendered disembarkation more difficult, and the spirit of the regulations that Austro-Hungarian naval officers should refuse assistance to no one in distress, even an enemy.

"The officer was, therefore, punished for violating the instructions embodied in the rules in force for such cases.

Part of the remainder of the note follows:

"In reply to the second American Ancona note the Austro-Hungarian Government fully agrees with the Washington Cabinet that the sacred laws of humanity should be taken into account also in war, and emphasizes that it, in the course of this war, has given numerous proofs of the most humane feelings.

"The Austro-Hungarian Government, too, can positively concur in the principle that enemy private vessels, so far as they do not flee or offer resistance, shall not be destroyed before the persons aboard are secured.

"The assurance that the United States Government attaches value to the maintenance of the existing good relations between Austria-Hungary and the United States is warmly reciprocated by the Austro-Hungarian Government, which now, as heretofore, is anxious to render these relations still more cordial."

The Austro-Hungarian Government then communicates the results of the inquiry into the sinking of the Ancona, which was recently concluded.

MISS TOWNSEND ENGAGED TO WED DR. J. P. O'BRIEN

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Townsend, of North Plainfield, today announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Townsend, to Dr. Joseph P. O'Brien, of Albany, N. Y. The announcement was made at a small tea given at the Townsend home, the guests including the intimate friends of Miss Townsend.

Miss Townsend is a graduate of Smith College, Class '11, and while in college was secretary and vice president of her class. She is a favorite in the younger society set of the city and borough. Dr. O'Brien is the son of Prof. and Mrs. Thomas Stanley O'Brien, of Albany, his father being principal of the Teacher Training School of Albany. Dr. O'Brien is a graduate of Union College, and the Medical School of Albany, and is one of the leading physicians of the latter city. No date has been set for the wedding.

TWO ARE FINED FOR CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

As a result of evidence secured by Mrs. Van Hoesen, agent for the local Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, Theodore Glaser and Fred Pyatt were each fined $10 in police court yesterday morning. They were arrested on complaints sworn out by Mrs. Van Hoesen, who appeared as prosecutor. Martin B. Stutsman acted as attorney for the society.

SMALLEY DEMANDS OFFICIAL HEARING

Dunellen Commissioner Will Face His Accusers on January 12.

Street Commissioner Isaac V. Smalley took the floor at last evening's session of the Dunellen Common Council and demanded a hearing on the charges brought against him by Abram Van Arsdale, of Front street, at the meeting of the Council on December 21. The hearing was set for Wednesday evening, the eleventh of January. A motion was also carried that Abram Van Arsdale be summoned to appear at the hearing to sustain his charges.

Prior to Street Commissioner Smalley taking the floor the following letter, written by Mr. Van Arsdale, who was not present, had been read by Borough Clerk Deering:

"Dunellen, N. J., Dec. 30.

"Honorable Mayor and Council.

"Gentlemen: I wish to rectify a mistake in my complaint of December 21 in regard to date of Henry Hill's bill. It was May 3 instead of October.

"(Signed)

"ABRAM VAN ARSDALE."

After the reading of this letter the Mayor asked Borough Clerk Deering whether Mr. Van Arsdale had filed the affidavits that he had been requested to file and His Honor was informed that Mr. Van Arsdale had not.

Mr. McClintock, of the firm of George W. Fuller, the borough's sewer engineers, was present in connection with the extension of time in completing the sewer requested by the H. K. Corbin firm. Mr. McClintock had been requested to be present by Chairman Williams of the collecting sewerage committee

In connection with the matter the Mayor stated that he had read the contract over several times during yesterday afternoon and that he could not see why the Council should assume the responsibility of extending the contract, especially since there is a clause in the contract which puts the matter entirely up to the engineer.

Councilman Williams called attention to the fact that if the engineer granted the contractor an extension of time the borough would be put to an additional expense. He said that the contractor had never served the Council with a notice that any action which it had taken had delayed the work and he said that no part of the extension expense should be borne by the borough.

The Mayor here stated that the borough is not making Christmas presents. He said that an extension of time would probably cost $400 or $500 extra for inspector salaries and that the engineer in taking the matter of the extension up with the contractor should have an understanding as to the payment of the inspecting expenses from now on.

The law and ordinance committee reported receipts for the year as follows: Hacks and vendors, $24; dog licenses, $77.40; recorder fines, $348.75; total, $439.75.

Under the report of the sidewalk committee, Mayor Latham asked Street Commissioner Smalley whether he had noticed any movement on the part of the people to clean off their sidewalks since notice had been served that the snow ordinance was to be strictly enforced. Commissioner Smalley replied that he had and that he had not found it necessary to clean off any walks.

Two estimates were submitted by Garfield Hunt, the local plumber. One of these estimates was for the placing of a new roof on the Borough Hall at a figure of $239, and the other was for repairing the roof at a figure of $35.50. Chairman Williams, of the building committee, advocated a new roof inasmuch as a repair job would only be temporary and therefore be so much money wasted.

The sidewalk committee was ordered to have the flagging of old crosswalks which are laying about town placed under cover. Councilman Williams, who called the attention of the Council to the matter, recommended that several of these be used to fill in the broken stretch of walk on Washington avenue, opposite the unopened Orange street.

Among the bills ordered paid were: Isaac J. Stites, $75.50; Public Service Company, $176.73; Watchung Water Company, $476.75; R. F. P. Von Minden, $181 and $99; three street bills, $57; Lewis Schneider, poor, $25.

A bill of Gifford Kuhns for $1.75 was ordered held out because it had not been sworn to.

MRS. RANSOM'S FUNERAL.

The funeral of Miss Sarah E. Ransom was held from the late home, No. 324 New Market road, at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The officiating clergyman was Rev. E. R. Brown, pastor of the Presbyterian church, at which the deceased had been a regular attendant. The floral pieces were beautiful. Burial was in the family plot at Fort Plain, N. Y. The pall-bearers were M. L. Rarick, A. N. Randolph, George Cameron and C. B. Mattis.

Miss Emma Barrett is ill with the grip.

Mrs. William Rowland has been ill for the past few days.

The musical of Mrs. Charles S. Day postponed from Wednesday, is being held this afternoon.

Mrs. Rene P. F. Von Minden, who had a serious fall several weeks ago, is getting along nicely with the exception that one arm is still quite swollen.

The annual dance and dinner of the New Market Fire Department will be held in Friendship Hall on January 21. William T. Piddington, Jr., is chairman of the committee in charge.

Donald McClure, of Glen Ridge, is visiting Lawrence Robertson, of Greenbrook road.

John P. Hill, of Lincoln avenue, has the grip.

Alvah Gray has awarded the J. D. Loizeaux Lumber Company the contract of replacing the large broken pane of glass in one of the show windows of Smalley Brothers' hardware store.

Mrs. Elias Milliken, mother of Charles Milliken, is very ill with pneumonia.

Miss Nellie Messler, of 398 North avenue, has returned from Morristown, where she spent six weeks in visiting her aunt, Miss Harriet Messler.

Arthur Ayers, son of Thurman Ayers, of Center street, has the grip.

Mrs. Lydia Parker, of Second street, is numbered among victims of the grip.

Watchung.

There will be a special New Year's service Sunday morning in the Wilson Memorial church, and Rev. Mebane Ramsay will preach the sermon. The evening service will be in charge of Robert L. Kortkamp, of Hillsboro, Ill., and will begin at 8 o'clock, preceded by a song service at 7:45.

The North Plainfield Township Committee held its meeting this afternoon in the township rooms.

The Watchung Chemical Engine Company will hold its monthly meeting Monday night, at fire headquarters.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Eaton are entertaining Samuel Phelps, of New York city.

Preparations have been completed for the annual masquerade dance which will be held this evening in Improvement Hall.

Miss Helen Schmidt entertained the members of her Sunday-school class at a Christmas party yesterday afternoon. The afternoon was pleasantly spent in music, games and story telling, after which a dainty collation was served. Among those present were the Misses Mabel Snoden, Margaret Walker, Alice Moore, Grace Jacot, Katherine Mobus, Eleanor Bartels and Amelia Hirsh, and the Masters Harold Mobus, Edward Snoden, Kenneth Schmidt, John Lange, David Mobus, Joe Bartels, Elmer Kingman and William Kingman.

German Valley. and Chester

The Women's Club held a meeting yesterday in the local library rooms. Mrs. William F. Frazier and Miss Elizabeth G. Case gave a review of 1915.

Mrs. George Whitehead, of South River, is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Hughson.

A son was born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Burd.

Mrs. Charles B. Roach, of Trenton, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer C. Searles, Sr.

Mrs. Aaron M. Sternberg is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bleuweis, of Springfield.

The subscribers of the New Jersey Telephone Company have been asked by the company whether they desire an all-night service. As a whole they are not in favor of it, as it would mean a raising of rates.

Miss Ada Emmons is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Martin Kane, in Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B. Hoffman are entertaining Mrs. Hoffman's nephew, Raymond Conover, of High Bridge.

The Township Committee will be in session all day today in Kice's Hall to settle up the business of the past year. The new Committee will meet Saturday to swear in officers.

Norman Ader, of Rockaway, is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Frederick Horton.

Mr. and Mrs. John Barkman have returned home from a visit to their daughters, Mrs. Benjamin Roswell and Mrs. Ida Riley, of Newark.

Mrs. George Lauraman and son, Nelson Hyde, of Parker, will spend the holiday with the former's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rockafellow, of Chester.

Miss Essie Van Pelt, who is suffering from pneumonia, is slightly improved.

Miss Hilda Ward will return Monday to Alford University, at Alford, N. Y., after spending the vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ward, and her uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pill, of Califon.

'Plains & Fanwood.

The Township Committee and Borough Council will hold organization meetings tomorrow at 12 o'clock in Excelsior Hall and the Fanwood firehouse, respectively. The presidents of the two bodies will be elected, and while the township choice will undoubtedly be the same as for the past year, the borough will have a new man in the position as Thomas H. Norton will retire as the head of the Council after being a member of that body for two terms. There will not be any appointments in the township, as each one of the committeemen has charge of a certain district but the new committees appointed by Mayor Hoar in the borough will not be known until the first meeting of the new year to be held Wednesday night. It is practically sure that there will be no change in the borough clerkship and that the Mayor will again appoint S. W. McAnnen to fill that position.

The three local schools will re-open Monday morning, after being closed during the past week for the annual holiday vacations.

The New Year's watch night service to be held in the Memorial Parish House tonight has been set for 10 o'clock. The Rev. Raymond E. Marshal, the Rev. Oscar S. Michael and the Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastors of the Methodist, Episcopal and Baptist churches, respectively, will make short addresses and a social hour will also be enjoyed. Stereoptikon views will prove to be entertaining. A silver offering will be taken and light refreshments served.

A meeting of the men of Fanwood and Scotch Plains has been called by the Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastor of the Baptist church, to be held in the Memorial Parish House at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon. Mr. Hare is greatly interested in the welfare of the community and has some interesting things to say and some interesting plans to propose.

The New Year's motto, text and ideal will be unveiled at the morning service in the Baptist church on Sunday. The Rev. J. Madison Hare will be in charge and will have a strong sermon for the boys and girls. The Lord's Memorial will also be observed. The Christmas singing will be repeated under the direction of Charles Lewis. The church is still decorated with the green and white trimmings for Christmas, and the large star that appeared over the manger at the services last Sunday will be illuminated. The Young People's service will be held as usual at 7:30 in the lecture room. The stage will run from the borough postoffice for the morning services.

The Memorial Parish House gymnasium, after being quiet for about two years, will again be the scene of a basketball game tonight, when the Parish House Five lines up against the Mt. Pleasant aggregation. The game will start at 8 o'clock. The bowling alleys and pool table will be ready for use until time for the watch night service to start at 9:30.

During the past week the Memorial Parish House has been opened for the benefit of the public for the first time since it was closed about two years ago. It was through the efforts of the Rev. J. Madison Hare, pastor of the Baptist church, that it was opened and now he is working hard in the endeavor to have the once popular place of gathering for this community a scene of activity. During the few days it has been open he has been in charge and personally supervised the running of it and once more the young people of the 'Plains and borough are beginning to spend their evenings there.

The Rev. Oscar S. Michael will have a New Year's message for every one at the morning service in the Episcopal church on Sunday. Sunday-school will be at 10 o'clock. There will be a service similar to the one held on Christmas held in the church tomorrow morning.

Private funeral services for John Edwards, who died at his home near Berkeley Heights, Tuesday, in his seventy-eighth year, were held at the late residence yesterday afternoon. He had long resided in this section coming from England when a young man, and was well known. A daughter, Mrs. J. Ernest Clark, and a son John Edwards, Jr., both living in the 'Plains, survive him.

Mrs. W. K. Woodbridge, of Paterson road, has been entertaining Miss Gladys Alberts, of Plainfield.

The twenty odd local High School pupils will return to their studies at either the Plainfield or Westfield High Schools on Monday, after the annual holiday vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Faulks have closed their home on the Valley road and will spend the remainder of the winter in Elizabeth.

A meeting of the board of officers of the Methodist church will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alden, of Front street, tonight, when several business matter pertaining to the coming year will be disposed of.

The services at All Saints' church on Sunday will be the regular session of the Sunday-school at 10 o'clock, and morning prayer with sermon by the rector, the Rev. Oscar S. Michael followed by the Holy Communion at 11 o'clock. This will be the New Year communion and all in the community are cordially invited to attend. At this service opportunity will be again given to contribute to the special offertory for the widows and orphans of the deceased clergy. Already a goodly sum has been gathered for this most worthy purpose and it is hoped the total will exceed all previous offerings. Envelopes specially marked must be used for this fund. The thanksgiving offering for the aged and infirm clergy fund was the largest in the history of the parish of All Saints'.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Ellen Ridley Morgan, daughter of L. H. Morgan of Scotch Plains, to Frank Carring ton Woodruff, of Plainfield.

The Rev. Oscar S. Michael, rector of All Saints' church, officiated at the burial of the late John Edwards, of Berkeley Heights, at Scotch Plains yesterday afternoon.

BAPTIST WILL REPEAT CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

The Christmas program of the Park Avenue Baptist Bible school postponed from last Sunday, will be given Sunday morning at the usual session hour, 9:45. There will be pleasing exercises by members of the main school and elementary department, the singing of carols and other special music. Members of the school are requested to bring at that time their donation for the Day Nursery as planned for last Sunday.

WATCHUNG HOMESTEAD ELECT NEW OFFICERS

At the meeting of Watchung Homestead, No. 5104, of Bound Brook, held last night, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Foreman, Edward S. Fisher; master of ceremonies, W. H. Haelig; correspondent, William Dunbar; chaplain, Harold Harney; master of accounts, Arthur McChesney; overseer, Stephen Helfin; watchman, Howard M. Wagner; sentinel, George Hayda; guard, Percy Harney; Lady Rowena, Mrs. Edward S. Fisher; Lady Rebecca, Miss Gertrude E. Christ.

After the election a collation was served by Aaron Kipsey, and a social was enjoyed. Public installation of officers will be held next Thursday evening. The installation ceremony will be performed by the State deputy, W. T. Morgan, of this city, assisted by Chief Yeoman D. L. Colman, also of Plainfield.

SPECIAL SERVICES ARE PLANNED FOR NEW YEAR

The services at the First Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening will be specially attractive. The pastor, Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, feels physically quite himself again after his recent protracted attack of the grip and is preparing two discourses of unusual interest and impressiveness.

In the morning the sermon will be suitable for the communion service, at which time several new members will receive the right-hand of fellowship. In the evening he will deliver an address entitled "Life," a sermon suggested by a recent editorial in one of the New York papers which represented life as unknown in its origin and its [illegible] in fact a feverish and ruitless gamble between birth and death, which begins with nothing and ends as it begins. This discourse will be excedingly rich in biographical illustrations and full of beautiful quotations, prose and poetic. It will be a message fraught with earnest purpose and Christian optimism.

NIGHT SCHOOL TO OPEN.

The night school held in the Arlington Avenue High School will open for the second term on Monday, January 3. Instruction will be given in elementary and advanced mechanical drawing, cooking and sewing, and English for foreigners. These classes are free to residents of Plainfield. The class work is so arranged that new students may enroll on Monday, January 3; Tuesday, 4, or Wednesday, 5.

Mrs. Gilbert Van Nest will lead the W. C. T. U. meeting at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

COUNCIL CLOSES RECORDS

for the good of the city."

He expressed regret that the official family was losing the three men who retire with the old year, and said that it had been a pleasure to serve with them. Mayor Calkins said that he would never forget when Councilman Martin walked into his office a year ago and wished him success for the new year, also assuring him that at least one member of the Council would always be found by his side in working for anything for the best interests of Plainfield. In justice to Mr. Martin, Mayor Calkins said that he had always been just where he promised. He expressed his appreciation of the valued assistance of Councilman Claybrook, who, as chairman of the finance committee, helped to form the new Plainfield plan of public consideration of municipal budgets, and who helped him to bring about co-operation between the Common Council and the Board of Education.

Mayor Calkins said that in President Clay every official of the city had a friend, and that he had treated everyone with courtesy and fairness during his administration as president of the Council. He told of the able men who were to succeed these three men in the Council, and expressed the wish that all city officials might sit around the "round table" in the future as they had in the past.

Councilman Claybrook was the next to respond. He said that his feelings were deeper than he could express, but that he wanted to express his thanks for the kind and courteous treatment he had received while a member of the Council. He said that many good things had been done for him and for his colleague, Mr. Martin, during their terms, and that both regretted to leave the Council of Plainfield, as it was as fine a body of men as oversat in the State of New Jersey. During his term of office, he said, he had not seen a single evidence of politics, and he included every official from the Mayor to the janitor. Mr. Claybrook declared that he considered himself fortunate to have served under two of the best mayors that had ever served the city of Plainfield, or any other city in the United States, Mayor Stewart and Mayor Calkins, and he expressed the opinion that no municipal executive in all the United States ever administered city affair better that Mayor Calkins. He insisted that the two years in the Council had been two of the brightest of his entire life, and he was glad that when he left Virginia he came to "God's Country."

Councilman Martin declared that two years he had spent in the Plainfield Common Council had been two of the happiest in his life, because of his friendly associations with Mayor Calkins, President Clay, Corporation Counsel Reed and other members, and he thanked each one of them for their assistance to him, also complimenting them on their work for the taxpayers of the city.

President Clay arose to accept a motion to adjourn, but members refused to hear it until he had delivered his valedictory. He called attention to his seven years served in the Council, and said that each day of it had been pleasant to him, also educational, and that he believed every man should serve a term as Councilman before he could understand the amount of work required of a municipal official. Mr. Clay said that he had gained more than he could express in the friendships that he had formed as a member of the Council. He expressed his thanks to all members of the body and to Mayor Calkins and Counsel Reed. He called the attention of Councilman Blatz to the fact that when that member became president, he would find invaluable assistance in Clerk MacMurray, who had served in the Council for twenty-two years. Mr. Clay also expressed the belief that heads of departments should be retained as long as possible, as he did not believe that any city in the country had such efficient heads of municipal affairs.

Councilman Francis J. Blatz, who has been selected as the next president of the board, next spoke. Mr. Blatz said that he owed much to the associations with those who were leaving the body, and that through their kindness and courtesy to him he had been able to accomplish many things for the good of Plainfield people. He paid personal compliments to President Clay and Councilmen Claybrook and Martin, and told of their good work as officials. He declared that if he made only half as good a presiding officer as Mr. Clay he would feel that he had done good work for the people he represented, and that his ambition was to equal the record of his predecessor.

SCURRY FOR PASSPORTS.

London, Dec. 31.—Americans in England who are planning to visit their homes in the near future have besieged the embassy, for today is the last on which emergency passports will be issued. Henceforth it will take from six to seven weeks to secure the regulation passports from Washington, in accordance with the British order in council discontinuing the emergency passport provisions.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

The Plainfield Daily Press will not be published tomorrow and the office will be closed all day in observance of the opening of the New Year.

—People who board are nearly all newspaper readers. And there are times when the classified ads. have a very special interest for them.

OPPENHEIM, COLLINS & CO. WILL DISTRIBUTE $15,000

That the past year has been a prosperous one for Oppenheim, Collins & Co., is shown by their announcement that on New Year's Eve there will be distributed to their employes about $15,000.

The profit-sharing plan is a comprehensive one, embracing all six stores located in Newark, New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Buffalo and Cleveland.

By making the requisite period of employment as little as three months, an opportunity is given to practically all employes to share in the bonus. At the same time, length of service is the most important factor in determining the amount of each individual's share, so that in many cases the old employes holding a minor position will receive the maximum amount.

WHAT PLAINFIELD WANTS TO KNOW.

The Answer Is Found in the Statement of a Plainfield Resident.

From week to week, from year to year, there have been appearing in these columns statements made by neighbors, which we have all read with great interest, and many of us with great profit. But what we want to know is, do they stand the greatest test of all—the test of time? Here is conclusive evidence on this point from a Plainfield woman:

Mrs. E. Dorflinger, 403 Clinton avenue, Plainfield, says: "The first symptom of kidney trouble was a dull, heavy pain in my back and head. This was followed by a tired, languid feeling and I knew that my kidneys were gradually giving out. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and getting a box at Randolph's drug store, I began using them. Before long I improved and I continued until cured."

OVER FIVE YEARS LATER Mrs. Dorflinger said: "I hold just as high an opinion of them now as when I gave my former endorsement recommending them. The cure they made has been permanent."

Price 50 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Dorflinger had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

GOOD WILL

1915-1916

Now we express in words what we are ever mindful of throughout the year. A keen appreciation of the confidence our friends have in us. We express our thanks for this verbally, but very poorly expressed. How much better it would please us if we could shake the hand of each of you, and say "Thank you!"

Like play-actors we are encouraged to our best performance when applauded. That you have liked us and applauded by patronizing us stimulates us to resolve to do many things during 1916 for the betterment of this store and store's service. It is a pleasure to work hard to please folks so appreciative.

We Sincerely Wish You a Happy and Prosperous New Year

TEPPER BROS.

DRINK A GLASS OF REAL HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST.

Says we will both look and feel clean, sweet and fresh and avoid illness.

Sanitary science has of late made rapid strides, with results that are of untold blessing to humanity. The latest application of its untiring research is the recommendation that it is as necessary to attend to internal sanitation of the drainage system of the human body as it is to the drains of the house.

Those of us who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when we arise, cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste sour bile and poisonous toxins, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the phosphated hot water is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatic stiffness; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.

Ah! how good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffing, blowing; no more headache, dryness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.—Adv.

CHRISTMAS CARNIVAL ON WHEELS ENJOYED BY PLAINFIELD COMMUTERS

At the special invitation of the Commuters' Club, of this city, Santa Claus returned to earth last night to get in line with the march of modern progress and do a little Christmas work in a train travelling fifty miles an hour. The club had a tree all decorated for him in one of the cars of the Central Railway of New Jersey it has used for years morning and evening to ride between Communipaw, Jersey City and Plainfield. Holly and other decorations were hung through the two cars and a tree, brightly illuminated was set in the middle of the second one. A liberal collation was set in the club car ahead.

Bankers, brokers, railway officials and others of the club sat around in carnival caps of bright-hued tissue, heard themselves lampooned in song and received gifts selected with fiendish ingenuity by a committee for the express purpose of fitting some fad which each recipient denied was his. The only man perfectly satisfied seemed to be the jolly looking broker who unwrapped a revolver when he got his present, but discovered that it was a flask. Every member's name was worked into the parodies on "Tipperary" and other songs, and W. G. Besler, president of the Central Railway of New Jersey, laughed as heartily as any of them at the chorus to his one:

"It's a long way to Jersey City,
It's a long way to go
On the Central of New Jersey,
Where the tunnels never grow.
Oh, for rapid transit,
Friend Besler, to New York,
When the trains won't stop upon the draworidge
To let ly a cork."

Clever pen and ink sketches of the club in action, i. e., running for the 7:55 or the 5:30 in the morning and rushing from the "Last Chance" in Liberty street to catch the 5:10 or the 5:30 in the afternoon, were distributed to the members therein represented. A portrait in water colors of H. M. Stockton, one of the deans of the Commuters' Club, by Archie Gunn, was hung at the end of the club car.

Because the run between Jersey City and the home town is only thirty-seven minutes, the members gathered in their club cars in the Jersey City station at 5 o'clock and began the festivities, which lasted until the 5:30 stopped at Plainfield, on time at nineteen minutes after six. It has to be on time because the president of the railroad, its general passenger agent, W. C. Hope, and W. H. Williams, vice president of the Delaware and Hudson Company, were passengers.

Mayor Leighton Calkins, of Plainfield, drew a policeman's night stick in the distribution of presents, and W. G. Besler, the railway president received a flagman's lantern. H. L. Hall, treasurer of the Commuters Club, wore a Bacchus crown of ivy while he officiated as understudy to Santa Claus and chairman of the festival committee. He was assisted by H. L. De Forest, W. L. Lockwood, A. M. Wilcox and others. Townsend Rushmore is president of the Commuters' Club, which has been in existence for more than a generation.

"The first Club Santa Claus party ever held on a moving train" was the record on which the members prided themselves and to which they drank during the brief journey. Members at the party yesterday included those mentioned and M. S. Ackerman, W. F. Austin, B. O. Bowers, N. C. Barnhart, Harry E. Butler, L. B. Benton, F. S. Barr, George A. Bomann, J. Whitney Baker, Joseph H. J. Brewster, Archibald Cox, Roy M. Cox, H. B. Coombe, H. J. Cochran, George F. Clay, J. H. Case, A. M. Colleng, A. B. Davies, T. M. Day, H. K. Dutch, C. B. Fletcher, W. A. Garrigues, William E. Hoyt, R. R. Hunter, J. P. Huntsman, Jr., E. H. Ladd, Jr., H. A. Lyon, C. E. Lipscomb, J. H. Mellick, J. C. Moore, S. H. Patterson, H. J. Runyon, Robert Rushmore, D. J. Randall, Alfred Rose, J. P. Stevens, S. S. Schuyler, Frank H. Smith, Edward M. Van Buren, D. J. Weems, A. J. Watson and F. W. Yates.

UNITY LODGE, KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS, ELECT OFFICERS

At the annual meeting of Unity Lodge held last night the election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows: J. W. A. Bauersachs, chancelor commander; William Cassidy, vice chancelor; Walter Goodhouse, prelate; Frank Putnam, master of records and seals; Charles DeGraw, master of finance; Alfred Drew, master of arms; Victor Lorton, master of exchequer; Tony Sasso, inside guard; George Dean, outside guard; Jeremiah Van Winkle, representative to Grand Lodge; James Anderson, alternate and trustee; Harry Werner, master of work. The officers will be installed next Thursday night by Charles Nichols, district deputy, and at the same time six candidates will be initiated. An entertainment committee of three was appointed composed of Charles Hoff, Victor Lorton and James Anderson.

Charles Hoff surprised those present when they left the lodge rooms and went to the banquet hall to see a clam chowder supper spread before them. Speeches mingled with each course was enjoyed. Several of the newly elected officers made short addresses concerning the progress of the lodge.

MISS E. B. BROWNE MAKES HER DEBUT

Is Formally Introduced by Her Mother, Mrs. Josiah Browne, at Large Reception.

RECEIVES MANY GIFTS

Debutante is Assisted by a Number of Young Society Women in Receiving—Festivities Are Concluded With a Dance.

Miss Elizabeth Burgess Browne was formally introduced to society yesterday afternoon at a large reception given by her mother, Mrs. Josiah Browne, at her home on Kensington avenue. The function was marked by a number of pleasing features. Between the hours of the reception, from 3 to 6, nearly 200 guests were present to shower congratulations and the season's greetings on Miss Browne, making her introduction an auspicious one.

Mrs. Browne and her daughter were assisted in receiving by Miss Helen Harcourt Irons, Miss Louise Patterson, both of whom are among this season's debutantes; Miss Helen Terry, Miss Priscilla Fraker, Miss Janet Lane, Miss Dorcas Bomann, Miss Mildred Miller, Miss Marion Snyder and Miss Catherine Ginna, of this city, and Miss Elizabeth Ross, of Harrisburg, and Miss Alice Hall, of New Haven.

Those who poured in the dining-room were Mrs. Elliot T. Barrows, Mrs. T. M. Day, Mrs. Henry C. Irons, Mrs. Francis Sprague Martin and Mrs. E. H. Ladd, Jr.

The home was beautifully decorated for the affair, the reception room being filled with beautiful flowers received by Miss Browne. In addition she was the recipient of many other gifts. The decorative scheme in the dining-room was red, there being a profusion of roses, together with holly, and white daisies, while red candles were used to garnish the table, the whole effect being very attractive.

The festivities were continued in the evening when a number of young people remained to enjoy an informal dance. Among the guests attending the reception were a number from New York and Brooklyn, as well as this city. During the early part of the New Year several social functions will be given in honor of Miss Browne.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS PARTY AT THE DAY NURSERY

The annual Christmas party for the children at the Day Nursery was held yesterday afternoon at the West Front street home. Eighty mothers and children were in attendance, and twenty visitors were present. A feature of the party was a large Christmas tree, lavishly decorated with Yuletide trimmings and goodies and was a decided treat to the youngsters, who enjoyed every minute of the afternoon. Recitations and songs were given by a number of the children, after which toys and candy were distributed to them. Ice cream and cake was served to all present.

GEORGE P. ROBERTS DIES AT HIS HOME IN ORANGE

George P. Roberts, father of Mrs. William R. Causbrook, of 30 Netherwood avenue, this city, died suddenly this morning at his home in Orange, following a brief illness with pneumonia. Mr. Roberts was sixty-nine years old and held the office of building inspector in Orange. He had been in business in that city for thirty-five years, part of the time as a member of the contracting firm of Oakley & Roberts.

For twenty-five years Mr. Roberts was president of the Master Builders' Association of Orange and became well known in Plainfield through attending conventions and Master Builder gatherings in this city. Mr. Roberts was born in Penzance, England. The funeral will be held at his late home, 69 Doy street, Orange, Monday afternoon, and later at the Grace Episcopal church, of that city.

HERR'S SCHOOL RE-OPENS FOR MID-WINTER TERM

Herr's School will reopen both day and evening sessions, on January 3 having been closed for the Christmas holiday week. The demand for well trained office assistants has never been better, with a very special call for young men in all lines of business. The following students have taken excellent positions in New York, Plainfield and vicinity during the past few months:

Edgar Cregar, Miss Hazel Cregar, Leo Hirsch, Charles Freuler, C. Ivan Hill, Miss Nettie Solomon, Robert Thatcher, Lawrence D. Yeomans, Serring B. Baker, George Trautman, Miss Bertha Holcombe, Isidor Sachar, Joseph Paritz, Miss Milana Soukup, Miss Julia Vogt, Miss Hazel Runyon, Joseph Delahanty.

MAYOR TO RECEIVE AT HIS OFFICE TOMORROW

Mayor Calkins will hold a New Year's reception at his office in the City Hall tomorrow afternoon. Following a custom established last year, he will receive all officials of the municipality and citizens who care to call. There will be no formality.

REPUBLICANS TO HOLD OPEN HOUSE TOMORROW

Republicans of Union county are invited to call at headquarters of the county executive committee at Elizabeth on the first day of the new year. Open house will be held there tomorrow, and members of the committee, county officials and leaders of the party will be present. Congressman Capstick will be the guest of honor.

FRANKLIN COUNCIL ELECTS.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., at its meeting last night elected these officers for the ensuing year: Councilor, Norman Voght; vice-councilor, Charles Davies; recording secretary, Forester Hartpence; assistant recording secretary, Arthur Ellinger; warden, Gabriel Olsen; conductor, Walter Stewart; inside sentinel, Herman Olsen; outside sentinel, J. H. Laviers; treasurer, Frank Whiting; financial secretary, Ephraim Compton. Installation will take place Thursday night, January 6.

BEN LA VERE SERIOUSLY ILL.

Benjamin La Vere, the well known musician and band master, who has been seriously ill for the past week, was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital for treatment this afternoon. Mr. La Vere has been suffering for more than a month with heart trouble and has been unable to attend to any business during that time, being confined to his apartment in the Endress building. His condition became such a day that his physician, Dr. E. W. Bridges, decided to have him taken to Muhlenberg.

ENTERTAINING HER NIECE.

Mrs. Annie Hearn, of Emerson avenue, is entertaining her niece, Mrs. Warden Maloney, and the latter's husband, of Scranton, Pa. The couple are on an extended honeymoon at present. Prior to her marriage Mrs. Maloney was Miss M. L. Preston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Preston, of Scranton. Mr. Maloney is supervisor of the State Hospital at Scranton.

BROTHERHOOD MEETING.

The Brotherhood of the Park Avenue Baptist church has arranged a prayer meeting for men only to be held at the church Tuesday evening January 4, and the men are urged to bring as many others as possible to the service. There will be music by an orchestra under the direction of Arthur Mosher and Assemblyman W. N. Runyon will lead a song service.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.

At a luncheon given at the parents' home, 2 Waynewood place, this afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Coyle announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jeane Harkin Coyle, to Leonard Wright Mantz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mantz, of Jackson avenue, the borough. No date has been set for the wedding.

BANKRUPTCY PETITION.

Trenton, Dec. 31.—Claiming that Jacob Sklarew, dealer in women's furnishings at 223 West Front street, Plainfield, is insolvent, creditors filed a bankruptcy petition against him in the United States District Court here today. The petitioners are Morris J. Rubin, Bernard Neumark and Harry Frank.

MISS STEWARD ENGAGED.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Steward, of West Third street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Josephine B., to Rodney H. Dover, of Bernardsville. Mr. Dover is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Dover, of Sweet Hill, Virginia. No date has been set for the wedding.

GEORGE KENNAN TO LECTURE.

George Kennan, of New York city, will lecture on "Mountains and Mountaineers of the Caucasus," Monday afternoon, in the Plainfield High School Auditorium, under the auspices of the Monday Afternoon Club. The talk will start promptly at 3:45 o'clock.

WILL CELEBRATE TONIGHT.

The members of Saengerbund Hall will hold their annual New Year's Eve celebration this evening. There will be dancing up to midnight, when the New Year will be greeted with song. Music will be furnished by Halbforster's orchestra.

GOOD SKATING HEREABOUTS.

Skating on all the ponds in and around Plainfield is good, and will probably remain so over the week-end. Large crowds are daily found on Tier's Pond and the South Plainfield lake, as well as the many smaller ponds.

Rev. Charles H. Fountain will lead the services at the Rescue Mission tonight at 8 o'clock.

PLAINFIELD THEATRE

Something new at last! This is the promise of the management of the Plainfield Theatre for one day, matinee and night of January 4 when the big hit of last season, Barney Gerards' "Follies of the Day," will present "Hot Dog" or "What Does the Public Want?" This show broke all existing records in point of receipts and attendance at the various New York houses and was commented upon by the different reviewers as "a $2.00 show at burlesque prices," and "Better than many shows on Broadway getting $2.00 a seat," and many other terms lauding the merits of the show. "Follies of the Day" is a topical organization that keeps abreast the times and travesties and burlesque fads, foibles and foolishness of the day, and pokes fun at current dramatic successes. Barney Gerard has written a new book entitled, "Hot Dog" or "What Does the Public Want?" in which the last tract of plot is shed, continuity and symmetry of designs are thrown to the winds medley reigns supreme.

Plainfield Theatre fans in capacity numbers attended the performances at the West Second street house yesterday afternoon and evening, and if applause and laughter can be used as a criterion, Manager Shannon's week-end vaudeville bill is an undoubted favorite. Attendants who were inclined toward the spectacular had their fancy fully gratified by seeing Volant, the flying pianist. His presentation is the most remarkable ever seen in this city and his act is without a duplicate in the country.

An extremely interesting interlude brimful of action, class, smart songs and high class dancing, was afforded patrons in McMahon's "Pullman Porter Maids." They present thirty minutes of song and dance. Particularly fine was the work of Seeley, Chick & Co., a sketch overflowing with irresistible humor. Remaining numbers on the program includes Mantilla, the Grecian maid, who presents a novel act that will be long remembered; Louie Decker, the versatile comedian who chases away the blues with rapid fire funnisms; and Robbins and Pals a novel canine act.

Tonight the weekly "Country Store" will be held and holders of the lucky seats will be awarded handsome and useful gifts. Come early and get in line for the presentations. Beside the vaudeville and "Store" the program will be interspersed with several reels of motion pictures. Prices will be the same on New Year's Day, and three performances will be given, in the afternoon at 2, and in the evening at 7 and 9.

THE FORUM

In a letter to the editor of the Plainfield Daily Press in which he compliments the New York Tribune upon its splendid editorial of yesterday, adding that "that sort of stuff is what makes a real American want to grab a gun and prove that Wilson is a liar," Samuel W. Rushmore also praises the editorials of the same sort that have appeared in the Press, and incloses a copy of a letter to the Tribune, which is as follows:

"Your splendid editorial of today will doubtless give new courage to thousands who, like myself, are now ashamed to say they are Americans.

"I was in Germany on business just before the war broke out and was angered to the fighting point at the bitter contempt which everyone there openly expressed for the United States. When, however, the Germans asked me what I thought of Wilson and Bryan, I was obliged to admit that if those men were to be considered as the true representatives of the people of the United States, I would be ashamed to say I was an American, and that I could only envy the genuine feeling of confidence and respect which the German people had for their government.

"The real Americans, and they are still in the majority, are not too proud, too cowardly or too fond of the almighty dollar to fight.

"I still have hope for my country and am sure that, even though through his deals with the political bosses of the Bryan stripe Wilson may again secure the Democratic nomination, he will go down to everlasting defeat and that, for a generation at least, this country will not be further disgraced and humiliated before the whole world as it is at this

"For many years, however, we must hang our heads in shame for the coward who was too proud to fight."

PROCTOR'S THEATRE

Among the Triangle Plays offered at Proctor's the latter half of the week, Julia Dean, in "Matrimony," certainly proves to be a sensation. This talented young star is at her best in this photoplay. Her facial expressions are delightful, and the production, as a whole, is one of the best Triangle has ever offered. Ford Sterling is certainly a great comedian and deerves to be ranked among the best, for in "His Father's Footsteps" he keeps the spectators in a continual uproar of laughter by his funny pranks and comical facial expressions. Ray Eaton and Eddie Madden, the young six-day bike riders who head the vaudeville entertainment, certainly live up to their reputation. Several prominent local bicycle riders are booked to appear against this pair, and lively doings at each performance are promised by the management. Lasca, the handcuff queen, is a talented artist, who seems to delight in being manacled hand and foot and then freeing herself. Alice and Dick Moss present a delightful singing and dancing number, intermingled with several popular song hits. Rollins and Johnson are colored entertainers, who immediately win the favor of the audience by their clean-cut and refined offering. Starting Monday January 3, Eva Fay, the famous seeress, will appear for the entire week. She will answer any question propounded. A special toy matinee will be held today for the children, all the kiddies attending receiving toys. The usual bazaar will take place Wednesday evening. Announcement is made that Pathe's newest serial, "The Red Circle," will be presented at Proctor's, the first episode appearing on Friday, January 7.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The Christmas holidays have been busy ones full of fun and good times in the boys' room at the Y. M. C. A.

This evening the employed boys and their women friends will have a "Watch Night Social."

The final big time of the week will be a New Year's entertainment tomorrow morning, to which all older boys are invited. Arthur Moose, magic entertainer and ventriloquist, will mystify the crowd for an hour, and songs and a "Happy New Year" address will complete the program.

The Christian education classes will resume next week. Tuesday afternoon, following the gymnasium class the College League Class, studying the "Life of Jesus," will meet; Wednesday, the Indian League will take up "Christian Heroism;" Friday after the usual supper, the High School Clubs will discuss 'Life Questions of School Boys," and 'Social and Economic Questions," while at the same hour the Employed Boys' Brotherhood will consider from the Christian viewpoint, "The Consumption of Wealth, or the Spending of Money;" and Saturday morning another group of the Indian Leaguers will study "Christian Heroism." James McClymont and J. A. Gavett are the leaders of the High School groups, the other classes are taught by Secretary Lynn.

A full size pocket billiard table, just installed in the boys' division game rooms, is already proving very popular. Every member gets a chance to play and no boy or group of boys is allowed to monopolize it.

The Sunday afternoon boys' meetings will be resumed the second Sunday in January. A different speaker will be obtained for each week, and only live, interesting subjects will be discussed.

CHRISTIAN FIELD

Sunday will be observed as "Go-to-Church Sunday" at the Monroe Avenue Methodist church. In the morning the pastor will preach on "New Wine In New Bottles," and in the evening his topic will be, "The Signs of the Times." Monday night, the Japanese evangelist, Rev. K. S. Hiraide, of Japan, will address the congregation

The lesson sermon at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, for Sunday, will be as follows: "God," golden text, Isaiah 52:10: "All the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God."

Dr. John M. Springer will occupy the pulpit at the Grace M. E. church, Sunday morning. Mr. Springer has recently returned from the mission fields of Africa, particularly from along the trail of Livingston. Sunday-school will be at 2:30. Rev. C. S. Gillespie, the pastor of the church, will preach on "Resistance" in the evening. Mr. Boyd will conduct the singing.

"The Spirit of Christ" will be the subject of the sermon which will be preached Sunday morning at 10:30 at Trinity Reformed church by the Rev. John Y. Broek. The Christmas cantata will also be repeated in the morning. In the evening at 7:45, Mr. Broek will preach on "Windows Open Toward Jerusalem."

Rev. Frederick H. Bodman, of Battle Creek, Michigan, will preach on "Rejecting the Situation," at the 10:30 morning worship, Sunday, at the Congregational church.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

The Plainfield Daily Press will not be published tomorrow and the office will be closed all day in observance of the opening of the New Year.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from The State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 28 degrees; 11 a. m., 36 degrees; 1 p. m., 33 degrees.

Mrs. D. Drowin, of Mountain avenue, is spending the holidays with friends in Brooklyn and New York city.

Miss Bessie Swan, of Westervelt avenue, has returned after spending several days with relatives at Goshen, New York.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS ARE NOTORIOUS FOR THEIR LACK OF RESOLUTIONS

But every individual who has a bit of good lurking somewhere in his constitution heeds the demands of Conscience when the New Year's shining path stretches before him.

We all try to view our failings thru' the uncolored glass of Reason, and resolve that the New Year will find us better men and women.

Whether resolutions are kept or shattered depends entirely upon the individual.

The Rothberg Store greets the New Year with the same unshaken, steadfast ideals before it as in the past.

Not a day goes by but finds our business not only a day OLDER but a day BETTER.

And tho' some would call us unduly optimistic, we believe that the world, too, grows better with each succeeding year, and that we are slowly, steadily and surely casting off confining shackles and age-old evils.

We put our heart and soul into the wish that all of you find the New Year the happiest and most prosperous one of your life.

Fire! Fire! Fire!

Every disaster in school, church, theatre or factory emphasizes the necessity of providing for quick exit from buildings where people gather, in case of panic caused by fire or in other ways.

There are thousands of public auditoriums which have doors that could not be opened quickly—perhaps not at all—in case of fire or panic.

THE SARGENT GRAVITY LOCKING FIRE EXIT BOLT is effective, simple and low in cost; it affords certain protection against entry from outside and operates instantly from the inside in case of necessity.

WARRENVILLE TO GET FINE HOME

Residence and Garage to Cost About $40,000 Will Be Built by Mr. Hofheimer.

CONTRACTORS FIGURING

Marsh and Gettee Prepared Plans, Which Call for Elaborate Structures—Private Golf Links May Be Constructed Near By.

H. A. Hofheimer, the New York business man who has recently acquired a large amount of property at Warrenville, has plans out for a handsome home and garage to be erected on what was formerly the Hauser tract on the Warrenville road. This tract was bought from Rev. George W. Hauser, and while the house now occupied by him will form the basis for the new structure, so little of the old one will be left that it will be practically eliminated. Mr. Hofheimer's son resides on what was known as the Voorhees place near by, and beside this, the family now owns the old Bornmann place and the Toms place, at the Warrenville corner, and several other adjacent tracts.

According to the plans, which are now in the hands of local contractors, and which were drawn by the architectural firm of Marsh and Gette, the residence will be three stories in height. It will have a large number of rooms and many innovations. It will be partially of frame and stucco work, heated by steam and fitted with every modern improvement. A large reception room will be one of the features on the main floor, and there will also be sleeping porches, billiard room and a glass enclosed dining room. All of the compartments will be of unusually large dimensions, a number of the rooms measuring 20 by 30 feet, with height of ceilings in proportion.

The stable and garage will be an important building in itself, equal to what are frequently known as handsome and pretentious residences. It will really be in three parts, and will be two and a half stories in height over all. The center will be used as the garage and stable, while living apartments will flank either side. One side will be for the occupancy of the chauffeur and his family, while the other will be for the gardener. This building will also be heated by steam, electric lighted and equipped with individual plumbing systems. The garage will contain all the essentials found in a modern place of this kind.

While no figures have been made public as yet, it is believed that the total cost of the two structures will aggregate $40,000. A number of fine homes have been erected in this vicinity recently, one of them being that of Champlain L. Riley, and the addition of the Hofheimer home will probably result in a number of others following in the near future. The ground which Mr. Hofheimer has purchased will be given over to an expert landscape artist to beautify, and there is also a possibility that a private golf course may be constructed.

REALTY TRANSFERS

The following local real estate transfers were recorded at the office of the county clerk during the past week:

Henrietta B. Herring to the Plainfield Trust Co., northeasterly side Park avenue, southerly Thornton avenue, Plainfield, $1.

The Mutual Land Imp. Co. to Charles E. Loizeaux, easterly side lot 20, 15 feet southwesterly lot 35, Plainfield, $1.

Mauro Di Lonardo et ux. to Jacob Sachar, northeasterly side Prescott place, 120 feet southeasterly South Second street, Plainfield, $1.

Jacob Sachar et ux to Mauro Di Lonardo et ux., southwesterly side Prescott place, 240 feet southeasterly South Second street, Plainfield, $1.

Hiram J. Scandell et ux to Daniel J. Denny, westerly side Park avenue, 160 feet northerly J. A. Cheever, Plainfield, $1.

BUILDING AT DUNELLEN.

Contractor Samuel M. Titus is hustling the work on the house on Front street, Dunellen, owned by Michael T. Moynihan. The changes being made there amount to a complete remodeling of the building, and this is being done in a thorough manner. When completed the building should be a decided credit to the vicinity.

Joseph Fromeyer, who has resided for some time in the George F. Giles house at the corner of Dunellen and Lincoln avenues, is contemplating having a house built at an early date on Second street, on the block between Washington and Lincoln avenues.

STILL PLANNING TO MOVE OLD BUILDING

Contractor Says Vanderbeek Structure Can Be Transported and Two Want It.

Negotiations for the purchase of the Vanderbeek building at North and Park avenues, with the idea of having it moved instead of torn down when the State Trust Company begins to clear the ground for its new home are still under way. According to Contractor Mobus, an expert in the removal of buildings, the structure can be safely jacked up and carried to some other point. He made a thorough and complete inspection of all the walls and timbers and found them in good shape.

According to reports, there are two prospective purchasers. David T. Kenney is one and the L. F. Hersch & Brother, wholesale grocery company, is said to be the other. In the event of Mr. Kenney being the buyer he will have the building moved up North avenue to the property he owns on that thoroughfare adjoining the present city office building. The ground at present is encumbered only by one-story frame structures. Mr. Kenney also has plans for a building in the same neighborhood, a feature being an arcade running from North avenue to East Second street. With the removal of the Daily Press to the Galbraith building near by the changes will mean a great deal for the business of upper North avenue.

The plan of the Hersch Company negotiating for the Vanderbeek building is to move it diagonally across Park avenue to the plot it owns on the Boice-Runyon property adjoining the Jersey Central Railroad. There is already a siding installed there, and the old structure could be converted into a fine storehouse. Whatever is done in the matter will come very shortly, as the Trust Company wishes to begin building operations early in the coming year.

STRICTLY FIREPROOF SCHOOL FOR ELIZABETH CHILDREN

Absolutely fireproof because of its concrete, steel and brick construction, and probably the finest elementary school of its size in Elizabeth, the new Abraham Lincoln School, No. 14, at Grove and Murray streets, will hold its first classroom sessions Monday morning. A number of children who have, until the Christmas vacation, attended the Cherry street, Magie street and Grier avenue schools will start in at No. 14 Monday, and will thus relieve the congested conditions in these other institutions.

The building accommodates 540 pupils and has twelve classrooms, each holding forty-five children, and an assembly room, or auditorium, which will seat 600. The building occupies a plot of ground equivalent to fourteen city lots, on the Murray street side, a front of 345 feet, and has about the same frontage on the Grove street exposure. The rear of the lot is covered with a number of beautiful red oak trees, which will give the playground excellent shading during the warm spring days.

NEW BRUNSWICK TO HAVE NEW FACTORY MONDAY

The new cigar factory of Bayuk Brothers, at the corner of Paterson and Schuyler streets, New Brunswick was thrown open for inspection to the employes of the company Wednesday evening, when an informal dance was held. The inspection was made by fully a thousand people, including many officials of the company.

The new factory is strictly fireproof and is four stories in height. Operations will begin at the new factory next Monday, when five hundred will be employed.

At the present time about two hundred hands are employed by Bayuk Brothers. It was stated that the full working force of the company in New Brunswick will exceed 800 within a few months.

In order to still further increase their working facilities, Messrs. Bayuk are contemplating erecting a cigar factory at Perth Amboy similar to the new factory. Fully fifty employes of the Bayuk branch at Perth Amboy were present at the opening last evening, making the trip by auto. They were highly pleased with the building.

PRICES BEGINNING TO SHOW CHANGES

Advances of 10 Per Cent. a Cubic Yard in Crushed Stone Reported.

A GENERAL STIFFENING

The List for Exterior Block Shows An Increase of Approximately a Half a Cent to a Cent and a Half for National Material.

New York, Dec. 31.—Crushed stone and hollow terra cotta fireproofing tile are the only building materials showing a change in prices as the year closes. In the former prices for both the standard sizes of trap rock have advanced ten cents a cubic yard in this market and in the latter there has been a readjustment of prices to meet the abnormal demand in the New York suburbs. The list for exterior block shows an advance of approximately a half a cent to a cent and a half for National and for interior block there has been a readjustment that shows a lower level than those prices that heretofore have existed, but which, in reality, indicates a general stiffening of quotations. Instead of the list being merely nominal with liberal discounts and shading, it is now practically impossible to buy this material for less than the new suburban card.

Significance is attached to the fact that New York dealers are not open market brick buyers, but are selling from stack. Most of the brick in reserve was bought when the market was below $6.75 a thousand. As the market is $8.50 now, it is evident that dealers want to realize their legitimate profits. Practically all the Hudson brick coming into the market is under cover for special orders and is not being quoted. That accounts for the dealers riding from stack at this time of the year with the Hudson River open to navigation at least as far as the Haverstraw yards. It is interpreted to mean that higher prices are expected, although there is a growing sentiment that the brick price movement has gone as far as it properly should for this time of the year, especially as long as open building weather continues.

Portland cement is developing considerable export trade. About 60,000 barrels went out to foreign customers this week. If this movement continues and develops into sizeable quantities, it promises to tax the capacity of eastern mills. There are inquiries in the market for at least 3,000,000 barrels for France and England. It is said that the actual movement of these inquiries depends upon whether England adopts the conscription acts which will force it into American markets for cement.

The possible early lifting of the freight embargo established by some of the eastern railroads is expected to ease the tenseness of the present building material market. The fact that there has been uncertainty about getting building materials for current operations has been responsible for the dealers in this city and some of the suburban districts drawing upon their reserve stocks. This means earlier buying next year and the probable maintenance of present or higher prices.

Current and prospective demand for rentable space in this city and suburbs is responsible for the general belief that new building operations will not be deterred from going ahead because of the higher costs of building materials. The best opinion in the wholesale markets is that, instead of being a question of price, it is a problem of getting materials to supply the active demand reflected by suburban inquiry for supplemental orders.

Screened Cow Boy building sand is the only basic commodity in the current market that is being shaded. It is the only commodity that is over abundant. This is because open weather has permitted dredging later than usual. The heavy pressure on the available barge supply in the harbor is responsible for the opinion that sooner or later the supply will be checked and, with the rapidly increasing demand, it is considered safe to assume that sand prices will be at least five cents higher by the first of February.

ONE LONE PERMIT.

The only permit granted by Building Inspector Doane during the past week was one to Alfonso Cioci for the erection of a two-story six-room dwelling at the south side of West Fourth street, west of Monroe avenue. The building will be of hollow terra cotta block construction, and will cost in the neighborhood of $3,000. George H. Fisher, Jr., is the architect, while the work will be cared for by the owner.

FORMER LOCAL MAN IS DEAD AT NEWARK

John Sherman Hobbs, Once a Borough Resident, Succumbs to Long Illness.

Abram P. Morris, who was elected a Freeholder from Hillside twonship last November, was yesterday appointed by Governor Fielder County Clerk of Union to succeed the late James C. Calvert, who died Wednesday. The new incumbent was sworn in a 1:30 this afternoon together with Deputy Clerk V. P. Norman, who held the latter position for a number of years under Mr. Calvert and whose term automatically expired with the death of his superior. The Hillside Township Committee will meet within the next few days to fill the Freeholder vacancy caused by the retirement of the new Clerk.

The new appointee will serve until November 15, 1916, when the successful candidate at the next general election will take office. His salary will be a pro rata share of the $6,500 yearly compensation which accompanies the office, figured from the day he takes office until he is succeeded.

ABRAM P. MORRIS SUCCEEDS CALVERT

Gov. Fielder Names a Democrat to Fill the Unexpired Term.

Following an illness dating back many months and assuming a serious form about a month ago, John Sherman Hobbs, formerly of the borough, passed away yesterday at his late residence, 515 Ridge stret, Newark.

He was born in Sneedville, Tenn. March 27, 1871, being in his forty-fifth year. Early in life he was employed in a Chicago bank and later engaged in the lumber business. Coming east to Plainfield and then to Newark he organized a trust company in Newark. Following this he was chiefly instrumental in bringing to a successful issue the organization of the now prosperous Ironbound Trust Company. After this work, Mr. Hobbs launched a lumber company in Newark.

Mr. Hobbs had a wide acquaintance in Plainfield and his wife was a local girl. She was Miss Emma Gamberton, daughter of Isaac Gamberton who resided for many years at Pearl and Warren streets, the borough. After their marriage, which took place in the First Methodist church, Mr. and Mrs Hobbs took up their residence in the Gamberton homestead, which was completely remodelled for them just previously. They removed from here only a comparatively short time ago.

He leaves besides his wife, four children, his mother four sisters, and three brothers. Funeral arrangements have not been concluded. Interment will be at Plainfield.

CHRISTMAS PARTY.

Children of the beginners' and primary departments of the First Presbyterian Sunday school held their Christmas party yesterday. There were recitations, songs and games. Refreshments were served and gifts distributed by Rev. Lewis Bond, who took the part of Santa Claus. Among those who spoke were Margaret DeMeza, Elizabeth Price, Phillip Russell, Wilbur Waglow, Elizabeth Palmer, Carroll Palmer and Adelle Texier. The superintendents of the departments were in charge.

ORDERED TO LEAVE BOROUGH.

Ernest Nevil, of Stroudsburg, Pa., who up to Wednesday had been employed by the Watchung Silk Company as a shuttle operator, was told to square up his debts and leave the borough by Justice Snape in the borough court this morning. Nevil, it is said, owed his boarding mistress $9.50 and the Watchung Silk Company 95 cents for damaging the shuttle.

MASQUERADE DANCE.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Improvement Society of North Plainfield township, will give its annual masquerade dance in the society's hall at Watchung this evening. A bus will leave Front and Somerset streets at 8:15 for the Plainfielders wishing to attend.

E. H. SEBRING IMPROVED.

Edward H. Sebring, of 19 Lincoln place, who has been critically ill with pneumonia for the past few days, was reported as being considerably improved this morning.

BISHOP TO CONFIRM.

Bishop Paul Matthews will confirm a class of thirty at Grace church Sunday morning.

Happy New Year!

May the coming year bring to you Health—peace—Prosperity—and a continued sense of humor that agrees with mine—May the man or woman you vote for become President—May your laughs outweigh your tears—Sincerely yours

The usual watch night service will be held tonight at Hope chapel and tomorrow open house will be kept all day. All members and friends of the chapel are invited to call and renew acquaintances.

Y. W. C. A.

William D. Murray will be the speaker at the vesper service which will be held in the association parlors Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

FIX DATE FOR TRIALS.

Somerville, Dec. 31.—Judge Daniel H. Beekman sitting in the county court today fixed January 10 as the day for trial in a number of cases following indictments, among them being that of William Parsons, colored, of North Plainfield, the charge being ill-treatment. He was released on $1,000 bail furnished by Richard Parsons.

ARREST SALESMAN.

Somerville, Dec. 31.—Upon complaint of the Windsor Broom Company, of Hamburg, N. Y., H. O. Huber, a salesman employed by the concern, was arrested here last night on a charge of embezzlement. He will be taken back to Hamburg.

SAMUEL J. CARHART SELLS GROCERY TO H. M. BOWMAN

Samuel J. Carhart, of 95 Duer street, has sold his grocery business at 37 Somerset street to Harold M. Bowman, of 1114 Myrtle avenue, who will take possession on Monday. Mr. Carhart purchased the business from Ruliff J. Fisher, of Dunellen, three years ago. His place of residence at the time of the purchase was Annandale.

Alex. Thorn, of the borough, and John P. Fenner, of Dunellen, were former owners of this store. Mr Carhart has not made any definite decision as to his activities in the future. He will continue to reside at his present home.

A NEW YEAR.

The old year will soon be dead and its pages are closed except to retrospection. It bought some good to all of us and evil to many but to the nation as a whole it was kind. While our brothers across the ocean are blinded by blood so that they obey the will of individuals exalted by heritage, who, prompted by avaricious desires, command war, we engage in peaceful pursuits and seek to promote peace among all men. Our country is today the greatest in all the world.

Are we, as individuals, worthy of American citizenship? It is a good time of the year for each man, and each woman, to ask this question and to answer it. Mistakes have been made during the past year by everyone, but the real test of manhood comes now. Will you profit by the mistakes you have made, or will you shut them out to memory and blindly refuse to see the lessons that they teach? It is not pleasant for many to review the year of 1915 in an honest manner, but it would be well for all to do so. Every man should take an inventory of himself once each year, as a merchant takes an inventory of his stock, and index his shortcomings so that he will be able to meet problems of the new struggles honestly. Today ends all that we have lived. Tomorrow we turn over a new leaf. Is your experience going to be worth anything to you?

On the day of good resolutions all should resolve to be kind to those in need, to be considerate of all men, to do good for the good of being good, to be peaceful, honest and forgiving—to give that he may receive.

GREATER LOVE.

That was a most pathetic story sent out from Chicago the other day of the sacrifice of a wife that her consumptive husband might have another chance in another clime, says the Paterson Call. Read this, you cynic bachelors, and think it over. While Chicago was getting ready to build a tuberculosis hospital, George Hendry and his wife both victims of the plague, were waiting and hoping. Came the time when the doctor told them they must both go to Colorado or they must die. The bank account was low, too small for both to go. It was decided that the husband should go because he represented the earning end of the partnership, and that the wife should follow. Thenr funds were scraped together and Hendry was placed aboard a train, all the while imploring his wife to follow immediately. Two hours after the train left the nenghbors found the wife dead in her room. The windows were tight locked and the gas jets were open.

"Greater love hath no man than this."

Managers of the Ford peace junket in Stockholm announce that the total expenditures for the cruise of the Oscar II will be $1,000,000, and people everywhere will ask was it worth the money? We believe that the make. of Fords has sown seed on good ground. He has received advertising that could not have been bought at any price, notwithstanding the sickening trend of metropolitan journalism toward the gold standard recently, and he had imbued neutral European nations with a hope that peace may be realized. Ford's efforts will not bring about peace. He has not even stayed one bullet in the horrible conflict now raging, but he has helped those not now engaged in murder to realize that a few men or women, imbued with a courageous desire to prevent war, can reach unto all of the world, and as a result of his activities some good will necessarily follow. If, with his million, he prevents one son of France, England, Germany or any of the other countries from being sacrificed to the lust for power, he has not thrown his money away, because it means little to him, and the lesson has been taught in Europe. Ford and his fellow passengers on the Ark may have "rushed in where Angels fear," but they have fathered a movement for peace that will not be soon forgotten, once the war has wasted its fury.

President George S. Clay, of the Common Council of Plainfield, together with Councilmen Richard A. Claybrook and Theodore A. Martin, retired from public service with last night's meeting of the Council. These three men have served the people well. During the time that they have been in charge of the affairs of the city they have labored earnestly and valiantly to do the most good for the greatest number of people, and they leave behind them records as public servants that are seldom equalled. They have forgotten personalities and factional or party differences in the one purpose to be of service to all people in Plainfield, and they have done well. This much was said of them by their colleagues last night, and truly said, and a greater tribute could be paid to no man or men.

Would it be impertinent for a reporter to ask Henry Ford how many 1916 catalogues he distributed from the Oscar II?

Tightwads had better retire early tonight for they have no part in the program that has been arranged for the evening.

This splendid productions, which appears today and Saturday at the U. S. Astor, will more than meet the exalted standard of all Paramount attractions. Big special attractions will be arranged for Monday and Tuesday, while Wednesday and Thursday will bring to Plainfield a play that is surpassed by none, "The Incorrigible Dukane," with John Barrymore, one of the greatest screen offerings of the present day.

Vale, Or Words to That Effect

This is the last day of a year once new
As that which dawns to-morrow on our view.
We started in about a year ago
To be a lot of saints, or nearly so.
But looking back along the way—please quit!
We hate to see the mess we've made of it.

You'd thought you would stop jawing with your wife—
That fine new year would hear no word of strife
Within your home. But that first time she nagged—
Where was that patience as to which you'd bragged?
You just cut loose and lifted off her lid
With scathing words—that's what you went and did!

In other ways we need not mention here
You made a bally mess of this old year.
But still the answer isn't "What's the use!"
The man who talks like that has something loose.
This is the only safe and sane life-plan:
Each hour do the very best you can.

Powder

There are a good many kinds of powder in the world, including these, Face, gun, baking, tooth and washing.

Before the invention of gunpowder, the benighted heathen could not kill each other half as fast as they can now.

Gunpowder is divided into black, smokeless and other kinds.

Giant powder is used much in landscape dentistry.

When a deadening is found to be suffering from toothache from the rotting snags scattered all about, a blue-overalled dentist with a lot of bust-up stuff comes to its relief.

Fields about to be treated to a wholesale extraction are never given an anæsthetic.

Anybody caught squirting cocaine into the back forty before applying the forceps would be called a nut right.

Face-powder is about all one ever sees of some women.

While face-powder is used to improve the appearance of the face, gunpowder is not used to improve the appearance of a gun.

Neither is baking-powder used to kill a baking or washing-powder used to kill scrubs.

Washing-powder is used to make washings easier to do, and face-powder is used to make faces easier to look at.

Tooth powder is applied with a tooth brush, but gunpowder is not put on with a gun brush, baking-powder with a baking brush or face-powder with a face brush.

This is a fine, clear language we have!

One Wonders

One of the most recent sample insurance policies sent us in the hope of inducing us to protect our w. k. life, contains a clause paying a special indemnity in case of "sunstroke or hydrophobia from involuntary exposure." Wonder if anybody ever did just go and deliberately bite himself with a mad dog?

Why Not?

International Methods

"But would that policy be fair?"
"No indeed."
"Then why consider it?"
"All is fair in war. We'll just start a war, so what we want to do will be fair—see?"

Simply Stated

"My, what a change in that chap! He used to be a regular ray of sunshine, but——"
"Now he's an ex-ray, eh?"

What To Do?

"That big grafter who used the public money to make all those luxurious improvements in the state prison ought to be sent up for ten years!"
"What! Sent to the penitentiary just when he's got it all fixed up so comfy? Not!"

Gall-Sac Disease And Gall Stones

CAN gall-stones be cured without operation?

No. But perhaps gallstones may be prevented by dietetic and medicinal treatment in persons who have signs of gall-sac inflammation.

Stout persons along toward forty, mostly women, are apt to have gall-sac disease, especially persons who have had typhoid fever a few years previously.

Most everybody thinks gall-sac trouble is "stomach trouble" or "dyspepsia" at first. The earlier symptoms are occasional slight pain or discomfort, with gaseous distention, felt about the stomach region; considerable belching after meals, which sometimes relieves or seems to relieve the discomfort. The patient may note feelings of coldness or slight shivering at times. There is a tender place under the edge of the right ribs. Not rarely there is palpitation. These symptoms are prone to come on in the night.

A later stage, developing in months or years, is marked by sharper pain, more belching and sometimes vomiting, but the health is pretty fair between attacks. "Acute indigestion" shoulders the blame for these attacks in the patient's diagnosis. Some particular article of food is generally blamed, a rather characteristic symptom in itself.

In the third stage typical colic occurs now and then—severe pain in the upper abdomen, perhaps vomiting and chill, fever, sweat following the colic. Next day there may be jaundice. Such symptoms speak strongly for gall-stones. X-ray photographs may show stones containing considerable calcium salts, but will not show stones with insufficient calcium to give a shadow, and hence is not a certain, though a helpful aid in diagnosis.

Gall-sac inflammation and gall-stone disease are chronic, lasting for years, with attacks at rare or frequent intervals, depending upon the patient's diet, occupation and mode of life.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Professor Or Doctor

Which would be the better man to consult for a chronic kidney trouble, a medical school professor, or just a doctor?

Answer—It wouldn't matter which. A good professor may be a very incompetent physician. Your distinction is not significant.

Hexamethylenamine

Will you kindly inform me what hexamethylenamine is used for in medicine?

Answer—It is used to diminish bacterial activity in the urinary tract. It produces a formaldehyde compound when eliminated from the kidneys. It is also believed to exert an antiseptic action in the gall-sac, and possibly also in the nasal cavity—at least it is given sometimes for cholecystitis and for common coryza (cold in the head).

An Old Man's Habit

What can a man of seventy-five years do to break the habit of taking two small doses of opium a day?

Answer—It is doubtful whether he should try. At that age it might be a serious matter.

Freckles

Please publish a simple remedy to remove freckles.

Answer—There is no such remedy, so far as we are aware.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

AT THIS particular period of the year, the New Year's resolution begins to occupy the attention of a great many citizens of varying prominence and sobriety. The New Year's resolution is a superstition to the effect that between 11 P.M. and midnight on December 31st of each year, a backbone composed of gelatine and putty will suddenly stiffen up and become so inflexible that its possessor will be enabled to say "No" and stick to it for years at a time.

Acting on this superstition, men who cannot exist throughout the year without a drink before and after each thirst, resolve never to drink again; while men whose mouths would feel like an extinct and unfilled crater without cigars in them, declare that henceforth and forever they will remain outside of the Amalgamated Order of Human Chimneys and will use the money thus saved to buy houses and farms.

Sad to say most of these resolutions do not last over forty-eight hours. There are many reasons for this. In the first place, it is true that between eleven and twelve o'clock on the night of December 31st, men find it easy to refrain from drink and smoke, because they are usually full of both at that time. If there was some method of continuing this hour indefinitely, a great many tender little resolves would not be drowned at an early age.

Another reason is the fact that resolutions go into the game with no practice. A man who wouldn't play football without looking up the rules, will start on a dry year with no practice whatever. New Year's resolutions ought to be made on November 1st, thus giving the maker two months in which to get up when necessary and dust off his clothes.

Another reason is the fact that men of weak and wabbly wills attempt too much. Such men should begin by swearing off on Welsh rarebits for a year. When this has been accomplished, let them swear off on mince pie of the intoxicating variety. They will then find it easy to refrain for a year from spring tonics and by the fourth year they will be able to look the cocktail squarely in the cherry and pass it by with a virtuous frown—providing they can get rid of their friends. Friends are to New Year's resolutions what cats are to mice, and what a hard frost is to a peach bud.

Able to say "No" and stick to it

Broken Out Of Bounds

ERNEST THOMPSON SETON, the distinguished naturalist and author of nature books, announces his resignation as chief scout of the Boy Scouts of America, and in doing so brings the actual character of that organization to the fore. He does not leave the reasons for his retirement in doubt. With his customary frankness, he clearly explains his position.

Mr. Seton declares that the organization of Boy Scouts has been diverted radically from its original object. This prime purpose, he says, was the study of trees, flowers, nature, and genuine woodcraft. The purpose of Baden-Powell and Mr. Seton in originally organizing the Boy Scouts was to make all young people outdoor children, by teaching them the joys of fresh air life. As originally formed, Mr. Seton says, the Boy Scouts movement was to be a "message of conservation and brotherhood." Now, according to its organizer:

"The study of trees, flowers and nature is giving way to wig-wagging, drills and other activities of a military nature, thus destroying the symbolism of the organization. As it stands now, militarism comes first and woodcraft second."

That there has been a radical change in methods in the Boy Scouts organization, since it was formed first in England in 1908 and in the United States in 1910 by Sir Baden-Powell and Ernest Thompson Seton, admits of no serious contradiction. While the husky young lads still study woodcraft and commune with nature in a matter-of-course way, they have added many activities to the pursuits to which Mr. Seton would apparently confine them. Had he understood the mind of the average American boy as well as he does the habits of his forest friends and the gentle art of woodcraft, he would have realized the limitations of his program. These studies of Mr. Seton interest the lad up to a certain point, but they do not absorb his entire attention. When the Boy Scout finds himself relieved of his school work, and escapes to the open, he craves the "doing of things." The simple drill which has been adopted by the organization appeals to the boy, exactly as it always has done and always will do. But it is by no means militarism. "Scouting," as the boy understands the term, is "knowing a lot and doing a lot"; knowing the good and eliminating the bad; and doing something of value all the while. It would be impossible, even if desirable, to confine the activities of the Boy Scouts to the quiet study of nature and the acquirement of the art of woodcraft.

The boys of America, as well as the boys of England, owe much to Ernest Thompson Seton and Sir Baden-Powell. Seton's books should be in every boy's library; for his influence is ever for good. But it is doubtful if the average American boy would consent to devote all of his leisure to the useful and entertaining study of nature, as nature has been studied and charmingly interpreted by Ernest Thompson Seton.

A Real Estate Tangle

Q. A man at this place advertised his property to be sold as town lots. He had it laid off with streets. On day of sale, he sold one-half to one man for farming purposes. I bought two lots on day of sale and paid one-third down for them. By the time my second payment was due this man had bought most of the other lots and I did not meet my notes, so lost my first payment, because the land was used for a farm. Would this man be liable for damages and can I collect my payment?

Q. If there was a material misrepresentation, and you were induced to rely thereon to your detriment, there will be a liability.

Mr. Branson will be glad to answer all questions. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not, it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Address all letters to E. R. Branson, care of this newspaper.

Defense Of Guilty Persons

In considering the ethics of advocacy, the question is often asked whether a lawyer should defend a prisoner when he knows him to be guilty of the crime charged against him.

The general opinion of the laity is that he is not justified in undertaking or continuing a defence under such circumstances, but a different standard has been prescribed for guidance of the legal conscience by eminent judges.

In the case of the assassin of President McKinley, two former justices of the supreme court were assigned by the presiding judge to represent the defendant at the trial.

A remarkable instance which is illustrative of this doubtful point occurred in England at the trial of Courvosier for the murder of Lord Russell, in 1840. The prisoner was represented by Phillips, one of the most celebrated advocates of the period. At the end of the first day of the trial, it seemed almost certain that the defendant would be acquitted, as the witnesses for the crown had been so shaken upon cross-examination that no one believed their testimony. Both Phillips and his juror, Clarkson, were firmly convinced at the outset, of their client's innocence. Before the trial opened on the second day, however, the prisoner confessed to his lawyers that he had committed the murder, but stated that he expected them to still defend him.

Phillips was for throwing up the brief, but was opposed by Clarkson, who pointed out that the prisoner was on trial for his life and entitled to a defence.

In this dilemma they consulted privately with Baron Parke, who was sitting on the bench with Chief Justice Tindal at the trial in the Old Bailey.

Baron Parke made this decision: "If the prisoner still requests you to defend him, you are bound to do so, and to use every fair argument from the evidence." Phillips thereupon continued the defence of the prisoner, who was, however, convicted and suffered the death penalty.

The question is at best a delicate one and involves the honor of the bar in its consideration. Perhaps, after all, it is more abstract than real, for it is seldom that a prisoner owns up to his counsel that he is guilty.—R. F.

Ideals

A human being without Ideals is as worthless as a ship without a rudder. As surely and confidently as does the rudder guide the ship, so do clean, definite Ideals guide and shape and complete a successful career.

There is never any progress without an objective point.

If you are building a business, and have carefully formulated honest Ideals toward which you are to proceed, there can be small question as to your Success. Failure may mark the way, but your Ideals will keep you in the right direction where ultimate Winning is certain to be reached.

As soon as you learn the Ideals of a Man, you know the Man.

It is impossible to find a really great man or woman or business that doesn't literally reflect Ideals in all directions, for every worthy Ideal seems to be gifted with millions of reflecting rays.

We are each of us responsible to Society and the World in general for our Ideals.

Worthy Ideals, earnestly sought and sincerely carried out, credit a man on into posterity, but unworthy Ideals discredit and unharness a man here and now. Formulate your Ideals with Others in mind. Measure not Success in the Immediate. Make your Ideals so high that they will not only lead you on and up, but all about you.

London Likes This War Song

Jack Norworth's song, "Private Michael Cassidy (pom-pom), V. C.," recently sung in a London theatre, was the hit of the revue, "Looking Around." The audience was whistling the refrain after the very first verse. And altogether Mr. Norworth must have sung about ten. All England will soon be humming that catchy air. One verse runs as follows:

Who was it when he found his boots were leaking one day,
Went out to get a new pair from a
German straight away?
Who was it came back late and said
I must apologize,
I had to kill nineteen of them before
I got my size?
Cassidy, Private Michael Cassidy,
He's of Irish nationality;
He's the boy of wonderful audacity,
Private Michael Cassidy.

Daddy's Bedtime Story— Where Evelyn Got the Fur on Her New Coat.

Gnaw Young Trees Until They Fall Over.

"IT'S a pretty coat," said daddy, looking at what Evelyn's mamma bought her, "but I wonder if Evelyn knows where the fur on it came from?"

So daddy told the children the story of the beaver family. "Mr. and Mrs. Beaver are the busiest sort of people. All summer long they build their homes, store up the barks of maples, birches and poplars for winter food and dam their brook, so that when Jack Frost freezes the water they can still have enough depth below to crawl out and get more food."

"Tell us how the beavers look, please, daddy?" asked Jack.

"They look like huge water rats. They have big webbed hind feet like ducks, which they swim with, and broad, horny tails a foot long. Their skin is covered with a soft, thick fur, which, when the uneven hairs are pulled out, makes beautiful trimming for little girls' coats." Evelyn smiled, and daddy went on: "When European men first came to America almost every woodland stream from the arctic circle to the gulf of Mexico had a colony of beavers in it. But so many children needed muffs and coats that now beavers are almost a curiosity. They like best to live in groups, like people do, and they are almost as skillful building their homes."

"Tell us, daddy—oh, tell us!" cried the children.

"They choose a low, level brookside near trees and then burrow into the bank below the water's surface. Then, with their clever front paws to lift with and their broad, flat tails to slap it down, they pack mud in a heap like a huge chocolate drop, with a chamber above all padded with grass and a little hole for fresh air. Then, lest some big strong animal stop up their window, they skillfully conceal it with a little heap of brush. This they build summer times by the light of the moon, for all day they waddle about on land, picking up barks for winter and eating the roots and stems of flags, lilies and other water plants. But always they fear being frozen in, so the next thing they build is a dam across their brook. They go up on the bank, stand on their hind feet and with their sharp teeth gnaw young trees till they fall over. Then they stack them across the brook with stones and sods and mud, moving them into the right place with their skillful front feet. So when winter comes and their brook and mud house freezes they are so safely in and so able to swim out that no animal but a bear can destroy their homes. At the head of the Mississippi river is a colony of beavers 200 years old, where, working night and day like anything, they raise baby beavers and fur coats for little girls," daddy finished.

Married Life on $80 a Month

BY MRS EVA LEONARD

Visitors for Olive Ellson as a Certain Great Event Approaches.

"You look as pleased as Punch," said Molly Sutner, walking in to the open kitchen door. Olive was standing at the table kneading bread.

"Well I may. Do you know who is coming to eat this bread?"

"Somebody very welcome I should judge from your face," answered Molly.

"Nobody less than my dear daddy and mother." Olive moulded the dough into a ball and placed it in the mixing bowl. "Daddy has never been here to see me and I was married a year last September. Mother has visited me a couple of times, but it is so hard for daddy to get away. He cannot stay long this time, but I told him he had to come for a little visit."

"How fine it must be to have relatives to visit one. I am utterly unprovided with them." Molly looked rather wistful.

"Of course I am glad to see mother, but daddy, besides being my father, was my most intimate friend and confidant, and I have not seen him since I was home last summer. You can imagine how much we will have to say to each other," laughed Olive. "I hope the baby will be a boy so I can name him after daddy."

"Whichever it is you will be happy when you have a real live baby in your arms." Molly turned to look after Jack, who was playing in the warm spring sunshine.

"I suppose your mother will stay some time," remarked Molly.

"Oh, I suppose so. Mother is such a worrier she decided it would be best for her to be here, where she could see just how I am. When she gets a look at me and sees how well I am she'll know that there is nothing to worry about. Later the doctor's sister is coming to look after the house. She brought him up, so she is more like a mother to him than a sister. His mother died when he was very young."

"I shall be so glad to meet these good people that have meant so much in my best friend's life."

"Here I sit as if I had not a thing to do. I came over to borrow a cup of sugar. My dinner will not be ready for my boarder if I do not hurry home."

"Thank you so much," she continued, as Olive handed her the full cup, "I forgot to order sugar yesterday. John will bring some home with him. Good-bye." Molly hurried out of the door, calling to Jack to follow.

When the train came in she watched and saw the doctor's auto drive up the hill with two persons on the back seat and was happy in Olive's happiness all the rest of the afternoon.

That night Olive had her father beside her at the supper table and could scarcely attend to the tea, she was so excited. Mrs. Dunn remarked that it seemed like old times to have them so absorbed in each other that they were almost oblivious of everybody else. The doctor suggested that they start an admiration society of their own in self-defense, and his mother-in-law seemed slightly mollified at the proposal.

"My, what a jolly house full we will have this spring." Olive was bubbling over with pleased excitement. "There is Sister Elizabeth, who is to take charge of the baby after the nurse goes, until I am strong enough to care for it, and kind mother here is to be chief manager of the concern," Olive added as she saw that lady assume a look of offended dignity.

"When do you look for this sister?" asked Mrs. Dunn.

"Susie lives in the little house around the corner, you know. She moved there after the doctor was married. Elizabeth comes to her house next week, so you can meet her and get acquainted."

"Elizabeth is all the mother I remember," said the doctor, rising and leading the way into the living room.

DEAF MUTES EASY FOR COLUMBIANS

St. Joseph's College Team Routed on Front Street Court by 48 to 18.

Dummy Deegan Gets Hearty Reception—Captain George Linke Makes Ten Baskets—Winners Put up Best Game of Year.

Knights of Columbus basketball players romped to a 48-18 victory over the St. Joseph's College deaf mutes on the Columbus Club court here last night. It was their fourth straight victory.

The Columbus Club quintet outplayed the visitors from start to finish, the passing and shooting of the victors being their best of the season. They outscored their opponents 32 to 12 in the last half.

The largest crowd of the season packed the hall, there being more than 300 paid admissions. The St. Joseph's were popular with the spectators, who awarded their good plays with applause the visitors could not hear. It is likely that another game will be arranged.

Dummy Deegan, the former Plainfield Baseball Club pitcher, refereed the game. A nephew of Deegan's played center. Deegan was given a hearty reception by his old friends, and was kept busy shaking hands. Garland, who played a forward, was a member of the Silent Workers, of Trenton, which team appeared at the Y. M. C. A. here last season, and he was recognized by some of those present last night.

Captain George Linke dropped in 10 baskets for the victors, his running mate, Billy Coyle, making seven. Three of the home side's goals were secured on jumps under the basket, Linke pushing the ball through the hoop twice, and Dan McAfee once.

MID-WINTER NEWS OF THE GOLF CLUBS AND PLAYERS

George Low and family will spend several weeks in the South, where the Baltusrol pro will endeavor to recover from his recent illness by playing golf.

The Greenwich Country Club is going in for indoor golf. In fact, the plans include not only the installation of proper facilities for golf practice during cold weather and under comfortable circumstances, but for actual competitions in the warmth of the clubhouse. A green plush carpet supplies the grass effect, while ample arrangements have been made for a variety of hazards. The possibility of playing at night already has interested a goodly number of members.

Tom Vardon, brother of the redoubtable Harry, who has been at the Outwentsia Club, near Chicago, for several seasons, has resigned, and will be with the White Bear Club, St. Paul, next summer.

What is declared to be the highest golf course in the world is that of the La Paz Golf Club, on the plateau of Bolivia. According to survey, it is 13,500 feet above sea level. There are those who have played the thirteenth at Fox Hills, and have asserted that the Alps had nothing on that climb out of the Kitchen after topped shot into it.

Team of School Girls Hold Victors Even in Field Goals.

A team of school girls held the Plainfield Five to a 14-10 score on the Columbus Club court last night. In field goals the two teams were even. Miss Helen Hummel and Miss Dorothy Crane each making three baskets. Miss Crane, who is now a resident of Newark, is visiting friends, but the appearance of the P. H. S. star of last year was a surprise.

Eight fouls, tossed in by Miss Hummel, won the game for the Plainfield Five. The home players were five points to the good at the end of the first half, but were outscored, 6 to 5, in the second period.

CHAPEL PLAYERS TO BE NUMBERED

New Uniforms for Hopes—Play Former Newark Schoolboys.

The Men's Union League team, of Irvington, will appear in the Hope chapel gym tomorrow afternoon. The game will begin at 3:30 o'clock. Frank Rimmer will be the referee.

The Irvington quintet is putting in its first season. The team is composed of former scholastic players from Newark and vicinity. The team will outweigh the Hopes.

New jerseys have been ordered for the Hope team through Harry Dreier, a local sporting goods dealer. They will be maroon, with an eight-inch white band running around the body. A dark blue "H" will be on the front, and numbers of the players on the back. Stockings to match have also been ordered. The suits are expected to arrive in time for the game with the Newark Ramblers, one week from tomorrow night.

The line-ups for tomorrow's game follows:

Men's Union League—A. Young rf; R. Clickenger, lf; C. Armstrong, c; A. Hartman rg; R. Gray, lg; F. Clements and J. Vey, subs.

Hope Chapel—A Porter, rf; W. Marsh, lf; H. Overland, c; H. Anderson, lg; G. Leighs, rg.

COLLEGE PLAYERS AT THE COLUMBUS HALL TOMORROW

A team of basketball stars picked from Columbia, Princeton and New York Universities, will appear on the Columbus Hall court tomorrow afternoon for a game with the College Five, composed of Plainfield students home for the holidays.

Although the line-up of the out-of-town aggregation is not known now, Manager Oliner, who is in charge of the Plainfield players, promises an exceptionally strong attraction. The game will start at 2 o'clock, and will be followed by dancing.

Schedule.

Tuesday night—New York at Plainfield.

Plainfield Elks pulled Hoboken out of first place last night, when they gave the Germans their first licking of the season, at Hoboken. The locals won the second game by two pins, 933 to 931, and the rubber by eight pins, 904 to 896, Captain J. E. Waldorf sticking in doubles in the tenth inning of each game. The homesters walked away with the opening tilt, 969 to 804.

The Plainfielders found the Hoboken alleys as difficult as ever, and missed a total of 22 spares, each man missing five, except Nash, who blew two. Nash rolled in place of Frank Platz, who had to stay home to attend the Council meeting.

There was only one team rolling in the first game, Plainfield being 165 pins to the bad at the finish. Miller and Schneider had nice games in the opening fight, the former putting in a string of wallops after getting off to a bad start.

The real fun was in the last two games. Quake Vail had strikes in the second, third and fourth and eighth ninth and tenth boxes, his score being 223. Captain Waldorf pulled the game out with a double in the tenth.

The third game saw another stirring finish. Waldorf again finished with strikes, and so did Nash. Branda scored 221, striking out in his last four rolls.

The scores:

PLAINFIELD.

Nash	156	183	202
Kiely	170	191	169
Laing	170	155	191
Vail	132	223	159

NEWARK TO HAVE NEW TEAM AT SOMERVILLE

Newark will have an entirely new team when the Essex Club goes to Somerville for an Elks' Junior League series next Monday night. Howard Williams and Alec Hinton, of the Seniors, will roll, along with three new men, Gillard, Link and Graef.

ANNUAL MEETING AND NEW YEAR'S SHOOT AT CLIMAX

The annual meeting, and a special New Year's holiday shoot, will bring the Climax gunners out in large numbers tomorrow. The meeting will be held in the clubhouse at 10 a. m.

The program for the holiday consists of three sweepstakes, two of them at 15 birds and the other at 20, and two handicap prize events at 20 birds each.

SILVER CUP TO FASTEST CYCLIST AT PROCTOR'S

A silver cup has been put up by the management of Proctor's Theatre, to be awarded to the bicycle rider who makes the fastest time for one miles, in an exhibition in conjunction with the cycle act in which Eaton and Madden, the six-day grinders, are appearing this week.

Local riders will be given an opportunity to compete at any one of the seven shows today and tomorrow.

SPORTING NEWS FROM THE PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

Several unavoidable delays, including the non-arrival of the suits and illnesses of members, have held up the progress of the Plainfield High School men, but with Brower, Zeek and Snyder in shape, Coach Hansen ought to be able to turn out a good team.

With the opening of school after the holiday vacations, Physical Director Ralph Paten will set about arranging a schedule for the boys' annual interclass basketball race. The teams of all four classes have start practice, and all of them appear to be about evenly matched.

The game scheduled between the school basketeers and the alumni for Monday night has been called off because the graduates cannot be gotten together. The next games will be with Montclair next Saturday. The girls' team is going to put in a hard week's practice in order to be ready for the first game in the interscholastic basketball race, which will be played with the N. P. H. S. maidens on the Ninth street court next Friday.

RUB RHEUMATISM PAIN FROM SORE, ACHING JOINTS

Rub pain away with small trial bottle of old, penetrating "St. Jacob's Oil."

What's Rheumatism? Pain only. Stop drugging! Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" directly upon the "tender spot" and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism and sciatica liniment, which never disappoints and can not burn the skin.

Limber up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle from your druggist, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic and sciatic pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. Old, honest, "St. Jacobs Oil" has cured millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains and swellings.—Adv.

The following advertisement was prepared by Adelaide Ricketts of the North Plainfield High School and was awarded a prize in The Plainfield Trust Company's Advertising Contest. Its message is particularly appropriate at this time.

A man said the other day that our Christmas Club had been of great importance to Plainfield and that it had taught a number of people who had never before accumulated any money whatsoever

TO SAVE AND HOW TO SAVE.

The Plainfield Trust Company

THE 1916 CHRISTMAS CLUB is now open and members may be enrolled any day during banking hours until January 8th. You are cordially invited to join the new Club and verify the statement made in the above advertisement.

A Kitchen Not Complete

Your kitchen [illegible] complete without a Meat Press, a Food Chopper or a Coffee [illegible]

You no d[illegible] need of some article to complete the Kitchen Furnishings.

A modern kitchen needs many things that are in the hardware store.

We Aim to Please

May we have the pleasure of helping to complete that kitchen of yours?

A White Mountain Freezer, a Bissell Carpet Sweeper, Bread Box, Scale, Washing Machine, Wash Boiler, Dish Pan or some item in the Tinware Line may be the article needed. Look over your utensils and see if some item is not there.

Aluminum Ware, Enameled Ware, Tinware, Iron and Steel Pots.

We have a fine line of RANGES and HEATERS in our kitchen show room. Come in and look them over.

Is Your Kitchen Complete?

FURS! FURS!

Kurtzman's is the home of the best furs. From all quarters of the globe our fur stock has been assembled. It is complete to the last detail. If you love beautiful things you will revel in this display. Purchased with careful judgment and skill, every fur here has style, finish and quality.

Prices, remember, are always lowest at Kurtzman's and some of our competitors are positively asking twice as much for inferior offerings.

See our dependable fur coats of French or Hudson Seal natural red fox sets, barrel or ball muff, black fox sets, sets of the beautiful taupe or battleship grey, golden beaver goods, women's and misses' fur garments of all kinds.

We vouch for and guarantee every piece we sell. We invite an early call while the immense assortment is entirely unbroken.
